2 WILD MARINES TAMED BY POLICE AT UNION STATION

They Go to Holdover While Comrades Start for Nicaragua After Leave-Taking Celebration.

NEGROES DECLARE THEY WERE ROBBED

Shots Fired by Disturbers—Third Man Picked Up With Them by Mistake Will Be Released.

Two United States Marines, in uniform, brandishing their automatic pistols and holding up Negroes, caused an uproad in the vicinity of Union Station an hour before the departure of more than 100 of their comrades for Nicaragua, at 9 o'clock last night.

Ramey Stroud, 19 years old, and James Willis, 22, were held by police, as was a third marine who, it developed later, was not accused of participation in the holdups, and who appeared to have fallen in with the pair a minute before their capture. He will be released today and will go to join his Nicaragua-bound comrades at Quantico, Va. The others will be held for the issuance of warrants.

About 8 o'clock, two policemen at Twentieth and Chestnut streets heard shots, and a Negro ran past them, crying out that the soldiers were shooting at him. He kept on running, and while they were investigating, two city detectives dispatched from Union Station went out on Twentieth street and arrested the three Marines.

Theo Greenfield, Negro, of 2809 Morgan street, came up and said he had been following two of the Marines since they held him up in a doorway at 2217 Olive street and took $2.65 from him. He identified Stroud and Willis, as did Rose Boyd, Negro, of 2621 Olive street, who said they had held her up in her doorway and taken $1.65 from her.

Stroud appeared to have been drinking, and his automatic pistol appeared to police to have been fired shortly before. He and Willis denied the charges.

Lieut. Hagen of the Marine Corps called at police headquarters and took receipts for the men's pistols, as he is responsible to the Government for this property. He said Stroud and Willis were two of his best men, who have been in the mail-guarding service in and near St. Louis for the last four months.

"They could have got more than that from me," he said, when he learned of the amount they were accused of taking.

NEIGHBOR WITH SHOTGUN AIDS MAN IN CAPTURE OF BURGLAR

Negro Struggles With Frank Butler, But Surrenders When John Rothwell Arrives.

Frank Butler of 6039 Juniata street, and a neighbor, John Rothwell of 6027 Juniata street, the latter armed with a shotgun, captured a Negro burglar in front of Butler's home at 6:45 last evening.

Mrs. Butler saw the burglar in the house when she started to enter from the rear. She called to her husband, who was in the garage, and he overtook the fleeing man in the front yard. There they struggled for 15 minutes until Rothwell, appeared with a shotgun, and the man surrendered.

He said he was Chester Pryor, 22 years old, janitor of the Garden apartments at Taylor and Pershing avenues. Several pawn tickets were found in his pockets. He had taken nothing from the Butler house.

Cooper was arrested at Little Rock, Ark., and brought here for stealing merchandise from a store. He was serving a three-year term for burglary when given the par-

Scientist in Wilds Has Cure for Sleeping Sickness

Honore Palmer Tells How Son Was Saved From Disease by German When on Hunting Trip in Africa.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Honore Palmer, Chicago capitalist and his lion hunting party, including his wife and two sons, were 300 miles in the African wilderness when the eldest boy, Potter Dorsey Palmer, became ill with sleeping sickness, and almost providentially, the family believe, found aid in the presence of a German scientist.

Referring to an Associated Press cable dispatch from Nairobi, Africa, relating his son's cure by the German, Palmer said they were 300 miles southwest of Nairobi when his son developed fever.

Thirty miles away in an old German Fort, where he had been sent by the German Government before the World War, was Prof. Kleine. He had been commisioned to minister to natives. Since the war he has been maintained there by the League of Nations.

Thither the Palmers took their son, and Prof. Kleine administered a drug, discovered by German science since the war. In 24 hours, Palmer said, Potter's temperature was normal. After the second injection on the third day, a blood examination showed the germs of the disease had been killed.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the journal of the American Medical Association, said the formula for the drug has been kept secret. It has been reported, he added, that it was offered by the Germans to the Allies in exchange for the return of the former German colonies, but that the offer was refused.

Potter and his mother and his younger brother still are abroad. His grandfather, Potter Palmer, was a pioneer Chicago capitalist.

$3500 FIRE IN BUILDING WHERE GUARD SHOT HIMSELF

Son Who Relieved Pioneer Rag Co. Watchman, Accidently Hurt, Discovers Flames.

Damage estimated at $3500 was caused by a three-alarm fire in a four-story building at 204 South Main street, occupied by the Pioneer Rag Co., at 11:20 o'clock last night.

The blaze centered around the elevator shaft. Fire Chief Alt said traces of oil had been found at the bottom of the shaft and above. He was not prepared to state the cause of the fire.

The alarm was turned in by Martin Bruddon, 23 years old, of 4109 Minnesota avenue, son of Robert Bruddon, the regular night watchman. The son said he had relieved his father about 9 o'clock when the latter went home after accidentally shooting himself in the hand while cleaning his revolver.

FEDERAL SITE AGENT FALLS DEAD AT DESK

W. F. Field, Who Made Survey in St. Louis, Succumbs in Washington.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—W. F. Field, site agent of the Treasury Department, who recently made a survey of sites for the proposed new Federal Building in St. Louis, fell dead this afternoon at his desk in the Treasury Building. He was about 60 years old, and had been in the department for 30 years. In that time, he selected sites for most of the Federal buildings erected in different parts of the country.

His death is attributed to heart attack, following indigestion, of which he had complained earlier in the day.

Mr. Field passed three weeks in St. Louis in December, returning to Washington just before Christmas. He familiarized himself thoroughly with the downtown real estate situation. His conclusions, as to the course the Government should pursue as to its downtown realty holdings and its needed new building, were embodied in a report to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Made Basis of House Bill.

This report was the basis of a bill introduced into the House by Representative Dyer Jan. 22. It proposes to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to sell the present Federal building at Eighth, Ninth, Olive and Locust streets; the site owned by the Government at the southeast corner of Fourth and Chestnut streets, and the old Custom House at Third and Olive. From the proceeds, it is provided, the Government may acquire a new site "by purchase, condemnation or otherwise," and erect a Federal building, at a cost not to exceed $3,500,000.

Mr. Field believed the sale of the three properties would bring the Government between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, sufficient to provide the proposed new building, which would house not only all the offices now in the two Olive street buildings, but those in office buildings, for which the Government is paying $65,000 a year rent. It would also provide, he believed, for the needed addition to the main Postoffice building in the Union Station vicinity. In planning for the postoffice addtion, he conferred frequently with Postmaster Louis Alt, whose unexpected death in a barber shop occurred two weeks ago.

As a site for the new Federal building, Mr. Field favored either a Twelfth boulevard location on the Memorial Plaza, which city officials have considered offering to the Government as a free site, or a location between Twelfth boulevard and Seventh street. He held that the site should not be west of Twelfth or east of Seventh.

Collector of Customs Louis M. Hall, who was closely in touch with Mr. Field's work here, said last night that the work had progressed so far, and the expert's conclusions had been so fully set forth, that his death might not cause any delay in the undertaking. Collector Hall spoke of the thoroughness of Mr. Field's inquiries, and said Mr. Field gained a comprehensive knowledge of local conditions.

DOGS BRED TO BE BARKLESS

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Feb. 20.—By interbreeding with Siberian sledge dogs, a local fancier has developed a specie of dog that does not bark. They have a manner of howling something akin to the wolf but when well fed forget even that vocal ability. In begging for food they try to attract attention by a whine and gutteral cough.

SKYSCRAPER WORTH $95,000 LESS THAN NOTHING IN 35 YEARS

Razing of Woman's Temple in Chicago Reveals Loss From Obsolete Buildings.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—A 35-year-old skyscraper is worth nothing, a post-mortem of the razed Woman's Temple here has so disclosed. In fact, the building was worth $95,000 less than nothing. That sum was the cost of demolition, above the amount received from salvage of material.

"An office structure of the most modern design and most advantageous location may be so affected by obsolescence within 35 years that its demolition becomes an economic necessity," said a report of a survey made by the National Association of Building Overseers and Managers today. The report added that architectural design, construction, layout and equipment had depreciated 100 per cent.

The Woman's Temple was erected as a memorial for Frances Willard, founder of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Its site will be occupied by a building for the State Bank of Chicago.

FRANCE TO SHOW LEGION MEN ECONOMIC PLIGHT OF NATION

French Veterans to Take 30,000 Visitors on Tour of Devastated Regions.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—Patriotic Frenchmen plan to give the 30,000 American Legion members a short, intensive course in the "truth about the economic condition of France," and the war debts, when the veterans come to France next September.

Col. Picot, head of "The Broken Mugs," who has returned from the United States, says Americans think France prosperous, but he proposes to give them a new view of the country and new ideas about the war debts by sending them on a thorough, personally conducted, and authentically lectured, tour of the devastated regions.

"It is important," he said, "for them to see the difference between our peasants' living and that of their rich farmers."

AMERICAN NAVAL OFFICER BEATEN BY CHINESE MOB

U. S. Consul-General at Chungking Protests to Cantonese Against Assault on Lieut. J. F. Luten

FORCES MOVING TO DEFENSE OF SHANGHAI

Northern Commander Urges Personal Foe to Join in Suppressing Cantonese Bolshevism.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—An attack made on Lieut. John F. Luten of the American Navy by a mob of Chinese coolies at Chungkiang, Thursday, has been made the subject of a formal protest to the Cantonese Government by the American Consul-General and the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs at Chungking. Luten is a medical officer of the American gunboat El Cano.

A report reaching the Navy Department today from the commander of the Yangtze patrol said Luten, mistaken for a British officer, had been struck on the head and knocked down and his clothing torn.

The incident followed an attempt by the Chinese mob to board a British ship for passage up the Yangtze River, which was prevented by the guard on H. M. S. Cockchafer. Incensed the coolies attacked Luten as he was walking along the river on his way to the hospital.

The Shantung armies, allied with Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Northern war lord, were reported to the Navy Department today to be concentrating in the Shanghai region.

Admiral Williams, commanding the Asiatic fleet, advised the department of reports that 37,000 men were moving by sea to Pukow, where 30,000 already have been stationed.

Political Strike of 65,000 at Shanghai to Aid Cantonese.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 19.—The defeated troops of Marshal Sun Chuan-Fang, ruler of Giangsu Province, and the Nationalist army that forced them to retreat from the rich city of Hangchow yesterday, were re-organizing today to continue the struggle that will determine the possession of Shanghai, the "Paris of the Orient."

Forty thousand of Sun's soldiers, thrust from their leaders Province of Chekiang, were assembling at Sungkiang, 28 miles from here on the Hangchow-Shanghai railway to make a stand against 50,000 Cantonese. Both sides are receiving reinforcements.

Marshal Sun is expected in Shanghai tomorrow to direct the defense. In response to Sun's frequent appeals for aid, his ally, Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian dictator and head of the Pekin Government's military campaign against the Nationalist Cantonese invaders' bestirred himself to enlist the aid of Marshal Wu Pei-Fu. Chang and Wu have long been at feud but made a brief alliance last year. Wu, however, has recently blocked the advance of the Northern troops through Honan Province on their way to attack the Nationalists at Hankow whence the Cantonese drove Wu. In a long telegram to Wu today Chang said unless his troops were allowed to advance Bolshevism could not be combatted. Moreover, he had received several calls for aid from Sun, who was a former lieutenant of Wu. His aims and those of Wu are the same, said Chang; namely, the suppression of Bolshevism. He reminded Wu that he had done nothing with his troops since the Cantonese drove him out of Hankow last August and wrested Central China from his control.

Wu did not reply to Chang's appeal, and his troops remain between the armies of the north and the south.

A political strike here called out 65,000 Chinese of various industries on strike. The strikers stoned tramway cars.

The strike engineered by Cantonese propagandists to celebrate the victory of their army over Marshal Sun Chuan-Fang's troops at Hangchow.

The international settlement mobilized its volunteer corps of residents. Sixteen hundred of them put on uniforms in readiness for the call to action. There was little apprehension, however, by the many thousand white residents, including 4000 Americans, that the 1,500,000 Chinese in the native city of Shanghai would dispossess them

Text of the Japanese Reply Accepting Arms Parley Plan

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Following is the text of the Japanese Government's acceptance of the American invitation to a conference on naval disarmament:

"THE Japanese Government have given careful consideration to the memorandum of the American embassy at Tokio, dated Feb. 10, defining the attitude of the United States on the general problem of disarmament and suggesting that the representatives of the five Powers, signatories of the Washington naval treaty, about to participate in the forthcoming session of the preparatory commission for the disarmament conference at Geneva, shall be empowered to negotiate and to conclude an agreement among those five Powers for the limitation of armament in the classes of Naval vessels not covered by the Washington treaty.

"The Japanese Government fully share with the American Government the views expressed in that memorandum on the desirability of an agreement calculated to complete the work of the Washington conference for the prevention of competitive naval building. They cordially welcome the initiative taken by the American Government for the institution among the five Powers negotiations looking to such desirable end. They will be happy to take part in these negotiations through their representatives invested with full powers to negotiate and to conclude an agreement on the subject.

"In view, however, of the supreme importance of the problem to be discussed and determined, the Japanese Government find it essential that at least a part of the Japanese delegation shall be specially sent from Tokio. Considering the length of time required for the necessary preparations as well for the journey from Tokio to Geneva it will obviously be impossible for the Japanese representatives to assist at the negotiations should that meetnig be held simultaneously with or immediately after the forthcoming session of the preparatory disarmament commission scheduled to be opened on March 21 next. Accordingly, the Japanese Government desire that the meeting of the Powers signatories of the Washington naval treaty now suggested, should take place on a date not earlier than June 1.

"The Japanese Government are further gratified to learn that it is not the intention of the American Government at this time to put forward rigid proposals on the ratios of naval strength to be maintained by the several Powers in the classes of vessels not covered by the Washington treaty. In order to insure the success of the proposed negotiations it seems highly important that in the matter of these conditions of the limitation of armament all parties to the negotiations should approach the subject with an open mind, being always guided by the spirit of mutual accommodation and helpfulness, consistently with the defensive requirements of each nation. The Japanese Government confidently hope that an adjustment will be reached in a manner fair and satisfactory to each of the participating powers and conducive to the general peace and security of the world."

8-YEAR-OLD FLAGLER HEIR SERIOUSLY ILL

Divorced Mother and Father of Lawrence Lewis Jr., Are Called to Hospital.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 19.—Lawrence Lewis Jr., of Wilmington, N. C., 8-year-old heir to the bulk of the Henry G. Flagler millions, was admitted to Johns Hopkins hospital today for treatment of what was described as a "serious illness." Mrs. Jessie Kenan Wise, the boy's grandmother, accompanied him to Baltimore.

Mrs. Louise Wise Lewis, the boy's mother who is in Europe on her second honeymoon, has been summoned and his father, Lawrence Lewis of Richmond, Va., who was divorced from Mrs. Lewis two years ago, was reported en route to Baltimore.

Young Lewis was assigned a room in the Harriet Lane Home for Invalid Children, a branch of Johns Hopkins, and it was understood he was to be attended by Dr. Walter E. Dandy, specialist who recently operated upon Harry S. Lehr, former society leader of New York, Newport and Baltimore. Dr. Dandy is noted for feats of brain surgery. Members of the family have declined to discuss the child's ailment.

CALLES' DAUGHTER MARRIED IN MEXICO AT CIVIL CEREMONY

Pair Will Be Wedded Again at Catholic Church in San Antonio, Tex.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 19.—Mexico City dispatches to La Prensa, local Spanish publication, say that Miss Natalia Calles, daughter of President Calles of Mexico, was married today to Carlos Herrera in the Mexican capital. A civil ceremony was performed. They will come to San Antonio for a church ceremony.

The engagement caused much discussion because of religious controversies involved. The religious ceremony will be solemnized in San Antonio, it was explained, so that the laws which prohibit religious ceremonies in Mexico will not be violated.

Members of the Calles and Herrera families will accompany the couple to San Antonio for the ceremony at a Catholic church.

EAST IN GRIP OF BLIZZARD

Driving Snowstorms Accompanied by Falling Temperatures.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—A driving snow ended the springlike weather of the last few days in the East. The storm came last night with falling temperatures along the North Atlantic seaboard and West into Pennsylvania. Sleet in the morning turned into a driving snowstorm and soon settled down to a steady fall predicted to last from 24 to 36 hours.

New York City augmented its street cleaning department with 10,000 additional workers. Pennsylvania, from New Jersey to Ohio, was covered with 10 inches of snow during the night. The Connecticut Valley was gripped in one of the worst storms of the season, with the thermometer at about 18 above zero. The storm was general throughout New England.

NATIONALISTS IN CHINA GAIN UPPER HAND IN WEEK

Chiang Kai-Shek Forces Outmaneuver Enemies on 600-Mile Front, Advance Toward Shanghai.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Tremendous events of the last week in China coupled with the challenge of impending developments occupy the center of interest in official circles here, even to the extent of overshadowing the administration's warlike preparations in Nicaragua.

News dispatches and diplomatic advices make it apparent that the Cantonese Nationalist army led by the youthful military genius, Chiang Kai-Shek, has outfought and outmaneuvered its enemies along the whole 600-mile front from Hankow to Ningpo. It has smashed the eastern army of Sun Chuan Fang, captured Hangchow, and is advancing upon Shanghai, the richest city of the Orient.

Meantime the heralded advance of Chang Tso-Lin upon Hankow, which was expected to relieve the pressure toward Shanghai by diverting Cantonese troops from eastern to central China has failed to materialize.

Quick Shift to the Balance.

The situation has completely changed within the last few days. A week ago Sun Chuan-Fang, who is openly friendly to the British was reported to have defeated the Cantonese south of Hangchow, thus indefinitely postponing the danger to Shanghai.

At the same time it was announced that Chang Tso-Lin, former bandit and northern war lord who serves Japanese interest in China, was ready to launch a great offensive designed to recapture Hankow from the Cantonese. His son, Chang Hsueh-Liang, was said to be leading a well equipped army of 100,000 men southward through Honan province.

Moreover it was announced that Wu Pei-Fu recently ejected from Hankow by the Cantonese, would co-operate with Chang Tso-Lin in a great effort to turn the left flank of the Cantonese. This threat, coupled with Sun Chaun-Fang's reported victories on the Eastern front, was regarded as having definitely averted the Cantonese threat.

It is now the opinion of military men here that the threat against Hankow was merely a gesture, intended to compel the Cantonese to transfer troops from the Shanghai front to the Hankow front. Instead of responding to it,

JAPAN'S NOTE ACCEPTS U. S. INVITATION TO ARMS PARLEY

Asks Only That Date Be Set No Earlier Than June 1 So Delegation Can Be Sent to Geneva.

TOKIO EMPHASIZES OPEN-MINDEDNESS

Interest in Washington Now Centers on Italy's Apparent Delay in Making Rejoinder.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Japan's acceptance of the American proposal for a five-power supplemental Naval conference at Geneva was made public early today by the State Department.

Making only one stipulation outside the language of the American memorandum, Japan asked that the opening of the conference be set not earlier than June 1 so that a delegation from Tokio with adequate instructions can reach Geneva in time to participate.

As expected, the Japanese Government noted that the American suggestion did not "put forward rigid proposals as regards ratios of Naval strength" to be maintained by each power in classes of war vessels not covered by the Washington treaty. To insure success of the negotiations, the Japanese note said, it was important that all parties to the negotiations "should approach the subject with an open mind," being always guided by the defensive requirements of each nation.

Confident of Agreement.

The confident hope was expressed that a "fair and satisfactory" agreement could be reached "conducive to the general peace and security of the world."

The American memorandum, after expressing hesitation "at this time to put forward rigid proposals" as to the ratios, added: "The American Government for its part, is disposed to accept, in regard to those classes of vessels not covered by the Washington treaty, an extension of the 5-5-3 ratio as regards the United States, Great Britain and Japan and to leave to discussion at Geneva the ratios of France and Italy, taking into full account their special conditions and requirements in regard to the types of vessels in question."

That Japan would not be willing to accept the 5-5-3 ratio extension to other types of war craft than battleships and aircraft carriers has been forecast in Tokio dispatches, although nothing has been said as to what changes in ratio she would seek at Geneva.

Kellogg Withholds Comment.

Secretary of State Kellogg withheld comment on the Japanese note but probably will make a statement later, as he did in connection with the French rejection of the Geneva conference proposal. As yet the Washington Government has received no official word as to when the Italian and British replies may be expected.

With the French rejection already at hand, interest in the apparent delay of Italy in transmitting her rejoinder is increasing. Rome dispatches early this week said that Italy would follow the course of France and decline to enter the negotiations and that the Italian reply would be sent immediately. Since then the French refusal has been published, and as yet no official word has reached the State Department from Rome.

Senator Borah, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, was among President Coolidge's callers today and arms limitation was discussed, but no intimation as to what was given either at the White House or by Borah.

WOMAN SUED BY DRY LEADER

Caused His Arrest on Charge of Having Liquor.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19.—Declaring his arrest recently on liquor possession charges on complaint of Mrs. Marie J. Johnson, wealthy apartment owner, damaged his reputation to the extent of $100,000, C. L. Hansen, former Minnesota dry leader and legislator, filed suit against Mrs. Johnson in Circuit Court here today for that amount.

Mrs. Johnson had Federal prohibition agents search Hansen's rooms, where a half pint of whisky was alleged to have been found. Hansen was freed after preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Spitler.

SCHOOL WELFARE HINGING UPON A GAME OF POLITICS

Gov. Baker's Failure to Assume Leadership in Demand for Adequate Revenue the Cause.

BOTH PARTIES SHY AT TAX INCREASES

Special Message by Executive Detailing Need of More Funds Awaited by the Democrats.

By CURTIS A BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 19.—Gov. Baker's failure to assume active leadership in the demand of the State educational system for adequate revenues is creating a legislative problem overshadowing all others in the General Assembly and is injecting the political question into the economic question facing the legislators. The welfare of the schools is resting upon a game of politics.

The Republican administration fears the political effect of an adjournment of the Legislature without provisions for more funds for the schools and yet it is worried over the prospects of defending increased taxes when the next State campaign comes on.

The Democrats in the Senate are disturbed by the same problem. They feel that Democratic success will hinge largely upon preventing an increase in taxes, but they are willing to vote an increase if the Governor will send a message to the Legislature which could be used to show that the tax bills were passed at the request of the Governor and on a somewhat exact showing by him that the funds were absolutely necessary.

Baker's Activity So Far.

So far, the Governor's interest in the financial legislation has been to recommend the passage of the nuisance tax law, a 10 per cent tax on tobacco and 10 per cent tax on amusement admissions. His statements as to needed revenue have been general and he has not submitted to the Legislature anything in the nature of a detailed report on State finances.

If he will submit a special message setting out as nearly as may be ascertained the anticipated revenue from the present source of taxation and a detailed statement of the minimum needs of the State to provide adequate school facilities and to operate the various State departments, there will be little question that the Senate will vote the funds he says are necessary, but in the absence of that sort of a message the Senate is holding back.

The politics of the situation is shown by the effort of the Governor and the Republican House to pass the buck to the Senate and the Senate's determined effort to force the Governor and the Republican administration to an acceptance of the responsibility which, the Senators say, belongs to the administration.

Attitude of House.

The House has passed the nuisance tax bill and sent it to the Senate. It is estimated it would produce approximately $9,000,000 of revenue in the biennial period. The House soon will pass other measures to increase the income tax 50 per cent, increase the inheritance tax, increase the corporation franchise tax 50 per cent and possibly the general property tax from a 5-cent rate to 7 cents.

With these measures in the Senate, the House expects to sit back and place on the Senate the responsibility of either killing all the bills and letting the schools suffer, or choosing whether it will pass the nuisance taxes or the other group, which constitutes direct forms of taxation.

The Democrats announced a position very early in the legislative session of opposition to any additional taxes but that was before the lobby backed by the educational interests began to bring pressure for more money for the schools. Now they fear that if the funds are not provided the Democrats will be charged with refusing to provide for the educational interests of the State and that if they are provided the Democrats will suffer because they will have picked the particular means of taxation adopted for the increase, the indirect, through the nuisance taxes, or the direct, through the other means suggested.

Some Increase Certain.

It virtually is certain that some taxes will be increased and it is more probable the direct and not the indirect system will be adopted, but there are strong influences within the Democratic ranks against either.

Some Senators charge the present unsound conditions of State finances to waste, extravagance and mismanagement by the Republican administration and hold that it would be a mistake to add from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 to the funds which the administration will have to spend.

Borah Denounces U. S. Policy Toward China and Nicaragua

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Bldg.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—"We are sitting on top of a powder magazine in China and it may blow up at any time," said Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, today.

"That condition has been brought about by the blundering policy of the British Government, connived at by this Government. Our diplomats are making the mistake of dealing with China in the old way. They cannot or will not see that a new China has arisen."

"What can now be done to mend matters?" he was asked.

"The British should refrain from landing their troops, he replied. "The United States should immediately notify Minister Sze at Washington that it is ready to negotiate new treaties to take the place of the present special privilege treaties. It is no answer to say that Minister Sze does not represent all the warring factions in China. He represents China.

If treaties are negotiated, he will present them to whatever government may be in power. Meantime, the announcement of our willingness to negotiate would placate China. The United States should do at once, graciously and of its own volition, what eventually it will be compelled to do."

"What of Nicaragua?" Borah was asked.

"By the dispatch of more Marines to Nicaragua," he replied, "we are intensifying our problem in that part of the world. Admiral Latimer did not need additional forces for the protection of American life and property. Indeed, he seemed surprised, according to the press dispatches, when told they were coming.

"Guatemala is in open revolt against the American influence. This disaffection has extended to Salvador and Honduras though to date they have been kept in hand by the pressure of financial interests.

"Our policy is creating a general Central American movement hostile to the United States."

however, it appears that the Cantonese threw additional troops into action against Sun Chaun-Fang, inflicting such a decisive defeat upon him that his troops are retreating upon Shanghai in disorder.

In the face of this situation it is expected that Chang Tso-Lin will consider discretion the better part of valor and stay out of central China where the doubtful loyalty of Wu Pei-Fu may have rendered his position precarious.

Christian General an Enigma.

Meantime, there is a mysterious and dramatic factor in the situation which is causing much speculation in informed quarters. It is known that Feng Yu-Hsiang, the "Christian General" has a large and disciplined army at his command in the northeast, somewhere in the neighborhood of Langchow-Fu. Feng recently returned from Moscow, which has been supplying military experts to the Cantonese. Some estimates have placed Feng's army at 125,000 men.

Since an alliance of Wu Pei-Fu and Chang Tso-Lin drove Feng out of Peking into Mongolia several months ago, his forces have been inactive. However, his loyalty to the Nationalist cause is undoubted. He now appears in a position to take effective action.

Wu Pei-Fu who has been friendly to foreign interests in China seems to be in a highly dangerous situation. The Cantonese, who have beaten him once, are immediately south of him. Feng is directly to the west. From Chang Tso-Lin on the north, he can expect no help, because they are traditional enemies despite occasional instances of co-operation.

A Possible Development.

Military men expect that when the Cantonese have done whatever they intend to do with Shanghai, Feng and Chiang Kai-Shek will join forces and start a drive for Peking. In that event Wu would either have to join the Nationalist cause or be crushed. Chang Tso-Lin it is anticipated, would do what he has often done before—retire from Peking and Tientsin, and resume his headquarters at Mukden in Manchuria, from which it has thus far been impossible to dislodge him.

Certainly the situation seems to be developing more favorably for the Cantonese every hour. The most that is expected of the foreign troops in Shanghai is that they will prevent the overrunning of the foreign concessions.

This danger is anticipated not so much from the Cantonese army, which appears to be well disciplined, as from the defeated troops of Sun Chuan-Fang pouring back into the city. It is the immemorial custom of Chinese mercenary troops such as these of Sun, to loot cities before evacuating them—a custom which they followed before fleeing from Hangchow.

Another threat lies in the danger of mob violence. The labor unions in Shanghai are wholly in sympathy with the Cantonese cause and the strike which they have called there undoubtedly was intended not only to celebrate the Cantonese victory at Hangchow, but to cripple the facilities which might be employed to assist in reorganizing and replenishing Sun's beaten army.

Dissuasions between Eugene Chen, Cantonese Foreign Minister, and the British Charge O'Malley are continuing at Hankow, but with the accumulating military successes of the Cantonese, Chen's terms are likely to show increasing firmness.

Demands on Foreign Powers.

The Cantonese are demanding the immediate and unconditional cancelation of all unequal treaties, the abolition of extra-territorial rights for foreigners in China and the restoration to Chinese authority of the concessions forcibly taken by the powers over a period of 80 years.

If this week produces events comparable to those of the last the Cantonese apparently will be in a position to take what they want with or without the consent of the powers.

The principal contribution of the United States Government to the situation has been a suggestion by Secretary of State Kellogg that the foreign concessions in Shanghai be declared a neutral zone. No answer has been received from the Cantonese, and apparently the suggestion is to be ignored. Not only the Cantonese, but also the northern war lords are known to have received it unfavorably considering it impracticable.

When a nation is engaged in a terrific civil war like that in China it seldom troubles to stake off neutral zones for the benefit of foreigners who happen to be on the ground.

Democrats in Congress Will Renew Efforts Next Winter.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—House Democrats have abandoned their fight for tax reduction at this session of Congress. Representative Garner of Texas, minority spokesman on revenue questions, said today there apparently remained no parliamentary way of preventing Republicans from carrying out their plan to apply the treasury surplus to reduction of the public debt.

He said the Democrats would attempt to bring about reductions in the Congress which meets next December.

FRANCE TO PAY U. S. $10,000,000 EXTRA THIS YEAR

As Evidence of Good Faith, Paris Government Will Increase Debt Installment to $30,000,000.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—France is preparing to pay the United States an additional $10,000,000 this year as an act of good faith because of the delay in ratifying the Mellon-Berenger debt agreement.

This does not require any approval from the United States, as the additional sum simply will be credited to the debt incurred before and after the armistice. But the fact that the total sum paid this year will amount to $30,000,000, which is what the Mellon-Berenger agreement provides for 1927, is significant.

It means that the French Government wants to comply with the terms of the agreement during the early years at least. It is recognized that even if the French Parliament rejects the agreement and asks for a revision of terms particularly as to payments for later years, the payment this year of $30,000,000 will be more or less a committment for the next five years.

Why Congress Delayed.

The policy of the French Government has been known here for some time, but American officials of course could not comment on it or even indicate in advance that they would allow it to influence their judgment with respect to the necessity of ratifying the Mellon-Berenger agreement. This agreement is pending in the American Congress, but the leaders there feel that action can be delayed until the French Parliament acts.

The probability that an attempt to act on the agreement would mean protracted debate at the short session of Congress with no practical effect because the French had not ratified, influenced the leaders to defer consideration until the session next December.

It seems certain that the agreement will be ratified by the American Congress, but there is considerable doubt as to what the French Parliament will do.

Settlement Up to Congress.

Meanwhile the World War debt funding commission has gone out of existence, which means that if any revision of the Mellon-Berenger agreement is to be attempted Congress will have to pass a new law creating a commission to act for it. The settlement of the debts is not and never has been an executive matter, as this is entirely within the province of Congress.

The French believe that the payment of the additional $10,000,000 will have a favorable effect on American public opinion and will go far toward erasing the impression that the French criticism of the terms of the 62-year agreement is in reality an attempt at repudiation.

GEORG BRANDES, FAMOUS DANISH CRITIC, DIES AT 85

Pioneer Defender of Ibsen Succumbs in Copenhagen Following Abdominal Operation.

By the Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 19. — Dr. Georg Brandes, noted literary critic, died today after an illness of several weeks. He was 85 years old. He had been suffering from intestinal trouble for which he underwent an operation a week ago. His age militated against a recovery.

Of his many important works the one for which he was most widely known perhaps was his early recognition and prompt appreciation of the genius of Ibsen.

Brandes' Radicalism Cost Him a Job, but Won Him Fame.

DR. GEORG BRANDES, first important contribution to letters was his "Aesthetic Studies" in 1868, which included brief monographs on Danish poets. Several important works which he published in 1870 brought him to the fore as the leading critic of northern Europe. These included "The French Aesthetics of Our Days," dealing chiefly with Taine; "Criticisms and Portraits," and a translation of John Stuart Mill's "The Subjection of Women."

Becoming docent, or reader in Belles Lettres at the University of Copenhagen, Dr. Brandes delivered lectures which were so sensational that the authorities refused to elect him professor of aesthetics when the chair became vacant in 1872, but his fitness for the place was so obvious that the chair of aesthetics remained vacant, no one else daring to place himself in comparison with Brandes.

"Main Streams," 1872-75.

In the midst of an important literary controversy, Dr. Brandes began to issue the most ambitious of his works, "Main Streams in the Literature of the Nineteenth Century," of which four volumes appeared between 1872 and 1875. Being a criticism of the literature of the principal countries of Europe at the beginning of the nineteenth century, they immediately attracted attention outside Denmark and their success was increased because of the storm that had gathered about the person of the critic. Dr. Brandes' reputation grew apace, especially in Germany and Russia.

Dr. Brandes left Copenhagen in 1877 and settled in Berlin, where he resided six years. He took an active part in the aesthetic life of the city, but his political views made Prussia an uncomfortable place for him and he returned to Copenhagen in 1883. In his native city he found a new school of writers and thinkers eager to accept him as their leader.

One of the most important works of Dr. Brandes in the latter part of the nineteenth century was his study of Shakspeare, which, translated into English, at once gained a high position. About the same time he wrote a modern history of Scandinavian literature.

Visited U. S. in 1914.

Dr. Brandes made one visit to the United States,, in 1914, to lecture at Yale, the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Minnesota. Upon his arrival here he took occasion to characterize Poe as the greatest American poet and ranked Thomas Paine next. Of contemporary American writers he said Jack London (now dead) was the best and Upton Sinclair and Frank Norris were next. Emerson he regarded as the greatest American thinker, but the man who held a warm spot in the hearts of all Danes, he said, was Longfellow.

Dr. Brandes was born at Copenhagen Feb. 4, 1842. When he entered the University of Copenhagen, from which he was graduated in 1864, he began the study of jurisprudence, but after a short time discarded that subject and turned to philosophy and aesthetics.

In November, 1921, occurred the fiftieth anniversary of his first public lecture at the University of Copenhagen. Danish students made the occasion an opportunity to honor Dr. Brandes with a public dinner.

Not Far From Bottom to Top

HARDLY more than three months ago this young lady, Miss Elinor Dorrance, daughter of the president of the Campbell Soup Company, started at the bottom of the ladder to learn the soup business. Beginning as a factory hand at 31 cents an hour, her success was immediate. This photograph was taken last Friday upon her arrival in New York from Europe, where she went on a "business trip for the firm." She attributes her success to hard work.

KIRKWOOD DOG FARMS VIRTUALLY OUTLAWED

Ordinance Limiting Them to Three to a Family Causes Dilemma.

A plague of dogs has descended upon the city of Kirkwood, and the city fathers have found it necessary to pass an ordinance limiting the canine population to three a family.

This unusual bit of legislation was put into effect a few days ago and has resulted in bringing a swarm of dog license applicants to the City Hall, but it also has resulted in an official dilemma which was not originally taken into account.

It happens that within the limits of Kirkwood are about a dozen dog "farms," upon which pedigreed collies, police dogs and hunting dogs are raised for sale. Under the new ordinance, these establishments are restricted to three dogs just the same as the average household and are thereby virtually outlawed. Dog raisers complain that literal interpretation of the ordinance will mean ruin for them. As a result, the City Hall in the last few days has been the scene of heated argument while dog owners and city officials tried to thresh out the controversy.

According to the January census, Kirkwood had a dog population of 700. This represents considerably less than three a family, but the present distribution will make it necessary for numerous householders as well as dog raisers to reduce the size of their kennels. What to do with the excess supply now constitutes another problem, because the Humane Society is unable to take care of the large numbers being turned over to it.

FESENFELT CHARGE DROPPED

The charge of peace disturbance against Charles Fesenfelt, 68 years old, of 2329 University street, who was arrested Feb. 7 when he refused to pay the extra cent fare charged by the United Railways, was dismissed without prosecution yesterday on the recommendation of counsel for the company.

Fesenfelt, who has stated that he considered the increase illegal, has organized an association to fight it. He was represented in Police Court by Victor Packman and Jesse Bishop, attorneys, who are figuring in the test case of the city ordinance prohibiting the sale of street car transfers.

'BUCHMANISM' CAUSES CLASH AT PRINCETON

Six Officers of College Religious Society, at Odds With President Hibben, Resign.

By the Associated Press.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 19.—Ray Foote Purdy, general secretary, and five graduate secretaries resigned tonight as the governing body of the Philadelphian Society, Princeton undergraduate religious organization. The resignations were the result of events which last fall led Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton, to appoint a committee to investigate the activities of the society.

The resignations, submitted to Dr. John McDowell, president of the board of directors of the society, take effect March 1. The graduate secretaries are Theodore Stevenson, Howard Blake, Frank Bancroft, John Bryant and Scoville Wishart. They are appointees of the general secretary. It is understood the resignations were not asked for.

Dr. Hibben declined to comment other than to say that plans for reorganization of the society would get under way immediately.

Several years ago Dr. Hibben announced that so long as he was president of Princeton "Buchmanism"—an "old-fashioned" religion fostered by Dr. Frank Buchman of New York, would have no place on its campus and ordered Buchman away from the University.

Last fall undergraduates learning that Buchman was holding secret conferences with students in their rooms, demanded an investigation of the Philadelphian society and Dr. Hibben appointed a committee composed of three members of the faculty, three trustees and three undergraduates. While the committee in its report last January found that Buchamnism laid undue stress upon "the confession of sexual immoralities" and arraigned Purdy for entertaining Buchman, it reported that the charges against the society were not substantiated.

Several weeks later, the campus was startled by the appearance in the daily of Purdy's letter which proclaimed that the Philadelphian society owed its aims and methods to Buchman. This precipitated tonight's action, although it is said the resignations were not asked for.

The Philadelphian, founded in 1825 is the oldest collegiate religious society in the country.

ARTIST'S WEDDING HALTED SUDDENLY BY DIVORCE SUIT

Dayton (O.) Girl's Father Threatens Prosecution Unless Man Proves Woman's Charges Untrue.

By the Associated Press.

DAYTON O., Feb. 19.—Charles H. Simms, wealthy real estate dealer, who had expected to witness the marriage today of his daughter, Charlotte, to Kenyon Anthony Stoddard, an artist, sat alone in his home tonight, awaiting the unravelling of the snarl of circumstances that prevented the wedding.

He waited particulary for word from Philadelphia that Stoddard, otherwise known as Herman Albrecht Yaffee, had made good his promise to prove that he was unwed when he secretly married Miss Simms Oct. 24 last at Newport, Ky.

And while he waited he said nothing. He merely let stand a statement that he intended to prosecute the young artist if he is unable to establish the fact that a divorce action, brought against him by Edith Widing Yaffee of Portland, Me., is unfounded.

The divorce suit broke up today's wedding plans. It alleged that Stoddard had married Edith Widing in Philadelphia under the name of Yaffee. The papers were served in Simms' presence. Several things happened very soon. Stoddard left for Philadelphia, promising to uncover proof that he was not married. Miss Simms and her mother went to Clearwater, Fla.

The secret wedding in Newport came to light last night and Simms' threat to prosecute followed at once.

Reports here from Philadelphia said court records there disclosed that a marriage license was issued on April 26, 1917 to Herman Albrecht Yaffee and Edith Widing, and that the ceremony was performed by Magistrate W. L. Sherman.

Divorce Papers Served in Dayton Charge Cruel Treatment.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 19.—A divorce libel filed here on behalf of Mrs. Edith Widing Yaffee against Herman Albrecht Yaffee is returnable at the March term of Superior Court. The summons was served a few days ago at Dayton, O., on a man alleged to be Yaffee, who was married at Newport, Ky., last October to Charlotte Simms, Dayton society girl, under the name of Kenyon Anthony Stoddard.

Mrs. Yaffee is said to be in Switzerland. The libel was filed by William H. Gulliver, a Portland attorney. Mr. Gulliver, in New York today, telephoned that he recalled little in connection with the case except that Mrs. Yaffee had called at his office and retained him, and that she charged cruel and abusive treatment and desertion. Yaffee and his wife for several years have been summer residents of the artist colony at Birch Point, on Cousins Island, in Casco Bay, near Yarmouth. They are believed to have made their winter home at Lynn, Mass. Mrs. Yaffee's brother, Ragnar Widing, is a resident of Boston.

A Portland man who passes his summers on Cousins Island said today that the Yaffees always appeared happy. He said Yaffee spent much of his time in Dayton, where he was understood to be employed, and that Mrs. Yaffee went to Switzerland last fall.

Girl Says She Is Certain That Artist Can Disprove Charge.

By the Associated Press.

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 19.—Miss Charlotte Simms of Dayton, O., today verified the report that she was secretly married on Oct. 24 to Kenyon Anthony Stoddard in Newport, Ky., and that a public ceremony scheduled for today was stopped by service of papers in a divorce suit against Stoddard. Miss Simms expressed "absolute confidence in Mr. Stoddard's integrity."

A telegram from Stoddard today stated that "legal procedure will probably take two months" and Miss Simms declared she was sure he had not been married before. The name of Yaffee is used by Stoddard in his commercial art work, she said. Miss Simms is here with her mother and aunt, Mrs. Ferdinand Peck of Chicago.

STILL OWNER CAUGHT BY TELEPHONE CALL

Louis Galli Arrested When He Answers Summons to Richmond Heights Barn.

A decoy telephone call from the barn in Richmond Heights, where his 200-gallon still had been uncovered yesterday afternoon by Chief Deputy Constable Boenecke of Central Township, brought Louis Galli, 37 years old, of 4115 Flad avenue to the scene of his whisky-making plant and caused his arrest.

W. M. Merriweather, the Negro who rented the barn to Galli two months ago, made the telephone call while Constable Boenecke and his aids stood by. Merriweather reminded Galli that part of the rent for the barn was due, and said he must have money immediately. Galli arrived at the barn a half hour later.

The officers found, in addition to the still, which was dismantled, a mash vat with 8000-gallon capacity in the rear of the barn. It had been covered with boards, these being piled with leaves and brush. Galli, who said he was a laborer, admitted he owned the still and vat, the authorities said. Merriweather was placed under arrest with his tenant, both men being taken to the county jail at Clayton.

The barn is near the crossing of Eager road and the Kirkwood-Ferguson car tracks.

BAD WEATHER DELAYS ITALIAN AIRMAN'S HOP ACROSS OCEAN

Pinedo Probably Will Begin 1700-Mile Flight to Brazil This Morning.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Feb. 19.—The departure of Commander Francesco de Pinedo from Porta Praya, Cape Verde Islands, for Port Natal, Brazil, depended tonight on atmospheric conditions.

It was believed unlikely he would hop off tonight, although there was a possibility he might if the weather became more favorable. Officers at the Aeronautical Ministry thought it probable he would take off on his 1700-mile hop across the South Atlantic tomorrow morning.

News from Pinedo continued exceedingly scanty. The authorities, apparently on orders from Premier Mussolini, were not announcing the contents of the aviator's official reports in conformity with the Premier's desire to have the achievements speak for themselves.

BOAT ADRIFT IN GALE SAVED BY ANCHORS

Coast Guard Craft, With Eight Men Aboard, Halted Within Sight of Shore.

By the Associated Press.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass, Feb. 19.—With engines and wireless disabled, and rolling in seas churned by a 50-mile gale, the Coast Guard picket boat 238 was driven toward shore tonight despite two anchors, three miles northeast of Highland Light on the tip of Cape Cod here until, within sight of the Coast Guard station her shoreward drag apparently was ended when her anchors found firm holding.

The 238, carrying a crew of eight men, including her commander, Boatswain J. K. Rivenback, made known her plight soon after dusk by blinker signals to the Highland Coast Guard station. The shore crew, however, could only notify Base 5 at Boston, as launching a surf boat was impossible and the helpless picket boat was too far offshore to reach with a beach cannon and breeches buoy line.

The Coast Guard Cutters Red Wing and Tuscarora were dispatched to the rescue under forced draught from Boston.

The craft was still too far from shore to get a line aboard from the beach gun. The Coast Guard crew settled down with a tower watch, ready to call out the beach cart should the 238's anchors let go again.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Feb. 19.—Four coastguard boats, the cutters Acushnet and Tuscarora, and destroyers Jouett and Downes, left Base 5 tonight for a 40-mile dash across Massachusetts Bay in the teeth of a northeast gale bent on the rescue of the patrol boat CG 238, off Highland Light. Officers at the base estimated that the destroyers might make the dash in a little over two hours.

CRUISER PROGRAM LIKELY TO GO BACK TO THE HOUSE

Senators Favor Immediate Construction, but Representatives Balk; Conferees Deadlocked.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—An impasse having been reached by Senate and House conferees on the question of beginning construction this year on three additional scout cruisers, a separate vote by the House on this amendment to the naval appropriation may be necessary.

An amendment similar to one approved by the Senate was rejected by the House on a roll call although Republican leaders there favored a proposal upon which President Coolidge had frowned. When the bill reached the Senate the cruiser amendment was adopted by an overwhelming majority and Senate conferees will insist that this provision be retained. Representative French (Rep.) of Idaho, who was in charge of the bill in the House, and some of the other House conferees apparently are equally as insistent that the amendment be killed.

After the conferees meet again Tuesday the question may be referred to the House for instructions.

SEVEN CHINESE TAKEN IN OPIUM DEN RAID

U. S. Agents and Police Seize 170 Grains of Drug in Chinatown.

For the first time in several years, Federal narcotic agents and city detectives late yesterday made a raid in the St. Louis Chinatown. They arrested seven Chinese and seized a small quantity of opium in the rooms of the second floor of 23 South Eighth street.

The raid was made at 4:45 p. m. on a search warrant issued on the affidavit of two narcotic agents who said they smelled opium burning when passing the building Friday. Breaking open front and rear doors of the apartment, the raiders found the seven Chinese in a room furnished with matted Chinese couches and wood-block pillows covered with leather.

Seven opium pipes, four of which were still warm, were gathered up and 17 small cans, each containing 10 grains of smoking opium, were seized together with a sack of yenshe, or reboiled ashes of opium.

The seven Chinese, taken to police headquarters said they were Lee Look, Ling Yee, Yung Sing, Leong Huey, Frank Huie, Dick Ghoa and Lee Foo. Lee Look said he rented the apartment and lived there and the others said they were laundrymen.

Chief Narcotic Agent Thompson led the raid.

TWO DROWN WHEN SHIPLOAD OF PILGRIMS IS OVERTURNED

Nearly 700 Survivors Attribute Escape to Presence of Saint's Head on the Steamer.

By the Associated Press.

COMO, Italy., Feb. 19.—Two persons were killed and several are missing through the sinking last night of a pilgrim steamer on Lake Como, with 700 passengers aboard, within a few feet of the landing stage at Como. The pilgrims attribute their escape to a "miracle," owing to the presence on the steamer of the head of St. Aloysius Gonzago.

Just before the accident the vessel skirted the shore, the populace ashore marching in procession and singing hymns. As the steamer approached the landing stage it was observed she was down by the stern. Shouts were raised, and when the danger was realized, there was a terrific scramble, many jumping into the water and swimming ashore.

The Bishop of Como, carrying the relic, refused to move until all the others had left. Then he carried it ashore.

The sinking was due to overloading and the captain was arrested.

IMPROVEMENT GROUPS TAKE UP TRANSIT PLAN

Thirty Associations Invited to Send Representatives to Discussion Meeting.

Thirty neighborhood improvement associations have been invited to send not fewer than three delegates each to a meeting Wednesday night in Room 1102, Title Guaranty building for a discussion of the city's transportation problem and of the Post-Dispatch suggestion for a commission to define those needs expertly.

The call for the meeting was sent out yesterday by the Newstead-Lee Business Men's Association. The intention is for a representative organization that shall function until the transportation question—surface lines and rapid transit—has been decided.

Alfred Henry Eisman, president of the Association, has requested the announcement that any organization interested in civic problems to which a written invitation may not have been addressed is invited to send its delegates.

The purpose of the meeting specifically stated in Eisman's call is "to improve present surface sytem and add to it conservative plans for subways or elevated lines." It also is declared that some definite proposal for creating the commission suggested by the Post-Dispatch should be considered.

LOWER RATE ON COAL FOR ST. LOUIS ASKED OF I. C. C. BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Aver Maximum Spread on Charge Between This City and East St. Louis Should Be 10, Not 46 Cents.

The present railroad freight rate on coal is unreasonable and the spread in the rate on that commodity between St. Louis and East St. Louis should be reduced to a maximum of 10 cents a ton, as compared to the present maximum differential of 46 cents, it is contended by the Traffic Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce in a brief filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday in support of its recent petition for a modification of existing rates on coal.

The brief, made public here simultaneously with its receipt by the commission in Washington, marks another chapter in the ten-year fight for a readjustment of the freight charges on coal shipped to this city from nearby Illinois fields—a fight, which, in the language of the brief, "has caused more rancor and discord between the railroads and the public, equally injurious to both, than any other traffic problem confronting the community in the past 20 years."

The present controversy is an outgrowth of a decision of the Illinois Commerce Commission ordering reductions of 11 to 21 cents a ton on coal shipped to East St. Louis from adjacent mines. Rates of $1.16 to $1.38½ to St. Louis were not affected by the Illinois commission's decision, and the result has been the widening of the difference between both sides of the river to a maximum of 46 cents a ton. Following the decision the carriers petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission to restore the old rates to East St. Louis and the Chamber of Commerce applied for rate reductions from the present groups to St. Louis.

Base Rate Is Too High.

Taking issue with the contention of the carriers that part of the present schedule of rates is justified by reason of the fact that they are obligated to pay a certain portion of their earnings to the Terminal Railroad Association for making deliveries of coal in St. Louis, the chamber in its latest move in the case, points out that the Terminal as such is not a distinct entity, but that it in fact constitutes merely the "termini" of the 15 member lines of the association.

"The Termini of the 15 lines, members of the Terminal Railroad Association," the brief says, "are in St. Louis and they are therefore obligated to serve the community in their individual capacity in the delivery of coal just as they assume such responsibility in the delivery of all other commodities and in the handling of passenger traffic through their Union Station in St. Louis."

Referring to the reasonableness of the rates, the chamber's brief asserts that the "rate on coal from the Belleville group 2, the base rate of the Illinois coal rate structure to St. Louis, is unreasonably high when compared with rates on the same commodity maintained by the same carriers to other consuming communities where transportation conditions are comparable or less favorable to the carriers and where the cost of maintaining terminal facilities is much greater to the individual lines in serving those communities than to the individual lines serving St. Louis."

Quotes Former Decision.

In requesting the commission to limit the difference in the rates between St. Louis and East St. Louis to a maximum of 10 cents a ton, the brief declares that the spread in the coal rates to St. Louis is too great, when compared with East St. Louis, taking into consideration both the present state and interstate rates to East St. Louis.

"In view of all this, and the fact that this vexatious question has been before this commission in various forms for a number of years without definite, general conclusion, and the further fact that the whole subject is now before this Commission in practically all its phases for the first time under section 13," the brief continues, "we would respectfully urge that it be considered and determined in the manner suggested by Commissioner Eastman in his dissenting opinion (joined in by Commissioner McChord) in St. Louis Chamber of Commerce vs. Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co., Director General, et al., wherein he said:

"'No process of rate making, of course, can avoid the transportation cost of the river crossing and it must be borne by the traffic. The theory underlying the 100-mile zone seems to be that the higher rates for the longer distances can more easily be adjusted so that the cost may be spread or absorbed. But even on this theory I fail to see a great deal of difference between rates on livestock for average distances of 150 to 175 miles and rates on coal for average distances of 25 to 50 miles. Nor, though the process is more readily perceptible, is it impossible to strike an average of the shorter distance rates by which compensation may be secured for the cost incident to the river crossing without charging the two cities different rates.'

Want Districts Merged.

"In considering the question as thus suggested, it should be kept in mind that the rates now apply to all industries on track in St. Louis, and that practically the same application is made with respect to the rates to East St. Louis. If, however, these two districts were merged and a rate found reasonable to the entire district the question of delivery to the different industries within the district on either side of the river might well be left to absorption of switching charges on the basis of competition, just as the rate on this same commodity is made applicable to the entire district of Chicago and to the several industries therein by absorption, notwithstanding the fact that that district is divided by the Indiana-Illinois state line, just as the St. Louis district is divided by the Illinois-Missouri state line, marked by the Mississippi River.

"Thus we pray, that you may settle a question which has caused more rancor and discord between the railroads and the public, equally injurious to both, than any other traffic problem confronting this community in the last 20 years."

Compared With Chicago.

To support its contention that the present schedule of rates on coal to St. Louis is unreasonable, the brief compares the level of rates to other large consuming points with those to this city, remarking that "it will readily be seen that the ton-mile earnings of 31.18 mills and the per car mile earnings of $1.559 of the carriers on the rate from Belleville, Group 2 to St. Louis, testified by the carriers to be the base group, are far in excess of any other contained therein. We believe this picture shows clearly on the face of it, the unreasonableness of that base rate.

"Take, for example, the rate from Northern Illinois field to Chicago. The average mileage shown in connection with that movement by your commission was 123 miles. The average distance from Illinois, group 2, to St. Louis is less by 85.8 miles and yet the St. Louis base rate is only 9 cents per ton below the Northern Illinois-to-Chicago rate."

Other similar comparisons are made by the brief after which it says:

"The carriers at great length in their petition and also in their testimony contend that the St. Louis rates are now on the level of rates prescribed by this commission in various decisions and attempt to justify them on this basis. We maintain that in not a single one of these cases was the reasonableness of the rates to St. Louis the primary issue involved, but rather it was either a general advance, discrimination, splitting certain origin groups or differentials between certain origin groups, and that now this commission has squarely before it for the first time the St. Louis rates with section 1 the primary issue.

Terminal Status Defined.

"We contend that by competent evidence, considering every theory of ratemaking, it is shown that the base rate in the Illinois coal structure to St. Louis is unreasonable per se. That being so, the fact that the balance of the structure is built on that foundation, it is obvious that the other group rates must fall with it."

The brief dwells at great length on the Terminal Railroad's position in the controversy, asserting that at the time other coal cases were under consideration, "the status of the Terminal Railroad Association was not so clearly defined as it is today."

"The proprietary lines of the Association entering St. Louis from the East," the brief continues, "have always desired and do now, to have the Terminal Railroad Association appear as an independent carrier, but their contentions mean nothing and their argument is baseless in view of this Commission's decision in Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Co., et al. vs. Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Co., et al. It said.

"'Before proceeding further it is desirable to state fully the nature, status and function of the Terminal Association. It is a corporation, the stock of which is owned in equal proportions by 15 of the principal east-side and west-side lines serving the St. Louis-East St. Louis district. The East Side lines hold a majority of the shares. The association's rails cross the river and it has terminal facilities, including depots and team tracks in both St. Louis and East St. Louis, where it receives and delivers freight. It holds itself out to perform service for all carriers. Though it is a common carrier it may not legally operate in all respects as a railroad transportation company having been perpetually enjoined several years ago from operating otherwise than as a terminal and interchange facility for railroads.

Not a Connecting Line.

"'The contract between the carriers, by which they may, under the Court's decree, continue the association and the operation of its facilities, contemplates that all carriers shall have equitable treatment in the matter of service, rights, accommodations, benefits, burdens, expenses, charges, etc. Though they do not ordinarily exercise them, the proprietary companies have trackage rights over the association's line between St. Louis and East St. Louis. Under this contract the properties of the association represent, in legal and practical effect, the extension of the east-side lines into St. Louis and the west-side lines into East St. Louis.'

"Having thus clearly defined the status of these railroads with respect to their relations to each other in the interchange of traffic within the St. Louis-East St. Louis Switching District, the status of the Terminal Railroad Association is just as clearly established as being simply and only the terminals of all and each of the 15 proprietary lines, members of the association. Hence the Terminal Railroad Association in this case cannot be treated as a connecting line but must be treated as legally defined by this Commission, i. e., the terminals or extensions of 15 of the lines here involved, as was the purpose of the carriers when the first bridge and tunnel were constructed."

"Numerous statements, varying in import, are contained in the record regarding the value of the property of these carriers used in delivering shipments to consignees in St. Louis. These statements are in some cases so involved that it is very difficult to reach a conclusion as to the alleged value of the property. Witness Clemens, traffic manager of the Terminal Railroad Association, in his testimony, however, places the value of the entire property of the Terminal Railroad Association with a trackage of 149.27 miles in Missouri and 209.12 miles in Illinois (including mileage of classification yards, etc., on both sides of the river) at a duplication cost of $114,644,065. This estimate is, as stated, based on the duplication value of the property, including the two bridges and the Wiggins ferry, the boats of which are not used in handling this coal traffic, as well as the Union Station, with its extensive network of tracks that are used exclusively for passenger traffic.

"In the first place, we wish to call this commission's attention to the fact that a part of this property stressed as so valuable is not owned by the Terminal Railroad Association, i. e., Eads Bridge and tunnel, but is leased so that the value of it as property held and used for the transportation of freight and passengers is indicated by the rental charge plus the upkeep.

"What that charge is is shown in detail as follows: Eads Bridge, $589,400; tunnel, $77,500. Total, $666,900.

"In other words, it represents a rental charge against each of the proprietary lines thus serving St. Louis of $44,460 annually. It is reasonable, therefore, to assume that this charge as thus outlined is that which yields to the owners of the bridge and tunnel a fair return on the value of the property.

"All of the stock of the Terminal Railroad Association is issued in equal amounts to each of its members without cost to them, and the cost of improvements, extensions, operating expenses, etc., is taken from earnings. Hence it is clearly apparent that the 15 railroads, all parties to this case, have associated under the title of Terminal Railroad Association for the purpose of operating their terminals in this city and commercial district in such a manner and at such rates for the specific terminal service (which should be performed by themselves as line-haul carriers) as will yield a profit sufficient to pay for these betterments, extensions and all other expenses of maintaining and operating the properties.

"In other words, these carriers are making and are endeavoring to continue to make these terminals pay and more than pay for themselves without a dollar of expense to the individual line as a whole."

The carriers are alleged to have supported their rates by a statement that "one-third of the industries to which coal is destined, are on rails of the Terminal Railroad, while the balance are on other destination lines." The brief declares that this "is an obvious endeavor to impress the Commission with the vast extent of the St. Louis district."

Accounting Arrangement.

The Chamber of Commerce declares that of the industries in the St. Louis district, 27.1 per cent are served by the Terminal, 30.6 by the Missouri Pacific and 23.9 by the Wabash, or a total of 81.6 per cent on three roads with a total trackage of 440 miles.

In answer to the carriers' contention that they are compelled to pay out of the rates to St. Louis, 32 cents per ton to the Terminal Railroad Association and 20.7 cents per ton to the destination line when the coal is delivered off the Terminal, the Chamber's brief refers to exhibits, which portray rates to other consuming points, the switching charges of which are absorbed by the carriers in connection with those rates.

"We maintain," the Chamber adds, "that any portion of the rate that the line haul lets the Terminal Railroad Association retain is a provision for the maintenance of their own terminal facility, i. e., a mere accounting arrangement and has no place in this proceeding in considering the reasonableness of the rates to St. Louis."

The parties to the case were given until yesterday to file briefs after which an examiner for the Commission will render a tentative report. Opportunity then will be given to file exceptions to the Examiner's report, and for oral argument, after fhich the Commission will render its decision.

GEORGE SAND'S AMOURS TO BE AIRED IN COURT

Woman Writer's Granddaughter Sues Biographer for Damages for Defamation.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The moral reputation of France's famous woman writer, George Sand, friend of Chopin, de Musset and other artists of her time, will soon be aired in court.

The case came to light with the filing of suit by Mme. Aurore Sand, granddaughter of the novelist, against Jacques Boulenger, literary critic. She asks for 10,000 francs damages for alleged defamation of her grandmother's memory in an article entitled, "The First Lovers of George Sand," which attracted wide attention in France.

The article, in the words of the complainant, represents the famous writer as "a woman of singular morals and innumerable lovers," who did not hesitate to favor one of her adorers to advance the interests of another. That, says the complaint, is "clearly defamatory to the memory of a dear being" who is unable to defend herself.

The most sensational part of the court hearings is likely to come from the defense, as Boulenger's lawyers hold that the truth of the statements in his article are well established.

NEPHEW SEEKS SHARE OF BOLLIN ESTATE

August Bollin and Sister in Germany Say Realty Broker Adopted Him.

The deposition of Mrs. Louise Schmidt of Karlsruhe, Germany, who supports the claim of her brother, August Bollin, of 3714 Humphrey street, for a one-fifth interest in the $200,000 estate of their uncle, the late Adolph Bollin, realty and insurance broker of St. Louis, was filed in Circuit Court in St. Louis yesterday.

August Bollin, who is 47 years old, says he is the foster son of his uncle, although he was not mentioned in the elder Bollin's will, which bequeathed the estate to his widow, Mrs. Adelheid Bollin, of Los Angeles, and their two children. Mrs. Elise Woehrmann of Seneca, Mo., also has filed suit against the estate claiming she is Bollin's daughter.

Mrs. Schmidt, in her deposition, stated that her brother was sent to St. Louis when 14 years old on the uncle's promise to rear and adopt him. She had read letters from her uncle, to her mother, she said, in which he promised to adopt his nephew and bequeath him his estate.

August Bollin, in his suit, alleges that he lived at his uncle's home, 606 Marion street, for several years. The uncle, who was 84 years old, died in the attic of the Marion street address, Dec. 8, 1924, having rented the rest of the house. In an answer, his widow and her two children maintained that Bollin never agreed to adopt his nephew.

ST. LOUIS BOY FOUND IN TEXAS AFTER 9 MONTHS WAS KIDNAPED

Sam Sanfillipo, 12, Returned to Home; Man Named as Abductor in Louisiana Jail.

After an absence of nine months, Sam Sanfillipo, 12 years old, son of John and Rose Sanfillipo, 623A Morgan street, was returned home yesterday with a story of having been kidnaped and mistreated by a young man who took him to Texas under threats of death.

When Sam disappeared last April, his playmates told police he had been taken away by a man known in the neighborhood as Harry Smith. Yesterday the boy said Smith kept him in a North Broadway rooming house for several months and then took him to Texas. Last September, police were told, Smith was arrested at Shreveport, La., and sentenced to six months in jail for an automobile theft.

Several days ago the parents received a letter from Mrs. L. F. Summers of Nacogdoches County, Tex., who said Smith had left the boy to her, representing him as a son. Accompanied by a St. Louis detective, the parents went to Texas for the boy.

KIRBY PAGE WILL ADDRESS ST. LOUIS CLERGY TOMORROW

Pacifist and Editor Also Will Speak at Washington University Tuesday.

Kirby Page, peace advocate and editor of "The World Tomorrow," will address the ministers of Greater St. Louis at a luncheon tomorrow in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. He will speak Tuesday night at a dinner to be given by the Washington University Y. M. C. A., in Grace Methodist Church, Skinker boulevard and Waterman avenue.

Page is an ordained minister of the Disciples Church, and served as a Y. M. C. A. worker in France and England during the war. He has been associated with Sherwood Eddy in Y. M. C. A. work in Asia. The subject of his luncheon talk will be "Jesus Christ and the World of Today."

In advance of Page's talk at Washington University, students, a warning against his pacifistic and "bolshevistic" teachings has been given to students in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps by the two army officers in charge of the class. Similar warnings have been given as to certain teachings of Sherwood Eddy, who will conduct a series of meetings in Graham Memorial Chapel in April. The Eddy meetings are announced as being of a religious character.

SUSPECT IN $80,000 THEFT MAKES LIE DETECTOR MOVE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—William A. Wiltberger, university student, who also is Chief of Police of Evanston, applied his scientific lie detector to Jean Marquis, arrested after he had demanded $5000 of Mrs. Edward Hines for information about her stolen $80,000 pearl necklace. The pointer wiggled. Wiltberger intends to continue to question Marquis, with the lie detector's help, in the hope that a combination of applied science and old-time police methods may solve the jewel robbery.

Meantime, it seems likely that Alderman Peter N. Jans, who vainly demanded that Mayor Charles H. Bartlett fire Wiltberger, will run against Bartlett for the mayoralty. Jans charges Wiltberger with incompetence.

MARINES WHO GUARDED MAILS HERE LEAVE CITY

Detachment Goes to Quantico, Va., Where It Will Embark for Nicaragua.

The detachment of United States Marines, which has been guarding the mails in and near St. Louis since Oct. 23, last, departed at 9:15 p. m. yesterday for Quantico, Va., where it will embark for Nicaragua.

The detachment, 117 enlisted men and four officers, stood final muster here at 5:30 p. m. in front of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., Twenty-second and Eugenia streets. The Marines boarded special cars on a train for Quantico at 9 o'clock.

According to orders received here Friday, the detachment will join other units of the 2500 Marines who have been recalled from guarding the mails, at Quantico and board the Transport Henderson for Nicaragua next Thursday. Under an order of Feb. 15, 1200 other Marines on mail guard duty were withdrawn for Nicaragua service.

No mail robberies were perpetrated during the time the Marines rode mail trucks and trains in this district. On departing last night officers of the detachment disclosed that the plans of a "gang in Southern Illinois" to rob the mails was "tipped off" in advance and thwarted by the presence of Marines.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

G. L. P.—The word "Ibid" is an abbreviation of the Latin word ibidem, meaning the same. It is used to indicate several quotations are from the author or article used with the first quotation.

D. J. B.—The main Public Library has a very good collection of books on real estate and we suggest that you look over the collection before buying a book on the subject. You can select the one best suited to your purpose and then order it at any bookstore.

NICKLES.—Nickles with dates later than 1880 do not command premiums except the vary rare 1913 nickel that has a Liberty head on it. Bull moose nickels are worth only the face value. The Liberty head nickel does not have an Indian head or a moose on the tails side.

THANKS. — To make a cement suitable for fish aquariums mix three ounces each of litharge, fine white sand and plaster of paris. To the mixture add enough linseed varnish oil to make a homogeneous paste and then add about an ounce of finely powdered rosin. This cement is said to be so tight that glass must be broken to detach it when glued to iron with the cement.

BERTIE.—There is little you can do to restore the back of the plush coat. You might try sponging it with vinegar, laying a damp cloth over the worn part and pressing with a hot iron. As you pull up the ironed cloth it raises plush fibers a little. When the coat is thoroughly dry brush well with a soft clothes brush, first one way and then the other. Holding the worn part over a steaming teakettle spout might raise the mashed surface.

MRS. J. W. O.—We do not quite understand just what you mean by new names for boys. You might use the first and last names of prominent men or your own maiden name for the boy's first name. Calvin Coolidge Smith, Bryan Smith, David Francis Smith, James Reed Smith, or if your maiden name was used such as Townsend Smith, Whitney Smith, or whatever it may happen to be would be suitable.

THANK YOU. — The wholesale merchandise firms arrange credit for their customers according to their own systems. You should inquire at some of the wholesale houses about the matter of credit. Under the classification, Dry Goods, Wholesale, in the telephone directory you will find a list of such firms. We cannot make recommendations. Watch the want advertisements regarding the position in the new store, or address the owner at the new location.

Mourn not for me, nor sorrow take,
But love each other, for my sake;
Weep not for me, but be content,
My life to you was only lent.
My grave you know, my bed you see,
Prepare yourself to follow me.
In love we lived, in peace I died,
You asked my life, but God denied.

CREDIT MANAGER—Sit.; $9,000,000 was our sales total during the last four years; as credit manager over this period, I have one doubtful account for $700 arising through erroneous reports from a credit agency.

In my eight years with the company have never failed to secure a correct trial balance. My comments methods and decisions on business problems have always been accepted as logical.

The company will verify all the above statements.

I have a thorough technical training in higher accountancy and handled the company's cost and profit and loss statements.

Due to a great curtailment in the company's output, it became necessary for a firm member to assume my duties to decrease overhead expense. It is necessary that I secure another position immediately, preferably in accounting, cost, auditing, or credit work, separately or combined. My age is 37. My prior positions were similar.

I can furnish very excellent references from the company.

Would appreciate an interview with anyone interested in my services. Box C-165, Post-Dispatch.

THANKS. — To make a cement suitable for fish aquariums mix three ounces each of litharge, fine white sand and plaster of paris. To the mixture add enough linseed varnish oil to make a homogeneous paste and then add about an ounce of finely powdered rosin. This cement is said to be so tight that glass must be broken to detach it when glued to iron with the cement.

BERTIE.—There is little you can do to restore the back of the plush coat. You might try sponging it with vinegar, laying a damp cloth over the worn part and pressing with a hot iron. As you pull up the ironed cloth it raises plush fibers a little. When the coat is thoroughly dry brush well with a soft clothes brush, first one way and then the other. Holding the worn part over a steaming teakettle spout might raise the mashed surface.

MRS. J. W. O.—We do not quite understand just what you mean by new names for boys. You might use the first and last names of prominent men or your own maiden name for the boy's first name. Calvin Coolidge Smith, Bryan Smith, David Francis Smith, James Reed Smith, or if your maiden name was used such as Townsend Smith, Whitney Smith, or whatever it may happen to be, would be suitable.

CREDIT MANAGER—Sit.; $9,000,000 was our sales total during the last four years; as credit manager over this period, I have one doubtful account for $700 arising through erroneous reports from a credit agency.

In my eight years with the company have never failed to secure a correct trial balance. My comments methods and decisions on business problems have always been accepted as logical.

The company will verify all the above statements.

I have a thorough technical training in higher accountancy and handled the company's cost and profit and loss statements.

Due to a great curtailment in the company's output, it became necessary for a firm member to assume my duties to decrease overhead expense. It is necessary that I secure another position immediately, preferably in accounting, cost, auditing, or credit work, separately or combined. My age is 37. My prior positions were similar.

I can furnish very excellent references from the company.

Would appreciate an interview with anyone interested in my services. Box C-165, Post-Dispatch.

HOG PRICES BREAK, LATER RECOVERING

COMPARATIVE RECEIPTS.

	Last Week.	Prev. Week.	Last Year.
Cattle and calves	20,916	19,669	[illegible]
Hogs	72,402	75,790	[illegible]
Horses and mules	2,009	2,036	[illegible]
Totals	102,052	102,969	91,[illegible]

Receipts of livestock in all departments closely approached figures on record for the previous week, with the exception of cattle and sheep, these classes showing some increase. Price changes in cattle were slight with the exception of veal calves and best weighty beeves. Best beef steers closed 15c to 25c up, while veal calves were $1.25 higher. Other classes were generally steady, spots strong. Hogs, after breaking sharply early in the week, recovered losses and closed at no great change from the previous week. Lambs showed a substantial advance. Horses and mules averaged steady to strong. A good clearance was made of supplies in all departments for the week. In beef steers demand throughout the week centered on the better grades and weighty kinds, and prices on the close looked 15c to 25c higher than during the previous week, medium and plainer grades, however, suffering a decline early in the week which was regained later in the period. Tops in the beef steer division reached $10, [illegible] and $10.40 for mature offerings, with yearlings upward to $10.80. A bulk of all grades was included between $7.50 and [illegible]. Inferior fleshed and short-fed steers made up a large proportion of the week's arrivals.

Although a strong tendency was manifest in mixed steers and heifers, the market on this class showed no appreciable fluctuations during the six-day period of trading. Mixed consignments sold as high as $10.25, but top on straight heifers stopped at $10. Bulk of sales in both classes was at $6.50 to $9.50 for the week. Lighter kinds were in the best demand, although some heavy kinds sold to good advantage during late-week sessions. The cow trade experienced fluctuations during early and mid week, but strengthening prices toward the close put this class back on a firm basis with the preceding week's final deals. Most beef grades sold in a spread of $5.25 to $6.50, with better kinds up to $7 to $7.50 and choice cows selling as high as $8. Cutter cows sold mainly from [illegible] to $5 and canners cashed in a spread of $3.75 to $4.25, most deals from $3.90 up. Bulls showed no radical change in price although alternate periods of depression and advance were recorded. Closing sales figure slightly stronger. Most desirable bologna bulls sold from $5.50 to [illegible] with beef bulls from $6.50 to $7.50 and common and canner bulls from $4.25 to $5. Demand in the stocker and feeder section was somewhat improved over the previous week, but prices maintained a steady level. Receipts were modest and due to this fact trading was rather quiet from day to day. A popular spread of $6 to $7.50 covered most steers transactions, choice feeders quotable up to $8.25. Veal calf prices show an approximate gain of $1.25 over last week's close on best kinds, top and bulk late going at $15.75, with first cuts showing a proportionate advance, at $11.50 to $13.25 largely. Heavy calves went through the week without change, trace spread remaining at $6 to $9 from day to day. Southern canner yearlings strengthened somewhat, sales bulking at $4.75 to $5.50 on this class, with fleshy heretics upward to $6 and occasionally better.

Light Hogs Little Changed.

Receipts of swine in the past week were rather generous, considering the time of the year and the virtually impassable conditions of the country roads. Southern and Southwest comprised a goodly share of the arrivals. Total aggregated 72,402 compared with 75,790 last week and 61,019 the corresponding time last year. By a comparison with last week's close light hogs show very little change and the medium and heavy hogs closed steady with a week ago. In the first two days of the week, prices generally were on the decline. Medium and heavy hogs suffered the most of the break. Lighter receipts and a broader buying demand caused the market to advance 15c to 25c Wednesday. Thursday the market opened steady but failed to hold up and closed 10c to 15c lower. Low point of week was in the Tuesday session, top on that day dipped to $12.05, while the bulk shipping weights ranked [illegible] to $12. That day heavy hogs were down to $11.50. Friday's market showed strength, especially on the better butcher weights. Saturday the lighter weight kinds weakened while the better weight kinds advanced slightly. The week closed with the general market on desirable shipping and butcher weight hogs in just about the same position as at the finish last week. Southern and Southwest offerings were exceedingly hard to move all week. Sales of this class ranged 25c to 50c under natives of similar weight, if not good quality and not ear marked. If they were crop eared even though carrying good weight buyers discriminated against them as much as $2 to $3 than natives of same weight. Good quality native pig offerings were scarce, the bulk of the week's big supply being Southern and Southwest. Native pigs of 130 to 140 pounds average for the week [illegible] to $12.25. Lighter weights, 100 to 130 lbs., bulked at $11 to $11.50. Southern hogs of 110 to 130 lbs. average sold mostly at $10.50 to $11.50. Crop eared and plain kinds sold very unsatisfactory, and in most cases salesmen had to sell $2 to $3 below native pig quotations.

Packing sows show little change from a week ago. Sales ranged $10.25 to $11.05. Bulk of sales for the week was $10.40 to $10.75. Stags varied little from day to day and ranged $9 to $10.75 according to weight and quality.

Lambs Sell Higher.

In the past week's trading in the sheep and lamb department, lambs gained day after day and at the close of the week showed an advance of 50c over last week's close. At the close of last week packer top was $13.25 as compared with $13.75 this week. In the first sessions of the week receipts were light and buyers found it necessary to go to the feed lots for supplies. Feed lot lambs ranged $13 to $13.40. Most fed Western lambs sold in a spread of $13.25 to $13.70. City butchers paid $13.75 for choice fed lambs. Heavy fed lambs of 121 pounds average made $12 in the closing session. Native lambs ranged $12.75 to $13.25. One deck of [illegible]-pound natives cashed to a packer $13.15. Fall clipped lambs were included in the receipts and they cashed at $12. Medium and plain grades sold down to $11, with the cull and common stuff at $9.50 to $10. Aged sheep varied little from day to day and closed unchanged from a week ago. Mutton ewes cashed at $7.50 to $8.50, with the heavier kinds of medium flesh down to $6. Choppers and firm at $4 to $5.50. Wether offerings were limited and sold at steady prices. Yearling wethers ranged $10.75 to $11, mostly; two-year-olds $9 to $10 and the good quality aged Western wethers $8 to $9. Receipts for the week aggregated 6725 as compared with [illegible] last week and 6422 the corresponding time last year. Quality graded medium to choice. Quotations slaughter stock: Good to choice lambs $12.75 to $13.75, medium to good $12 to $12.75, plain to medium $11 to $12, cull and common $8 to [illegible], skins $6 to $8. Good to choice yearling wethers $11 to $11.50; medium to good $10.50 to $11, plain to medium $9 to [illegible]. Good to choice aged Western wethers [illegible] to $9, good fat Southern kinds $7 to $8, thin to fair kinds $3 to $6. Choice to prime mutton ewes $8 to $8.50, good to choice $7 to $8 medium to good [illegible], heavies $5.50 to $6. Fat goats [illegible] $3.50 thin to fair goats $1.50 to [illegible]. Fat kids $4.50 to $5.50, thin to fair kids [illegible] to $4.

COTTON CLOSES STEADY AT DECLINE IN PRICES

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Trading in the cotton market today appeared to be almost entirely restricted to the liquidation of March contracts and evening-up of small commitments in later deliveries. Small orders were evenly divided and fluctuations were correspondingly narrow, the price of May deliveries ranging from 14c to 14.08c and closing at 14.01c. The general market closed steady, at net declines of 5 to 11 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 4 to 8 points under selling, which seemed to come partly from the South and from local sources. Uncertainty of the effect of the March notices expected next week, together with that of the President's action on the farm relief bill, seemed to restrict fresh business and the market was quiet enough to suggest that speculative accounts had been fairly well evened up earlier in the week.

March liquidation was again readily absorbed by purchases of later months, without much change in the discount as compared with other old crop deliveries. There was also some price fixing in March, local brokers said, and a little trade buying in later deliveries, which, with covering, was sufficient to absorb week-end liquidation. March sold off from 13.86c to 13.77c and October from 14.50c to 14.43c. The close was within a point or two of the lowest.

It was reported that about 50,000 bales of cotton were here, or coming to be added to the certified stock, which is expected to exceed 200,000 bales in the near future. There were also rumors that some cotton might be taken upon March contracts for export, but nothing definite developed in that connection.

Private cables said there had been some trade calling in Liverpool, supplied by hedge selling and realizing, also a well-sustained demand for cotton goods in Manchester and a firm position in yarns.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 182,000 bales, against 129,000 bales last year.

WHEAT LOWER IN TRADE FOR WEEK AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Wheat trade was lifeless today and prices moved over a narrow range showing little net change. Outside trade was practically nothing while locals were on both sides of the market in a small way. Most operators were content to let things alone until the McNary-Haugen bill is acted on one way or the other. Closing prices were unchanged to ⅝c lower for the day and quarter to 1¼c off for the week. May $1.40¾ to $1.40⅞, July $1.34⅛, September $1.31⅝. Trade during the week was extremely dull and price changes were small. The increase in the visible supply had a bearish effect, but supporting orders were uncovered on every dip.

Seaboard advised that there was a little business in hard winters at the Gulf and also some inquiry for red winters. Liverpool closed half to ⅝c higher due to light offerings and an oversold condition. Buenos Aires closed half lower. Light North American exports this week have cut down the total world shipments but they will aggregate over 16,000,000 according to estimates. Indications also point to a further increase in suppies on ocean passage. The visible supply is expected to show little change, decreases in the northwest being offset by increases in the southwest. Kansas City stocks increased 540,000 bushels so far this week.

Corn was dull and showed little change. A feature was the commission house support around 79c for May. Longs are getting out of the market on bulge because of continued accumulation of stocks and the congested elevator situation. Closing prices were unchanged to ¼c higher and 1c to 1¼c lower for the week. May 79c to 79⅛c, July 83⅝c, September 85⅞c. Shipping sales were 52,000 bushels.

Oats had a better tone due to week-end short covering. Shipping sales were only 34,000 bushels. Closing prices were ⅛c higher and for the week ⅝c to ¾c lower. May 45⅞c, July 46¼c to 46⅜c, September 44⅞c.

Provisions were firm on buying inspired by the stronger hog market. Week-end realizing caused a later reaction. Lard closed unchanged to 2½c lower, ribs 10c higher, bellies 17½c higher.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Negotiations were reported to be in progress here today for the acquisition of the All America Cables Co., operating an extensive service to South America, by the International Telephone & Telegraph Co. Recently activity and strength of the stocks of both corporations have lent color to these rumors.

Officials of both companies declined to make any comment on the merger report.

WHEAT TRADE LIGHT ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Feb. 19.—Wheat closed fractionally [un]changed and corn unchanged to shade hi[gher]. The wheat market awaited action on f[ar]m relief legislation, while corn was affect[ed] by prediction of light movement. Argentin[e] offers were said to be higher and prospects [w]ere said to be for smaller world shipments. Snow was reported in Kansas, including [poi]nts where wheat deficiency of subsoil mo[is]ture had been reported.

In the loc[al] cash grain market soft wheat declined [illegible]c to 1c, demand being light and possib[ly] 10 cars carried over, most of it dark [ty]pes of No. 1 red and No. 2 red. There was some accumulative demand for [illegible] 3s and garlicky grades. Mills bou[ght] only sparingly. Hard wheat was steady [b]ut slow. Offerings were light. Iowa [N]o. 1 hard sold late at $1.40½. Corn w[as] steady, but the light offerings did not a[ll] find buyers. Mill orders cared for about half dozen cars of yellow but demand otherwise was confined to the limited buying [by] glucose plants. There was not much change in oats markets, the wide range co[ntin]uing in quality and value. Good pre[miu]ms were paid for light samples free of [heat] damage. Common to poor stuff fou[nd] very limited outlet.

The early market was quiet and range narrow, hard wheat being a shade higher and red unchanged. Liverpool closed ⅝d to ⅛d higher. Winnipeg early was unchanged to ⅛c lower. Corn was a little better early.

Hard May wheat opened at $1.39⅝, July hard wheat $1.33⅛, red May wheat $1.38⅝, July red wheat $1.32¾ and May corn 82c.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted weekly financial review, says:

"No pronounced changes have occurred in business or in industrial stock prices, but all else has been forgotten in the excited forward march of railroad stocks to new high ground daily. Since the turn of the year the advances in seasoned issues average about 15 points and those in speculative issues two or three times that amount. Railroad shares now sell higher than they have at any time since 1919. Enthusiasm for stock has not been expressed so dramatically in the markets since the days when two roads now eager for consolidation, the Great Northern and North Pacific, first came into the limelight as merger possibilities. If history in the last 25 years does not reveal any period like the present in the market, however, in that interval has there been so rare a combination of forces as now, in fact and in fancy, on which to build a great railroad market?

Some of the Factors.

"Back of everything, of course, must be mentioned the strong earnings position into which the railroads have climbed since their return to private management and the assurance that from now on small gains in revenue may be turned into relatively larger net earnings. With so firm a foundation on which to fall back, speculators, and for that matter, investors of late have begun to reckon on the more romantic possibilities of the near future. Acceleration in the rise of railroad stocks does not come from any new light on earnings but from (1) the movement toward consolidation and the prospect for fortunate marriages as the weak and strong roads are linked; (2) the hope for a favorable decision in the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad test case, which would overnight, by approval of a broader basis for valuations, create enormous values not heretofore reckoned; (3) the outlook for dividend increases in 1927, and (4) the general desire of the managements to get their stocks higher so that the long-awaited program to sell common stock may be carried out.

Drop in Call Rate.

"Slowly but surely public fears of the market have been broken down and it would not be surprising on Monday to hear that the series of declines in the volume of brokers' loans has been at least temporarily reversed. The drop in the call money to 3¾ per cent, for the first time since June 17, encouraged those that had again ventured into the market. Neither the passage of the McFadden bill, giving the Federal Reserve System a perpetual lease of life, nor the passage of the McNary-Haugen price-fixing measure, had any perceptible effect on the stock market. After all, the financial district has never seriously feared that the Federal Reserve System would be discarded or that President Coolidge would sign any bill so radical as one to subsidize a particular group of citizens at the expense of the others.

Outlook and Past.

"The general outlook for business improves as the month wears on, but as in January the prophets declare the real situation would be revealed in February they now appear to be convinced that no reliable measure of conditions can be taken until around March. The difficulty of predicting what will happen is emphasized in peculiar fashion when any attempt is made to explain what has happened in the last few months. It now appears that the country had a fairly sharp contraction in industry during the last three months of 1926, although the severity of the decline was not appreciated at the time. What brought it on is not clearly understood even now. The newly revised index of the Federal Reserve Board shows that industrial production fell from its record peak of 113 in September by steady monthly drops to 105 by December or to the lowest position in more than a year. In the same period of the year before, on the other hand, the movement had been persistently upward. An unusually heavy production of coal and petroleum and the pick-up in motor production doubtless will raise the January figure above that for December, but at that January, 1927, probably will not go down on record as very much more active than January, 1926, so far as industry is concerned."

Readjustments Saturday.

"The stock market enjoyed a period of restful readjustment in today's short session and with a cessation of speculation for the advance prices showed a tendency to drift to slightly lower levels in nearly all groups. Good supporting orders were encountered on recessions, however, and declines were held to reasonable limits in most cases. In fact, several new tops for the year were recorded in further operations for the rise. Continued abundance of funds for trading purposes appeared to dominate the situation.

Rally in Lira.

"Little of interest transpired in the foreign exchange market. Lira rallied briskly and Chinese rates shot forward more than a cent, but in other parts of the list fluctuations were narrow.

Profit-Taking Effects.

"Unsettlement was more apparent in the stock market in today's short session than for some time, due probably to a willingness on the part of recent purchasers to take profits where possible before Monday's preholiday trading. Evidence of some new speculation for the decline where advances had been sharp was also seen, but for the most part offerings were rather handily absorbed and there was [illegible] professionals to press shares for sale. The continued ease in credit conditions was regarded as an argument against selling for the decline. Moreover, operations for the rise were encouraged in several specialties favored by improved conditions.

Irregular Appearance.

"Railroad shares continued to attract attention, Erie issues being again in demand at the highest levels in years. Some of the specialties sold at new high records as well. Uneasiness over possible developments in the Stock Exchange investigation of Remington [illegible] inspired scattered selling and this combined with normal week-end realizing sales to give the list an irregular appearance.

Weekly Metal Review.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The steel market during the past week showed some further irregularities regarding prices with concessions in some of the finished steel descriptions, while in other directions values were steady. The recent decline appeared to have stimulated a better demand and on the whole business showed improvement. Some steel mills were accumulating large reserves of fuel against a possible strike April 1.

Pig iron was irregular. Low prices in the [illegible] markets were steady with small lot sales the main feature.

The demand for copper has tapered off materially at the advance. Buyers both for domestic consumption and export appear to have covered their more immediate needs, and bearish statistics for January have probably tended to check forward buying. The recent large sales, however, improved the position of producers and the asking price of 13c for electrolytic delivered at Connecticut Valley points was generally maintained.

Tin averaged firm at the end of the week with a good demand for straits for March delivery.

Lead was a trifle easier with the demand failing to follow the recent firmness. The reaction abroad unsettled consumers' confidence in domestic prices.

Zinc was steady with the strength of ore the feature.

Antimony was in better demand. An advance in silver and the unfavorable Chinese situation caused some nervousness

ARTIFICIAL SILK CURB FEATURE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Today's Curb Market presented a strong front, in view of adverse weather conditions and preparations for next week's holiday. Industrial shares received support at the higher levels reached on the current movement. Royal Baking Powder opened up 6 points at 183 and General Baking issues were higher. Pittsburg & Lake Erie was in early demand and rose within a fraction of its high.

As the session progressed it became evident that forces in control of the forward movement were capable of providing for the withdrawal of speculative accounts. New high records were established, among which were Tubize Artificial Silk, which scored the widest movement, selling up 11 points, and American Rolling Mills, Piedmont & Northern Railroad and Dixon Crucible.

Public utility issues lacked active interest, but most issues held steady around the preceding closing quotations.

There was better support in the oil division and moderate recovery was made from Friday's decline. Imperial and Standard Oil of Indiana were fairly active and higher. Some of the early gains were canceled in the late dealings, while others receded a point or more on selling induced by the heavy production of light oil in Oklahoma.

—SPECIAL DAILY—

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Speculation for the advance was slowed up somewhat today by rather heavy week-end realizing and sporadic bear selling, leaving closing quotations irregular. In general, industrials pointed upward and rails lost ground. The average of 20 leading industrials was within five-tenths of a point of the record high for all time established last December, due largely to another spirited advance in Baldwin, one of the stocks included in the compilation, from a low of 184¼ to a new record high of 192.

While operators for the advance derived encouragement from the easing of call money rates, the weekly Clearing House statement showed a deficit of $7,587,620 in reserve, as compared with excess reserve of $23,327,990 the week before.

Two merger developments became public during the day. Plans were announced for the consolidation of the National Cloak and Suit and Bellas, Hess & Co., two mail order houses dealing largely in women's clothes. Negotiations also were reported in progress for the acquisition of All-America Cables by International Telephone and Telegraph. National Cloak and Suit soared 8 points to a new high record at 93, while the comon moved up nearly 3 to 33¼ and then lost half its gain. All-America Cables soared 12 points to a new peak at 163 and International Telephone closed more than 2 points higher at 131¼.

Wall street's belief that the Pennsylvania Railroad and L. F. Loree interests had reached some sort of an understanding regarding proposed Eastern trunk line consolidations seemed to be borne out in the unofficial report that application would soon be made to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval of a transit agreement whereby the Delaware & Hudson would use the Pennsylvania's tracks between Wilkes-Barre and Dubois, Pa. Both stocks closed unchanged on the day. The Kansas City Southern, first road to report its January earnings, showed a shrinkage of over $106,000 in net operating income, compared with the first month of last year.

All three Erie issues touched their highest prices in years. Buying of some of the high-grade dividend payers was influenced by a report that the National City Co., one of the country's largest securities distributing organizations, would add first-class common stocks to its investment list. Net recessions of a point or so took place in a number of issues, including New Haven, Southern Railway, Wabash, Lehigh Valley, Atchison, Frisco common, "Katy" common and Chesapeake & Ohio, but this was natural in view of the spirited advance earlier in the week.

The all-America cables merger rumors stimulated demand for other issues of the communications group. American Telephone touched 160, the highest price in over 20 years, and Radio Corporation climbed over a point, but lost part of its gain. New peak prices since 1925 or longer, also were registered by Loew's, Union Carbide, Allis Chalmers and Wilson Co. preferred.

Foreign exchanges displayed a firm undertone. Demand sterling advanced ⅛ to $4.84¾ and French francs were quoted just above 3.91c. Nominal gains were made by most of the other continental currencies.

Oil Price Cut.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 19.—A cut of 20 cents a barrel in the price of Somerset, Cabell and Keister grades of crude oil was posted by purchasing agencies today. The new prices are Somerset $2; Cabell $1.90 and Keister $1.60. Other grades were unchanged.

LULL IN PUBLIC OFFERINGS OF BOND ISSUES

Investment Market Quiet in All Departments During Week—Trading on Exchange Mostly in Speculative Rails.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—In spite of the fact that money turned extremely easy rates low the investment market was in all departments during the week ended. Dry Goods Market Review.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Cotton goods markets were firm today. Printed wash goods and printed rayons were in active demand. Larger business was reported on tissues and ginghams. Raw silk was higher and now 20 cents a pound up from the low point of the year. Silk goods were in better demand this week. New lines of fancy worsteds will be opened by the American Woolen Co. on Monday. The burlap markets were steady. Linens were firmer in primary markets.

STOCK TRADE LIGHTER ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, Feb. 19.—Transactions on the local market during the past week did not even measure up to the aggregate of the preceding period which was a short week. Sales of Missouri Portland Cement which showed the largest individual total, did not equal 700 shares. Of 12 of the more active of those issues traded in during the period, eight had net gains against four that closed down.

National Candy common, Waltke, Boyd Welsh, Skouras, Chicago Railway Equipment preferred and Laclede Gas preferred were among the securities that improved. The Gas issue was an individual feature selling up at 110¼ compared with 96 on Jan. 31. Chicago Railway Equipment preferred selling between 24 and 25, closed 1½ points better for the week.

GIRLS CARRY HOSIERY 'SPARES'

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The very latest idea with Chicago girls is to carry an extra pair of stockings, matching those worn, so as to banish worry about runs, rips, splashes and other wear and tear.

"The extra pair is just as important as the spare tire on an automobile," explained one of the innovators. "If on a rainy day a truck splashes one stocking with mud—presto, I slip into a telephone booth and pull on the 'spare.'"

581 EMPLOYES HELP 184 LEGISLATORS WORK

Anti-Nepotism Measure Voted by People in 1924 Still a Dead Letter.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 19.—The force of clerks, doorkeepers, assistant doorkeepers and other employes of both houses of the Missouri Legislature has reached full strength with the session more than half finished, and most of the applicants for clerkships have been taken care of, thus disposing of unemployment problems for the legislators.

Both Democrats and Republicans have fared well in placing constituents or relatives on the payrolls. Democrats control the Senate and Republicans the House. Democrats in the House sent their constituents over to the Senate clerical committee, and Republican Senators look to the House clerical committee for like favors.

Records of the State Auditor show a total of 272 persons have been employed by the Senate in various capacities since the session started, and 309 by the House, although the present actual strength of the clerical force of each house is below those figures.

When the session started, House leaders said the clerkships would be limited to about 150, but defeated a resolution fixing a limit.

An antinepotism bill introduced by Representative J. T. Roney of Jasper County is on the informal calendar of the House awaiting engrossment. It would provide the enforcement machinery for a constitutional amendment adopted by voters of the State in a special election in February, 1924, prohibiting State officials, and officials of counties and cities from appointing their relatives to the public payrolls. Such a bill was passed by the House in 1925, but died on the Senate calendar. A constitutional amendment is not self enforcing, so the vote of the people counts for nothing unless the Legislature enacts a law making it effective.

The antinepotism measure would apply to members of the Legislature who have asserted it was necessary to appoint their relatives to clerkships because the $5 a day salary they receive is inadequate to pay their expenses. The clerks receive $3.50 a day and a few employes $5 a day.

Few of the bills for supplies purchased by the two houses have reached the State Auditor. The few statements received show early provision for stationery and pencils for the Legislature. The House, which has 150 members, has purchased 554 dozen pencils and 44 dozen penholders and stationery invoices so far total 66,000 embossed letter heads and 76,000 embossed envelopes. The gallonage of ink is up to that of former sessions.

The Senate, with 34 members, has purchased 232 dozen pencils and 64 dozen pen holders, and so far has ordered 23,000 embossed letterheads and envelopes.

61 PERSONS KILLED BY AUTOS IN MISSOURI IN DECEMBER

Of 701 Accidents, 18 Were Caused by Drunken Drivers and Same Numbr by Pedetrians.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 19.—Deaths from automobile accidents in Missouri totaled 61 during December, the State Highway Department reported today. This is an increase of three over November, when 58 were reported.

Of the deaths in December, 31 persons were killed instantly, while 30 died later from injuries.

Accidents for the month totaled 701, in which 436 persons were injured, not including the 61 fatalities.

St. Louis reported 75 accidents during December; Kansas City reported 58; other cities and towns, 445, and 123 occurred on State and county roads.

Analysis of the December accidents showed 28 caused by speeding, 18 by intoxicated drivers, and 33 by careless drivers. Careless pedestrians were responsible for 18 mishaps.

The majority of accidents were collisions of two automobiles, the report showing 302 of that nature.

Escaped Prisoner Captured.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Feb. 19.—Robert Kuzie, who escaped from the jail here two years ago, has been captured in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., according to word received by local officers. Kuzie was being held here for Union County authorities when he escaped by hiding in a garbage can in the jail corridor. He was indicted for carrying a concealed weapon and assault to murder.

TUNNEY PREDICTS SHARKEY OR MALONEY WILL OPPOSE HIM

By the Associated Press.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 19. GENE TUNNEY, world's heavyweight boxing champion, expects to meet either Jimmy Haloney or Jack Sharkey in a title bout next September, he said here today in discussing Maloney's victory last night over Jack Delaney.

"Maloney is a rough, rugged fellow who knows the game," said Tunney. "Sharkey, too, is of an agrressive type. Those boys ought to stage a whirlwind battle. I hope they do. I hope also that there is a decisive winner.

"Of course, Jack Dempsey, the former champion, is still in the running, but he hasn't made his position positive yet. The way it looks now it will be Maloney or Sharkey against whom I will defend my title in September."

"But," he added, "I'm quite certain that neither can defeat me."

Concordia Wins, 55-30; Schmidt Out With Injury

Forward to Be Out for Rest of Season—Victory Is Seventh Straight.

Coach Eber Simpson's sharpshooting Concordia Seminary basketball five last night hung up its seventh consecutive victory, defeating the Chillicothe Business College team, 55-30, but lost the services of a star forward, Schmidt, for the balance of the season.

Schmidt suffered an ankle injury five minutes before the close of the contest.

In piling up 55 points, Concordia ran its total for seven games to 303, and also evened up for a beating a season ago by the Chillicothe quintet.

Chillicothe was first to score, when Griffin made a long shot, but Schmidt soon tied it up with a goal after dribbling the length of the court.

The first half was fast, but Concordia's defense was not up to its usual standard.

In the second half, the visitors presented a tight defense for four minutes, then Werling shot three baskets in quick succession. Incidentally, Werling made seven field goals and two free throws for high point total of 16.

About 1500 persons, including nearly 100 from Chillicothe, saw the game at the Armory. Next Saturday, Concordia plays St. Louis University.

BEAR SWIMMERS SET TWO VALLEY MARKS IN MEET

Defeat Iowa State College Team, 51 to 18, Taking Seven Firsts Out of Eight Events.

Washington University's swimming team smashed two Missouri Valley Conference records in defeating the Iowa State College team (Ames) at the Wilson Pool last night. The Bears won seven of the eight events and set new marks in the 150-yard back stroke and the 300-yard medley relay. About 500 persons witnessed the meet.

In winning the 150-yard back stroke event in record time, Homer Heideman, sophomore, clipped 3 seconds off the old mark, held by Captain Roland Boer. Heideman was a full lap in front of Wicks, of Ames.

Even more impressive was the performance of the three-man team in the medley relay. Heideman, Branner and Ledbetter, swimming 100 yards free style, 100 breast and 100b ackstroke, reduced the Valley record from 3 minutes 36 6-10 seconds to 3 minutes 31-5-10 seconds.

Captain Roland Baer starred by winning two firsts and leading off on the winning relay team. McArdle, without any practice since early in January, easily captured the 200-yard breast stroke event although he was far back of his record time.

THE SUMMARY.

200-YARD RELAY—Washington (Baer, Moffett, Meyer, Ledbetter) first; Iowa State (Sulzbach, R. Butler, I. Butler, Westbury), second. Time—1:48 7-10.

Marion Hollins Loses Golf Title

Mrs. Melvin Jones Defeats 4-Time Winner in Pebble Beach Event.

By the Associated Press.

DEL MONTE, Cal., Feb. 19.—Causing one of the biggest upsets in the history of the annual Pebble Beach Golf Tournament for women, Mrs. Melvin Jones of Chicago today defeated Miss Marion Hollins of New York, 4 and 3. This is the first time that the Del Monte golf title has ever been wrested from Miss Hollins.

Last year Mrs. Jones took part in the tournament, but was eliminated before she had a chance to reach Miss Hollins, four times winner. She then realized, however, that a victory in that tournament would necessitate at least a month of practice before the title play started.

Accordingly, Mrs. Jones appeared at the Pebble Beach links immediately after Christmas this year, and by intensive practice on each hole, discovered what was needed to win. Her work first bore fruit in the qualifying round when she tied for medal honors with the former champion. She showed a distinct edge over her competitors in each match that followed, and entered the finals confident that she should beat Miss Hollins.

Mrs. Jones was at the peak of her game today. Her putting touch was superb, whereas that of Miss Hollins was nervous and jerky.

The cards:

Mrs. Jones	564	535	365—42
Second nine		563	665—31
Miss Hollins	565	546	365—45
Second nine		563	375—29

Roosevelt Puts Beaumont Out of Race by Winning, 44-13; Cleveland Piles Up 55 Points

Meier Again Makes 24 Scores—South Siders Replace Beaumont in Third Place in League Standing.

Another contender for the Public High School Basketball title was eliminated in last night's games, wherein the Roosevelt Rough Riders put Beaumont out of the running by winning 44 to 13 in the feature game played at the Roosevelt gym. Cleveland set the season's record for high scores by trouncing Central, 55 to 8, on the Beaumont High School floor.

About 500 persons watched the Roosevelt-Beaumont game, while only about 50 turned out to see the Central mauling.

Roosevelt strengthened its hold on first place through last night's conquest and now owns five victories and one defeat. Soldan retains second place although idle last night, while Cleveland supplants Beaumont in third position.

Meier Scores 24 Points.

Meier of Roosevelt duplicated his scoring of last week against Central by running up a total of 24 points, 22 of which were scored from the field. Sauselle and Kessler divided the remaining points with totals of 12 and eight, respectively. Neil, Beaumont captain, led Beaumont's ineffective attack with three field goals.

Weiss of Beaumont grabbed the tip-off but his shot was wide and Roosevelt counted first when Meier sank one from under the basket. Kessler scored again for the Rough Riders but Neil opened the Beaumont team's scoring after Sauselle had incerased his team's total to six. Roosevelt ran its score to 12 points before Beaumont added a point on a free throw. Kessler's field goal ended the scoring for the first quarter.

Roosevelt's smoothly working attack netted 6 points in the next period, all of which were the result of excellent pass work to the basket, while the Rough Riders' defense held Beaumont's attempts to long shots, none of which was fruitful. The half ended with Roosevelt leading, 22 to 6.

Lewis' team made only 2 points in the next quarter, while Meier did all Roosevelt's scoring in this period with four field goals and two foul shots. In the last quarter Rost and Neil each caged shots and Weiss added Beaumont's final point with a foul goal. Sauselle and Meier accounted for most of Roose-

NEW MANAGERS WILL PUT ADVANCE SQUADS THROUGH FIRST WORKOUTS TUESDAY

O'Farrell Leads Party Including Alexander, Herman Bell and Sothoron—Dan Howley Awaits American Leaguers at Tarpon Springs.

By J. Roy Stockton.

The winter of what has been playfully called bacseball's discontent came to an official close yesterday afternoon when Secretary Willis Johnson counted noses and the advance squad of Browns departed from Union Station at 1 o'clock for the sunnier and warmer clime of Tarpon Springs, Fla., where Dan Howley will try to whip the St. Louis American League machine into shape for the 1927 pennant campaign. The brave boys are on their way.

Bob O'Farrell, the National League's most valuable player in 1926 and successor to Rogers Hornsby as manager of the world champion Cardinals, led the advance squad of Cardinals, departing 10 hours later than the Browns, and bound for Avon Park, Fla. Those listed in O'Farrell's party are Grover Cleveland Alexander, Herman Bell and Allan Sothoron, veteran hurlers, and Allyn Stout, Arnold Crandall, Ray Quincy, Joe Poetz and Hal Smith, young batterymen.

Ray Blades, leftfielder, departed with the early starters. Blades had an operation during the winter on the knee injured last summer when he crashed into the fence at Sportsman's Park and believes he will be as good as ever.

Pitchers Milton Gaston and Walter Beck and Catcher Leo Dixon were the only players in the party headed by Secretary Johnson of the Browns and including Scout Ray Cahill and Trainer Tommy Bramell.

Secretary Clarence Lloyd of the Cardinals announced yesterday morning that contracts of Pitcher Eddie Dyer and Outfielder Walter Roettger had been received, leaving Charles Flint Rhem and Tommy Thevenow as the only unsigned members of the squad. They are holding out for a larger salary than offered in their new contracts.

Other pitchers and catchers of the two St. Louis squads, with a few exceptions, will go direct to training camp. Pitchers Jess Haines and Bill Sherdel of the Cardinals have been given permission to postpone their departure for camp, for business reasons.

The Browns will arrive at their camp Monday morning and with Manager Howley and Coach Austin awaiting their arrival, it is probable that a workout wil be held as soon as the athletes can hustle to the ball park. The Cardinals, on the other hand, will not arrive until Monday afternoon and will have a chance to rest after the long train ride and enjoy a night's sleep before starting work.

Manager Howley will work the boys once a day, believing that the best results can be obtained when there is no luncheon break in the day's activities.

The Cardinals, however, now that Hornsby has been ousted, will return to the old practice of working twice a day, a system favored by Branch Rickey, former manager. Rickey is a firm believer in the twice-a-day workout and so it will be.

Their Chances? Well, —er.

It will take a brave man to do any prognosticating as to the prospects of the two St. Louis teams. The Cardinals, by virtue of the championship emblems on their chesty chests, of course will be favored by the form boys to make a strong bid for the pennant. Experts like to string along with a champion. But in the case of the Browns nobody will predict any pennant. Manager Howley knows he has a hard task ahead of him and all he has said is that the Browns will hustle. Much depends on how Howley's new players come along and on Oscar Melillo's health.

If Melillo regains and keeps his strength and if Walter Stewart, the new pitcher, and Sam Jones, the veteran obtained from the Yankees, contribute to the pitching strength, and if the new infielders and Fritz Shulte, the new outfielder, deliver up to expectations, the Browns will be a first-division contender.

There have been so many changes in the roster of the big league clubs that picking the probable winners is like picking the winners in the next rubber of bridge.

The Cardinals have a chance to land another pennant, but it is just a chance. The team barely staggered in last year, thanks to the team's fine morale and a couple of dozen good breaks, including injuries to Cincinnati pitchers and a collapse of the Red morale.

This year the Pirates, Reds and Giants will be stronger and if things start to break bad for the Cardinals, they may find themselves fighting to stay in the first division. That's how close the race was last year and this year it promises to be closer.

No alarm need be felt about the absence of Flint Rhem and Shortstop Thevenow. Rhem may persist in his demands to the extent of staying out of baseball, but that is improbable. The club always has the upper hand and the best bet is that Rhem and Thevenow will be forced into line by the time the season opens. Whether they will be as valuable when thus "forced" is another question. The club has to protect itself against the demands of the athletes. It is protecting itself.

215 NEW PLAYERS WILL STRIVE FOR JOBS AT MAJOR LEAGUE CAMP

MAJORITY OF NEW ATHLETES ARE TWIRLERS

American League Clubs Will Try Out 116 Newcomers With 99 Trying to Make the Grade in National League Uniforms.

By Herman Wecke.

When the major-league clubs get down to the real spring training grind in the South within the next two weeks, a total of 215 new players, an average of more than 13 a team, will be with the various teams. Of this number 116 will be with the American League clubs and 99 with those of the National.

As is always the case, a majority of the athletes are pitchers. Rosters of the various aggregations show that every club, with the possible exception of Cleveland, is looking for talent to strengthen its hurling staff. The Indians, with several of the best youngsters in the big tent a year ago, are taking only one new hurler south for a tryout. In all, 98 hillmen will strive for berths.

The other players are apportioned as follows: Twenty-one catchers, 55 infielders and 41 outfielders. Here's how the two leagues will try out players for the various positions:

League.	P.	C.	IF.	OF.
American	53	13	30	20
National	45	8	21	21

With the Browns at Tarpon Springs will be six pitchers, not with the team during 1926; two catchers, five infielders and one outfielder—Shulte, the $100,000 beauty from the Milwaukee club of the American Association. With the Cardinals will be six pitchers, one catcher, one infielder and two outfielders. The catcher in question is Frank Snyder, who was snared by the team a year ago, but who was just recently reinstated by Commissioner, while the infielder is Frank Frisch, obtained from the Giants, who will replace Rogers Hornsby, last season's manager, at second base.

Many Senator Recruits.

The Washington club will have the greatest number of new athletes. A total of 25 men will be at the Tampa camp when the club gets down to work in earnest. That Clark Griffith and Bucky Harris were not at all satisfied with the results obtained from the pitchers in 1926 is evidenced from the fact that 17 of the new members of the team are hill men. One of these is Hollis Thurston, right-hander from the White Sox, once a member of the Browns, who had several good years with the Chicago club, but who went East in the trade that brought Roger Peckinpaugh to the White Hose.

The Indians will have but seven new men, and of these four are infielders, one of them Lou Fonseca, who served with the Reds and Phillies in the National. Although Jack McAlister, the new manager, must find a man to replace Tris Speaker, only two new meadowmen will be with the squad. They are Gerken from Decatur and Woeber, obtained from the Dallas club.

Athletics Changed.

Probably the greatest change with any club in the majors will come with the Athletics. Connie Mack during the off season snared three veteran stars and two high-priced minor leaguers. The veterans who are expected to help Mack in his new drive for a pennant are Cobb, Collins and Wheat, while the minor leaguers are Joe Boley, the high-priced shortstop from Baltimore and Dudley Branom, first sacker from Kansas City. Washington also hopes to strengthen by the addition of Tris Speaker, former Indian leader.

Chief aid for the Browns' new leader, Han Howley, is expected from Sam Jones and Lefty Stewart, Shulte, Steve O'Neill, catcher, and Infielders Mullen, Miller and O'Rourke. Jimmy Ring, pitcher; Snyder, catcher; Infielder Frisch, and Clark and Roettger, outfielders, are the notable additions to the rosters of the world's champion Cardinals.

Giants Are Strengthened.

In the National, the Giants have made the most notable additions, in Hornsby, Burleigh Grimes, pitcher, and outfielders Roush and Harper.

The total of 215 new faces to be seen with the clubs at the start of the training trips, is enough to supply an entire league when the aggregations are forced to cut down to the 25 player limit and then have enough left over to organize a minor league club, with a 15-player limit.

It will be interesting to note when the campaign starts just how many of the newcomers are able to make the grade in the big tent. It usually has been "that many are called, but few are chosen." Maybe it will be different in 1927.

Police Revolver Scores.

Paul Staueble topped members of the St. Louis Police Revolver Club in a match held on Eighth District range Wednesday. The scores were as follows: P. Staueble 86, L. Lutke 84, O. L. Collard 73, Steve Harke 73, Dr. V. A. Carriere 72, G. F. Bauer 69, Dr. J. A. Glasscock 67, F. W. Greene 66, C. E. Brown 66, James W. Beeler 64, E. Niemeyer 63, Frank J. Maly 59, F. B. Mueller 49.

Bowman Equals District Record For 60 Yards

Bob McAllister Beaten by a Step in Metropolitan A. A. U. Games.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Chet Bowman, former Syracuse track star, successfully defended his metropolitan indoor title in the 60-yard dash at the annual A. A. U. championship games in the 245th Coast Artillery Armory tonight.

Outstepping Bob McAllister, former national champion, Bowman came through with his first major victory of the year in 6 3-5 seconds, equaling the metropolitan record. McAllister was a step behind him in second place, while Charles Huguenin of New York University was third.

A new middle distance king was crowned and a metropolitan record shattered when Phil Edwards, New York University dusky runner, breasted the tap first in the 1000-yard event. Edwards completed the route in 2:16 3-5, bettering the 13-year-old mark of Abel Kiviat by one and four-fifths seconds.

Edwards finished with a comfortable lead over H. A. McArdle of St. Anselms A. C., while Willie Sullivan of the Paulist A. C., was third. George W. Nolan of the New York A. C., 1926 titleholder, did not compete.

The record smashing epidemic spread to the mile walk when Willie Plant, veteran Morningside A. C. hiker, stepped over the boards in defense of his title to win in 6:36 3-5. Willie's time clipped three full seconds from his own best previous meet time.

Plant finished 15 yards in front of his old rival, Harry Hinkel of the New York A. C. Third place went to William Carlson of the Finnish-American A. C.

PADDOCK AIDS IN HANGING UP NEW WORLD'S RELAY MARK

By the Associated Press.

POMONA, Cal., Feb. 19.

A NEW world's record was set here today during the course of the Los Angeles A. C.-Pomona college track meet when a four-man relay team including Charles Paddock, champion sprinter, reeled off 220 yards in 21 3-5 seconds. This time eclipsed by two tenths of a second a mark that was set in 1911 in Australia.

The other members of the record shattering quartet were Hugh Pinney, former Pomona college sprinter, Eddie Pollock, Pasadena high school lad, and Keith Lloyd, University of Southern California dash man. The race was an exhibition.

CHICAGO FIVE ROLLS 2905, GAINS FIFTH PLACE IN TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 19.—The powerful H. E. Reading's bowling quintet of Chicago, who last year took the title, battered down enough wood tonight to land in fifth place in the five-men standing at the International Bowling Association Tournament. Their total was 2905.

Waldford Lundgren, former A. B. C. singles champion, rolled with the Realtors and turned in games of 204, 210 and 201. Lewis Levine, who was on the winning team of I. B. A. tournaments in 1925 and 1926, was the big gun in the attack with 210, 176 and 244.

The Danielski Five of Milwaukee finished second high on the early shift with 2861, a bad slump in the second series of games taking them out of the running for big money. The Bowlers' Journal Quintet of Chicago was third high on this shift, with 2853.

Miss Van Wie to Meet Mrs. Hurd In Golf Tourney

Youth vs. Experience in North and South Event at Ormond Beach.

By Ray McCarthy.

(Copyright, 1927.)

ORMAND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 19.—It will be the Old versus the New in women's golf—that is the type of play—during the annual South Atlantic Championship tournament which commences here Wednesday. The "old" will be exemplified by Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, who is not so old in years, although she has had plenty of tournament experience, while the modern style will be personified by an 18-year-old girl, Miss Virginia Van Wie.

No one is better qualified than Mrs. Hurd to represent the old school, as it is nearly 20 years since she won her first major title; yet only three seasons back she still was at the top of the heap. Miss Van Wie is truly representative of the new school in women's golf, and judging by her performances the last two years has potentialities of developing into the best women golfer of the next 10 years.

Mrs. Hurd and Miss Van Wie are among the many stars who are entered for the South Atlantic championship, to be held at St. Augustine a week later.

There are very few women's golf championships, national, sectional, district or otherwise which have not been won by Mrs. Hurd. She had been champion of the United States three times, of Great Britain twice, has won the Scotch or Irish titles four times, the Canadian three times and thrice she has been North and South champion, while holding a score of minor laurels. But she has never won the South Atlantic championship.

Miss Van Wie is destined to win the national championship some day. She has an ideal physique for the game. She has broad shoulders and large hands and weighs about 140 pounds. She possesses one of the finest compact swings ever shown by a golfer. Although she pivots very little in making her shots, she obtains tremendous distance.

Nebraska Wins, Climbing in Race

Huskies Beat Oklahoma Aggies, 35 to 25—Peery Leads in Scoring.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 19.—The Nebraska Corn Huskers climbed into third place in the Missouri Valley conference basket ball race by turning back another Oklahoma team tonight, the Aggies of Stillwater drawing the short end of a 32-24 score.

Both quintets were off form from playing stiff games Friday night and ragged basketball was the order during the first half. The Huskers had a narrow advantage of 15-14 at the intermission, but uncorked a burst of passing speed and basket hitting as the final half opened, running up a commanding lead.

Peery of the Aggies set the scoring pace with eight shots from the floor, while Smaha and Page were Nebraska's busiest point makers.

Brown, Nebraska forward, suffered a broken nose during the second half in collision with Page, center.

ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF COBB'S HUNTING

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 19.—An investigation of Ty Cobb's game hunting in Georgia has been ordered by the State Game Department.

Peter S. Twitty, State Commissioner, said the action was started following the publication of a newspaper article with the heading "one morning's bag; killed in Georgia swamp." A picture appeared alongside showing the baseball star holding a string of nine wild turkeys. The bag limit in Georgia is two for a season.

Men Wore Whiskers and Played for Fun, In the Days When Baseball Was Young Team That Scored 21 Runs First Won, and the Fans Were Angry When Rule Was Passed Ending the Game When Team Was Beaten.

WHEN BASEBALL WAS YOUNG—No. 1.

By John B. Foster,

Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1927.)

EVERYBODY wore whiskers in 1850. The men wore them; the boys wore them as soon as they could raise them; even ball players wore them. Photographs of ball players made in those days, still treasured in baseball libraries, are weird and wonderful to behold. But the appearance of the early players was no more weird and wonderful than the game itself.

For instance, in the old days it was necessary for a team to get 21 runs to win. The number of innings played did not matter. The first team that scored 21 runs was declared the winner.

Father floated around the bases with his whiskers breezing behind him, and occasionally he made the circuit two or three times in the same inning. If by then his team was not put out, he continued to float around the bases until it was out. Sometimes an inning lasted an hour.

There were no uncompleted innings in those days for the winning team, either. If the side was not out by the time 21 runs had been scored, the boys kept on piling up the score until they were finally put out. The greater the score the greater the victory.

Gluttons for Punishment.

Baseball had grown to be quite a stripling before the rule was adopted that a team first at bat when licked was licked, and the game need go no further. When that rule was put into effect in the professional leagues—and it was not until the time of professional baseball that it was adopted—the crowd would leave the grounds denouncing the management, because the game had not been played to a finish, even if the home team had licked its rivals. The spectators thought they were entitled to a complete three men out or nothing, and it was a year or two before they got over their grouch.

Returning to this matter of whiskers and 21 runs, there was a very remarkable game played in New York City in 1854 at the corner of 106th street and Second avenue. They called that particular spot the "Old Red House Ground" and there is a legend to the effect that the Old Red House dispensed liquids that were cooling and invigorating after they had played a game of baseball and run their fool legs off to make 21 runs.

A Run for the Bar.

The contending teams were the Gothams and the Knickerbockers, names long famous in New York. The game lasted 16 innings and the run on the Old Red House bar never was surpassed and never before had been approximated. The Gothams won. The silent vote against any future Volstead law was unanimous and was carried 50 or 60 times to make sure that it did carry. Sixteen innings of baseball to a victory were c with red fire at night, and after the sun had set the gi ings were being driven abo over the city. Fast colts back to Long Island, their men stopping enroute to the news that there had b baseball game at the Old House which had lasted 16 i and that the red glare in th in the northwest was fro huge bonfire that some kids had lighted.

The next day hundreds the scene of the game walked around the field, with much care the spot home plate was located and on a mark drawn where the ers had worked. They walk the ground until it looked site of the famous crabapp of New Brunswick, N. J.

Hanley Is Named Football Coach At Northwestern

Former Haskell Director Selected to Succeed Glenn Thistlethwaite.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Richard E. "Dick" Hanley, former athletic director and football coach at Haskell Institute, Lawrence, Kan., has been appointed head football coach at Northwestern University, it was announced today by Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson, athletic director.

Coach Hanley will take over the duties of Glenn Thistlethwaite, who left Northwestern to coach the Wisconsin football team, by March 1, in time for spring practice.

A long term contract has been signed by Hanley at $7500 a year. Only 32 years old, Hanley is one of the youngest coaches in the Big Ten. Hanley learned football at Washington State University, where in 1919 he captained the 11 to an undisputed Pacific Coast title.

Upon graduation he coached the Pendleton Oregon High School teams and produced two state champions in 1920 and 1921. Then he went to Haskell where in five years his football teams have won 52 games, tied four and lost nine. His teams piled up 1900 points to 400 for its opponents.

Last year Hanley's team played on each coast twice, traveling more than 24,000 miles. They won all their games but one, a 21—21 tie with Boston College, eastern champion.

Cleveland showed power in crushing Central last night that may prove dangerous when the South Siders meet Roosevelt in the latter's final game of the season. Cleveland had scored 11 points before Central counted on Hartman's shot, and its defense held Callan's team scoreless until 31 points had been gained. Mowry, Weingardt and Hohn were again the high-point men for Cleveland. Mowry and Hohn each scored 17 points, while Weingardt counted five times from the field for a 10-point total.

Last night's score put the Cleveland total for its last three games at 118. Neuman's team took a decided turn for the better when Joe Hohn returned to the lineup three weeks ago.

Knute realized it was some world and decided ne would resort to movie fighting, first, and the real stuff afterward. He signed with a Los Angeles director. Joe Woodman of New York and other villages liked Knute's looks and bought his contract.

"If he has any insides he is the next world's champion," Woodman confided to the writer. If he tacks fiddle strings then we are out $5000—what we paid for his contract. The boy can hit hard, box well and is physically perfect. Whether he will turn out right is up to the stuff that's in him. It's the motor, not the tonneau that makes the old machine after all."

So Friday night we will see whether Knute had the stuff his Viking forebears were noted for. In his bout with Diener, Hansen had his foe on the floor early in the fight. He boxed for four rounds like a champion, accounts tell. Then he folded up, let the German take the lead away from him and finally lost heart and the decision. That's the way the story read.

Although the futures of both men seem a long way ahead of them, this does not mean that they may not mingle in great and gory combat to the edification of the ringsiders and those who like to see fighters topple like tenpins instead of sparring like scientists.

Schaefer Defeats Willie Hoppe In 18.1 Match

Titleholder Scores 3000 Points to 2281 for 18.1 Billiards Champion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Young Jake Schaefer holder of the world's 18.1 billiard title, conquered Willie Hoppe by a score of 3000 to 2281 in their match for the 18.1 balkline supremacy which came to an end at the Strand Academy tonight. Schaefer outplayed the former "Boy Wonder" almost from the start and turned in an average of 30 30-99 for the match. Hoppe's grand average was 23 4-99.

Hoppe won the final game tonight by a score of 352 to 300, giving a flash of his wizardry with the cue in the fifth inning by clicking off a run of 234, the highest of the match. The 18.2 champion was at his best during his long run and made several spectacular shots which won him the applause of the crowd.

Schaefer Runs 41.

But he made only two more points in his next three innings while Schaefer ended the match in the ninth inning with a run of 41. His last shot was a difficult draw which he made after deliberation for several seconds. He had an average of 33 1-3 for the game, while Hoppe had an average of 44.

Schaefer virtually won the match in the afternoon by winning the ninth block by a score of 300 to 249. In the afternoon Schaefer had high runs of 94, 76 and 9, while Hoppe made a high run of 120 in his first inning. He followed with runs of 57 and 42, but his playing fell off after this and Schaefer took the lead in the seventh inning with his run of 94.

Schaefer Proves Supremacy.

There is no doubt that Schaefer is the best 18.1 balkline player in the country after his easy victory over Hoppe. Of the 10 blocks played, Schaefer won eight and Hoppe only two.

The scores follow:

Afternoon game—

Schaefer—76, 37, 7, 59, 0, 25, 94, 2. Total 300, high run 94, average 37½.

Hoppe—120, 57, 42, 0, 32, 22, 6, 2. Total 249, high run 120, average 35 4-7.

Night game—

Schaefer—72, 4, 1, 68, 9, 1, 102, 2, 41—Total 300, high run 102, average 33 1-3.

Hoppe—62, 0, 33, 21, 234, 0, 2, 0. Total 352, high run 234, average 44.

"Ruby Robert," By Robert H. Davis

A Story of Romance in the Prize Ring

After Posing of the "Hero" in Sunlight at Top of Stair, Things Began to Happen.

The Story of Fitz

THE Post-Dispatch presents herewith the fifth installment of excerpts from the book, "Ruby Robert," by Robert H. Davis. This is the story of the most colorful of all champions, the middleweight who knocked out the heavyweight titleholder. The writer, a newspaper reporter, was closely associated with Fitzsimmons, having been the Cornishman's "private secretary" at camp before his fight at Carson City with Jim Corbett, in which Fitz won the championship on a knockout. Davis got the secretary title after he negotiated with Fitzsimmons the deal by which a syndicate became the only official source of news out of Fitzsimmons' camp.

INSTALLMENT V.

ALL set. A few moments after sun-up the quartet of intrepid jokesmiths strolled out to the dressing room and pulled the tableau. Fitz looked more like a gladiator at that moment than at any time in his life. He was as pink as a baby. His round, barrel-like chest was inflated with deep breathing. His massive arms, in spite of their heroic proportions, hung lightly from his gorgeous shoulders. He faced the sunlight and came to rest.

"Click."

A perfect exposure.

"Bang!"

A perfect surprise. The camera hopped into space like a gigantic cockroach.

"Bang!"

The second barrel carried the death stroke. Glass plates seemed to be bursting for an indefinite period. The whole tripod rose from the earth like a skyrocket, crossed its legs, hovered for a moment and crashed to terra firma. A $600 instrument disintegrated and rained its worthless fragments over the ground.

Fitz, 30 Years Ago

BOB FITZSIMMONS.

The fat gentleman, whom we afterward learned was a photographic zealot from Chicago, rose from the sagebrush and ran practically out of the State in a cloud of dust.

That was the only filibusterer who had the courage to make a raid. I would give a good deal to possess that photographic plate today. It must have been a beauty.

Weighed 156 1-2 for Fight.

MARCH 17, 1897, was one of those perfect mountain mornings, the atmosphere like crystal, not a cloud in the deep blue sky. Mrs. Fitzsimmons cooked Bob's breakfast: Half a chicken, two slices of toast, one cup of coffee, and a compote of stewed fruit. Bob did a little shadow boxing in the gymnasium and was subjected by Hickey to a thorough rubdown, after which he was wrapped in blankets and remained quiet until 11 o'clock, when we departed for the arena in which had gathered about 7000 customers.

Fitz's Last Word on Way to Arena to Meet Corbett Was Expression of Confidence to His Wife.

Just before departing we weighed Bob. He tipped the scale at exactly 156½ pounds.

"I'm still a middleweight. Now, let's see wot 'appens," was his only observation.

The dressing room had been built in under the reserved seats and was extremely cold. Fitzsimmons disrobed and was reblanketed so completely that nothing was visible except a lock of his light hair, his eyes and his nostrils. He remained perfectly quiet and said very little.

Dan Stewart, the promoter of the fight, came in and asked one question:

"Are you all right?"

"Never better," replied Fitz.

Confident Before Bout.

MRS. FITZSIMMONS was standing at the head of the rude couch upon which Ruby Robert was stretched, smoothing his forehead. Stewart, with an almost imperceptible lift of his eyebrows, conveyed to me the suggestion that she should be escorted to her seat. I played the cavalier and started for the ringside with Mrs. Fitzsimmons on my arm. Suddenly she stopped.

"I must see Bob again. I've got to see him."

With that she ran back to Bob, who was sitting up, his shoulders and torso bare. Hickey was preparing to give him another rubdown. Rose, repulsing Messrs. Hickey and Roeber, gathered Bob into her arms as a mother embraces a child.

Bob cast aside the remaining blanket, stood up, pressed Rose to his heart, and declaimed in his high voice:

"Rose, go back to your seat. When this fight is hover you will be the wife of the champion of hall the champions of hall the world."

Constant Alertness and Quick Rulings Requisites That Make Tennis Officiating Difficult

Helen Wills Recalls Incident at Monte Carlo, When Linesman Failed to Call an "Out" and Was Found to Be Fast Asleep in Chair.

By Helen Wills.

(Copyright, 1927.)

If ever a contest were held to decide who had the world's worst job, surely umpires and linesmen, if they didn't win the prize, would at least receive honorable mention. If they got that much in the way of appreciation, they likely would have a hard time surviving the shock, for, after their first game, they know that instead of being known by their good deeds they only draw attention to their errors.

One is scarcely conscious of their presence until a mistake is made and then—at such a time there is no doubt that they hold the world's worst job. Hard work, little credit, such is the lot of those who rule in tennis matches.

Being an umpire or a linesman is an occupation which requires concentration and continued alertness, allowing one not a minute off guard. In very important championship matches or in international play umpiring becomes an exceedingly nerve-taxing occupation, because the official appreciates fully what weighs upon his smallest decision. At a crucial point a whole game, the fame of champions, the rivalry of nations, depends on what the umpire may say about a ball.

Quick Decision Necessary.

To make a decision about a ball and to have announced that decision irrevocably before the rest of the onlookers are entirely aware of what has happened, such is the alertness of the linesman. He can't change his decision; what he said first has to stand. A ball may appear to be out and then a flash of white dust rises from the line—what then can the poor linesman do? Or else the ball may be very low and fast, so close to the ground that it is practically impossible to tell whether or not it nicked the line. There is only one thing the linesman can do, and that is, give his best judgment. Having done that, he is far from out of difficulty, because frequently the players and onlookers think he has made a wrong decision.

My experience has taught me that it is foolish for a player or onlooker to try to call a very close ball "in" or "out." The angle from which the ball is seen influences the decision greatly. A person watching a game from the side of the court might think that a ball on one of the side lines was good, when really, as seen by the person on that particular line it was an inch or so outside. A very deceiving line for the player himself to judge is the baseline when he is playing a ball which had landed at his feet directly on or very near the line.

When in Doubt, Play It.

The fact that the player at such time is looking downward influences his judgment. From one or two surprising and lamented incidents which have happened during my matches in the past, I have learned that the player and the linesman do not always agree about the ball and the baseline. It is always safer to play all the doubtful balls on the baseline. When in doubt, keep the ball in play, is a good rule.

Because the angle from which the ball is seen often distorts the judgment, in matches there should be a linesman on every line for the complete satisfaction of both the players and the onlookers. An umpire from his central position cannot possibly call close balls accurately. He is bound to misjudge some, if not many.

The linesmen are the only persons who can see and call lines and line balls accurately. The umpire, therefore, almost always takes their decision. Therefore, it does not seem logical for the player to argue about whether or not a certain ball was in or out.

Echo From Monte Carlo.

Of course, no one is absolutely infallible, and linesmen are not exceptions. They do make mistakes, but the bad breaks in a match almost always even up for the players, unless the linesmen had evidenced gross inefficiency.

Sometimes linesmen are very funny. One incident which I recall occurred in Monte Carlo last winter. My partner and I were playing against two English ladies in an international doubles match. They were serving to us. A serve came over into my partner's court. She happened to be receiving on the left, the side on which the linesman was sitting. The ball was out a foot or more, so far out that my partner made no move in its direction. We waited for the call of the linesman but no sound came from his lips. The umpire, an old English gentleman, looked to the linesman. The players and the audience turned and all bent their gaze upon the lounging figure in the chair, sleeping the sleep of the just.

In a loud and accusing voice the umpire called, "Say, there, Smith, how did you call the last ball."

The sleeper awoke embarrassed to find that he was the center of all the laughter and clapping.

In a way it was amusing, but from a serious viewpoint, that linesman was guilty of the greatest offense of which he could be capable. Maybe he had an excuse. His sleep could have been blamed on the warmth of the sun, the soft air, or perhaps—the game!

Tijuana Racing Will be Resumed Next Saturday

Coffroth Announces Stake Events Will Be Held on Days Scheduled.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 19.—Racing at Tijuana will not be resumed until Feb. 26, James Coffroth, president of the Tijuana Jockey Club, announced here today.

The track could be in condition by tomorrow, Coffroth declared but roads to Tijuana were in such condition after the recent storm that traffic over them would be extremely difficult. It may require at least a week to repair the roads, Coffroth thought.

No postponement of either the Coffroth Handicap or other feature stake events is contemplated, Coffroth declared, and every effort will be made to run them on their scheduled dates.

BENTON JUNIOR HIGH WINS GAME BY 46-1 IN BASKET MEET

The second clash, between Logan and Christopher, was copped by the Logan team, 15 to 6.

Pinckneyville beat Royalton, 18 to 9, in the third tilt and West Frankfort downed Zeigler, 19 to 8, in the fourth game.

Benton won from Logan, 30 to 7, and West Frankfort from Pinckneyville, 10 to 5, this afternoon, qualifying for the final.

Flyweights Will Box in Final at Coliseum Tuesday

Promoter Tippitts Reverses Usual Order in His Inaugural Fistic Show.

With four bouts at six rounds billed as the feature attractions of his first professional boxing program at the Coliseum next Tuesday night, Matchmaker Jack Tippetts has adopted a unique method of forestalling disputes over the order in which principals in the star bouts will swing into action and at the same time provide reasonable assurance that the final engagements will bring together the fastest and cleverest boxers on the bill.

Tippetts announced last night that he will send Digger Nelson and Billy Cain, flyweight rivals, into the final 6-round event and that the featherweight contest between Paul Steadman and Lew Terry will be contested as the semi-final. Harry Ritzer and Ben Rowlands, middleweight punchers, are slated to clash in the match immediately preceding the featherweight bout, while the heavyweight setto between Tom Pivac and Earl Gibbons will open the series of headline events.

Four preliminary engagements of four rounds each will round out the New Coliseum card. Claude "Kid" Boge, a local middleweight, meets Norman Travis of Belleville, Ill., in the curtain-raiser. This match will be followed by a welterweight contest between Charles Theodore, former Western A. A. U. champion, and Jack Sullivan, a recent graduate of the Jefferson Barracks amateur team.

Billy Collins, a Scott Field boxer who knocked out Ardell Hoffman in the first round of a match in East St. Louis last Thursday night will be pitted against Morrie Greenberg of this city in a junior-lightweight contest billed as the third prelim. Vic Windle, former amateur star of the Sherman Park team, has signed articles for another prelim attraction. Tippetts hopes to match Windle with Frankie Krall, a former district champion lightweight.

Steadman and Terry will inaugurate a series of elimination bouts to determine city championship honors when they meet in the featherweight feature. Steadman made a determined bid for the local crown last summer but was outpointed by George Butch, who later announced his retirement from the game. Terry as an amateur a year ago chalked up a string of seven successive knockouts in bouts with local rivals.

Tippetts reports a good advance sale for his initial puligistic venture. Ticket prices for approximately 95 per cent of the 10,000 available seats will range from 75 cents to $2.20, with a top price of $3.30 for the first three rows of ringside reservations.

Indiana Goes Into Big Ten Basket Lead

Defeats Michigan While Three Other Leaders Are Beaten.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Indiana soared to the Big Ten basketball leadership tonight when Michigan, Wisconsin and Purdue, the three schools that were tied at the top before tonight's games, were beaten.

Michigan's poor basket shooting enabled the Hoosiers to win, 37 to 34. Ohio won a low scoring contest from Wisconsin, 20 to 16, and Purdue was beaten at Iowa City, 33 to 28.

The night's shuffle not only elevated Indiana to the top of the deck, but pulled Iowa into a four-way tie for second place with Michigan, Wisconsin and Purdue. Each of these teams now has won five and lost two games, while Indiana has six victories and only two defeats.

Chicago's 40 to 21 victory over Northwestern did not boost Chicago in the standings, while it pushed Northwestern only that much deeper into the cellar, where it languishes with eight defeats and no victories.

PRINCIPIA DEFEATS ROOSEVELT HIGH SWIMMING MEET

The Principia Academy swimming team defeated the Roosevelt High School tank team, 54 to 6, in a dual meet at Principia yesterday afternoon. Coach Schumacher's natators captured first and second places in six events and won the relay race.

James Penfield led in the scoring for Principia with two firsts for 10 points. He was also a member of the winning relay team. Douglas Baer added 5 points for the Academy team when he negotiated the 40-yard dash in the excellent time of 20 3-10 seconds.

Moore counted in two events for the inexperienced Roosevelt team. He took third in the 40-yard dash and 40-yard back stroke. The Principia team is still undefeated in six dual meets and will oppose the North Side Y. M. C. A. team next Saturday.

Tourist Up on Horses but Not So Good on Golf

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19.

THERE is one man in Florida who did not come South for winter golf.

Lee Chase, Buffalo, N. Y., in search of a fan who might want to see the Hagen-Sarazen match at the Biltmore course Sunday afternoon, found a tourist who never saw a bunker, but who knew his race horses.

"Want a ticket to the big Hagen-Sarazen match?" Chase asked.

"I've never heard of Hagen," the visitor replied, "but I may come out at that. Who's riding Sarazen?"

A Hagen supporter was heard to remark that "Hagen will be up on Sarazen tomorrow afternoon."

Sicking Must Go Back to A. A., Landis Decides

Commissioner Takes Action on Protest by Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The deal which transferred Eddie Sicking from Indianapolis to the New York Giants and then to Buffalo Internationals, was cancelled today and the player sent back to Indianapolis, Commissioner K. M. Landis announced.

The Minneapolis American Association club filed a claim on the services of the Indianapolis star second baseman, charging that the Indianapolis club had resorted to trickery to get the player out of the league.

Both the Minneapolis and Milwaukee clubs refused to waive on Sicking, but three days after Sicking's "sale" to the New York Giants was announced, he was sent to the International League as a member of the Buffalo club, the Minneapolis club contended.

The acquisition of Bruno Betzel by the Indianapolis club, in a player swap with Louisville, with Betzel managing the club and playing second base, left the Indianapolis club with a surplus second-sacker of exceptional ability.

YOUNG ACCLAIMED AS HERO UPON HIS RETURN TO TORONTO

TORONTO, Ontario, Feb. 19.—Practically unknown four months ago, George Young, Catalina channel swimming champion, today returned home to find himself acclaimed the city's hero.

Cheering crowds greeted him at the station and lined the route of the parade to the city hall, where speeches in his honor were made from a flag-draped stand. Young rode with Dr. Forbes Godfrey, representing the Premier of Ontario, and Mayor Thomas Foster and representatives of recreational, sporting, business and social organizations took part in the procession.

At the city hall military bands gave a program of patriotic airs and songs of victory and the champion was presented with a service of plate.

There was only one rift in the festivities. There seemed little prospect that a reconciliation would be effected between Young and Bill Hastings, his pal at the start of the adventure. The champion's manager reiterated the swimmer's determination not to attend any function at which Hastings would be a guest.

O. J. Brooks has deposited a certified check for $25,000 in the Royal Trust Co. to secure to Toronto the swimming marathon proposed by William Wrigley Jr. for a $50,000 prize to go to the winner, Wrigley backing Young to the extent of $25,000.

Brooks is a Toronto financier and automobile manufacturer, being head of Brooks securities, limited, and of a firm manufacturing steam-driven cars.

It is stipulated that the race be open to the swimmers of the world, that the race be held on Labor day during the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto in 1927, that the course be from Youngstown, N. Y., to the exhibition grounds in Toronto, a distance of approximately 31 miles, and that the race start at a time which will make possible its completion before 6 o'clock p. m. on Labor day.

MRS. SCHULTE LEADS HANDICAP TOURNEY

Mrs. M. Schulte, with a grand total of 626, is leading the Women's Handicap tournament being held on the Washington Alleys, Saturday and Sunday nights. Mrs. O. Rohde, with a score of 610, is second, Mrs. Jim Wilson third with 600, and Mrs. H. Sprunk is fourth with 591.

Three squads of 12 women each will bowl tonight at 6, 8 and 9 p. m. A few openings remain on the various squads, any woman wishing to bowl in this tournament can arrange to bowl by calling CEntral 5818.

Muny Basket Eliminations to Open Tomorrow

Leacocks, Idle in First-Round, Are Favored by Pairings; Path Clear to Final.

Only two games are scheduled in the first-round of the elimination series for the municipal basketball championship which opens tomorrow evening at Sherman Park Community Center. Purina is scheduled to meet the Peters quintet in the upper bracket and Missouri Pacific will take on the Westerns in the lower, the former contest starting at 8 o'clock and the latter immediately thereafter.

The teams drawing first round byes were: Upper bracket, Ford Humphrey, Leacocks and Geitz; lower bracket, St. Louis U. Freshmen, Sunday School League winner and Sodality League winner.

Second round games will be played at St. Louis University gymnasium on Wednesday, according to the following schedule: Upper bracket, Ford Humphrey vs. Leacocks and Geitz vs. winner of Peters-Purina game; lower bracket, St. Louis U. Freshmen vs. winner of Missouri Pacific-Western contest and Sunday School League winner vs. Sodality League winner.

The Leacocks, coached by Paddy Fitzgerald, are overwhelming favorites to win the championship and represent the municipal association at Kansas City in the National A. A. U. tournament. Fitzgerald undoubtedly has one of the strongest quintets in the history of the city, if not the strongest and only a complete upset of form can defeat it.

The Leacocks have easy sailing up to the finals as they have a "soft spot" in the upper bracket. The finalist in the lower division is problematical with the St. Louis U. Freshmen standing out as the probable survivor. Western, however, is dangerous and Missouri Pacific may cause trouble.

Admission of 25 cents will be charged to all elimination contests, the receipts being used to defray the expenses of the winning five to the Kansas City meet.

Gorman Retains American Indoor Skating Crown

Canadian Places in All but One Event at Pittsburg Ice Meet.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 19.—Charles Gorman of St. Johns, N. B., retained his crown as international indoor ice speed skating champion when he finished tonight with 150 points. The titleholder placed first in every major event for men during the two-day meet, excepting the three-mile race. He dropped out of the latter contest, which was won by Percy Johnson of Toronto, who established a new world's record of 8:58 3-5 by clipping more than 15 seconds from the old mark.

Lloyd Guenther, Detroit, was the runner-up with 60 points. Johnson placed third with 40.

A new record was established in the 440-yard championship for women when the two Toronto girls, Margaret McBride and Lelia Brooks, won the first and second heats, respectively, in 43 3-5 seconds. The new joint record holders smashed the mark of 45 3-5 seconds made here in 1925 by Elsie Mueller. This was the third Mueller record to fall before the fast-flying Brooks, for she shattered two others last night.

Miss Brooks, holder of the 880-yard record for women, came within one second of equaling the mark when she won the final in [illegible]

SUPERFRANK, RIDDEN WIDE BY LEGERE DEFEATED BY SAMAR

RIDING TACTICS DECIDE ISSUE AT NEW ORLEANS

J. Smith on Winner—Bulletin Kicks My Colonel at Barrier and Then Goes On to Win.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 19.—The Fair Grounds presented a trio of outstanding features to its patrons this afternoon that resulted in another big attendance being on hand in spite of chilling blasts that gave this section a winter aspect.

The features included the Kindergarten Stakes for two-year-olds at a distance of half a mile, the first time that juveniles have been asked to go this distance this season; the Johnny Powers Memorial Handicap, to which in addition of the purse, Mrs. Payne Whitney presented a handsome silver plate, and the Fair Grounds Handicap at a mile and three-sixteenths.

The Fair Grounds Handicap, which was the outstanding number, was reduced to six starters with Superfrank the favorite, and Arabian and Samaron also receiving considerable attention. The finish was between this trio with Samaron the victor. His success was mainly the result of Jockey Legere's lack of judgment. With intelligent handling Superfrank would have reversed the decision with the winner. Superfrank was well in the lead approaching the stretch turn where Legere rode him wide, while J. Smith on Samaron rode him close to the inner rail. This enabled Samaron, as a result of the great amount of ground he saved to instantly overcome Superfrank's lead and he led that racer for the rest of the trip. Arabian, was another to race wide but he finished gamely and secured third place.

The Johnny Powers' Memorial Handicap brought to the post a good band of sprinters with My Colonel, the favored one and Bulletin also stoutly backed. The latter showed his usual fractiousness at the barrier and also kicked My Colonel severely on the front leg, inflicting a deep cut. It no doubt had considerable bearing on My Colonel's failure to perform better than he did, for he lacked his customary high speed and gave way completely in the stretch and failed to get part of the purse. Bulletin was away in full stride and racing in his best form held sway for the entire trip to beat out McTinkle with Tip Top in third place.

The Kindergarten Stakes was annexed by Aleader, which was grouped with Emphatic and Gloria Aspin as the Paradise Stock Farm entry. Sport Halahan finished in second place, having raced in that position throughout. Siree was best of the others. Jockey D. McAuliffe was unseated from the Greentree Stable's Skaver at the start, but escaped injury. The winner showed herself to possess high speed and also indicated that she liked a route.

Illini Win Track Meet From Iowa

Illinois Indoor Records in Shotput and Broad Jump Are Lowered.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 19.—Coach Harry Gill's University of Illinois track team opened their Big Ten Conference season here this afternoon by defeating the Universit yof Iowa track team, 55 1-3 to 48 2-3.

Iowa scored a slam in the 75-yard high hurdles, while Illinois scored slams in the 880-yard run and the running broad jump.

New Illinois indoor records were made by Lyon of Illinois in the shot-put, who heaved the weight 46 feet and 1 inch, and Simon of Illinois inthe broad jump, when he made 23 feet 3½ inches.

Illinois' victory today keeps intact Coach Gill's record of 10 years of dual competition without a defeat.

The summaries:

Points: Illinois, 55 1-3; Iowa, 48 2-3.

75-YARD DASH—Won by Cusel, Iowa; Beatty, Iowa, second; Bergstrom, Illinois, third. Time, 8s. flat.

Pace-Making Schaefer Five Follows Unusual Course; United Bakers Set Record

Nelson Stars With 701 Total, as Team Totals 3191, With a High Single Game of 1117 — Pin Topplers Busy Preparing for A. B. C. Tourney.

It's very unusual for a bowling team to protest when it wins three games from an opponent in a league match. However, that is exactly what happened the past week, when E. A. Schaefer, captain of the leading Schaefers, in Delmar Scratch League, filed a protest after his quintet took the A. K. Specials into camp for three straight.

Following the rolling, in which the Schaefers counted 2852, Schaefer wrote to Secretary Greene and various captains, stating that his five would not take the games and that he wanted them thrown out and rolled again. The reason—it seems that several of the A. K. stars were under the weather.

Graswick Wanted For Burke Battle

South Broadway Club Abandons Plans for Inter-City Matches.

Sixteen amateur boxers, including 11 novices who will be making their debut in tournament competition, have filed entries for the fistic carnival at the South Broadway A. C. next Thursday. Elmo Schneider and William Amendt, lightweights; Edward Gniske and Tom Amato, featherweights; and George West, a bantam, are the only experienced ringsters whose names appear on the list of early entries.

The novices who have enrolled are: James Larue and Harry Bitter, flyweights; Leo Rossi, featherweight; William Boegtli, Eddie Jones, James Kirkwood, William Holtmann, Anton Pudlowski and William Andrist, lightweights; Edward Koehler, welterweight; and Bud Schelot, middleweight. All but four are members of the South Broadway Club.

Efforts on the part of the South Broadway Club to bring a team of four Indianapolis boxers here to compete against Western A. A. U. titleholders in special attractions were abandoned when Matchmaker Willie Miller received a telegram from Coach Dalton of the Hoosier A. C., stating that the Indianapolis team is slated to compete in an inter-city boxing and wrestling meet at Gary, Ind.

Miller is trying to sign Jacob Graswick, East Side lightweight, to oppose Eddie Burke of Sherman Park for an inter-city special. Opponents are also sought for Frank Power, Western A. A. U. middleweight titleholder, and Al Keeney, newly-crowned champion of the welterweight division.

BETHLEHEM TEAM, OUT OF LEAGUE CUP RACE, PREPS FOR U. S. F. A.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Feb. 19.—Although unexpectedly eliminated in the American League Cup competition when defeated by Newark in the opening round, the Bethlehem Steel F. C., national champions, are more determined than ever in their preparations to successfully defend their title in the U. S. F. A. cup competition.

Rumors that drastic changes might be made in the lineup for the remaining league and cup games, are denied by the management. The only change probable is shifting Archie Stark back to his inside right position and using Tom Gillespie, who did not play against Newark, at center forward. It is also likely that Eadie will alternate more frequently with Barrie at fullback.

Although the champions have a well established lead in the league race, the margin of difference in the percentage does not make the title secure. Five hard games away from home confront the Steel Workers, starting with New Bedford and Providence this week-end and followed with one game each at Boston, J. & P. Coats and New York Giants.

MISS STAGER READY TO OPPOSE YOUNG IN CHALLENGE SWIM

By the Associated Press.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Feb. 19.—Announcement was made yesterday of the receipt of information from Miss Martha Stager of Portland, Ore., that she has telegraphed to William Wrigley Jr. in Chicago accepting his $25,000 wager backing George Young, youthful Canadian swimmer, against any challenger for another race across the San Pedro Channel from Santa Catalina Island to the mainland.

Miss Stager, one of the contestants of the Wrigley marathon in the channel which was won by Young, informed a local newspaper that she had made the only condition of the race that it be made from Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, to the mainland at Long Beach. She stated she had obtained the financial backing of a Los Angeles oil man.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

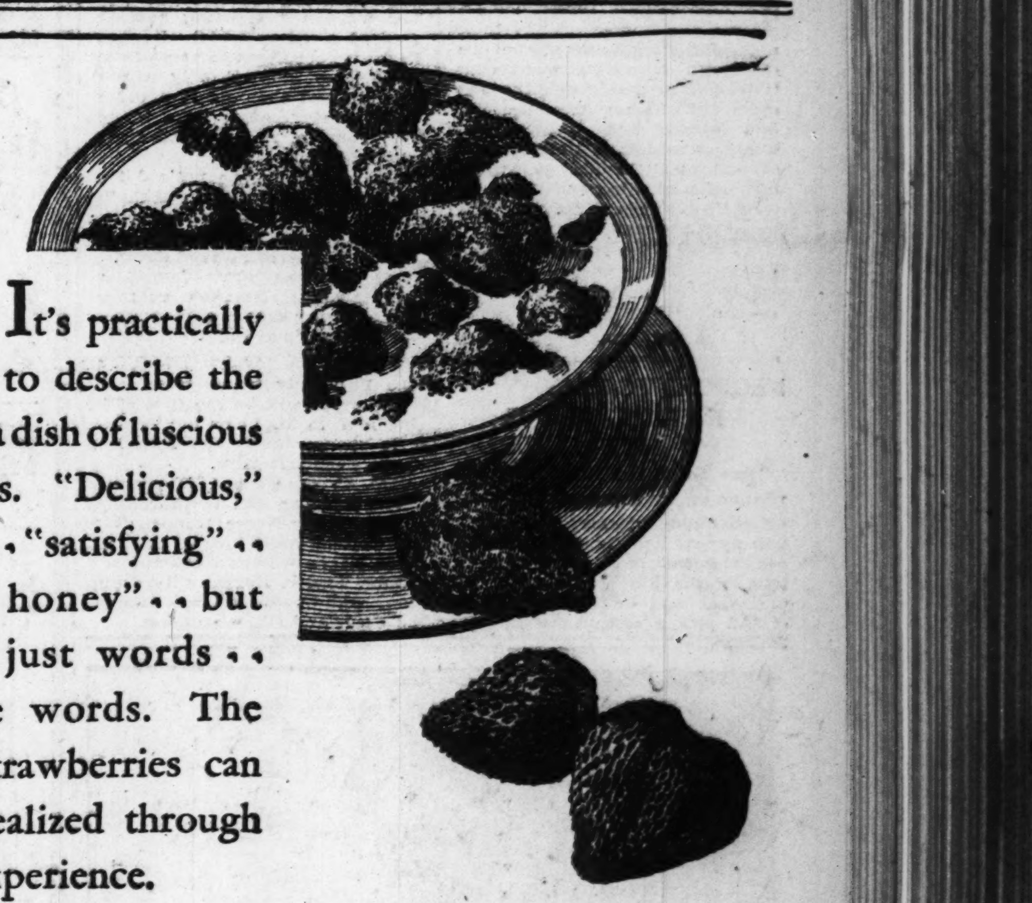
There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.



It's practically impossible to describe the delights of a dish of luscious strawberries. "Delicious," you'll say • "satisfying" • "sweet as honey" • but these are just words • inadequate words. The taste of strawberries can ONLY be realized through personal experience.

Quail Shooting.

THE question often comes up among shooters, as to what constitutes a fair average when shooting quail, and once in a while some chap claims that he can kill four out of five shots right through the season. We have heard many such boasts, and in every case where a test was made the shooter failed to make his statement stick.

Some of these men really believe that they can make the score claimed while others are either very poor liars or else they have never shot enough quail to grease the skillet.

We have heard still others tell about their father or uncle who never missed a shot when hunting quail, but they don't take into consideration that conditions have undergone an enormous change "since father was a boy." Some things possible 50 or 60 years ago are not possible today.

Dogs Have Improved.

WHEN I was a youngster too small and too young to have a gun, quail were plentiful everywhere, and signs "No Hunting" were unheard of. In those days breech loading guns and bird dogs were scarce, and the dogs that we knew and thought were wonderful would not pass today with anyone but a rank novice.

Every dog owner trained his own dog and was satisfied he had the best dog in the country, and at the time those dogs WERE good, just as good as our very best dogs today.

All the old timers were taught to drop to shot and wing, and and would "stay put" till the hunter had reloaded his old muzzle-loader, then the command to "fetch" was given, and with very few exceptions the dog always came back with the dead or crippled bird.

As birds were so plentiful there was no necessity for speed or range, as nearly every 40-acre stubble or weed field supported two or three covies of birds.

Hunter Noted Wind.

IN approaching likely looking cover the hunter usually took note of the wind and started his dog with the wind quartering towards him thus giving the dog every advantage. After the dog had located and pointed the hunter would take time to look around with the idea of guessing just what direction the birds would take when flushed, and he usually guessed right.

As a rule, the hunter would not shoot on the covey rise, but would mark the birds down very carefully.

If the field was large it was the exception when the birds would cross it to go into the timber but would settle down in the open.

Easy Pickings.

THEN was when the fun began, the well trained slow dog would point, his master would flush a single bird, and I venture to say that nine times out of ten would grass his bird. Jack or Pat or Dick would drop and await the command to fetch which he did very carefully. Sometimes before reaching the dead bird he would point again, or after he had the dead bird in his mouth would point.

Our sportsmen of the old school were conservationists for they would never shoot more than half the covey, nor would they flush the remaining scattered birds. If the dog was pointing he would be led off to another field. Under these conditions I have no doubt that a fair shot could score 90 per cent through the season.

It's Different Now.

BUT how different things are today. We go afield with a fast dog that has a good nose and is stanch, and seldom runs into or over a covey. We step up and flush.

If we are good shots a double is not the exception, but the birds never stop in the open; into the timber they go, and we hurry after them. Our dog is in just as big a hurry and as there is practically no cover in the timber, the birds flush wild and all the chance we have is to take a snap shot that's almost impossible.

We hunt around for some time without flushing another bird, when suddenly we hear the whiz of wings overhead and realize that some of the birds have lit in the trees.

Again, there are times when we mark the birds exactly as they drop into the timber. After going directly to this spot our dog will come to a point and we have hopes, but when we step in there is nothing there. Our dog looks foolish and tries again, with the same result.

AFTER being fooled many times in this way, I solved the mystery by accident. I happened to be standing in a patch of timber when my shooting partner flushed a covey which dropped in the timber about 25 yards from me. They stopped only a few seconds and then made another flight at right angle from where they came in and dropped again about 50 yards away.

Since then I have noticed the same thing many times and that's the reason the dogs are fooled so often and we fail to find the birds where they were marked down.

As conditions are today, if a hunter takes all shots as they come, 60 per cent is a good score for a season's average.

"My Friend, Bernard Shaw"

By Archibald Henderson

Opposed to Conventional English Family Tradition—Heredity and the Importance of Eugenics—The Clash With Roosevelt on Birth Control—Liberty for Children.

THIS is the sixth of a series of articles published in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, written by Archibald Henderson, an American, under the heading, "My Friend, Bernard Shaw." The articles reflect an intimate association with the great English author over a period of 22 years. Mr. Henderson, a North Carolina college professor, is the author of "George Bernard Shaw, His Life and Works" (1911), and "Table Talk of G. B. S." (1925). The seventh and concluding article of the series will appear in an early issue.

BERNARD SHAW is deeply concerned for the proper education of children, since the future of civilization and the race is dependent upon it. On one occasion, a friend who noticed that Shaw never had any cut flowers at his house, twitted him with not being fond of beautiful flowers. "I am fond of flowers," retorted Shaw. "I am also fond of children; but I don't cut off their heads and stick them in pots about the house."

The deep-seated cause for Shaw's discontent with modern education is that by enforced cramming, it fills the child's head with useless but ornamental knowledge, stultifies the thinking power, and kills the individual soul.

Bernard Shaw is a life-long opponent of the stuffy ideal of the English family, of conventional home life. But he is a firm believer in the importance of heredity, and the great role the developing science of eugenics is destined to play in the future. The bold, fighting qualities, clarity in expression, courage in outlook, freedom in thinking, scope in imagination—seem to him especially desirable and worthy of cultivation. For all his vaunted pretense of scorn for heroes and hero-worship he actually glorifies and reverences the heroic qualities. I learned once that Shaw was descended from that famous MacDuff immortalized by Shakspeare. I imagined that Shaw would be proud of that wild fighter to whom Macbeth addressed the oft-quoted words: "Lay on MacDuff, And damned be him that first cries, Hold! Enough!" But no! Shaw declared that he took no pride in his descent from the wild Scotchman, since he was killed in that mortal duel. With a mournful sigh of regret, Shaw exclaimed: "Now, if I had only been descended from Macbeth—!"

Without Knowledge No Choice.

Shaw is a firm advocate of birth control. Such knowledge is dangerous and open to abuse. But that is no valid argument against it. "Ignorance of evil," says Shaw, "is not virtue, but imbecility; admiring it is like giving a prize for honesty to a man who has not stolen your watch because he did not know you had one. Virtue chooses good from evil; and without knowledge there can be no choice." The late Theodore Roosevelt once made a public assault on Bernard Shaw, declining to treat him seriously as a social reformer, referring to him, by inference, as a "blatant sham reformer, who, in the name of a new morality, preaches the old, old vice and self-indulgence which rotted out first the moral fiber and then even the external greatness of Greece and Rome." Without referring to Shaw's original statement, Roosevelt took up the cudgels against him, because, as he had read somewhere, the Irish reformer had declared that birth control was the great discovery of the nineteenth century.

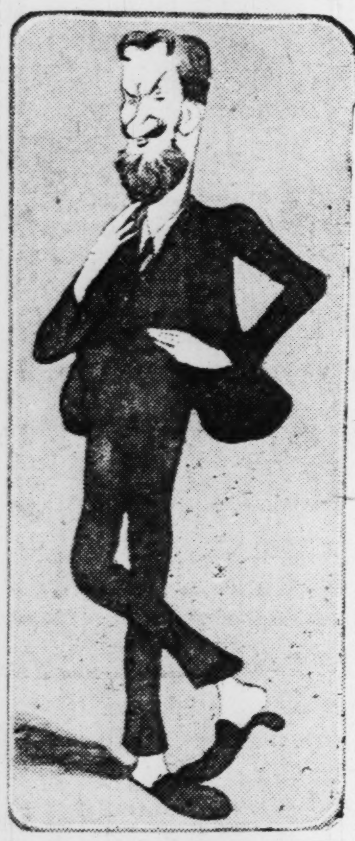
The truth, of course,, is that Shaw has poured out the vials of his bitter and scornful wrath upon the sterilizing voluptuaries. In his famous "Man and Superman," hell is described as the paradise of voluptuous sterility, and the devil as the sentimental advocate. What Shaw really said is as follows:

"The essential function of marriage is the continuance of the race, as stated in the Book of Common Prayer.

"The accidental function of marriage is the gratification of the amoristic sentiment of mankind.

"The artificial sterilization of marriage makes it possible to fulfil its accidental function whilst neglecting its essential one.

THE FATHERLY SHAW



AS MAX BEERBOHM PRESENTS HIM.

"The most revolutionary invention of the nineteenth century was the artificial sterilization of marriage."

Insists He and Roosevelt Wanted Same Results.

In other words, as Shaw amusingly has pointed out, "everything that Theodore wants to have said, I have said with patient care, with practised skill and with dramatic effect. And the result is that he snatches the pen out of my hand, and, with a shout of 'See me do it,' proceeds to do the work over again in his own confused, hasty, unskilled way, interlading it with assurances that I am a blackguard and that nobody who believes in me is to be trusted." All of which is precisely as Shaw has described it. Roosevelt loudly asserted that the birthrate of the undesirables should be vigorously controlled and that the birthrate of the desirables should be vigorously boosted; and yet he assailed all advocates of birth control on the assumption that they are all sterilizing voluptuaries. Roosevelt wanted the same thing that Shaw wants, but he hadn't the faintest idea how to get it. Shaw wants the universal dissemination of scientific knowledge of contraception, dangerous though such knowledge may be, since in the long run it makes for the betterment of the race. Shaw's description of Roosevelt's attitude is a devastating reductio ad absurdum of the great enemy of "race suicide."

"Like a child, he (Roosevelt) wants to have birth control both ways; he wants the power to do good without the power to do harm. I daresay he often goes into a shop and asks for a knife that will carve a rib of beef but will not cut his children's fingers; and he has as likely as not asked Edison to invent a shell that will kill German soldiers in Bruges, but will not kill Belgium women and children. When he is told that he cannot have weapons ear-marked in this way, he, no doubt, denounces the cutter and Edison as bloody-minded child murderers."

Shaw firmly believes that the United States would be better off than it is today if its Presidents were women instead of men. Women are not governed by petty scruples to the same extent as man. "There is a beautiful directness about women," maintains Shaw. "They succeed in getting what they want by going straight for their objective. In one of my plays a woman says, 'The only way to get what you want is to go right for it and grab it.' Men, on the other hand, invariably employ the most roundabout methods. American men particularly. If an American man wants anything he first goes to a policeman and asks if he can direct him to an agent. Then he asks the agent to get another agent, or he tries to find

The Senate as a Former Member Views It

MOST OVERWORKED, LEAST APPRECIATED OF LEGISLATIVE BODIES, SAYS R. L. OWEN

Oklahoman Calls It Greatest Board of Directors in the World, Handling Three or Four Billions a Year—Its Value as a Curb on Executive Encroachment Illustrated in Mexican and Nicaraguan Incidents.

Laughs at Talk of Its Decadence, Ranks Reed, Borah and Walsh of Montana With the Great Debaters of All Time and Deplores the Popular Tendency to Exalt the President and Sneer at Congress.

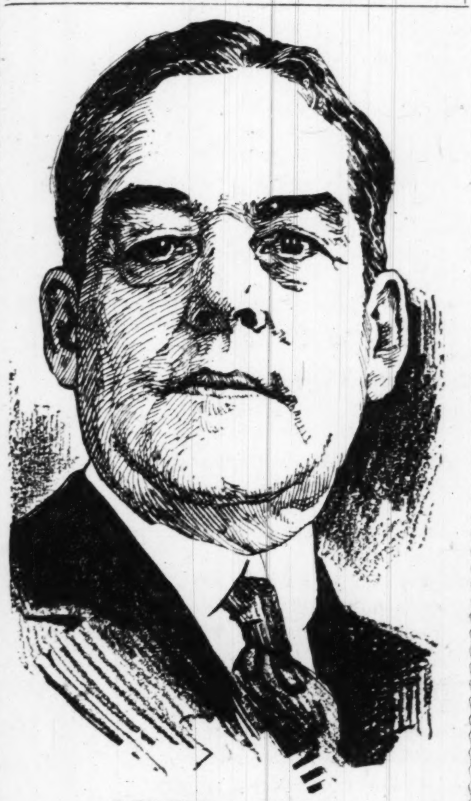
By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.

"IT'S nothing short of an outrage the way some newspapers and individuals persist in reviling the United States Senate. Before branding Senators generally as incompetents, some of these critics had better try just once to get themselves elected to the Senate. They will soon discover how much ability is required for that achievement alone."

Thus, with vigor and authority, spoke Robert L. Owen, who, after 18 years of distinguished service as Senator from Oklahoma, voluntarily retired two years ago, and has since led the detached life of a scholar and observer of public affairs. Interested but not ambitious, understanding but not affected, mellow with learning and full of years and experience, who is better qualified to judge the great body in whose history his name will occupy an important place? Former Senator Owen is a man of imposing appearance and arresting personality. In his massive swarthy face, inscrutable save for dark, flashing eyes, his partial Indian lineage is plainly visible. As one of those originally responsible for the direct election of Senators, the Federal reserve act, the farm loan act and the child labor act, his record speaks for itself. In the cloistered study of his Washington home, the writer sought him for a candid view of the Senate.

Defends United States Senate



ROBERT L. OWEN.

Overworked and Little Appreciated Body

"I'm glad you came," he said, bluntly, his dark eyes strangely intent, his massive head curiously immovable. "Some of the criticism which the Senate has had to endure in the last few years is simply disgraceful. It is the most overworked body of public servants in any government, and, in my opinion, the least appreciated.

"The United States Senate is the greatest board of directors in the world. It passes on appropriations of three or four billion dollars a year. It puts the microscope on every detail of the most efficient government on earth, magnitude considered.

"In some quarters it is considered smart to describe the Senate as a body of leisure—a rich man's club. The reverse is true. There is no harder job. The average Senator works from 10 to 16 hours a day. Eight of them had to leave my dinner table the other night to attend a night session.

"The chief fault of a Senator is not a lack of industry, but an excess of it. A large percentage of the membership simply work themselves to death. They become so preoccupied and intent upon their duties that neglect of their health costs their lives.

"Does that sound extravagant? Then let me remind you that there are only four men left in the Senate who were there when I entered it 20 years ago. Out of that 96 Senators there remain only Smoot of Utah, Warren of Wyoming and Simmons and Overman of North Carolina. Of course, some have retired, but the great majority are dead—most of them literally worked and worried into their graves."

Impressive Death Roll of Recent Years

The statement called vividly to mind the impressive death list of recent years. And what names, La Follette, Penrose, Cummins, Knox, Brandegee, Lodge, Ralston, not to mention the perhaps less illustrious ones of McKinley, Spencer, Colt and Fernald. Within the space of a single senatorial term, all these passed on. In 1920 all were here. Now all are gone from the stage.

"That is precisely the reason I left the Senate," pursued Owen with vigor. "It became apparent that I could not possibly discharge my duties properly any longer without shortly killing myself. And let me say that after two years of activity such as a normal man pursues, I am in better health than I have been for 10 years.

"What great public services does the Senate perform? Well, for one thing, it has consistently resisted the encroachments of the executive branch of the Government upon other branches. In this it has shown the highest sense of duty to public welfare. Moreover, it has displayed uncommon courage, because it has become the fashion to exalt the President and ridicule Congress. Comparatively few people realize the tremendous dangers to free government which lie in the growing power of the executive. Always the trend is toward one-man government. It is insidious, and often unconscious.

"It is almost inevitable that the President will endeavor to invade the province of Congress. Presidents are human; they want to put their programs through, and make their places in history. Hence we see the constant brandishing of the patronage club over the heads of Senators and Representatives.

"In one sense, the most important function of the Senate is that of a public forum. It is the greatest public forum in the world. The most commanding arena in which great issues are brought to be discussed, fought over and settled in full view of the people whose lives they vitally affect.

Put Curb on Executive in Central America

"Perhaps the greatest service which the Senate has rendered lately has been to protect the country in foreign affairs. To what lengths might not this country have been led in Mexico and Nicaragua in recent weeks without the restraining influence of the Senate?

"Of course, one of the great needs of the world is parliamentary control over foreign affairs. The absence of it was directly responsible for the World War. That war was directly due to the absence of parliamentary control over the foreign offices of Russia, France, Germany, Austria and Great Britain. Had the representatives of the people possessed absolute control over the diplomats, the war would not have occurred.

"This fact was so obvious to Woodrow Wilson that he made open diplomacy the first principle of his 14 points. What a calamity the world suffered when the world failed to accept that principle.

"The conduct of our own State Department in Nicaragua, Mexico, Hayti and Santo Domingo is a sufficient illustration of the human tendency to forget the Golden Rule in international relations. Confucius said 2500 years ago: 'Do not unto others what you would not that they should do unto you.' Today 400,000,000 Chinese are resorting to arms to enforce a maxim which the rest of the world would not accept peaceably.

"In my opinion, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee would be well-advised to have its own employes who would keep it constantly and accurately informed on the course of foreign affairs."

No Lament Over "the Good Old Days"

The conversation veered to the old familiar complaint, that the personnel of the Senate has declined from the grand heights of earlier years. Owen had heard it, the writer had heard it, virtually everybody in Washington has heard it, but almost invariably from the outside.

"Gentlemen who lament the alleged decline of ability in the Senate," remarked Owen, "will almost always be found to be ultraconservatives. The decline of the Senate in their eyes may be traced to the fact that in the good old days before the Senate was elected by direct vote of the people, these conservative gentlemen could telephone Aldrich and have the Senate do what was necessary for the welfare of the country—and of themselves.

"Under the direct election of Senators, the members are compelled to remember the popular vote and to consider the welfare of the majority instead of the welfare of that 'enlightened minority' consisting of the rich and well born. For myself, I thank God for the kind of decadence which thinks more in terms of human welfare and less in terms large property interests.

"Say what you please about Webster, Clay and Calhoun, they were great men and great debaters. But I say that Borah of Idaho, Reed of Missouri and Walsh of Montana could have held their own in debate in any age of the Senate or of the world. When it comes to honesty of conviction and stark, unheeding courage, in what age or clime will you find the superior of Norris of Nebraska and the late Bob La Follette? Oh, the country need not be disturbed about the alleged decadence of the Senate.

Direct Primary Elevated Standards, He Declares

He was reminded of the charge, fashionable nowadays, that the direct primary has exercised a lowering effect on the Senate personnel.

"On the contrary," he replied, "its effect has been elevating. But the primary should be supplemented by the process of a publicity pamphlet, printed publicly and put in the hands of every voter 30 days before each election, in which all candidates would have the right to present, at cost, their respective claims. This would end all excuse for corruption funds such as those recently employed in Pennsylvania and Illinois, and excused by James M. Beck as being necessary for 'the education of the voters.'

"Pinchot proposed that method in Pennsylvania. It was beaten, with what consequences we are now aware. All states should adopt it."

To what, the writer inquired, did Owen ascribe the custom, now so prevalent among business and professional men, of ridiculing the Senate and imputing unworthy motives to its members?

"First," he said, "to blank ignorance of public affairs, resulting from preoccupation with their own private affairs. Second, to the misinformation and prejudice diffused by a large class of editors and publishers, who make a practice of exalting the President at the expense of the Senate, partly because they think it is popular, and partly because they have favors to obtain from the executive departments. Third, to the influence exercised by certain large financial interests, whose ends are sometimes frustrated by Congress."

"What, on the whole, has been the history of the Senate since you entered it 20 years ago?"

"It has just as much brains, and an improved point of view," was the answer.

LLOYD GEORGE THINKS U. S. PROPOSAL UNMASKED ENEMIES OF DISARMAMENT AND PEACE

Suspects President Coolidge's Real Purpose Was to Expose the Character of "Sinister Maneuvers at Geneva."

By DAVID LLOYD GEORGE.
War-Time Premier of Great Britain.

LONDON, Feb. 19.

IF President Coolidge had entertained any hope that by his projected conference on naval disarmament he would carry a step further the limitation on building of warships effected by the Washington Conference in 1922, then I fear disillusionment awaits upon his doorstep. But if his purpose was merely that of a reconnaisance in force to ascertain the strength of the enemies of disarmament, he has, indeed, succeeded.

FURTHER DISARMAMENT BLOCKED FOR TIME, BUT ATTEMPT WAS LAUDABLE

"I FEAR he has, for the time being, failed. None the less is the attempt a credit to the President and to the great nation that backs up his laudable effort to seek peace and assure it."

"Competition in naval building played a conspicuous part in the rehearsal for the tragedy of 1914. Another building competition would be the first chapter in a more ghastly human tragedy."

"Submarines are essentially piratical craft. They are useless for any other purpose. The naval advisers of France and Italy know that well but prefer not to say so. They want to be in a position to threaten that if war is ever declared against them by either Britain or America, they will put a swarm of these cruel privateers into the deep to destroy the trading vessels of the foe."—David Lloyd George on the Coolidge disarmament plan.

France has not yet ceased to rage and hurl defiance and insult at the President's declaration. The French press, true to their instinct for seeking the baser motive loudly suggest that the President's purpose is an electioneering move and that he is not thinking so much of the peace of the world as of making America safe from democracy at the next presidential election.

The unofficial attitude of the French Foreign Office, which means its real attitude apart from diplomatic civilities, is set forth in a paragraph which appears in a paper which is apt to get its inspiration from the Quai d'Orsay.

French and Italian Press Are Hostile.

There is more than a hint of resentment at what the French conceive to be an attempt on the part of America, from her isolated position, to dictate to Europe instead of coming frankly and on equal terms into the common counsel and sharing the common risk.

This is how this frame of mind is expressed by Le Temps:

"In refusing to ratify the Treaty of Versailles in the drawing up of which their representative, president Wilson, played an outstanding part; in refusing to join the League of Nations; in opposing any comprehensive settlement of debts contracted to carry to victory a common war which the United States had associated itself of its own accord, the Americans have detached themselves from other nations."

Italy is definitely and increasingly hostile. The Italian papers are so much under the control of the Government that any expression of opinion by them may be taken to reflect the instructions given by Premier Mussolini. Whilst they are free from all the insulting taunts which characterize French hostility to the declaration, they are just as decisively hostile in their intent.

Plea to Retain Smaller Warcraft.

Both countries, however, base their hostility on two or three grounds. The first is that the smaller craft which President Coolidge wishes to limit constitute practically the only defense of France and Italy against the powers who command an overwhelming superiority in battleships and battle cruisers.

This point of view is very temperately stated by the great Milanese paper, Corriere Della Sera, which says:

"The United States would like to extend the reduction of the large type of naval armaments to the small types and to submarines. This is an extremely delicate situation for countries like Italy and France, who must depend for their defense upon small units, upon submarines and hydroplanes. Italy is always ready to receive favorably any proposition which may make the possibility of war less likely, but she cannot accept with a light heart the reduction of her naval armaments, for sea routes represent, for her, her very existence."

Plea Contrary to War Experience.

All this is quite contrary to the experience of the great war. The submarine never sank any battleships. I cannot recall a case where it ever got near enough to attack one of these great monsters. They were always so guarded by such a screen of torpedo boats that submarines could not approach within firing distance of one of them.

The whole effective operation of the submarine was against the unarmed and unprotected merchant ship. Submarines are essentially piratical craft. They are useless for any other purpose.

The naval advisers of France and Italy know that well, but prefer not to say so. They want to be in a position to threaten that if war is ever declared against them by either Britain or America they will put a swarm of these cruel privateers into the deep to destroy the trading vessels of the foe.

The objection taken in public to President Coolidge's declaration is a pretext and cover for the disguised but real purpose of resistance to any discussion which might diminish the number of submarines or hydroplanes. There is no other way of waging war against an island power dependent on its overseas commerce for its living.

The second objection taken by France and Italy is but a corollary to the former. They contend that you cannot separate naval and land armaments. You must consider them as a whole. This is exactly the reverse of the position taken up by France at Washington in 1922. Then M. Briand was prepared to limit naval ship building but he was not ready to discuss reduction of the land armies of France. Now all the French papers scream that they are inseparable and that whom the devil joins, let no man, though he be the President of the greatest republic on earth, put asunder.

Insult to League, Final Argument.

Then there is the final objection that the projected naval conference would be an insult to the League of Nations, inasmuch as it is an assumption that the disarmament commission of the League is not dealing effectively with that part of its task.

The objection is put very strongly by another well-known habitue of the corridors of the Crying Evil No. 483,765.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

OF all the unpardonable absurdities peculiar to American life, co-education takes the celluloid frying pan. Poisoning of industrial commodities on the theory that someone might utilize them as food is dwarfed in comparison with the absurdity of co-education.

The idea of putting children into such a situation that it is certain they will fall into premature love! Then to top it all off is the brilliant idea of making this absurd condition compulsory. All this leads one to inquire, In what sort of mental condition are we? Or do we have such a phenomenon as a mental condition?

Then we have the silly, sap-headed numbskulls who go about preaching that children know nothing or think nothing of such things. Any Sunday school superintendent or preacher who wishes to avoid the stigma on his immortal soul of being a liar, must admit that he thought of virtually nothing else while in school than the girls about him and especially his particular girl that he was in love with.

It is no cause for wonder to anyone with an ounce of healthy brain (one must have at least an ounce of healthy brain tissue to be able to think) that boys do not make good grades in school; that they want to get out of school, to get away from this intolerable situation; that they stammer "Yes Ma'am" until they are 34 years of age in answer to any sudden question; that this country is educationally inferior by many years of development, to almost any other civilized country.

Surely children might meet socially anyway and have their thoughts distracted by falling in love, perhaps prematurely. But why make it a lead pipe, universal cinch by forcing them into continuous contact in the school room?

Since the men are not expected to have either opinion or rights in America, let us appeal to the women to rid us of this unpardonable situation.

"LOW-DOWNS on the high ups" by the "Gentleman at the Keyhole," in Colliers Weekly discusses President Coolidge's late hard luck, re the Butler letter, the 25 cent tax refund and his request to the press to stand behind him in his foreign policies, etc. Could not the "Gentleman at the Keyhole" sum up his observations by simply advising our silent President to obtain the services of a real "spokesman" and continue his own silence, precluding the painful spectacle of putting "his foot in it" whenever he does say something?

Heretofore the only good thing about the present White House "spokesman" was that he knew enough to keep his silence. It truly is a mighty good thing political accidents do not happen often.

Meet the Modern Martyr—Androcles II.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE fundamentalist is a truly noble figure. In this age of frivolity, crime and unparalleled corruption, in this age of materialism, cynicism, skepticism and license, with religion diluted to insipidity and infidelity never so rampant and bold, the present-day fundamentalist, the descendant of the breed of men who faced the lions in the Roman arena, walks on with unfaltering step, humble and reverential in heart as he looks out into the unfathomable universe and sees therein his God. Persecution, too, is still hot around him but it has changed its form from the fire of the fagots to ridicule and mob-like cries of derision. A swarm of leering goblins embarrass his steps with taunts and mockery. But the flag-bearer of the Cross does not halt or hesitate. He presses on in the path his conscience tells him as the right one. Let the knowing throng hiss. Let them mount to the tree-tops and hurl down missiles. They may put sorrow and pity but never fear into the heart of the true worshiper of a personal god, the fundamentalist.

The Craving for Luxury.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

CLARENCE DARROW, criminal lawyer extraordinary, and pessimistic philosopher, very ordinary, has stated many times that poverty is the great cause of the present high tide of crime. If it is not presumption on our part to disagree with such a distinguished man's opinion, we would say that instead of poverty it is luxury, or the striving to emulate luxury, that is in the main responsible.

There may be a few petty crimes which are committed to obtain food and lodging, or the bare necessities of life, but the great bulk of our crime is due to the desire of so many people to live Rolls-Royce lives on flivver incomes.

O. S.

A CRIMINAL LAW THAT WORKS.

Missouri's effort to solve its crime problem was temporarily set aside by the State Senate when it scrapped the program of the Missouri Association of Criminal Justice. This program contained many excellent provisions for the reform of the criminal code which may yet get into the statute books through the means of an initiative. Many states have attempted solutions. New York seems to have met with the greatest success.

The New York plan is known as the Baumes laws. The vital force of those laws lies in the provision that a man convicted for the fourth time on a felony charge goes to prison for life. That sentence is not passed by the jury or by the Court. It is mandatory in the law.

It is drastic, of course. There was opposition to the bills when they were presented to the Legislature last year because of the severity of the absolute mandate. There still is opposition. But the plan is working.

The Police Commissioner of New York City, in office for a year, recently filed his annual report. It shows a 40 per cent decrease in assault and robbery cases during the last quarter of 1926, as compared with the corresponding period of 1925. For the entire year 18 per cent decrease in burglaries. Grand larceny cases, 15 per cent less. A 6 per cent reduction in homicides. The report says:

> The Police Department's experience since * * * the so-called Baumes laws took effect leads us to the positive conclusion that up to today they have had a very deterrent effect on individuals pursuing a criminal course. Our experience is based on actual contact with criminals, and from the information disclosed to the police it is evident that criminals have a genuine fear of these laws.

Missouri has an habitual criminal law, but, unlike the Baumes law, it has not produced the hoped-for results. Its failure, we believe, is principally due to the omission of the mandatory feature of the New York law. Under the Missouri habitual criminal law it is difficult to get the offender's record before the jury. In order to do it the indictment must carry the habitual criminal charge and the case has to be prosecuted on that charge rather than on the specific crime which has brought the defendant to trial. The experience of our prosecuting attorneys is that juries are somehow reluctant to convict an offender on his criminal record, unless his previous crimes are as shocking as the one under trial. Where the indictment does not include the habitual criminal charge defendant's counsel can keep his client's criminal career out of the record by the simple expedient of not asking him to testify and by omitting character witnesses.

Under New York's Baumes laws the offender's previous convictions are not introduced into the evidence. The crime for which the defendant is being tried is the only question before the jury and the Court. If the crime is a felony and the defendant is found guilty and his record shows three previous convictions for felony against him, he goes to prison for life. The jury has nothing to say about it. The Court has nothing to say about it. It is the law.

Drastic as this law is, nobody can suffer its severity except the professional criminal. The law aims solely at the professional criminal and, on expert police testimony, it is finding its target.

Certainty of punishment is society's surest defense against the professional criminal. Laws that he can evade or obstruct, through the skill of his counsel or the technicalities of practice, may annoy him, and may occasionally get him, but they do not terrify him and they do not stop him.

New York is stopping its professional criminals. It is doing so with a law, and such a law must commend itself to the law makers of every state as soon as public opinion is informed of it.

THE LEAGUE HAS ARRIVED.

The League of Nations is on its feet and will stay on its feet, regardless of what the United States may do. The statement was made by an officer of the League, Sir Herbert Ames, in a talk to the Cleveland (Ohio) Chamber of Commerce. The Corfu incident, where Mussolini seemed bent on running amuck, was stressed by the speaker as the turning point. That established the League's prestige, he declared, fortified its authority and today, with 30 member nations in good standing, it is a going concern.

This happy report will, we are sure, be well received in this country, though there may be a disinclination to accept the spokesman's appraisal of the Corfu incident, important as it was, as the pivotal test. Probing into the tangled mysteries of psychology, kindly opinion over here, we imagine, visions Locarno as the time, place and occasion of the League's arrival. It was then that the creative spirit of the League came into fragrant and commanding bloom. It was there that the statesmanship of Europe, with courage and generosity, made vocal the inarticulate yearning of the peoples of Europe.

We have no quarrel with Sir Herbert Ames' construction of the League's success, but our guess is that history in a footnote will dismiss the Corfu incident as a disagreeable test and acclaim Locarno an epochal triumph.

REED AND MENCKEN.

H. L. Mencken has again been denounced. This time he is branded as "the Jim Reed of literary America—against everything and for nothing." It is not the branding iron of the Rotarians, the Kiwanians, the Elks or the politicians which sears his tender flesh with this infamous charge, but rather that of the Rev. F. C. Tucker, pastor of the Methodist Church of Mexico, this State.

Without admitting the charge that either Senator Reed or Mr. Mencken is "against everything and for nothing," we may justly say that the trend of the work of both men has been what is generally called destructive. They have been against many more things than they have been for. But when one considers the nature of most of the things these two gladiators have fought, the term "destructive," as applied to them, immediately loses most of its opprobrium. Seldom has the pen of the one or the voice of the other been turned against anything which was not richly deserving of obliteration. Both have usually employed their slapsticks of irony, sarcasm and satire to pummel superstition, bigotry, intolerance, corruption and tyranny in every form. They have destroyed in order that those who come after them may construct something finer.

CITY PAYS—BUSINESS SUFFERS.

The House by a vote of 85 to 56 has passed Gov. Baker's nuisance tax bill, which proposes to raise a separate educational fund of $7,000,000 yearly by fixing a tax of 10 per cent on tobacco sales and a similar tax on admissions to amusements.

Party lines disappeared in the House's action. It was a case of the country against the cities. This is easily understood. The cities will have to pay the greater part of those taxes, the country's portion being almost negligible. The opportunity was offered the country legislators to make the other fellow pay the rural citizen's taxes. He seized it eagerly.

This nuisance tribute, it should be said, too, is being levied in the grand manner. The yearly revenue of $7,000,000 will more than meet educational requirements. It will release a handsome sum for the general revenue which will be velvet for the administration at Jefferson City. More patronage! More jobs! The rising tide of government's costs mounting to new heights! Happier days for officialdom! On with the dance! Of course, it is a mean, cowardly maneuver. It is palpably unfair to business. It is almost sure to drive some important business houses out of Missouri. It is bound to hurt business. It will be unfair to the public. But Baker cannot or will not see anything but another source to tap, and the cause of education smears the miserable scheme with a sanctimonious unction.

The victory is not yet won. There are hurdles still in the path. There is the Senate. There is the Constitution. There is the referendum. Baker and his 85 nuisance-tax Representatives are respectfully advised to postpone the celebration.

A DEBATE OF GIANTS.

In an article in the Vanity Fair for March, which was reprinted in Thursday's Post-Dispatch, Clarence Darrow makes a plea for the abandonment of all attempts to enforce prohibition.

One of the first reactions to these words will probably be a spirited denunciation by Senator Borah, who, as our foremost exponent of law enforcement—that is, of dry law enforcement—considers it his duty to attempt to drown all conscientious objectors with his rhetorical flood.

We should like to see Mr. Darrow challenge the Senator to a debate on the latter's beloved issue of law enforcement. It would not only be an excellent way of disposing of a hypocritical nostrum, but it would be the best show which the nation has witnessed since the memorable spectacle at Dayton, Tenn. It would be a battle of giants, and worth any conceivable price of admission.

The probable result? It would, we predict, be the same as that of their last clash. Do you recollect that clash, and the brilliant spectacle which the two gladiators provided when, some years ago, they met in the trial of Bill Haywood and two other wobblies charged with murder? Darrow, who won a verdict of acquittal for the accused, has since often called Borah the ablest opponent he has ever encountered.

That high praise from Darrow ought, incidentally, to provide a working basis for the arrangement of the match, and we herewith put in a preferred claim on ringside seats.

MR. KELLOGG IS REBUKED.

Is it absolutely impossible for our State Department and the Mexican Government to deal straightforwardly and amicably with the vexed and explosive problem of the new Mexican oil policy? This is the question that all must ask when they observe the declaration of the Mexican Department of Commerce and Industry that Secretary Kellogg's recent report to the American Senate regarding the oil situation is full of inaccuracies. For that is really what the statement of the Mexican Department amounts to, regardless of its politic words about being intended to rectify "errors contained in press dispatches from the United States."

That some of the statements of the State Department are not only denied, but apparently refuted, is obvious from a careful examination of the Mexican pronunciamento. For example, it declared that of 12 of the companies and individual operators, which Secretary Kellogg said had not submitted to the oil law, four are not operating in Mexico, and most of the others have agreed to the law through causing their subsidiaries to submit their titles for examination. The Mexican statement further maintains the erroneousness of Secretary Kellogg's assertion that 70 per cent of the oil produced in Mexico comes from lands in respect to which the law has not been complied with, the Mexican figures showing that only 52.7 per cent did so at the end of 1926, and that the percentage it still less today.

But it is not with the error or accuracy of the assertions of either Government that public opinion in the United States is concerned, but rather with the unfriendly attitude which is evidenced by such statements as that of Secretary Kellogg and the Mexican Minister. The situation is disquieting.

KANSAS THREATENS TO BACKSLIDE.

Kansas is finding it difficult to get back on the path of tolerance and sanity. It had no sooner repealed the anticigarette law, thus disseminating hope that it had overcome its chronic puritanical obsession, than it began seriously to consider a bill which is aimed to make marriage an impossibility for anyone who cannot pass a physical examination.

That the bill could be considered by any Legislature at this late day is remarkable, inasmuch as the epidemic of eugenics legislation has for some time been subsiding. During the virulent stage of the disease, to continue the metaphor, North Dakota, Oregon and Wisconsin adopted such laws, and about a dozen other states caught the disease in various light forms. But in no state has such a law been strictly enforced, and in most of them eugenic restrictions have been dead letters from the first.

What makes such laws practically impotent from the day of their birth is the inability of the average American to see them as other than violations of his innate rights as a free citizen. He admits, perhaps, that eugenics may be a very well established science, which it isn't. He agrees, perhaps, that some persons ought not to marry. But, he asks, have legislators the right to decree that he, himself, a free-born American citizen, shall not marry, if he so desires? Is not such an action an unwarranted intrusion by the state upon the domain of private conduct?

This is the attitude the average American has always taken toward eugenics legislation. Is it likely that Kansans, who after 46 years of prohibition and 18 years of anticigarette legislation, continue to puff coffin nails and guzzle liquor, will look at the matter differently?

IDEAL WEEK-ENDS.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.

HERE is a man's conception of an ideal week-end: Relaxation. A good novel read under a restful light before a cheerful open fire that somebody else has made. Plenty of tobacco to tide him over until Monday. At least two Sunday papers. A wife sitting quietly in the room, knitting and not thinking up things she wants to tell him, or else singing in the kitchen as she prepares the Sunday dinner. Children playing noiselessly with their toys, realizing that father does not like to be disturbed. No worrying details about domestic matters. No reminders of odd jobs of plumbing, painting and carpentering that have long waited to be done. Perhaps friends in for bridge on Saturday evening, with some nice refreshment prepared by his wife worthy of his reputation for gracious hospitality. A comfortable nap after Sunday dinner and no plates to wash.

Here is a woman's conception of an ideal week-end: An opportunity to share the burdens of the house with her husband. An ardent lover, unimpaired by years of matrimony, who still brings her candy and tells her she is beautiful. An attentive ear to her recital of the neighborhood gossip. A sympathetic listener to her confessison of bills incurred. Someone to strengthen her conviction that she really does need a new hat, a new frock or a new pair of shoes. A firm hand to keep the children from fighting, to exercise them and help put them to bed. Someone to put coal on the furnace fire and to leap to the telephone when it rings; to offer her the most comfortable chair and pick up the things she drops. Someone to go back to the grocer for the things she omitted on her list. A husband clean-shaved and immaculately dressed, who will be a credit to her if anyone calls. Someone who will say, "Yes, dear," without a note of sarcasm.

For obvious reasons ideal week-ends are things that are often dreamed of, but seldom realized.

THE KISS GERMS.

From the Indianapolis News.

THE scientific investigation that has determined that there are germs in a kiss, but that 39,000 of them are harmless, will be reassuring to those who need such reassurance, but to the carelessly enhusiastic, who have no head for figures, it will make no difference. They would be willing to take more than a 40 to 1 chance, and why shouldn't they? This kissing business has been going on for a good many centuries, and, for the most part, any untoward after effects—which fortunately are comparatively rare—have been more often ethical than pathological. From the drop-the-handkerchief kind to the movie kind, the kiss has always been interesting—or more than that—both to the partakers and the onlookers. It has been with us so long that it may be assumed that it has come to stay, so it must be extremely encouraging to the apprehensive to learn that science is becoming more tolerant and reasonable. Science, of course, is knowledge, and knowledge ought to recognize a game that it can't beat.

ELEMENT OF CHANCE IN CAREER.

From the Kansas City Star.

AUGUST EDOUART, probably the greatest of all silhouette artists, was the first to apply the term "silhouette" to human likenesses cut from paper. Before his time they had been called "shades." He took up the art as the result of a trivial incident. While visiting a family one day he was shown some shades that had been cut by a machine. He criticized them as unlike and inartistic, and was challenged to do better, and in a fit of pique he seized a pair of scissors, tore off the corner of a letter that lay on the table, led the father to a chair and, in a short time, exhibited a paper likeness. The family expressed approval and showered Edouart with praises. Then he made the mother's likeness with the same facility and exactness. Edouart embarked on a successful career with scissors and paper, and when he came to America in 1839 he took New York by storm.

WHAT WE DO WITH OUR SAVINGS.

From the Binghampton Press.

AMERICANS, the most prosperous people the world has ever known, have been accused of extravagance. There is plenty of extravagance. But there is also an impressive display of foresight and practical thrift. Reports show that sales of life insurance in America last year reached a total of nearly $11,000,000,000. That is a new high record for the country. Life insurance is foresight and thrift. And so, to an extent, are savings bank accounts. The number of depositors in the savings banks of the country increased during 1926 by 3,000,000. The increase in the total deposits in these banks during the year was $1,500,000,000. The building and loan associations made a new record last year. Their membership increased to a total of 11,275,000. And at the close of the year their combined assets stood at $6,280,000,000. A nation which measures the year's increase in its various forms of savings by billions of dollars is a nation that is using its unprecedented prosperity, in large part, to strengthen individual holdings and to increase its collective capital.

somebody in Russia to get the thing for him. But women go straight to the mark."

Bernard Shaw is a genuinely religious man. He is to be ranked, in this respect, with a certain group of modern thinkers coming to be known as the Meliorists. Shaw identifies God with the Life Force; Bergson employs the phrase elan vital. Evil is a thing to be finally evolved out of the world; and the Force behind the Universe, as he sees it, is working through humanity, its instruments, guiding it to a benevolent and harmonious end. In reality, Shaw's whole outlook on life is optimistic, or better, melioristic. He is not ashamed to say of himself and of his own philosophy: "I am working for the purpose of the universe, working for the good of the whole of society and the whole world, instead of merely looking after my personal ends."

This explains Shaw's profound interest in education and the public attitude toward children and motherhood. The fundamental proposition of his creed is that all living creatures are experiments. "If adults will frankly give up their claim to know better than children what the purposes of the Life Force are, and treat the child as an experiment like themselves, and possibly a more successful one, and at the same time relinquish their monstrous parental claim to personal private property in children, the rest must be left to common sense. . . . The precise formula for the Superman, ci-devant. The Just Man Made Perfect has not yet been discovered. Until it is, every birth is an experiment in the Great Research which is being conducted by the Life Force to discover that formula."

Modern Education All Wrong.

Shaw vehemently maintains that modern education, as generally practiced, is not an ennobling influence in the lives of children. "At present," he claims, "a child may be beaten, underfed, overfed, overworked with school lessons or otherwise, petted, shown-off, neglected, played with, made the subject of religious and moral experiments, and denied all freedom of thought and action, without remedy." In the first place, Shaw insists that every child should be brought up with the idea that he has a personal obligation to the community. Every child should be taught the fundamental economic truth that whoever consumes goods or services without producing by personal effect the equivalent of what he or she consumes, inflicts on the community precisely the same injury that a thief produces, and would, in any honest state, be treated as a thief, however full his

The dignity and credit of the League of Nations would receive a blow which might be mortal; the small countries would array themselves against the big, and the only end would be sad failure for the peace of the world."

All this means that the European Continental Powers will have none of President Coolidge's project for a second conference on further naval disarmaments.

Britain Friendly But Is Perplexed.

Britain is friendly but perplexed. She is embarrassed by the new cruiser program initiated by the Socialist Government in 1924 and carried a little further by their successors in 1925. Most of these cruisers are already on the blocks. Their apologists claim for them that they are not additions to the cruiser fleet but are substitutes for obsolete ships. If they are treated as such, then the conference would be possible, as far as Britain and America is concerned.

British journals which now defend the new cruiser program, while welcoming President Coolidge's action, contend that Britain is so essentially a sea power and her empire is so scattered and farflung that she would be running unjustifiable risks if she now abandoned what was but a minimum program for purely defensive purposes.

The fact remains that, in letter and spirit, the United States has adhered to the Washington pact. It is doubtful whether the same thing can unequivocally be said about either Britain or Japan. America is therefore in a better position than any other country in the world to call a further halt.

Shaw's Stand for Liberty And Against Convention

somebody in Russia to get the thing for him. But women go straight to the mark."

Bernard Shaw is a genuinely religious man. He is to be ranked, in this respect, with a certain group of modern thinkers coming to be known as the Meliorists. Shaw identifies God with the Life Force; Bergson employs the phrase elan vital. Evil is a thing to be finally evolved out of the world; and the Force behind the Universe, as he sees it, is working through humanity, its instruments, guiding it to a benevolent and harmonious end. In reality, Shaw's whole outlook on life is optimistic, or better, melioristic. He is not ashamed to say of himself and of his own philosophy: "I am working for the purpose of the universe, working for the good of the whole of society and the whole world, instead of merely looking after my personal ends."

This explains Shaw's profound interest in education and the public attitude toward children and motherhood. The fundamental proposition of his creed is that all living creatures are experiments. "If adults will frankly give up their claim to know better than children what the purposes of the Life Force are, and treat the child as an experiment like themselves, and possibly a more successful one, and at the same time relinquish their monstrous parental claim to personal private property in children, the rest must be left to common sense. . . . The precise formula for the Superman, ci-devant The Just Man Made Perfect has not yet been discovered. Until it is, every birth is an experiment in the Great Research which is being conducted by the Life Force to discover that formula."

Modern Education All Wrong.

Shaw vehemently maintains that modern education, as generally practiced, is not an ennobling influence in the lives of children. "At present," he claims, "a child may be beaten, underfed, overfed, overworked with school lessons or otherwise, petted, shown-off, neglected, played with, made the subject of religious and moral experiments, and denied all freedom of thought and action, without remedy." In the first place, Shaw insists that every child should be brought up with the idea that he has a personal obligation to the community. Every child should be taught the fundamental economic truth that whoever consumes goods or services without producing by personal effect the equivalent of what he or she consumes, inflicts on the community precisely the same injury that a thief produces, and would, in any honest state, be treated as a thief, however full his or her pockets might be of money made by other people." Such teaching would ultimately result in abolishing the class known as the idle rich, which Shaw regards as one of the curses of modern civilization.

There is a familiar jest to the effect that bachelors' children are always the best brought up. Shaw has no children; but his whole force and influence has been thrown upon the side of children and mothers in modern civilization. He has poked fun at the English family, at the absurd parental pretense of omniscience, at the "enlarged rabbit hutches we call homes."

One of his injunctions to youth is, "Remember that the progress of the world depends on your knowing better than your elders." Shaw believes in the assertion of the "Right to Roam" for children; and he is strongly in favor of the voluntary organization of outdoor life which has already begun in Boy Scouting and excursions of one kind or another. But as a Socialist he would go a step further, and insist that in any decent community, children should find in every part of their native country, food, clothing, lodging, instruction, and parental kindness for the asking.

Liberty for Children the Breath of Life.

Shaw believes that children should be taught the Bible as a great work of art, embodying the literature of a very remarkable Oriental race; and also be taught some sort of religion, by no means omitting the superbly stimulative discipline of science and art. "Every device of art," he points out, "should be brought to bear on the young; so that they may discover some form of it that delights them naturally."

The whole meaning of Shaw's crusade for humane education for children is a demand for liberty for the growing and developing mind. "Liberty is the breath of life to nations," he says, "and liberty is the one thing that parents, schoolmasters, and rulers spend their lives in extirpating for the sake of an immediately quiet and finally disastrous life." He is equally outspoken in regard to collegiate education. "If the students in the American universities do not organize their own education," he recently said, "they will not get any. The professors are overworked schoolmasters, underpaid, and deprived of all liberty of speech and conscience. . . . The remedy is co-operative organization by the consumers; that is, by the students. . . . In forming intellectual soviets and establishing the dictatorship of the learner, the American students may save their country if it is capable of being saved."

Bares Sinister Moves at Geneva.

The net result of criticism and qualified approval is far from encouraging to friends of international peace. The President's move has, however, served to expose the character of the sinister maneuvers that are going on in the so-called disarmament commission at Geneva.

His impatience with the dilatory sham and the chicanery of the proceedings at that commission is quite justified. He has evidently come to the conclusion that nothing serious in the way of reducing land armaments is even being contemplated by military men who are juggling statistics in order to bewilder the innocent pacifists who are building hopes for permanent peace on the outcome of this commission. He therefore tried to extricate naval problems from this conjuring entertainment.

I fear he has, for the time being, failed. None the less is the attempt a credit to the President and to the great nation that backs up his laudable effort to seek peace and insure it. Competition in naval building played a conspicuous part in the rehearsal for the tragedy of 1914. Another building competition would be the first chapter in a more ghastly human tragedy.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON OF FRANK W. EDLIN

Former General Menager of Deere Plow Co. Died Friday in San Antonio.

The body of Frank W. Edlin, former St. Louisan who died in San Antonio, Tex., Friday, will arrive in St. Louis for burial today. Funeral services will be held at an undertaking chapel at 3621 Olive street, at 2:30 p. m.

Edlin, who was 45 years old, formerly was secretary and general manager of the John Deere Plow Co. in St. Louis. He also was a director of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. and member of the board of governors of the old St. Louis Club. He left St. Louis in 1923, going to Pasadena, Cal., for his health. His death followed an illness of a year.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lucille Edlin, and one son, Frank W. Edlin Jr., who will accompany the body here.

VETERANS CONFUSE BONUS WITH WARTIME INSURANCE

Former Requires no Action—Latter Must Be Reinstated by July 2.

The soldiers' bonus, issued in the form of 21-year paid-up endowment insurance policies two years ago, is being confused with war-time insurance which former service men are being urged to reinstate prior to July 2, next, according to Charles G. Beck, local manager of the Veterans' Bureau.

The bonus insurance policy requires no action on the part of the veteran once he has received it. Wartime insurance was that carried by all American soldiers during the World War. It is the latter form of insurance that war veterans are being urged to reinstate through the Veterans' Bureau. The local bureau has received numerous letters and phone calls from former service men who are confused as to the form of insurance to be reinstated.

NO HOUSE is any more healthful than its heating and ventilating system. Without humidified air—amply circulated—a house is barely livable. It is never healthful or comfortable.

Now that medical authorities agree that colds, grippe, sore throats, and influenza are caused by infection and not by cold weather and dampness, it is tremendously encouraging to see that the best house builders are ready to join hands with the doctors in the health drive.

It is of even greater importance that individual buyers of houses are more and more demanding healthful atmospheres in their homes—HUMIDIFIED AIR and GOOD CIRCULATION.

HOLLAND FURNACE CO
. . . . backs the builder

All through the past, the builders who installed Holland Heating Systems in their houses have done so without giving as much consideration to price as to excellence of installation, healthfulness, and lasting satisfaction.

But beginning with the first of this year, 1927, any contractor or real estate builder who will buy a number of heating plants can consider price as an additional motive for installing the Holland System.

Our third factory is in operation. And with this greatly increased production, there is a consequent lowering of prices, applying especially to the advantage of quantity buyers. This advantage is being passed on to the builders' patrons in most cases.

Of course, any man buying his second house would be pretty sure to insist upon a healthful heating system before he insisted upon anything else. But sometimes this is neglected by the man buying his FIRST house.

No professional builder has a decreasing respect for the patron who insists upon a Holland Heating System.

After all, it is the patron who is to live in the home!

The Holland Furnace Company installs many times more furnaces than any other concern, and it is particularly significant that we have replaced more than 266,000 unsatisfactory heating systems.

New houses can have satisfactory heating systems just as dependably as houses in which there have been furnace replacements. It is merely a matter of seeing to it that one gets what one must have, eventually!

Thousands of new houses—to our knowledge—will be completed healthfully, in America, during the year 1927.

APPOINTED TO ASSESS PROPERTY FOR PLAZA

Three Commissioners to Apportion Benefits and Damages in Condemned Area.

Three commissioners were appointed by Circuit Judge Hamilton yesterday to assess benefits and damages in the city's condemnation of slightly more than nine blocks of downtown land for the projected Memorial Plaza and Municipal Auditorium site.

They are Frank J. Masek, vice president of the Roettger-Masek Real Estate Co.; Alfred D. Ruth, president of the Julius Haller Real Estate Co., and August F. Weeke, an insurance man, former Deputy Circuit Clerk and brother of Hank Weeke, a former Republican political leader. They agreed to devote more than the usual time to their task, perhaps giving four hours daily, in order to expedite this important undertaking. Each will receive $5 each day the commission sits.

The condemnation suit was filed more than two years ago, and its proceedings have been slow because of the great number of real estate holdings involved. The 1923 bond issue provided $6,000,000 for the site and erection of a war veterans' memorial.

Judge Hamilton recently read a long list of candidates for the commission at a public hearing and none was objected to. Masek and Ruth were among 15 recommended by the Convention Bureau, through the Real Estate Exchange, the bureau being anxious to have the auditorium erected. The Judge wanted to include a civil engineer in the commission, but could not find one who would devote the necessary time for the permissible pay.

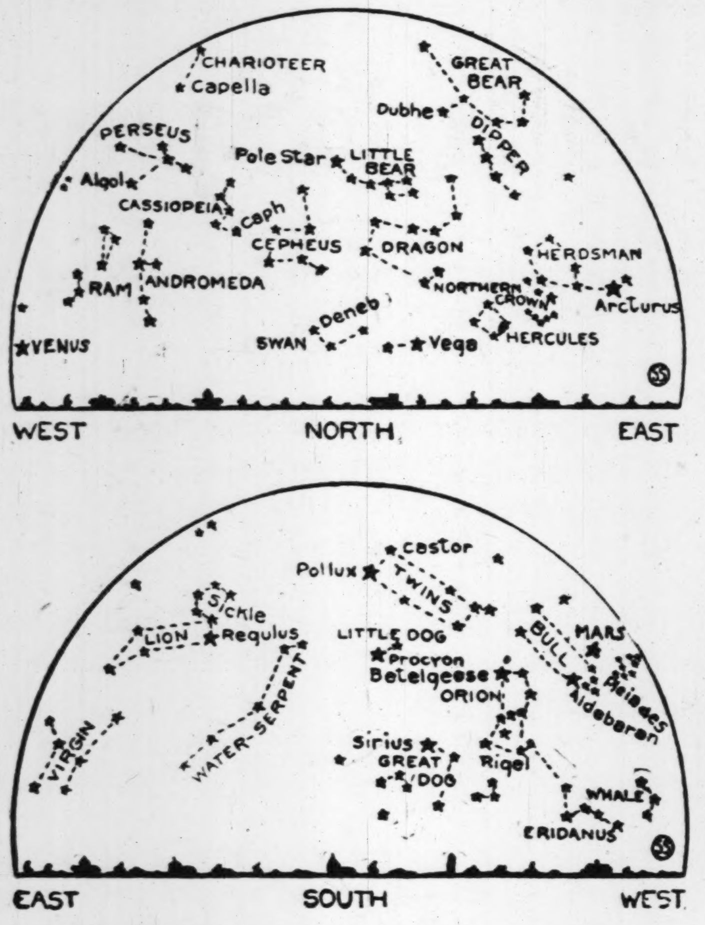
March Evening Skies

Spring Commences on the Twenty-First When Sun Enters Aries—Gemini, Now in Evening Sky, Once Held This Position—Anniversary of Discovery of Uranus



By JAMES STOKLEY.

Though the heavens have little to offer in March in the way of such spectacular occurrences as eclipses, there is one event which is always welcome, and happens on the 21st at 9:59 a. m., Eastern standard time. That is the vernal equinox, when the sun crosses the equator on its way north, and spring commences, bringing along its assortment of back-lots baseball, hurdy-gurdies and poems of spring. But even though the winter has been fairly mild, the season is always welcome, despite the poems and hurdy-gurdies.

Since the path of the sun, in which the planets also move, or the zodiac, is divided up into 12 equal "signs," another way of expressing what happens at the vernal equinox is to say that the sun enters the sign of Aries. Aries is a constellation which could be seen in the evening a few months ago. Now it is too near the sun to be easily visible, even though the sun is not in the constellation when it is in the sign. The zodiac is not a recent invention, it was established thousands of years ago, when men thought that the part of the sky the sun was in had some mystic influence on people born at that time. Though such ideas have long since been given up by reputable scientists, some of the old terms are still used. In fact, the observations of the old astrologers, misguided though they were in their motive for studying the stars, really formed the foundation for the modern science of astronomy.

Changes in the Skies.

A few thousand years ago, the constellation of Aries coincided in the sky with the sign of Aries, but owing to what is called "procession of equinoxes," the skies have changed since then. On the twenty-first, the sun will not be in the constellation of Aries, but in the neighboring one of Pisces, the Fishes, and it will be some 23,000 years until the signs again fit the constellations.

This procession of the equinoxes is a result of the fact that the earth is spinning. We usually think of the earth as being a sphere, but it is really not spherical. It is what mathematicians call an oblate spheroid, which means, in the case of the earth, that it bulges a little at the equator, just like some of the people on it. This is caused by the centrifugal force due to the earth's rotation.

When you spin a weight around your head on the end of a string, it tries to fly away, but the string keeps it from doing so, unless you let go. In the same way, the part of the earth at the equator tries to fly away from the center, but the force of gravity keeps it from doing so. However, it does succeed in getting a little farther from the center than the surface at the north or south pole, with the result that the earth is not perfectly spherical.

Effect of Centrifugal Force.

Another incidental effect of the earth's centrifugal force is that a person weighs less at the equator than he would at the North Pole, because this force tends to throw him away from the surface. Of course, no scales would show the difference, because the weights also would be lighter. But the diminution of gravity at the equatorial regions can be measured experimentally in another way, for the swing of a pendulum varies with the intensity of gravitation.

The heavenly bodies all exert more or less gravitational effect on each other, depending on their mass and distance. Because of its proximity to us, the moon has considerable effect on the earth, producing the tides, for example, and so does the sun.

If the earth were a perfect sphere the gravitational effect of the moon would be the same regardless of its position. As it is, except at the 14-day intervals when the moon is directly over the earth's equator, the moon's gravity acts more on the parts of the earth's bulge near it than the part on the opposite side. The result is that it tries to pull it into the same plane again, but as the earth is spinning, its momentum keeps it from responding to the pull. However, in combination with a similar effect of the sun, it does cause the earth to turn slowly, so that a line drawn directly up from the North Pole will trace out a circle in the sky. In 28,500 years, the circle would be completed. Another result of the "precession" is that what we call the pole star was not always such, nor will it always be so, though for the next few centuries it will be close enough for most of us.

Symbolizing Day and Night.

Aries, then a few thousand years ago, was the constellation in which the sun appeared at the beginning of spring, and this was also, in many ancient countries the beginning of the year. But if we look back 6000 years, Aries had not yet reached the position of the vernal equinox, and the constellation Gemini, the twins, visible these evenings in the southern skies, held this important post. It has been said that its stars represent a pair of twins and symbolize the equal length of day and night at this time of year. Some similar symbolic meaning has been claimed for a mythological story about the twins. Castor and Pollux were their names, and they were the sons of Leda. They possessed what might be termed alternate immortality. As soon as one was killed, the other revived, and this, it has been held, symbolizes day and night.

Probably the earliest record of any astronomical event is associated with Castor and Pollux, the two stars of the Twins, or Alpha and Beta Geminorum, as the astronomer calls them. On ancient Babylonian monuments and boundary stones, archeologists have frequently found what is called the "Triad of Stars" — a crescent moon, with the horns upward, and two stars beside it.

Marked Beginning of Year.

According to an English astronomer, E. W. Maunder, the two stars represented Castor and Pollux. At the time, 6000 years ago, the priests were interested in the first new moon of the year, for their calendar depended on the moon as well as the sun, and the year began at the vernal equinox. At this time of year, in Babylonian days, Castor and Pollux could be seen low in the western twilight just after sunset, and when the new crescent moon appeared alongside them, it was the signal to the priests that the new year

In the former place the visitors found the safe unlocked and empty and they broke open a desk, which also was empty. In the Evans-Rich office they encountered the old iron box which refused to yield to their hammers.

HELD ON 10-YEAR-OLD CHARGE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Martin A. Powell had attained respectability in the operation of his bottling plant here, but it did not prevent his arrest today for the robbery of the postoffice in Durant, Ia., more than 10 years ago.

Powell, who is 47 years old, is known also as George Walton, Harry Milton and Harry Clark, postoffice inspectors said. Removal proceedings have been started by J. G. Cotter, assistant United States Attorney-General, who is asking $25,000 bond for Powell to stand trial in Iowa on the old charge. The Durant postoffice was robbed Oct. 14, 1915, by several men who obtained about $3000 in stamps and money, the inspector said.

OPPOSED TO FREIGHT TRANSFER MONOPOLY

Chamber of Commerce Suggests I. C. C. Conduct Hearing on Matter.

The proposed new plan which would give the Columbia Terminals Co. a monopoly of the freight transfer business here and would cut off two smaller companies from the less-than-carload railroad freight trade, has found another opponent in the Chamber of Commerce.

At a meeting Friday the Board of Directors of the organization voted opposition to any plan which would lead to curtailment of transfer service through the elimination of "off-track" stations. The plan proposed by the Columbia Terminals Co. and fostered by representatives of some of the railroads would result in the elimination of four stations of the Fidelity and Central transfer companies.

The board pointed out in its resolution that thee intention of the railroads to file tariffs to eliminate some of the "off-track" stations would result in a concentration of the business in one company and declared that the Chamber of Commerce does not now, and never has favored such a plan.

To arrive at an agreement on the transfer situation which has been in considerable turmoil since the question of monopoly was first brought up, the resolution suggests that the Interstate Commerce Commission appoint an examiner to hold a public hearing on the question here.

LINDELL BOULEVARD HEARING MARCH 31

City Seeks to Condemn Property to Preserve Uniform Building Line.

Notice to appear in Circuit Court, room No. 1, March 31, in a proceeding by the city to condemn property on both sides of Lindell boulevard, from Kingshighway to Grand boulevard, so as to preserve a uniform building line, has been sent to property owners on both sides of Lindell.

The condemnation proceeding originated under an ordinance that became effective July 6, 1926, under which the building line on Lindell was established to prevent the encroachment of apartment and business structures.

After the zoning law was declared unconstitutional and prior to the passage of the ordinance, there was a rush to place oil filling stations, automobile display rooms and apartment houses on Lindell from Kingshighway to Grand. The condemnation proceedings now in court were designed to remove these buildings and a commission will be appointed to assess benefits and damages for or against all property owners on the boulevard.

Under the ordinance, buildings cannot be set closer to the sidewalk than 25 feet on the north side of Lindell from Kingshighway to Euclid, or closer than 30 feet on the south side; 30 feet on both sides, from Euclid avenue to Sarah street; 30 feet on the north side from Sarah to a point 240 feet west of Grand, and 25 feet on the south side from Sarah to the St. Louis University buildings on Grand. The ordinance condemns these strips as property on which structures must not be erected.

GOES HUNTING FOR LA FITTE'S TREASURE WITH GROUND RADIO

Inventor Who Has Already Dug Up One Fortune, Will Seek Pirate's Gold.

By the Associated Press.

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 19.—The spirit of Jean Lafitte should be on guard if it values the fabulous treasures the bold pirate of Old Louisiana is supposed to have buried somewhere on the Gulf coast.

George Osmond Maher, inventor of a "ground radio" machine which already has unearthed buried gold, silver and rich jewels, has a long list of possible hiding places of treasure and also is seeking Lafitte's coves of hidden wealth.

An old jug, containing $350 in gold and in silver and a letter written in 1862, was Maher's first discovery, in 1920. Other discoveries resulted in news of his invention becoming known, but people only laughed. Then, one day in 1924, he came back from one of his expeditions with a chest of gold, silver and jewelry worth $10,000, believed to have been buried during the Civil War. The latest coin was panion were working with a wireless instrument in Maher's back dated 1806 and the earliest 1790.

Maher, a radio fan, and a comyard, when an undue humming in the earphones was noticed. They soon observed the noise was audible only when the instrument was over a certain spot.

"We dug there and found an old copper kettle," he relates. "After we removed it, the noise in the receivers stopped."

had started. So important was this phenomenon that they recorded it on their boundary stones and monuments to be preserved to this day.

Coming down to more modern times, the constellation Gemini is associated with another important astronomical event, the anniversary of which comes this month. The ancients knew only the naked eye planets, Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. Sir William Herschel was the first to add to them, and on March 13, 1781, he discovered Uranus.

In "Watchers of the Sky," Alfred Noyes has Herschel say, referring first to the reflecting telescope with which he made the discovery:

" . . . It was the work of my own hands,
A new one, with an eye six inches wide,
Better than even the best that Newton made.
Then, as I turned it on the Gemini,
And the deep stillness of those constant lights,
Castor and Pollux, lucid pilot-stars,
Began to calm the fever of my blood,
I saw, O, first of all mankind I saw
The disc of my new planet gliding there
Beyond our tumults, in that realm of space."

Uranus is now in the morning sky, but it is so faint that a telescope is always necessary to reveal it. Venus and Mars are both visible in the evening sky this month, however. The former is in the constellation of Taurus, in the southwest, not far from the first magnitude star Aldebaran, which it resembles, both in brightness and color. Mars, however, may be recognized because it is to the north. Venus can be seen low in the western twilight, especially towards the end of the month, for then it will set about two hours after the sun. It is so bright, about six times as bright as Sirius, the brightest star, that it is easy to distinguish.

ST. LOUIS DISTRICT PREPARES FOR U. S. AIR REGULATIONS

Medical Examiner Named to Give Pilots Rigid Physical Tests Required for License.

AIR COMMERCE ACT EFFECTIVE MARCH 1

All Planes Engaging in Commercial Flying Must Be Registered, Licensed and Inspected.

Commercial flying in the United States will have Government supervision beginning March 1 when the Department of Commerce will place in force the regulations of the Air Commerce Act governing the licensing of pilots, aviation mechanics and aircraft.

In preparation for the rigid physical examinations to be given to pilots, Lieut. Morris L. Greene, flight surgeon of the 110th Observation Squadron, has been appointed medical examiner for the St. Louis district. The pilots flying out of Lambert-St. Louis Field must have their applications for examination before they can fly an airplane on interstate trips after March 1.

Rigid Tests Demanded.

The licensing of airplanes and pilots here is being supervised for the time, by Thomas L. Gaukel, district manager of the Department of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce. Later the work will be taken over by the Aeronautics Branch Department.

Gaukel has been assisted by by Maj. William B. Robertson, president of the Robertson Aircraft Corporation, in preparing a list of planes and pilots at the flying field. The Robertson Corporation has 68 ships, some still in the warehouse, which must be registered, and licensed and nine pilots. There are about 20 other planes at the field.

The Air Commerce Act classes flyers in private, industrial and transport groups. The transport pilots who are to carry passengers, must submit to the most rigid physical test, while the requirements for the others are less severe but still as exacting, especially as to vision, as would be required for enlistment in a military organization.

Planes to Be Numbered.

The law requires that private and industrial pilots be examined yearly and transport pilots semiannually, and sets rigid rules for flying examinations which must be passed before a flyer can be licensed.

There are also extensive provisions for the inspection and licensing of airplanes. A number will be assigned to each plane and will be painted on the upper and lower wings in such a manner as to be visible from above and below. Copies of the new air regulations and application blanks for examinations may be obtained from the Department of Commerceo office in the Liberty Central building.

C. CLAFLIN ALLEN'S FUNERAL TOMORROW

Services Will Be Held at 2:30 P. M. at Church of the Messiah.

Funeral services for former Circuit Judge Charles Claflin Allen will be held at the Church of the Messiah, Union boulevard and Enright avenue, at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Judge Allen, lawyer, musician and student of the arts, died of heart disease in the rest room of the Grand Central Theater Friday afternoon. He was stricken while witnessing a performance in the theater. Leaving his seat, he asked the assistant manager to call his physician, Dr. A. B. Day, who has an office nearby, and meanwhile was taken to the rest room to lie on a couch. He died there, a few minutes after Dr. Day arrived.

Judge Allen, who was 71 years old, was distinguished as a lawyer and was well known in the fields of music, literature and art. Born in St. Louis, he received his education in Washington University and Princeton and began the practice of law here in 1881. He served as a member of the Missouri House of Representatives and was once Associate City Counselor. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Carrie Louise Allen; a daughter, Mrs. Dudley French, and a son, Charles Claflin Allen Jr.

Wink at British Racing Tax.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Winston Churchill's cordially hated betting tax has created a new kind of tax dodger called the "tax winker." Betting men ask their bookmaker to take a bet "without tax" and on the latter refusing they go to a street bookie who is quite ready to treat the betting tax as a dead letter. It is said by professional backers that where street bookmakers dealt in shillings before, they now deal in pounds, and by winking at the tax have increased their business enormously.

To Check Signs of Old Age When Past 40

Most men who have reached or passed the prime of life know only too well the tell-tale signs of advancing years—less "pep", less energy, less ambition and a multitude of aches and pains which proclaim the weakening of internal organs and body power. Fully 65 per cent of those past 40 are said to be victims of overworked, sluggish kidneys, torpid liver and bladder complaints.

But, through recent discoveries, the marvelous invigorating restorative power of Radium, Nature's most precious element, is brought to the aid of the weak, ailing and afflicted in simple, tasteless tablet form called ARIUM. This produces a vitalizing, strengthening internal exercise, helping to quickly renew proper, normal action.

Physicians and other users of ARIUM report amazing results. Dr. C. E. Morris of New York declares: "ARIUM puts back force and ambition into the veins and strengthens the entire system to fight off disease and signs of old age." Memory more alert, bowels 100% better, pains all gone and I have lots of 'pep'—", writes Mr. H. G. of New Orleans, La. "My vitality, nerves, bowels, stomach and appetite decidedly improved", says Mr. J. B. McK. of Granite City, Ill. "I am taking ARIUM for indigestion, gas, constipation and rheumatic ailments; it is fine", says Mr. J. W. H. of Philadelphia. "I feel like a three-year-old since taking ARIUM", says Mr. A. M. H. of Lancaster, Pa.

If you suffer from lame back, dizziness, pains in the head, sour stomach, bilious attacks, disturbed nights, rheumatic twinges and aches, or other middle age ailments, you owe it to yourself to start taking ARIUM at once. Countless alarming symptoms often disappear immediately. You should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day.

NOTE: The Associated Radium Chemists, Inc., of New York, which supplies druggists with ARIUM guarantees successful and satisfactory results in every case from its progressive use or money refunded, and also that a definite quantity of genuine radium is used in its preparation. ARIUM is easy and economical to take and may now be readily obtained in this city from any good druggist such as: Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores, Enderle Drug Co., Walgreen Drug Co., Speckart Bros., Medler's Pharmacies, Johnson Bros. Drug Co.

HEBER NATIONS TO BE TRIED AGAIN SOON

John C. Dyott Again Designated to Handle Protected Beer Case.

Retrial at an early date of Heber Nations, former Jefferson City publisher and brother of Gus O. Nations, former chief prohibition agent in St. Louis, will be sought by John C. Dyott, former special Assistant Attorney-General, who prosecuted Nations at the first trial and who has again been designated to handle the case.

Nations, charged with conspiracy to defraud the Government of excise tax in the sale of real beer from the Griesdieck Brewing Co., was convicted at the last trial, sentenced to 18 months in the penitentiary and fined $3333. The Circuit Court of Appeals set aside the conviction and remanded the case for trial on a plea by Nations that Federal Judge Faris had failed to disqualify himself for alleged prejudice against the defendant.

Dyott will ask Judge Faris on March 21 for a setting of the case, and it is expected Judge Faris will disqualify himself and petition the Circuit Court of Appeals to designate another Judge.

ELECTRICAL UNION AT ODDS WITH AUTO SHOW OFFICERS

Controversy Arises When Management Refuses to Hire Extra Electricians.

Handbills announcing that Comptroller Nolte and the officers of the Automobile Show, which opens tomorrow at the Union Market Garage, are "unfair" to Electrical Workers' Local Union No. 1, were distributed at the City Hall and the garage at noon yesterday.

The controversy arose over the refusal of Robert E. Lee, manager of the show, to employ two additional union electrical maintenance men, in addition to those regularly employed at the garage. Comptroller Nolte announced the handbills are "unfair" to him, as he has no part in the management of the show.

"We merely rented the garage to the automobile dealers for the week for $7500," Nolte said. "I have nothing to do with the show. Lee and the other automobile men can hire who they want. We have no control over their business, and I can't figure how these electricians can hold me or the city responsible."

The union, Nolte said, wanted Lee to pay a fine of $650 for failure to employ the maintenance men during last year's show, and announced that a similar penalty would be demanded for failure to do so again this week. Lee refused to pay the fine or to hire the union electricians. The maintenance men regularly employed at the Union Market Garage are members of Local No. 1.

823 TONS OF SOOT A SQUARE MILE IN JANUARY

Sample Collections Give Lower Average for St. Louis District Than in December.

Sample collections of soot from typical neighborhoods of varying nature in St. Louis and vicinity, made during January by the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League, indicate an average annual soot fall of 823 tons a square mile on this metropolitan district, the league's engineers calculate. Similar calculations from December observations gave a figure of 909 tons and for November 775 tons.

Although the observations are on a monthly basis, the figures are calculated on a yearly basis and at the end of the winter they will be averaged. No summer observations will be made. Thus the practice conforms with that of other cities. The variation of density of soot fall among different districts was about the same last month as previously.

Unable, with 75 speakers, to meet requests for addresses on smoke abatement, the league has added 25 more speakers to its list.

AUTO DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Driver Cleared in Case of Philip A. Lighter 83.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned yesterday in the case of Philip A. Lighter, 83 years old, a carpenter contractor of 4266 Delmar boulevard, who died at City Hospital Friday from injuries suffered when struck by an automobile at Pendleton avenue and Delmar boulevard on Feb. 11.

The machine was a service car driven by John Aylward, 20 years old, of 6416 Gilmore avenue, St. Louis County. Witnesses testified that another machine was ahead and to the right of Aylward's car and that Lighter walked into the path of the service car too late for the driver to stop. Lighter, a bachelor, suffered internal injuries and a fracture of the pelvis bone.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—At the organization meeting of the Federal Advisory Council, held with the Federal Reserve Board today, Frank O. Wetmore of Chicago was re-elected president of the council and John F. Bruton of Richmond was elected vice-president. Members of the executive committee of the Advisory Council chosen are James S. BILL FOR REPAVING OF SKINKER BOULEVARD

Ordinance to be Presented to Board Tuesday Asks for $115,000 Appropriation.

An ordinance to appropriate $115,000 for reconstruction of Skinker boulevard, between Wydown and Clayton avenues, a heavily traveled thoroughfare that has become badly worn, will be introduced in the Board of Public Service Tuesday.

It is proposed to pay for this from 1923 bond issue funds, since the street is used by the general public and not chiefly for local traffic. An asphalt surface will be provided.

Underground springs, said Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks, tend to disrupt the old base of this street, and much of the base to the east of the park strip has been destroyed. The effect is to create "shell holes" in the surface which macadam cannot keep filled.

Seeks Owner of Collie.

HOSPITAL FOR SCOTT FIELD

Bill in the House Asks for $100,000 Appropriation.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Additional army quarters in a score of military establishments throughout the country to cost $8,491,000 are proposed in a bill introduced today by acting Chairman James of the House Military Committee. There is a provision for a $100,000 hospital for Scott Field, the army's principal dirigible station near St. Louis.

AN OBLIGING BEAUTY DOCTOR

Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."

$150,000 SOUGHT TO CONDUCT WORK OF REGIONAL PLAN

Federation's Proposal Calls for Development of St. Louis' Metropolitan Area as Unit.

ILLINOIS COUNTIES WOULD CO-OPERATE

Three-Year Survey Would Improve Industrial, Civic and Recreational Facilities.

A campaign among interested citizens is being conducted to raise $150,000 to carry on the work of the Regional Planning Federation of the St. Louis District, formed last year. A survey of the needs of physical development throughout the metropolitan and contingent area on both the Missouri and Illinois sides of the Mississippi is the principal object.

Some other cities have started sooner than St. Louis in obtaining co-operation of their neighbors in mutual development. The federation, which comprises official and unofficial representatives from the City of St. Louis and St. Louis, St. Charles and Jefferson counties, on the Missouri side, and East St. Louis and St. Clair and Madison counties, on the Illinois side, together with various towns included, desires to control the development and growth of the whole area for the benefit of all.

In a booklet distributed by the federation, entitled, "A Regional Plan for America's Workshop, the St. Louis District," it is said:

"The regional plan proposes to initiate a three-year program of surveys, including the preparation of a master highway plan, encouragement of local plan commissions for communities within the district, a comprehensive playground and outer park system, a complete plan of rail, bus and water transportation; an industrial survey, an educational survey, traffic studies, zoning legislation, publicity and historical program, a social welfare and public health survey, further promotion of safety education (accident prevention), surveys of agriculture, commerce, finance and public utility facilities."

In addition, the booklet says, the federation will aid in general development of the entire district, serving as a clearing house and a fact-finding and experience-gathering organization.

A scheme to make the beauties of the Meramec River valley and the Illinois bluffs accessible, through construction of a 100-mile scenic circuit driveway, is suggested, pointing out it would have "unsurpassed natural grandeur."

London Doctor Finds Real Cause of Stomach Gas

AS A RESULT of special studies made at one of London's leading hospitals, a famous English specialist asserts that most stomach and bowel trouble is due to just one cause—Intestinal Stasis. This disease which, it is said, afflicts three out of every four people, is directly caused by improper food, lack of correct exercise and other faults of modern life.

Intestinal Stasis

INTESTINAL STASIS, in everyday language, means the too slow movement of waste food matter through the intestines. This matter, from which the body has taken all the nourishment, is not promptly passed out of the bowels, but due to intestinal weakness, it remains many hours or even days longer than it should. This waste matter then ferments, forms gas and poisons, and is the cause of sour stomach, gas bloating and indigestion.

A person may have Intestinal Stasis and yet not be noticeably constipated. The bowels may move once or even twice a day, but the movements are only partial. Enough old matter is left to form gas, hinder digestion and poison the system.

Action Needed on Both Bowels

ORDINARY laxatives or physics seldom overcome Intestinal Stasis. Nor do soda or magnesia give more than temporary relief from stomach gas. Intestinal Stasis, and the other diseases of which it is the cause, can be relieved permanently only by continued, REAL intestinal cleansing.

Dr. Carl Weschcke, in his private practice, first perfected the bowel cleanser and intestinal prophylactic now known as Adlerika. It is a compound of the best saline intestinal evacuant with vegetable buckthorn and cascara, together with glycerine and other ingredients which expel gas and have detergent action. Adlerika, unlike other medicines, acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel.

Gas Relieved System Cleansed

ONE of Adlerika's first effects is to relieve gas on the stomach and gas bloating. Even the FIRST spoonful usually brings out a surprising amount of old poisonous waste matter which you never guessed was in your system and which may have been the hidden cause of indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, headache, sleeplessness or other trouble. Even if your bowels move daily, Adlerika frequently brings out a surprising amount of additional matter which might otherwise be poisoning your system.

Many physicians recognize Adlerika as the one dependable remedy for Gas and Intestinal Stasis or whenever REAL bowel cleansing is necessary. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you.

What Doctors Say about Adlerika

"I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."—Dr. A. C. Curl.

"In my 50 years' practice I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."—Dr. James Weaver.

Ancient gateway to Guy's Hospital, London, where important discoveries about Intestinal Stasis have been made.

"I have to congratulate you on the good effects I had from Adlerika since I prescribed it."—Dr. L. Langlois.

"I have found Adlerika to be far superior in bowel and stomach trouble to my fondest anticipations."—Dr. G. Eggers.

The length proposed is not great, compared with the area covered by the Federation, which measures about 45x60 miles.

"Urban population," the booklet declares, "is no longer confined to municipal boundaries. Improved methods of transportation, particularly the automobile, have tempted the spilling over of population into the enlarged area known as the 'region.' This spread of population carries with it the problems common to the central municipality.

"It behooves those interested in making the St. Louis district dominant as a center of manufacturing and culture to encourage and give strong support to the development of a regional plan which will prove of invaluable aid in placing this region in a commanding position. Provision for adequate public improvements and co-ordination of development in the district means untold economies. It means public funds will be expended in the most efficient manner.

Will Attract Industry.

"It means prospective inhabitants may be approached with great assurance of obtaining their ultimate location in the region. Their attention can be directed to a well-balanced scheme, including water, rail, air and highway transportation facilities; abundance of recreational areas, good water supply and sewage systems. Raw materials are available within a 100-mile zone in unlimited quantities, including coal and many minerals. Last but not least—short hauls for the manufactured products reach a market of 30,000,000 people."

River commissions to develop beaches and safe swimming in the Meramec and Kaskaskia rivers, prevent pollution and remove snags.

An inter-state port authority similar to that of Greater New York to control river, rail and highway facilities.

Traffic studies to show the exact needs of highway development.

Fostering of zoning protection.

Better means of garbage disposal and sanitary control.

Simplification and standardization of traffic signals and regulations.

E. J. Russell, chairman of the St. Louis City Plan Commission, is president of the federation, and Frank Lawrence, secretary of the commission, is acting executive secretary.

TOWN PROVIDES SPECIAL FIRE APPARATUS FOR NEIGHBORS

Ash Grove, Mo., Buys High Pressure Chemical Tanks for Purpose.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ASH GROVE, Mo., Feb. 19.—In an effort to lend what assistance can be given in case of fire near Ash Grove but outside the corporate limits, the council has provided two 45-gallon pressure tanks containing fire extinguisher, which can be loaded on a truck and dispatched to the rural communities close by.

The chemicals in the two tanks are said to equal 4000 gallons of water for fire extinguishing purposes.

The step was taken when it was found the equipment maintained by the fire department is of little use except near fire hydrants, and that sending the equipment outside the territory fixed by the rating bureau might lead to a higher insurance rate for the town of Ash Grove.

Highway Meetings in Homes.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MONETT, Mo., Feb. 19.—A plan has been adopted by the commissioners of the King's Prairie Special Road District, near here, whereby it is hoped better co-operation between the district and the residents may be obtained. The commissioners—V. H. Marbut, Clyde Davis and F. A. Wightman—will meet the last Friday afternoon in each month at the home of one of them, at which time residents of the district will be given an opportunity to make recommendations or register complaints as to the manner in which highway improvement in the district is carried on.

Explorers' Outfit Auctioned.

Special correspondence of the Post-Dispatch

OSLO, Jan. 20.—Two airplanes and equipment for the French north polar expedition organized by Lieut. Georges d'Arcis arrived at Bergen, Norway from Le Havre last October. It was understood then that d'Arcis and his party would come to Norway soon afterward, planning to go to Spitzbergen before the ice pack set in and stay over winter at King's Bay. But until now none of the explorers has come, due to unforeseen delays, and, as not even money for steamship freightage has been forthcoming, the entire lot, airplanes and all, has been taken over by the authorities in Bergen and offered for auction.

ARKANSAS FLOOD BEGINS TO RECEDE

Many Acres in "Sunk Land" District Still Inundated—Cotton Growers Hit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JONESBORO, Ark., Feb. 19.—Reports from Truman, 15 miles south of here, where the St. Francis River levee broke a week ago and inundated more than 50,000 acres of farm lands and made hundreds of families temporarily homeless, indicate that the river is falling slowly at the rate of about one inch every 24 hours. Half of the city is still inundated and the small hamlets of Hatchie Coon and Tulot, four miles south of Truman, are faring even worse, the water being about three feet deep over the surrounding country for a distance of several miles.

Although hundreds of people were made homeless there has been little suffering. The residents hurriedly organized relief committees which assumed control. The business men of Truman, which is a city of 4500 inhabitants and the seat of one of the Singer Company's big plants where the wood parts of the company's sewing machines are cut, contributed to a relief fund. Jonesboro responded generously with more than $500 in cash and other contributions of clothing and food which were made available within 48 hours. Memphis also sent contributions.

Relief Agencies Active.

Salvation Army workers from Jonesboro hurried to the stricken area and are still there giving assistance to the refugees. A Red Cross nurse from St. Louis went to Truman and made a survey of the situation, remaining three days until the situation was well in hand.

The levee which broke is the west levee which holds the waters of the St. Francis River within the bounds of the famous "sunk lands of Arkansas." Until 1919 this country had little flood protection. The communities were organized into drainage and levee districts, the lands taxed to build levees and the great engineering feat of controlling the "sunk land flood waters" was inaugurated. Two levees were built, one on either side of the sunk lands, leaving a wide floodway down the center through which the waters passed to unite again with the river waters several miles south of the "sunk land" country.

Drainage Too Heavy.

The drainage districts in the Little River sector of Southeast Missouri were also diverted through this floodway, as were small portions of the waters from drainage districts in the Black River section in Butler County, Mo.

All this water was more than the floodway could carry. Eight breaks in the west levee were reported within a distance of six miles between Truman and Tulot in Poinsett County.

The overflowed lands are considered as among the most fertile in Arkansas. The big cotton plantations which are now submerged produced easily a bale of cotton an acre on an average. Small portions of the diversified truck growing country in southern Craighead County were also inundated, though it is believed that the waters will pass out in sufficient time to permit the farmers to plant their usual crops in April.

Already hard-hit by the low price of cotton last year, many of the farmers are confronted with a serious problem of financing themselves since the appearance of this later and greater catastrophe.

TO REPAIR MAYENCE CATHEDRAL

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Preliminary repairs to the 900-year-old Mayence Cathedral, which, next to the Cologne Cathedral, is perhaps the most famous in Germany, have disclosed that the ravages of the weather are greater than at first believed. The most urgent repairs will cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars. The west tower is said to be in danger of crumbling.

The Mayence Cathedral was built in 978-1009. In the twelfth and thirteenth centuries fires partly destroyed the edifice and necessitated extensive rebuilding. It has six towers 265 feet in height, nine chapters and 14 altars.

WOMAN VIOLINIST AMAZES

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—Erika Morini, the young violinist, has won a triumph almost unparalleled in the annals of French music. Unknown a few weeks ago, she is now hailed by French critics, usually most severe to foreign artists, as "a young violinist of the great race of Kreislers, Sarasates and Kubeliks." The enthusiasm of the public is more than shared by violinists, who are simply amazed by Miss Morinin's marvelous technic. Lucien Bellanger, one of the leading Paris violinists, declared after hearing her, that she must have discovered some new method, for she played without the slightest effort passages of extreme difficulty, which with other players required years of close and patient study.

Pastors Exchange Pulpits.

The Rev. David J. Evans, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kansas City, will speak this morning at Third Baptist Church, Grand and Washington boulevards, before the combined Business Men's Bible Class and Young Men's Agoga Bible Class. His subject will be "Lifting the Level of the Manhood of the World." At the same hour, the Rev. There's More to This than Health!

Cleans So Thoroughly, Even Perspiration Can't Offend

All the trick laxatives in the world can't tempt people who understand the properties of cascara.

A hundred different drugs will purge the bowels, but a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew!

Your grandparents took "salts," and slowly washed away the mucuos membrane with the waste! Mineral oils are better, but they leave the coating that your blood must then carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

Don't get in the habit of taking medicine for constipation—or even for auto-intoxication. If you have the habit, stop it. A candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them and the taste tempts most grown-ups to take "more." And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a caascaret tonight! All druggists, 10c & 25c.

WOMEN TO AID FUND FOR ACTORS' RELIEF

Former Mayor Kiel Names Committee to Arrange Benefit Show and Dinner.

Former Mayor Kiel, chairman of the local committee which will seek to raise St. Louis' $15,000 quota of the $1,500,000 endowment of the Actors' Fund of America, yesterday announced a special women's committee had been appointed to assist in the campaign. The special committee will be headed by Mrs. Harry E. Wagoner and includes Mrs. Milton Sontheimer, Mrs. Mary B. Pollard, Miss Elizabeth Morse, Mrs. C. Spencer Meredith, Mrs. O. S. Ledman, Mrs. F. T. Hatch, Mrs. R. C. Frampton, Mrs A. N. De Menil, Miss Hortense Courlander, Mrs. Frank Ruf and Mrs. William T. Nardin.

Kiel said plans now being considered would obviate the necessity for soliciting subscriptions. Arrangements are being made for a dinner and theatrical performance at Hotel Chase late in March, for which tickets will be sold at a nominal price.

All financial returns above actual expenses will be devoted to the Actors' Fund endowment. It is believed 1000 tickets can be sold for the dinner and performance, and the funds realized from this source and from a souvenir program will cover the St. Louis quota.

The national campaign for the endowment is being carried on by a committee headed by Otto H. Kahn, New York banker and art patron. A million dollars already has been subscribed in New York, and other leading cities of the country are being canvassed for the remaining $500,000.

NOAH AN ANCESTOR OF KAISER

Swedish Historian Traces Family Tree to 2244 B. C.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—The late Queen Victoria of England and the former Emperor William II of Germany can claim Noah as their direct ancestor, according to a geneological table recently compiled by Prof. Lugad Albert, a Swedish historian, who has published a book in German, entitled "The Original Bible of the Indo-Germans."

According to Albert, Noah, or Ardsear, as he is called in this Bible, reigned in Mesopotamia until 2244 B. C. He was then attacked by the Assyrians and fled to Armenia. His flight in a boat is the basis for the Bible story of Noah's ark, in the unorthodox working out of Albert's theory. From Armenia his descendants, after many vicissitudes, emigrated to Ireland, whence a son was transplanted to Scotland, where he became ancestor of the Bruces and the Stuarts. James I had a daughter, Sophie Charlotte of Hanover, through whom Queen Victoria and William II became direct descendants of Noah.

TAOIST POPE PENNILESS

Cantonese Conquerors Drive Leader of Faith From Mountains.

Special correspondence of the Post-Dispatch

SHANGHAI, Feb. 19.—A penniless refugee from his mountain retreat near Kiukiang and stoically accepting the rebuffs of a merciless fate and the growing skepticism of China, Tien Sze-chang, the Taoist pope, has arrived in Shanghai. The head of the Taoist faith had to flee from his home in the Dragon-Tiger mountains because of the Cantonese invasion. When the conquerors arrived from the south they confiscated his property and made things so hot for him that he fled.

Local Chinese newspapers describe his plight as "distressful," and leading officers of the Shanghai Taoist Association called in a body on their leader and offered to do their best to help him in his present misfortune. Millions in China look up to this man, who is regarded as having discourse with people in heaven.

But, despite the fact that only 721,000 veterans are receiving assistance today as against 1,400,000 at the end of the war, the expeditures for rehabilitation activities and pensions still amounts to $357,000,000, or 20 per cent of the entire running expenses of the Reich, including reparation payments. About 365,000 war widows, 655,000 orphans and 962,500 half orphans are being supported by the state.

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Dr. Caldwell's
SYRUP PEPSIN

Mothers! Apply Common Sense

THIS is the era of the prevention of disease and sensible people do not wait until sickness has actually come before remedying the trouble. The crowded hospitals everywhere are sad examples of the results of neglect. Be especially watchful of children. Restlessness, lack of normal appetite and feverishness usually indicate constipation. Give a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at once and you will help to prevent real sickness.

A Great Family Laxative

It may be difficult to decide just what medicine to use out of the many that are offered, but it would not be if you knew the facts. There are laxatives, cathartics, purgatives and physics, and they vary in their reaction on the system. Naturally, the stronger the medicine, the more it shocks the system, so wise parents never give anything but a laxative to children. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild laxative, a vegetable compound of Egyptian Senna with pepsin and desirable aromatics, and so appreciated that it is now the largest selling preparation of its kind in the world, over 10 million bottles being used annually. The formula is on every package.

Three Rules of Health

Always keep a bottle of Syrup Pepsin in the family medicine chest. Give it to any one from infant to grandparent, for it is safe, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give it for constipation, torpid liver, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, colds and other evidence of bowel obstruction. Dr. Caldwell, who was a practicing physician for 47 years and who originated this formula, had three rules of health that he found very effective among his patients, which you can follow with great benefit: Keep the head cool, the feet warm and the bowels open.

Three youthful American concert and opera artists will be offered by the Victor Talking Machine Co. in the fifth concert of its 1927 series next Friday evening. They are Marion Talley, soprano, and Lawrence Tibbett, baritone, both of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Richard Crooks, tenor.

Miss Talley's triumphal entry into opera was only a year ago. It was just a few days after her debut at the Metropolitan Opera House as Gilda that she was heard for the first time over the air, in a Victor program. Tibbett makes his radio debut in the coming concert. Crooks is one of the best-known of concert artists. His 1925 concert tour of Germany won for him an acclaim seldom accorded a young singer.

Beginning at 8:00 central time, the concert will be broadcast through WJZ, New York; WBZ, Springfield and Boston; KDKA, Pittsburg; KYW, Chicago; WHAS, Louisville; WSB, Atlanta; WMC, Memphis, and WSM, Nashville.

Since Miss Talley's first operatic appearance, she has been heard in concert in many of the principal American cities, and her Metropolitan Opera career has been a succession of triumphs. In her first concert tour, in the spring and early summer of last year, she gave 20 concerts to overflow audiences.

Tibbett was born in Bakersfield, Cal., and became a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company about three years ago.

Crooks has been singing in public since he first attracted attention as boy soloist, at the age of 9, in Trinity Episcopal Church choir, Trenton, N. J. At 14 he went to New York, to sing in the choir of All Saint's Church, and a few years later was being heard in concert throughout America and on the Continent.

The artists will be assisted by the Victor Salon Orchestra, under Nathaniel Shilkret. The program follows:

"Montmartre Rose" (Lyman); "Eleanor" (Deppen), Victor Salon Orchestra; "Forgotten" (Cowles); "In the Wee Little Home I Love" (Johnstone - O'Hara), Richard Crooks; Prologue to "Pagliacci" (Leoncavallo), Lawrence Tibbett; "When I Was Seventeen" (Lilljebjorn), "In the Garden" (Miles), Marion Talley; "Wee Bit O'Heart" (N. Shilkret), "In the Days Gone By," from "Countess Maritza" (Kalman), Orchestra; "A Dream" (Cory-Bartlett), Richard Crooks; "Oh, That We Two Were Maying" (Nevin), Tibbett; "Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark" (Bishop), Marion Talley;; Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman" (Offenbach), Marion Talley and Lawrence Tibbett.

WIDELY VARIED MUSIC BY ANGLO-PERSIANS

This Broadcast Through KSD Will Feature "Inca Tango" Next Friday Night.

Another of the varied programs that have made the Whittal Anglo-Persians one of the best liked of radio orchestras will be given through KSD next Friday night.

Following the customary introductory "Desert Melody," the Persians will play a "Danse Persane" (Persian Dance) by Guiraud. Although born in New Orleans, where at the age of 15 his first opera was produced, Guiraud won his musicianly laurels in France, his talents gaining for him the distinction of "Chevalier of the Legion of Honor."

"Les Patineurs," a waltz by Waldteuffel, will come next. This French composer, rival of his famous Viennese contemporary, Johann Strauss the Younber, wrote nearly 400 waltzes. Of those which survive, the present offering is the most popular.

"Wee Bit o' Heart," the third number, is by Nathaniel Shilkret, well known composer and arranger for orchestra, who is in charge of the orchestral recordings of one of the largest talking-machine companies.

A "request" number is to be followed by Molloy's "Love's Old Sweet Song." There is a quality about this that raises it above the average sentimental song of its period and, even today, saves it from being hackneyed.

"Parade Militaire" of Massenet, the next number, is in lighter vein than is usual from its composer, but lacks none of the piquancy and cleverness expected from him.

An "Inca Tango," by Valderamma, is based on authentic Peruvian themes, so this tango holds more than ordinary interest for listeners who are curious in the matter of traditional and racial music.

UNIQUE WLIB PIANO RECITAL

"Great Rondos" is the title of a piano recital which Edward Barry is to give over WLIB Thursday evening from 7:35 to 8. The Rondo is a musical form much favored by the classical composers, and there are many rondos that bear the names of Bach, Brahms, Mozart adn Beethoven. Some of these Barry will include in his program Thursday evening.

ARMAND TOKATYAN

VIOLINIST CULBERTSON IN VIKINGS' PROGRAM FROM KSD

Three instrumental artists and a singer will make up the quartet that will present the Washington's birthday program of the Vikings. The participating artists will be Sascha Culbertson, violinist; Christian Thaulow, violinist; Mrs. Sascha Culbertson, pianist, and Margaret Olsen, soprano.

It will be recalled that Culbertson was announced as the featured artist in the Viking program to be broadcast Feb. 8. But as this Tuesday evening occurred during Boy Scout anniversary week, the Vikings turned over the major part of their program to James E. West, chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, so it was necessary to alter the program.

The Vikings' program will be as follows: First suite for two violins and piano (Sinding); "Sylvelin," (Sinding), Margaret Olsen; Miniatures, Nocturnal Ride, Perpetuum Mobile (Halvorsen), Messrs. Culbertson and Thaulow; "Tak for dit Raad" (Grieg), Margaret Olsen; Serenade for two violins, Andante, Valse (Sinding), Messrs. Culbertson and Thaulow.

The Chicago Symphony Orchestra will broadcast Thursday night through WMAQ.

Metropolitan Tenor Will Sing Tonight From KS

Armand Tokatyan and Noted Girl Violin to Be Soloists in Atwater Kent Hour Concert.

Tonight's Atwater Kent hour from KSD will bring two artists new to the Middle West. They are Armand Tokatyan, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Miss Sylvia Lent, violinist.

Tokatyan was born in Bulgaria of Armenian parents, but spent his early days in Egypt, where he studied violin and piano. However, a performance of opera witnessed in childhood left a lasting impression. When his voice settled to what seemed a light baritone, young Tokatyan began singing in musical comedy, but every performance of opera in his city found him a member of the chorus. Then he studied in Italy in the last year of the war and slowly but surely established himself as a tenor. The news that another tenor had been discovered reached America, with the result that Tokatyan made his debut in Birmingham, Ala., as a member of the Scotti Opera Company in May, 1922.

Sylvia Lent is a violinist who despite her youth has won a place in the concert field. She is American born and all of her musical training has been had in this country. It is said that she was the first American pupil accepted by Leopold Auer when he came to this country. She has been called "The Young Fairy of Violin." She is barely 20 old.

"It's Working Voltage That Counts."

Build Your "B" Eliminator To Last!

No battery eliminator or power amplifier is better than its weakest part! The critical point in most Raytheon Tube battery eliminators is found in the condensers of the filter circuits. Here the fluctuations in current, and voltage surges must be smoothed out; and the slightest defect in construction or materials will cause early deterioration and failure with serious consequences to the other apparatus.

All Dubilier Condensers, like the Dubilier Raytheon Block Type PL 90, are built for lasting service. The indicated *working voltage allows a wide margin of safety to meet the high voltage surges that often occur in the filter circuits of battery eliminators. That is why Dubilier Condensers will not fail under unusual working conditions in continuous service.

Send 10c in stamps or coin for your copy of our booklet, "17 Ways To Improve Your Set." It gives the most recent information on battery eliminators, filters and power amplifiers.

Working voltage means more than "test voltage." It is the voltage at which a condenser may be safely used in continuous operation.*

HAWAIIAN ORCHESTRA IN THE CROSLEY HOUR

Music of Pacific Islands Will Be Played From KSD This Afternoon.

The second broadcast of the Crosley Hour comes this afternoon through KSD. It will be by the Hawaiian Orchestra of Walter Kolomokus.

Kolomokus was born in Honolulu in 1889, and has specialized in Hawaiian music for years. In 1911 Oliver Morosco brought him from Los Angeles to be featured in "The Bird of Paradise." It is said that he recorded the steel guitar for the first time. His orchestra is much in demand in New Iork.

The program is announced as follows:

"Hilo Haw," march; "Knu Home," (old Hawaiian plantation song—vocal); Hawaiian interpretation of "Yankee Rose;" "Drifting and Dreaming;" "Tomi Tomi" (this is requested by tourists visiting the Hawaiian Islands); "By the Waters of Minnetonka," Lieurance; "Koi Koi (Enticement); "I'll Fly to Hawaii," "Hawaiian Moonlight;" "Pau Mohala" (Budding Flowers), vocal solo; "Maui Girl," "Malaui Kama Kaui" (Trade Winds), Kaumi Kahi" (Lonesome Forest), "Wai Lele," waltz; "Muna Kea," "Maui No Kaoi."

WAIU WILL BECOME 5000-WATT STATION

Change to Super Power for Columbus, O., Transmitter in Effect Tomorrow.

Tomorrow evening, Station WAIU, Columbus, O., which operates on a wave length of 293 meters, will step up from a 500-watt transmitter to a 5000-watt superpower station.

What effect this change will have on reception in and around St. Louis cannot be determined in advance, though it is likely to make it difficult for many listeners to get WGN, Chicago.

With KMOX on 280 meters, WSM, Nashville, which recently became a superpower station on 282 meters; WAIU, using 5000 watts on 293 meters, and WGN on 302 meters, owners of the less selective sets will probably have difficulty in tuning in on these stations without interference.

WAIU plans to celebrate its increase to 5000 watts power tomorrow with a special program beginning at 5 p. m. central time and continuing until 1 a. m. An address by Gov. Donahey is scheduled for 6 o'clock central time.

FEDERAL RECEIVING SETS ARE COMPLETELY SHIELD

Total shielding is a feature of the 7-tube models of the Federal Ortosonic receivers, which are loop operated, and are said to be extremely selective and to be among the real DX getters. Rugged, all-metal chassis, one dial control with illuminated dial scale, and operation by wave lengths, so that one has only to turn the dial to the station wanted, are features of this set. The circuit is a balanced tuned radio frequency. The set can be used with wet or dry batteries or with eliminators.

Another Federal model is a 5-tube set with centralized control. Then there is also a 6-tube Federal. The delicate parts of these Federals also are shielded. Condensers are matched to a hair and perfectly balanced.

All Federal models come either in table cabinets or consoles with or without enclosed loud speakers and the art work on them is of the highest type.

OVERTURE TO 'MIGNON' AND 'MEDITATION' BY THE GYPSIES

Two operatic selections will be found on the instrumental program of the Gypsies, who will broadcast tomorrow night from WEAF, WSAI, WTAM and WWJ at 8:[illegible] central time. These will be the overture from "Mignon," by Thomas, which will open the Gypsies program, and the violin solo, "Meditation," from "Thais." John Barnes Wells, tenor, will sing "Obstination" and "My Lindy Lou."

The program also will include: Valse Triste, (Berger); "Dark Eyes,' (Gypsy Song); "Lolita" (Jove); "Scherezade," Ballet Suite (Rimsky-Korsakov); "Minuet in G" (Beethoven); National Anthem of Argentine Republic; "Roses of Picardy," (Wood); "Tuci-Occhi" (Bonincontro); "Guitar," (Moszkowski); "Neapolitan Serenade" (Costa).

Fused circuits, woven and weatherproofed insulation on cables, careful wiring and common sense are the best general rules for safety in radio work.

Tomorrow evening, Station AIU, Columbus, O., which oper- es on a wave length of 293 me- rs, will step up from a 500-watt ansmitter to a 5000-watt super ower station.

What effect this change will ve on reception in and around Louis cannot be determined in vance, though it is likely to make difficult for many listeners to t WGN, Chicago.

With KMOX on 280 meters; SM, Nashville, which recently ecame a superpower station on 2 meters; WAIU, using 5000 atts on 293 meters, and WGN o 2 meters, owners of the less se ctive sets will probably have dif- culty in tuning in on these sta- ons without interference.

WAIU plans to celebrate its in- rease to 5000 watts power tomor- w with a special program begin- ing at 5 p. m. central time and ontinuing until 1 a. m. An ad- ess by Gov. Donahey is scheduled 6 o'clock central time.

EDERAL RECEIVING SETS ARE COMPLETELY SHIELDED

Total shielding is a feature of e 7-tube models of the Federal rtosonic receivers, which are loop perated, and are said to be ex- emely selective and to be among he real DX getters. Rugged, all- etal chassis, one dial control with luminated dial scale, and opera- ion by wave lengths, so that one as only to turn the dial to the tation wanted, are features of this et. The circuit is a balanced uned radio frequency. The set can e used with wet or dry batteries r with eliminators.

Another Federal model is a 5- ube set with centralized control. hen there is also a 6-tube Fed- ral. The delicate parts of these ederals also are shielded. Con- ensers are matched to a hair and erfectly balanced.

All Federal models come either n table cabinets or consoles, with r without enclosed loud speakers nd the art work on them is of the ighest type.

VERTURE TO 'MIGNON' AND 'MEDITATION' BY THE GYPSIES

Two operatic selections will be ound on the instrumental program f the Gypsies, who will broadcast omorrow night from WDAF, WSAI, WTAM and WWJ at 8:00 entral time. Fused circuits, woven and weatherproofed insulation on ca- bles, careful wiring and common sense are the best general rules for safety in radio work.

Radiola 20, designed by the engineers of RCA, Westinghouse and General Electric

There are 25 years of radio and 50 years of electrical experience behind every Radiola. Practically every basic betterment in the new science of radio has come from the research laboratories of RCA and its associated companies where over 200 radio engineers are employed. These engineers are responsible for the revolutionary improvements and refinements found in every Radiola.

The same men have designed the leading broadcasting stations. They have made America the world center of transoceanic radio. They refined and perfected the vacuum tube, made practical the super-heterodyne circuit and pioneered the uni-control and lighting socket-operated receivers. They were the first to dispense with antenna, to do away with batteries, to seal vital parts in the moisture and dust proof "catacomb."

And they match the Radiola to the latest and best principles known. Your set and the great stations you will want most to hear come from the same laboratories—if your set is a Radiola. Surely the men who build these great stations know best what is needed to hear them.

This set is specially devised to meet crowded broadcasting conditions

As you know, selectivity is the great question to day—the ability of your set to pick out the program that you want. Radiola 20 is twenty times as selective as the average antenna set. This has been proved in laboratory tests again and again. It is proved every day in tens of thousands of homes. Radiola 20 is built for high selectivity, not only in view of the many stations of today, but also in view of the many more that may exist tomorrow.

This set is notable for its selectivity at all wave lengths. Note this point. It will mean much to you when you have a radio set.

New principles employed

In Radiola 20 are incorporated not just one feature above the ordinary in radio, but many. It challenges comparison in performance with sets at twice the price. Owners agree that it gives $200 performance for $78. New discoveries in electrics and acoustics are embodied in Radiola 20 which are exclusive with RCA.

One dial tuning

For average home reception Radiola 20 has ONE DIAL tuning. For far-off stations there are two minor controls for finer tuning. It can be equipped to operate with batteries or with light socket devices, as you prefer. By means of a special circuit (exclusive with Radiola 20) it does the work of seven tubes, increasing the distance range.

Marvel of musical reproduction

Radiola 20 is famous for its ability to reproduce faint musical notes with undistorted volume. Specially treated audio frequency transformers (exclusive with RCA) make possible the highest known degree of tone fidelity.

Ask for a demonstration of Radiola 20 from any RCA Authorized Dealer. Compare it with any set you please in actual performance. You will find out why more Radiolas are in use than any other make of set.

BROADCAST WONDERS PREDICTED BY KLU

Head of National Broadca Association Says Surface Ha Not Been Scratched.

The decisive factor in the ra broadcasting situation, once a co trol law is enacted, will be th personnel of the commission a its attitude, according to Paul Klugh, executive chairman of th National Association of Broad ters, who was here the past w to attend the annual meeting the Federated Radio Trades A ciation.

"The conference bill is a g one, and the law should work —if a good commission is appo ed," Klugh said. "All depends the commission, for it will ha power to say who shall broadca how, when, where, the power be used, the wave lengths, etc.

Foresees Radio Wonders.

"Of course, there will be th right of appeal from decisions b the commission. In this conne tion, it is worth noting that th District Court of Appeals is sa never to have reversed a decisi of the Interstate Commerce Co mission."

Discussing broadcasting Klugh said the "surface hasn't ev been scratched, despite the epoch achievements of the big stati chains. So many new phases broadcasting remain to be dev oped, there are so many thing be done that we are aware of, five years from now we proba will look back with wonder th we accomplished so little in 1

"The value of a receiving set its owner will increase rap every year until the time w projects now being developed real broadcasting.

"But nothing should detr from the value of the work by the National Broadcasting through the two big station ch of one of which KSD is a mem It is something unpreceden when the president of that co pany calmly states that it propo to lose $1,000,000 this year, ho ing eventually to recoup the e penditure. Meanwhile 20,000,0 listeners are getting on any night what they couldn't buy f the price of a good receiver in a other way.

Wrape Re-elected.

"Here is a significant slant the growth of radio in public terest: As I recall, figures sh that in 1926 there were 6,000,0 agate lines of automobile advert ing in all the New York City new papers. But the same papers c ried 4,200,000 lines of radio a vertising in the same period less than 3,000,000 lines of am ment advertising."

The Federate Radio Trades A sociation, whose membership cludes more than 1000 radio fi in several states, went on rec as unalterably opposed to dir radio advertising such as is broa cast by certain Iowa stations others. The attitude of the del gates was that indirect advert such as "This is the Atwater K Hour," or "This program through the courtesy of the C Co.," was not objectionab that selling talk in radio progra should be abolished in the inter of the public and of the radio bu ness.

Harold J. Wrape, president the St. Louis Radio Trades As ciation, was unanimously re-elect president of the Federated Asso tion.

BOY SCOUT PARADE AND MASS MEETING

Washington's Birthday to Be Observed With Exercises at Scottish Rite Cathedral.

The 6000 Boy Scouts of St. Louis will celebrate Washington's birthday Tuesday morning with a mass meeting at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, preceded by a parade of all scouts and scoutmasters of the city in uniform. The parade will form at Lindell boulevard and Kingshighway at 9 o'clock, and, headed by a brass band, and the massed colors of all troops, march down Lindell boulevard to the Cathedral.

The important event of the mass meeting will be the listening to the broadcasting of President Coolidge's address to the joint session of Congress, given at 11:30 o'clock, St. Louis time. A loud speaker has been installed that the talk may reach all parts of the auditorium. Before the president's address, Mayor Miller will speak. A program of entertainment also will be given, including the first showing in St. Louis of the official boy scout six-reel motion picture, "A Regular Scout," starring Fred Thomson and his horse "Silver Star," vaudeville acts, vocal solos, and organ numbers by O. Wade Fallert.

Parents and friends have been invited, but will not be permitted to enter the auditorium until all scouts are seated.

As this is the first street parade Boy Scouts have given in several years, Headquarters has issued a special request that every boy who has a uniform wear it, and that it be clean. Not wearing a uniform, however, will not prevent a scout from marching.

Arrangements have been made with the People's Motorbus Co. to provide special Boy Scout busses on schedule over designated routes, of which scoutmasters have been informed. Troops are to meet at their headquarters, and come to the assembling place in a body.

Troops having drum and bugle corps have been requested to use them in the line of march.

Troop Notes

North District.

The first meeting of the Troop Committee Training Course in the North District was at Beaumont High School Wednesday evening. The meeting was for the chairman of the Troop Committee, scoutmaster and troop scribe, and 31 Troop Committee chairman, 30 scribes, 27 scoutmasters, one assistant scoutmaster, one thrift member, one educational member, two outdoor members and two advisors attended. Troops who were not represented last week have been urged to put forth every effort to have the thrift member of their Troop Committee, scoutmaster and scribe present Wednesday evening.

The Troop Committee of Troop 12, of the Fourth Christian Church, held its annual meeting Tuesday, to select officers and members for this year. Robert Walker has resigned as scoutmaster, but will become the outdoor member of the committee. He has been succeeded by E. A. Higgins, who has been a scoutmaster in Illinois for several years. Thomas Orr remained as assistant scoutmaster, and Shannon Drake was appointed junior assistant scoutmaster. The troop re-registered with 10 scouts, and plans were made to increase the membership to nearly a full troop before the Scout Circus.

A prize contest to select a name for the official troop publication has been announced by Troop 8. The Scoutmaster, Assistant Scoutmaster and pastor of the church will act as judges. The troop gave an exhibition to celebrate the seventeenth anniversary of scouting Tuesday, before an audience of 100. Six new Scouts have joined in the last few weeks. The troop has been assigned signaling, by Morse and semaphore, and fire-building, by flint, steel and friction, for the Scout Circuit.

Troop 92 of Cupples School, is receiving many recruits. With the last meeting, patrols were reorganized, and an inter-patrol contest began, which will run for three months and probably end with a parents' night. One of the chief characteristics of Troop 92 is its drilling, which is mostly due to the scoutmaster, John H. Custer, the only policeman scoutmaster in St. Louis.

Nineteen boys attended a bridge-building instruction hike with Troop 147 to the woods along Moline Creek last Saturday. The troop has been assigned bridge-building for the Scout Circuit. Vernon Fader and Oliver DeCoursey passed tests in fire-building and cooking.

South District.

The first meeting of the South District Court of Honor was in the auditorium of the Missouri School for the Blind Monday evening. More than 400 persons were present. Each troop of the South District was invited to participate in the opening ceremony and to send their colors and color guards. The members of Troop 34, under Carol Laemli, furnished the drum and bugle music. Scoutmaster McCoy of Troop 18 led in the singing of he decisive factor in the radio adcasting situation, once a con- law is enacted, will be the sonnel of the commission and attitude, according to Paul B. gh, executive chairman of the tional Association of Broadcas- s, who was here the past week attend the annual meeting of Federated Radio Trades Asso- tion.

"The conference bill is a good , and the law should work well if a good commission is appoint- " Klugh said. "All depends on commission, for it will have er to say who shall broadcast, w, when, where, the power to used, the wave lengths, etc.

Foresees Radio Wonders.

"Of course, there will be th ht of appeal from decisions by commission. In this connec- , it is worth noting that the trict Court of Appeals is said er to have reversed a decision the Interstate Commerce Com- sion."

Discussing broadcasting itself, ugh said the "surface hasn't even n scratched, despite the epochal hievements of the big station ains. So many new phases of adcasting remain to be devel- ed, there are so many things to done that we are aware of, that e years from now we probably l look back with wonder that accomplished so little in 1926.

"The value of a receiving set to owner will increase rapidly ry year until the time when jects now being developed bring al broadcasting.

"But nothing should detract m the value of the work done the National Broadcasting C ough the two big station chains one of which KSD is a member. is something unprecedented en the president of that com- ny calmly states that it proposes lose $1,000,000 this year, hop- eventually to recoup the ex- nditure. Meanwhile 20,000,000 steners are getting on any one ght what they couldn't buy for e price of a good receiver in any her way.

Wrape Re-elected.

"Here is a significant slant on e growth of radio in public in- rest: As I recall, figures show at in 1926 there were 6,000,000 gate lines of automobile advertis- g in all the New York City news- apers. But the same papers car- ied 4,200,000 lines of radio ad- ertising in the same period and ss than 3,000,000 lines of amuse- ent advertising."

The Federate Radio Trades As- ociation, whose membership in- udes more than 1000 radio firms several states, went on record unalterably opposed to direct adio advertising such as is broad- ast by certain Iowa stations and thers. The attitude of the dele- ates was that indirect advertising uch as "This is the Atwater Kent our," or "This program hrough the courtesy of the Cliqu o.," was not objectionable, but hat selling talk in radio programs hould be abolished in the interest f the public and of the radio busi- ess.

Harold J. Wrape, president of he St. Louis Radio Trades Asso- iation, was unanimously re-elected resident of the Federated Associa- on.

The proper place for the light- ning arrester is outside the house where the lead-in from the aerial passes through the window or lead-in insulator. South District.

The first meeting of the South District Court of Honor was in the auditorium of the Missouri School for the Blind Monday evening. More than 400 persons were present. Each troop of the South District was invited to participate in the opening ceremony and to send their colors and color guards. The members of Troop 34, under Carol Laemli, furnished the drum and bugle music. Scoutmaster McCoy of Troop 18 led in the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner. The invocatio nwas pronounced by the Rev. L. R. Jenkins, pastor of the Grand Avenue Methodist Church. Several scout songs were sung, led by Scoutmaster McCoy. Scout William Buels of Troop 34 sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Mildred Buels.

Former Judge Hugo Grimm discussed the reasons for district courts of honor, explained the present organization, and introduced the members of the South District court. He also discussed the merit badge accomplishments of the South District during 1926.

Troop 15, of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Alaska and Neosho streets, celebrated its first anniversary with two special services last week. The first was a parents' meeting. The parents of the boys and many of the troop's friends were present. An interpatrol contest was conducted, and was won by the Kangaroo patrol, under the leadership of Milford Traver. Field Executive Shippey conducted an inspection, and then administered the oath to the scouts and committeemen. The committeemen are A. Eggers, chairman, and R. Franke, outdoor.

A scout service was held in the church Sunday evening, the subject of the sermon being, "Master, I Bring to Thee My Son.' During its first year Troop 15 increased its membership 100 per cent and placed a notch on its ax by winning a complete set of merit badge pamphlets for selling the most number of tickets per registered scout for the merit badge exposition.

Four new patrols were organized by Troop 68 last week: The Beavers, with Ray Siemens patrol leader; Box patrol, Edward Wolf, leader; Wolf patrol, Edward Stadler, leader, and Eagle patrol, Milton Haper, leader; Earl Foster is senior patrol leader. Troop 68 has been organized only two weeks, but the four patrols are almost at full strength.

The troop committee of Troop 249 met Friday evening to plan activities for the year. The troop is considering changing its meeting place.

Eleven scouts, the scoutmaster, a troop committeeman and one father of Troop 66 hiked to Meramec Quarry Saturday. One of the features was a tracking trail laid out by the senior patrol leader. Each of the scouts was allowed to follow the trail and see how many signs he could identify. In the evening the Rev. Dr. Levengood, troop spiritual advisor, spoke on the life of the ancient cliff dwellers.

Troop 160 hiked to Kenwood Springs last Saturday. Tests were passed in first and second class cooking, firebuilding, tracking, knife and ax. The hike was made by 16 scouts, two committeemen and the scoutmaster. Troop 160 has completed its first quarter objectives, with the exception of selling circus tickets.

Troop 214 of the Fremont School celebrated Lincoln's birthday by having flag raising at the school, after which the scouts hiked to Forest Park, visiting the Missouri State Fish Hatcheries, the monument of General Franz Sigel, the new music stand, Municipal Theater, the new pavilion, the Jefferson Memorial and the zoo.

The Pevely Dairy Co. plant at Grand boulevard and Chouteau avenue was visited and each scout received a bottle of milk. On their return they stopped at the Armory and at the Compton Heights reservoir.

West District.

The first meeting in the Patrol Leaders' Training Course in the West District will be Monday evening, Feb. 28, at the Ben Blewett Junior High School. Scoutmasters and patrol leaders of the district will attend. The second meeting will be at the school the following Monday.

The West District Court of Honor will meet at the school tomorrow evening, and Scouts who have earned merit badges since the last court will receive these awards.

The Wolf Patrol had charge of Troop 82's program last week, and the Beaver Patrol will have charge next Friday. Five boys acted as ushers at the Sunday morning service and three Scouts joined the church. The troop is conducting a campaign for new members.

Seventeen boys and Scoutmaster E. L. Balfay of Troop 44 hiked to Chambers' Farm near Ferguson, Feb. 6. The day was spent in tests and games. Tests were passed in cooking, tracking, firebuilding, signalling, Scout pace and knife and hatchet.

Troop 125 of the Grace Presbyterian Church, hiked yesterday to a place in the vicinity of Meramec Highlands. Assistant Scoutmaster Wilson was in charge. Tests were passed in outdoor subjects and the boys received instruction in firebuilding and cooking.

Troop 90, of Temple Shaare Emeth, has organized new patrols, Pine Tree, Wolf, Beaver and Bob White. The Wolf Patrol has been instrumental in publishing a paper called the "Wolf's Howl." The troop is planning a special Washington's birthday meeting for Tuesday night. The troop also is conducting a three weeks' campaign for new members. Three prizes will be given to the boys recruiting the largest number of boys. The prizes are, one year subscription of Boys' Life, a Scout knife and a mess kit.

The West Park Baptist Church observed "Scout Sunday" last Sunday, Boy and Girl Scouts being giving reserved seats. The Boy Scouts gave the pledge to the flag and repeated the scout oath and laws.

Troop 26 of the Delmar Baptist Church reregistered during the past week, and also pledged itself to obtain 16 subscriptions to Boy's Life, a subscription for each member of the troop.

Ten boys, with Mr. Mayer and Mr. McConnell of Troop 208, hiked to Falling Springs last Sunday. The afternoon was spent in instruction and tests. Each boy cooked his own meal.

Troop 75 of the Washington School had "open house" Wednesday night. Members of the Patrons' Club, which sponsors the troop, were present. Field executive Reaves attended and presented the members of the Wolf and Eagle Patrols with patrol medallions for having made 250 points or more in an interpatrol contest during January.

The scouts of Troop 46 cooked their supper in the open in Forest Park Friday. After supper the troop presented a campfire program, which consisted of singing and stunts. Several night games were played, including signaling and compass work. Scoutmaster Hall, who has been ill in a hospital for several weeks, has returned home.

Troop 59 held a parents' night last Friday. Twenty-six scouts and a number of the parents being present. The troop orchestra furnished the music. The Junior Officers' patrol gave a demonstration of the uses of the Scout neckerchief, and Henry Heitman was presented with his Junior Assistant Scoutmaster's pin. The wives of the committeemen served refreshments. A second-class and a tenderfoot badge also were awarded. The troop orchestra furnished music for a valentine box party at the Eden Immanuel Church Monday.

Troop 30 of the new Y. M. H. A. will meet Tuesday evenings, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock instead of on Mondays, as formerly. The meeting last Monday was devoted to First Aid instruction, games, a stunt by Frank Gollub and Paul Gordon, and a program by the troop harmonica band. The band now has 15 members, led by Barney Cosneck. A Fathers' and Sons' night was planned after the Scout Circus, at an officers' council after the regular troop meeting.

A hike scheduled for last Sunday was postponed until today, on account of the inclement weather.

Suburban District.

The Suburban District Court of Honor will be held in the Webster High School Armory, Monday, Feb. 28, at 7:45 p. m. Several features are included in this court. A new troop will be invested with its charter, and each troop having a scout to receive a badge will station its troop flag on the platform.

The boys of Maryland Heights have accepted their part in the circus, and as this is the first time they have participated in an event at the circus they are determined to make a credible showing. Mr. Franke, a member of the Maryland Heights Parent-Teachers' Association, is interesting the men of the community in the troop, and selecting material for a Troop Committee.

Webster Groves No. 8 helds its monthly investiture ceremony at its last meeting, and four boys were welcomed into the troop and made tenderfoot scouts. One scout achieved the second-class rank and several scouts received one year service stars. Before the investiture ceremony troop inspection was held. Beaver Patrol won. After investiture, Scoutmaster Ruhe spoke and the meeting was closed with the scout oath. W. H. H. Schaefer, who has recently become a scoutmaster of Webster Groves No. 10, was a visitor.

An event of importance to Troop 8 took place Monday night when the Men's Club of Emmanuel Episcopal Church agreed to sponsor the troop. The Buffalo Patrol is still leading in the patrol contest.

Webster Groves No. 14 completed its registration at its last meeting.

GIRL SCOUTS MAY WIN JOURNALISM BADGES

Scribes Must Pass Literature Tests Conducted by Mrs. W. R. Becker.

A merit badge of new significance, that of journalism, will be given to Girl Scouts who meet the requirements.

Scribes who have been writing scout news for the newspapers now may become reporters, so that reports of all troop activities may be exchanged through the scout page. These reporters must pass the scribe test, which includes writing a short story, an essay, play or poem. The scout also should be able to name three authors of prose and a work of each, telling something about either the composition or the life of the author; give the name and a work of three novelists, three essayists, three poets and two dramatists. When the scribes become reporters they will be responsible for their troop publicity, with an award for the largest number of interesting items. Mrs. W. R. Becker will supervise the tests.

Among other examinations will be one for citizenship given by Mrs. Morgan of the League of Women Voters, and another for craftsmanship by Miss Geraldine Lermit, director of occupational therapy at Washington University. The athletic examination will be conducted by Miss Bertha Bennett, director of physical education at Washington University, and Warren Ludwig of the art department at the university, will examine candidates for the art badge.

Patrols of Troop 32 are holding notebook contests. All their activities are written and illustrated with appropriate pictures cut from magazines and pasted in the margin. There are articles on nature studies, flag drill, sewing, etc., with original camping songs and poems.

Valentine parties, with plays and games, were given by several troops. Troop 59 celebrated its first birthday, the girls making their own favors of paper flowers and composing songs.

Girls of "The Encircled Pine" found 60 words in Valentine. They also have been making progress for the homemaker's badge and the badge for competent laundresses.

New officers of Senior Troop 1 are: Betty Gollub and Annette Ruben, patrol leaders; Rowena Krislavsky, secretary, and Anna Katz, treasurer. Silvia Magidson is scribe and reporter for the troop.

The Pirate and Pawnee Patrols of Troop 49 were found perfect during inspection at a meeting Feb. 15.

Three patrols of Troop 17 will dramatize accidents and their immediate remedies for Miss Piper at a meeting next week.

CANADA INDIGNANT AT AIR INTERFERENCE

U. S. Stations, Seizing Wave Channels Used by Canadian Stations, Spoil Reception.

Extreme exasperation is being expressed by the Canadian radio public because of interference in the Dominion brought about by unregulated broadcasting in the United States.

Lack of control on this side of the border has resulted in outright American pirating of the wave-lengths which were allocated to Canadian stations under a "gentlemen's agreement" between radio authorities of the Dominion and the Department of Commerce, the former agency of control in this country.

Seventeen wave-lengths of the 89 available for commercial broadcasting are used by Canadian stations. Eleven are shared with American stations. Six under the gentlemen's agreement, were assigned exclusively to Canada.

The complaint has been raised—and a multitude of letters have poured in from Canada upon authorities in Washington—that every one of these six channels has been pirated by American broadcasting stations since last July 1, when American control broke down.

The 291.1-meter channel, the lowest reserved to Canada under the agreement, is now being used by KGDX, Shreveport, La., KFWC, San Bernardino, Cal., WBKN, Brooklyn, and WMBY, Bloomington, Ill. The 312.3-meter wave length is being used by KWKH, Shreveport, and WAFD, Detroit. The 329.5 channel is used by WJAZ, Mount Prospect, Ill., and WFRL, Brooklyn, while only a half meter away on 330, is KGEQ, Minneapolis, and on 331 is KGCB, Oklahoma City, the latter two both close enough to cause interference.

WFIW, Hopkinsville, Ky., is broadcasting on 356.0, another Canadian channel—357 meters is WNBI, Peru, Ill., while at 357.1 is KRLO, Dallas. The fifth Canadian channel is 410.7 meters, which is used on this side of the border by WABF, Pringleboro, Pa., KFCR, Santa Barbara, Cal., using 413, is close enough to cause interference also. The last of the channels is 414.5, used on this side by KFKB, Milford, Kan., and KGCH, Wayne, Neb., with WJAY, Cleveland, nearby at 435.7 meters.

Of course, power and propinquity are factors and it cannot be said that all these stations are interfering with the 55 commercial stations listed in Canada's last fiscal report. Some are using too low a wattage to make much difference in the ether over Canada. But the fact remains that many are using high power, and on the same channels as Canadian stations, are intensifying the confusion there.

Canada feels aggrieved at an apparent imposition upon what it regards as a just international claim to rights in the air.

WLW MORNING MUSICALE

A musical program is to invade that part of the radio day usually devoted to cooking chats and household hints. WLW, Cincinnati, is going on the air with the Milan Springs instrumental trio and tenor every Thursday morning from 9:15 to 10:15 o'clock, central time. The tenor is Erwin Meyer.

SOMETHING NEW ON THE AIR

A new technique in broadcasting will be attempted during the weekly revue sponsored by Collier's Weekly, to be heard from WJZ, KDKA and KYW at 8:30 tonight. The story to be broadcast will be the most recent work of E. Phillips Oppenheim. It will be a dramatic fiction feature of a program to include selections by the revue studio orchestra, vocal solos and radio novelties.

A patriotic theme will run through the program in anticipation of Washington's birthday. Comment on the virtues and failings of the first President, by William L. Chenery, editor of Collier's, will be read by John B. Kennedy.

A romantic monologue with music and dramatizations of short stories by Dana Burnet and other authors will complete the program.

GOLDMAN BAND CONCERT

The second Goldman Band concert will be broadcast at 7 Friday evening by WEAF, WTAM, WSAI, WJN, WOC and WCCO.

The band plays in the Chamber Musical Hall of Carnegie Hall, New York City, under direction of Edwin Franko Goldman.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients. It is known as Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur Compound, and can be obtained at all drug stores for only 75 cents a bottle.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

$4,000,000 CULTURE SUBSIDY

Prussian Expenditures for Art's Sake Likely to Be Assailed in Diet

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—An attack on the Prussian subvention policy, whereby the State spends $4,000,000 annually for cultural and artistic purposes is expected in the Prussian Diet when the 1927 budget comes up for consideration. Opponents of the "kultur subsidy" assert that the State is overburdening the taxpayers with expenditures that might well be borne by private enterprise.

The State spends $1,250,000 a year to make up deficits in the two opera houses and two theaters in Berlin, a theater in Wiesbaden and one in Cassel, Dr. Paul Hirsch, member of the Diet Finance Committee, said. In addition the State spends $450,000 a year for maintaining historic palaces and estates; $500,000 for museums, and about $1,700,000 for miscellaneous cultural purposes, including promotion of schools of drama, excavation work in Babylon, Syria and Mesopotamia, support of needy artists and special exhibitions.

W. H. H. Schaefer made his debut as scoutmaster of Webster Groves No. 10 at the meeting Friday. Field Executive Leavitt attended. The American Legion has organized a new troop committee and has promised to assist Schaefer.

The registration for Webster Groves No. 12 has been turned in, with eight boys with Eagle Scout James F. Cook, who attended Camp Irondale as an officer for three years, is scoutmaster. The troop will be invested at the Court of Honor ceremony, Monday, Feb. 28, and the boys will receive their tenderfoot pins at the investiture ceremony in conjunction with the Court of Honor.

At the last meeting of Webster Groves No. 14 an inter-patrol contest was begun. The Beaver Patrol is leading with 54 points. Last Saturday, under the leadership of Mr. Seidell, the outdoor member of the troop committee, the scouts hiked to Deer Creek. Three boys passed their cooking tests and one boy passed in fire building. Six boys from Troop 49 also attended. Seidell was formerly scoutmaster of this troop.

Empress to Present "Why —Ina Claire and I Coming Next

A MUSEMENT seekers tonight will the stock company at the Emp vaudeville or burlesque, for the second week of the fine film, "Beau G ter does not have anything this eve ever, at the latter house, the highly p bond King," begins a two weeks' en ers are devoting themselves this week Home."

A BRILLIANT opening under the auspices of the College Club, and an unusually heavy advance seat sale, portend a highly successful week for "The Vagabond King." The visiting organization is said to be one of unusual numerical strength, while special claims are made regarding its artistic personnel, both vocal and dramatic. Some idea of the success "The Vagabond King" company has recently enjoyed may be had from the record claimed for it in a fortnight's engagement in Cleveland, the intake totaling $72,000. A special train of seven cars made up of two coaches, one parlor car, one diner and three extra-length scenery and baggage cars, will bring the organization and its scenic and costuming equipment to St. Louis this evening.

The producers are said to have built up a fine production on McCarthy's familiar old story, "If I Were King," which, in turn, was built, more or less loosely, upon the career of François Villon, the fifteenth century poet, vagabond and allround tavern brawler. The story, known to almost everyone, is of Villon, beloved of the common people of France for his genius, his truth and his personal magnetism. He falls in love with a lady of the King's court, Katherine de Vaucelles. One night at an inn the monarch, Louis XI, hears Villon recite his poem, "If Villon Were the King of France," and gives him a chance to be King for a day. If he wins Katherine he is to go free; if he fails, the noose for him. The play ends poetically and Villon's life is saved by Katherine.

A large ensemble is an integral part of "The Vagabond King," Friml, the composer of the music, having written some fine examples of massed singing. A chorus of more than three score is promised.

"The Vagabond King" Comes for Two Weeks And "Beau Geste" Stays

Empress to Present "Why Men Leave Home"—Ina Claire and Bertha Kalich Coming Next Month.

AMUSEMENT seekers tonight will have to confine themselves to the stock company at the Empress Theater, motion pictures, vaudeville or burlesque, for the American Theater starts on the second week of the fine film, "Beau Geste," while the Shubert Theater does not have anything this evening. Tomorrow night, however, at the latter house, the highly praised musical play, "The Vagabond King," begins a two weeks' engagement. The Empress players are devoting themselves this week to a comedy, "Why Men Leave Home."

A BRILLIANT opening under the auspices of the College Club, and an unusually heavy advance seat sale, portend a highly successful week for "The Vagabond King." The visiting organization is said to be one of unusual numerical strength, while special claims are made regarding its artistic personnel, both vocal and dramatic. She has but recently passed 22. Miss Wallin hails from Seattle, Wash., and, like the

Philadelphia Symphony Here Tuesday Night

Orchestra, With Leopold Stokowski, Conducting, to Be Heard in a Fine Program at the Odeon.

THE outstanding event on the musical calendar for the week is the concert at the Odeon on Tuesday evening by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Leopold Stokowski, conductor. The tour of this orchestra this season includes St. Louis, Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Indianapolis and Cleveland. The entire personnel of 107 men will accompany the orchestra on tour, a personnel made up of carefully picked musicians and virtuosi.

The program for Tuesday evening is away from the beaten path. It opens with Handel's "Overture in D minor," then Handel's "Water Music," so far as is known never played here. Bach follows with "Choralvorspiel Ich ruf zu dir, Herr Jesu Christ;" Bach, Toccata and Fugue in D minor; Debussy, "Nocturnes" (Nuages and Fetes), and Ravel, "Rapsodie Espagnole."

The conductor, Leopold Stokowski, was born in London. As an organist in St. Bartholemew's Church, New York, he attracted attention for his gifts. Later he took the baton for the Cincinnati Orchestra and in 1912 removed to Philadelphia as conductor for the Philadelphia Orchestra. When Stokowski produced Mahler's Eighth Symphony with an orchestra and chorus numbering over 1000 performers, he wrote his name indelibly in the history of American music. He drilled the chorus, rehearsed the orchestra, committed the score to memory, superintended all the details, and the result was one of the most sensational musical successes ever recorded. Many difficulties attended the production of this gigantic work. The war was in progress at the time and the music had to be brought from Vienna.

Garden Theater Plans.

The season subscribers of Garden Theater, 7200 Olive Street road, in balloting for the plays they prefer to see produced there during the coming season, gave the largest vote to "She Stoops to Conquer." The vote in this instance being 388, out of a total of 673 votes. The next highest number of votes was given to "The Tempest," with 235 votes, and "Cyrano de Bergerac," following with 216. Among the plays meeting with great favor were 10 Shaksperean plays.

Chaplin's Name Will Be Among First Entrants In Actors' Hall of Fame

St. Louis Contributors to Fund Support Screen Comedian Despite His Matrimonial Troubles.

By NIE.

AT a luncheon given by the local committee in charge of the raising of money for the Actors' Fund of America last Friday, it developed that the name of Charlie Chaplin will probably be among the first to be entered for a place in the Actors' Hall of Fame. Donors to the national fund are to vote upon the eligibility of stage personages for the honor, and, despite Chaplin's present matrimonial troubles, he has the support of many local contributors. Reports from around the country are to the effect that his name is being well backed and if his domestic difficulties have hurt him with the American public, it is not evident in the votes being cast for actors whose names deserve to be inscribed on the proposed honor roll.

The voting is open to those who contribute toward the $1,500,000 endowment being sought by the Actors' Fund of America for its charity work among members of the acting profession. A tabulation by Daniel Frohman, president of the Actors' Fund, of the votes cast so far, principally in the East and Middle West, shows that Chaplin is among the leaders in the balloting. A question has arisen as to whether Chaplin can be considered an American actor, for he is a British subject. The fact that he is a screen star will not invalidate his chances, however, for he has been on the stage, and that makes him eligible.

FEW of the present generation of theater goers, and probably none of the regular movie fans, recall the name of Yvette Guilbert. In the German-made film, "Faust," which is at Loew's this week she, French to the very backbone which she used to display so prominently, is playing the role of Martha Schwerdtlein, a fat German housewife. This is the same Yvette Guilbert who, towards the close of the past century, discovered and, at the same time perfected on the hills of Montmartre in Paris, the art of portraying folk and soldier songs of olden times so that they became dramas—the Yvette Guilbert whom poets worshiped and the dwarf Toulouse Lautrec painted on over 100 canvases. The great artist with sparkling red hair, whose faint gestures, and costumes with the long black gloves all diseuses and artists of the last decade have tried in vain to imitate, has now taken up another vocation in motion pictures.

She never was beautiful, the divine Yvette Guilbert—she was ugly, but her art was expressed in her hands and eyes, to dispel her ugliness with comedy. Perhaps it would have been impossible to explain this to the future generations, had not her features been retained on the screen, and future generations would not have been able to see her had she not played the role of Martha—would not have seen her exerting all her wiles on Mephisto, becoming old Martha Schwertlein, yet, in reality, remaining the ever-young Yvette Guilbert.

ANOTHER stage favorite of an older day but well remembered by the earlier picture fans, Dustin—not William—Farnum is playing in "The Flaming Frontier" at the Grand Central. Farnum's first love was the stage. Later he began sharing his affections with the screen, but these are secondary now, for a wife and baby have supplanted them both. The baby, Estelle, has only been in this world a matter of a few months but she LOEW'S STATE—Emil Jannings in Goethe's "Faust." On the stage: McIntyre & Heath; and the "Prison Scene" from Gounod's "Faust," featuring Bernard Ferguson, Virginia Futrelle and Guy Golterman Jr.

ST. LOUIS—"Nobody's Widow," with Leatrice Joy and Charles Ray. On the stage: Jack Norworth and Dorothy Adelphi, in "The Nagger," a comedy sketch; Weaver Brothers, "rube" comics; Dave Apollon & Company, in a revue; Hal Neiman, hobo monologist, and Ed and Lee Traver, skaters.

AMBASSADOR — "McFadden's Flats," with Charlie Murray and Chester Conklin. On the stage: "Victor Herbert Melodies," a Publix presentation with a New York cast.

GRAND CENTRAL AND WEST END LYRIC—"The Flaming Frontier." On the stage, at the Grand Central, Gene Rodemich and his Merry Maniacs, presenting "Truths of 1927."

MISSOURI—"Love's Greatest Mistake," with Josephine Dunn and Iris Gray. On the stage: "Jazz Follies," with a cast including Bobbie Tremaine, Charles Irwin and Markel & Faun.

Millions Have Seen Shows at the Grand

Approximately 31,500,000 admissions have been paid to the Grand Opera House since it became a vaudeville theater 14 years ago, according to an announcement by Manager James P. Brennan, made in connection with the celebration of the anniversary, which begins today.

In point of capacity audiences, the Grand is recognized as one of the most consistent theaters in America.

BEHIND THE SCREENS Out in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 19.

AFTER seven months of work in this country, F. W. Murnau has completed "Sunrise," his first American picture. In its present form the picture is said to have only about a dozen subtitles. Murnau, who is now in the cutting room editing it, will probably eliminate a few more. It is his aim to let the pictures alone tell the story of elemental love which forms the central theme of "Sunrise." George O'Brien and Janet Gaynor have the principal roles. Since Winfield R. Sheehan returned a month ago to resume charge of Fox production activities in Hollywood, he has been in daily touch with Murnau's work. It was Sheehan who engaged the German director to use an original technique in producing a picture with American actors and the facilities of an American studio. After looking at "rushes" of the picture, Sheehan said he was satisfied the experiment had proved a success.

Wedding bells for Jobyna Ralston and Richard Arlen! They were married last week at Riverside, at Southern California's famous "Place of Honeymoons," the Mission Inn. Miss Ralston and Arlen admitted their engagement several months ago, shortly before the latter left for a long location trip with the "Wings" company, and announced that they would be married sometime in February. Arlen returned to the studio last week only to find that Miss Ralston had cast to play opposite him in the production as his sweetheart. That was the last straw. They persuaded Director William Wellman to allow them two days' leave and made a dash for Riverside where the knot was tied.

And another screen wedding took place last week when Shirley Mason became the bride of Sidney Landfield, movie director and writer, at the Beverly Hills home of her sister, Viola Dana. The ceremony was a surprise to the film colony, which knew nothing of the friendship between the two. She is the widow of Bernard Durning, the late film director, who died several years ago during the influenza epidemic. Miss Mason, who is just 26, has been in pictures for 10 years. She made her stage debut at the age of 4 and entered motion pictures when she was 11. She has just finished a crook melodrama called "The Wreck."

Production of Emil Jannings' first America-made starring picture, "The Man Who Forgot God," has begun. Belle Bennett, famous for her characterization in "Stella Dallas," will play opposite the Continental star. Lil Dagover, former UFA star, has the "other woman" role.

There is no villain in the piece. The hero's horse is not doped. No one tries to fix the race. The jockey is not kidnaped. The girl does not ride "The Feather" to victory in order to save the family homestead. Thus does "The Sunset Derby," the racing story now in production at First National studios, violate all motion picture traditions. It is, instead of the usual banal plot, a story of a jockey who loses his nerve through a fall and gets it back again through heroic measures taken by his friend and counsellor. Mary Astor and William Collier Jr. play the featured roles, with Ralph Lewis, Lionel Belmore and others in the supporting cast.

Reed Howes will be Clara Bow's leading man in her next picture, "Rough House Rosie," from a Saturday Evening Post story by Nunnally Johnson. Howes, attended the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration upon graduation from Utah University. Instead of undertaking a career in the world of business, however, he went on the New York stage and then followed work in pictures.

Wallace Beery will don his flying togs sooner than he had expected, for announcement has just been made that his next starring vehicle will be "Now We're in the Air." As a result of this arrangement of the production schedule "Fireman, Save My Child," which had been slated as Beery's next picture, will not be made until the air service comedy is completed. "Now We're In the Air" will round out Beery's cycle of service comedies. He began as a doughboy in "Behind the Front," followed that as a gob in "We're in the Navy Now," and now he will don aviator's garb to execute new antics in the clouds. At present Beery is engaged in making "The Big Sneeze," adapted from "Loole the Fourteenth."

Greta Nissen, the blonde Norsewoman who was in Adolphe Menjou's "Blonde or Brunette," has been chosen as Thomas Meighan's leading woman for the second successive picture. Miss Nissen, wearing a dark wig, recently finished a role as a Cuban girl in Meighan's "Blind Alleys," and now she will be the heroine in the star's next one, "We're All Gamblers."

With the Hollywood American Legion fight stadium filled to capacity, Richard Barthelmess' super-special, "The Patent Leather Kid," went into production last week. Barthelmess plays the role of a prize fighter in the opening scenes of this picture. In addition to the principals, there were 1060 extras present, and more than 100 technical workers. Molly O'Day, First National's 17-year-old "find," is playing the leading feminine role opposite Barthelmess.

Lewis Stone has just been assigned to his "most unusual role," that of a sacrificing father. He will not marry in the last reel.

Second Thoughts on First Nights

By ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.

GOADED on, I suppose, by those citizens who have more time and strength to devote to the care of their neighbors' morals than have most of us poor, hurried mortals, our Mayor and our District Attorney and our Police Commissioner grew suddenly active the other evening and arrested the producers of three current dramas as being deleterious and offensive to New York's spasmodic sense of decency.

Not only the producers but the players, as well, were herded off to the Night Court while the reporters took reams of notes and the cameras clicked in ecstacy. Next night all three plays were given as usual under the protection of a temporary injunction and by this time, I suppose, the cases are moving along the sluggish stream of justice in our courts. The final disposition of them will be faithfully reported to your grandchildren by mine.

THE three plays thus dragged off to Night Court were the adaptation of Bourdet's "La Prisonniere," known locally as "The Captive," a cheap and violent play called "Sex" and another piece known as "The Virgin Man" of which I, myself, though fairly attentive to matters theatrical along Broadway, had never chanced to hear mentioned until the city authorities thus called it to my attention.

"The Captive," which, incidentally, shut up shop soon after the police action, is a sympathetic and conspicuously moral dramatic portrait of a woman writhing unhappily, like a reluctant drug addict, in the toils of an abnormal passion, her handsome and ardent young husband being quite unable to hold her against the imperious call of another man. The play, which handles a distasteful and infrequently broached subject with tact and reticence, was produced here by the Frohman company and Gilbert Miller, who directed it, had the interesting experience of being arrested at night in New York on the charge of maintaining a public nuisance for the self-same public service which, according to news brought that very day by the cables from Paris, had led to his being decorated there by the cross of the Legion of Honor. The arrest did not come until after the play had been given to

Fairy Tales in Music for Today's "Pop" Concert

City Club Chorus, Under Direction of John Bohn, to Be Heard in Several Songs With the Orchestra.

FAIRY TALES of three nations contribute their charm of beauty, whimsy, and sprightliness in the melodies of four of the works Rudolph Ganz has chosen for the "Pop" concert program of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at the Odeon at 3:15 today. They are the Russian "Ruslan and Luydmila" as disclosed in Glinka's melodious overture; the Arabian Nights' "Young Prince and the Young Princess" as Rimsky-Korsakoff has depicted them in that section of "Scheherazade;" the French "Cinderella," as revealed in Massenet's ballet music of that name; and the "Sleeping Beauty" also French, which contributes, from the Tschaikowsky ballet it inspired, a charming waltz.

Instead of a soloist the concert will present the City Club Chorus of 30 voices, John W. Bohn, director, which will be heard in "Goin' Home," a chorus set to the music of the "Largo" from Dvorak's symphony "From the New World."

"Pop" Leader Today

John Bohn, who will conduct the City Club Chorus with the Symphony at the Odeon.

Also, to piano accompaniment of Henry Arthur, the club will sing three songs: Noll's "Four Winds," Clarke's "The Blind Ploughman," and Bliss' "The Plainsman's Song."

Organized for club gatherings three years ago the City Club Chorus was given into the hands of Mr. Bohn—a pupil of Oscar Seagle in Paris—and under his direction began to attract young professional singers to its membership. Its development in the last two years has been such as to raise its standards to the professional, and it has appeared with success in a semi-private evening concert at the Maple Avenue Methodist Church, and before the Chamber of Commerce recently. This appearance marks its debut as a factor in civic music in St. Louis. Recently in order to achieve a higher professional excellence the chorus organized as a club within the City Club, naming its officers: A. J. Watling, president, Ralph B. Campbell, secretary, Christopher L. Fontana, treasurer, and John A. Patterson, business manager.

Besides the numbers mentioned the orchestra will present an arrangement by Alfred Pochon of the Flonzaley Quartet of "Deep River," the Negro spiritual made familiar to musical audiences in H. T. Burleigh's version. It is interesting to note the kinship of this work to the Dvorak "Largo," for Burleigh was a pupil of Dvorak when the Bohemian composer was in America and was one of those who first directed his attention to the beauty of Negro themes.

Loew's Concert Today.

German composers are represented almost entirely in the program for Loew's fourteenth Sunday concert at 1:30 o'clock today. Von Weber, Wagner, Mendelssohn, Schubert, Oscar Strauss and Haydn are among those to find places in the program Don Albert, Loew's musical director, has compiled. Municipal Opera fans will find familiar melodies in the overture to Von Weber's "Der Freischutz," and in the selections from Strauss' "The Chocolate Soldier." In the latter are included such melodious favorites as "Sympathy, "The Bulgarians," "Falling in Love," the "Letter Song" and "My Hero." Heavier opera is represented by Richard Wagner's "Traume" ("Dreams") from "Tristan and Isolde." Haydn has his "Military Symphony," Mendelssohn his "Italian Symphony," in that form of musical writing. One of Franz Schubert's musical bits, "The Bee," will also be included in the program. Virginia Futrelle, dramatic soprano, will act as soloist, singing Oscar Condon's "Springtime."

is the mistress of the Farnum household. Farnum was lured from his fireside only long enough to act his part in "The Flaming Frontier." In this Western picture, Farnum impersonates Gen. George A. Custer, who, with his command, the Seventh United States Cavalry, was massacred by the Sioux at the battle of the Little Big Horn on June 25, 1876.

AND while on the subject of old-timers how about "McFadden's Flats" which, in picture form, is at the Ambassador this week? Someone, bent on statistics, recently computed that "McFadden's Flats," once a comedy "classic" of the stage, has been seen by more people than any stage production in American history, with the exception of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

And now that it is made the subject for a screen offering, the same expert says that it probably will be viewed by more audiences in six months than during its entire previous stage existence.

"McFadden's Flats' has been shown on the stage for somewhat more than 30 years. The same statistical authority estimates that it never was shown fewer than 500 times any year of that period and that a part of the time found not fewer than 10 or 12 companies playing it.

As a result of this estimate, he believes that it was seen by 50,000 audiences; estimated on a basis of 200 people to an audience—and that is a low estimate—10,000,000 people have seen the stage version of the old laugh producer.

Should the customary 80 prints be made for the picture and these used but twice a day during the coming year the picture will be seen by 58,400 audiences. If the audiences average but 300—a low average for movie audiences—the antics of Charlie Murray, Chester Conklin and their associated fun makers will have been witnessed by 17,520,000 people in the coming 12 months!

BUT to get away from the old times. Some of the 16 Paramount Junior stars who were selected from thousands of applicants throughout the country about a year ago and put through a period of training are making rapid strides towards screen popularity. Famous Players signed most of them to long term contracts following the training period and are giving them every opportunity, it seems to make good.

One of the first to receive attention in a big way was Mona Palma, who recently appeared opposite Thomas Meighan in "The Canadian." "Buddy" Rogers, one of the most promising of the youngsters, and who, by the way, is a Missouri boy, hailing from Kansas City, has played minor roles in a number of pictures, but just recently was given his big chance in "Wings," a "special" based on army aviation.

Rogers and Ivy Harris, junior stars, took the leading roles in "Fascinating Youth," the picture that featured all of the 16 juniors and with which they made personal appearances in most of the larger cities of the country, including St. Louis. They later played together with W. C. Fields in "So's Your Old Man," and Ivy made such a hit with the movie magnates and the comedian in this picture that she later was chosen to play the lead opposite Fields in "The Potters," a picture to be released soon.

The piquant blond beauty, Josephine Dunn, who entered the training school after stage experiences, apparently stands out as the most promising of the feminine juniors. She was given the leading role in "Love's Greatest Mistake," a comedy romance based on Frederic Arnold Kummer's $50,000 magazine prize winning story, which is showing at the Missouri Theater this week.

Playing with her in this production is Iris Gray, another baby star and since Paramount and Lya de Putti have severed relations, indications are that they are grooming Miss Gray to play wicked vampire roles.

SECOND THOUGHTS ON FIRST NIGHTS

crowded houses for more than 150 performances.

THE less notable piece bashfully entitled "Sex" had run for more than 300 performances before the police seemed to awake to its iniquity. This is the melodrama written and acted by a previously obscure actress named Mae West.

In the deplorable hilarity following her arrest, some light-minded citizen suggested that, in the event of her being unable to obtain bail, she might be visited by Rebecca West, a fellow authoress from overseas now sojourning in New York. It was his suggestion that the two could employ this enforced leisure by collaborating in the hoosegow on a play entitled "Go West, Young Man."

The third alleged culprit was "The Virgin Man," an opus so puny that its disheartened management had already posted notice on the backstage bulletin board warning the actors to look for other engagements. Then came the glad news that the police were coming and the stories of the arrest proved such helpful advertising that the manager hurriedly extended his tenancy of the theater for another month.

A SOUND, standardized idea, moderately well worked out, makes a tolerable evening in the theater out of the piece called, for reasons which escape me, "Off Key." This had its local hearing at the Belmont, with a luxuriant cast made possible in a season of which the ups and downs have left a lot of our best players at what is technically known as liberty.

In "Off Key," Arthur Caesar has taken up as a subject of inspection the radical novelist who jeers, in print, at the old-fashioned possessive husband, and then, when he finds that his own wife had had a past, reverts to type.

Kenneth Reynolds had so often, so publicly and so remuneratively aired his liberal views on the subject of marriage that when he hears for the first time that his wife had not gone to the altar inexperienced he is scarcely free to indulge in an ex post facto rage.

He may feel a stout inner impulse to hunt up that lover if only for the personal satisfaction of knocking him down. He may even hear from his Cro-Magnon past deep intimations that it would not be unpleasant also to give his bride a sock in the nose. But the surface of him has other notions, and the consequent self-repression makes him rather a fretful and waspish fellow to have around the house. Mr. Caesar's play is most interesting when it catches these fleeting glimpses of the ancient impulses thus escaping by another channel to the waiting immemorial sea.

FOR the most part, however, the play seems to me maladroitly written and almost oafishly clumsy in its mere mechanics. In its performance Florence Eldridge, Lucille Watson, McKay Morris and Albert Hackett are excellent, especially Mr. Hackett, who is an uncommonly skillful, deft and inventive comedian.

I could wish perhaps that Mr. Morris would not be left alone on the stage with his distresses. He feels then a need to replace the now forbidden soliloquies with long, florid harangues in mere facial expression and the results are sometimes a little trying.

Yet there are evidences in the performance as a whole that Rollo Lloyd is an excellent director. He is the same recent luminary who so startled us all last spring when he put on a revival of "The Bells." The revival was proceded by a world-wide search for the ideal actor to follow in the footsteps of the late Sir Henry Irving. Every one was mentioned among the possibilities from Lionel Barrymore to Gregory Kelly.

As the great night neared, one gathered that the chase was growing hot. Would it, one wondered, be Katchaloff of Moscow? Or Walter Hampden? Or the younger Barrymore? Then the great night came and—Surprise! Surprise!—the part was played by Mr. Lloyd himself.

Behind the Screens

OUT IN HOLLYWOOD.

"His Son" is the tentative title for the photoplay production of "Lorenzo the Magnificent," a story by Garrett Fort. Besides Stone, "His Son" features in the cast Lilyan Tashman, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Ann Rork, E. J. Ratcliff and Andre Beranger.

Colleen Moore's vacation, taken when the vacations of most persons are either a faded memory or a dim vision of the future, is nearly at an end. Within two weeks, the star will begin work on "Naughty But Nice," a comedy with a finishing school in Washington, D. C., as its background.

Two graduates of the 1915 class of Ziegfeld's Follies are reunited on the lot in Hollywood. They are Lilyan Tashman and Vivien Oakland, and they are both playing vamps, Miss Tashman in "Evening Clothes" in support of Adolphe Menjou, and Miss Oakland in "Beautiful Women" in support of Raymond Griffith. Among others of the class of 1915 who have gathered in pictures are Mae Murray, Olive Thomas, Ann Pennington, Justine Johnstone, Ina Claire, Leon Errol, W. C. Fields, Ed Wynn, Bert Williams, Bernard Granville, Marion Davies and Dagmar Oakland.

Jocelyn Lee, one of the few redheads in pictures, has been cast to play the vamp in "Afraid to Love," Florence Vidor's next starring release. Clive Brook is leading man of the picture.

With the filming of the final scenes in Constance Talmadge's latest comedy drama, "Venus of Venice," the blond star has completed the thirtieth feature picture of her screen career. It is a little more than 10 years since she first burst into fame in D. W. Griffith's "Intolerance." The story of "Venus of Venice" revolves around the adventures of a reckless young water gypsy who steals hearts and purses in the pleasure haunts of the Italian canal city. The supporting cast includes Antonio Moreno, Julanne Johnston, Edward Martindel, Michael Vavitch, Carmelita Geraghty, Anton Vaverka, Arthur Thalasso, Andre Lenoy, Hedda Hopper, Mario Carillo, Tom Ticketts and Charles Herzinger.

The only "American" girl in the picturization of "The Whirlwind of Youth" does not speak a word of English!. The strange circumstance is brought about through the casting of Vera Voronina, Russian actress, in the part of Cornelia Evans in Rowland V. Lee's production of A. Hamilton Gibb's "Soundings," in which Lois Moran has the principal feminine role.

Eddie Cantor's next screen comedy following "Special Delivery" will be "The Girl Friend," an adaptation of the musical comedy. "Good Service" will follow "The Girl Friend."

Babe Ruth, sometimes called George Herman Ruth and otherwise referred to as "the Sultan of Swat," has embarked upon his new career. Ruth, the most spectacular figure baseball has developed, arrived in Hollywood last week to make his debut in motion pictures, and the day after his arrival he was before the cameras. He will appear in a picture called "Babe Comes Home." Co-featured with the Bambino is Anna Q. Nilsson. Players of the supporting cast have not as yet been announced. The story in which Ruth is the central figure is based upon the Gerald Beaumont story, "Said With Soap." Initial scenes were taken at Wrigley Field, Los Angeles, which is the Pacific Coast League diamond of that city. Ruth's arrival in Hollywood was greeted by Natalie Kingston, First National leading lady, and other 1927 Wampas Baby stars, some of whom saluted the celebrated home-run hitter with kisses, thereby rendering him speechless for interviews by reporters. With him on the train was his trainer, Arthur McGovern, who will stay with the Babe throughout his film experience.

Florence Turner, the old Vitagraph star, is to be seen once again on the screen in Buster Keaton's new college comedy for United Artists.

New Opera for The Municipal

"The Song of the Flame" to Replace "The Balkan Princess" in Forest Park Repertory.

THE Municipal Theater has been granted exclusive producon rights to "The Song of the Flame," one of last season's New York opera successes, and this work will take the place of "The Balkan Princess" in the 1927 Municipal Opera repertory, it was announced yesterday. Owing to the many requests the association has received for a repetition of "The Red Mill," it has been decided to substitute this Victor Herbert-Henry Blossom extravaganza for Kalman's "Miss Springtime" in next summer's opera list.

The production of "The Song of the Flame" at the Municipal Theater will mark the first presentation of the opera in St. Louis. It was produced by Arthur Hammerstein in New York in the fall of 1925 and played a full season at the 44th Street Theater. The Hammerstein production of the work was so heavy that the subsequent road tour of the piece had to be confined to only a few cities where extended runs were possible.

As now constituted, the 1927 Municipal Opera repertory is evenly divided between pieces that are new to the Municipal Theater stage and pieces that have been produced during previous Municipal Opera seasons. The list is a most diversified one and is truly representative of the various types of musical plays.

In addition to "The Song of the Flame" and "Rose Marie," the new works include "The Dollar Princess," "The Serenade," "Princess Pat" and "Tales of Hoffman," the latter being the only grand opera in the list. The repeat works are "Katinka," "The Mikado," "Sari," "Robin Hood," "The Red Mill" and "Gypsy Love."

older and better known star of a generation back, Christine Nielsen, is Swedish.

"WHY MEN LEAVE HOME," this week's play at the Empress, was first produced at the Morosco Theater in New York. It was written by Avery Hopwood, author of "The Bat" and other successes. The comedy points out that men are not always to blame for marital disturbances; that men want quiet homes; that men want to be fathers; that men want their wives' love. If they don't get all of those things, it is the Hopwood argument that it is the wives' fault. Before the final curtain falls in "Why Men Leave Home," the Wives of the play realize the mistakes they have made and plan to operate on a different schedule in the future. The production will be signalized by the return to the cast of Alice Baker in the role of Grandma. Miss Baker fractured the bones of an ankle by a fall just before Christmas, and for weeks wore a cast while the injured parts were knitting. She is quite herself again.

THE Orpheum has drawn heavily on musical comedy this week, as every offering has been featured in several Broadway musical shows. Sylvia Clark, tiny comedienne, who is co-featured with William Gaxton, has been featured in editions of "Hitchy Koo" and the "Music Box Revue," and Gaxton has been in such successes as "Betty Lee," "All for You" and the "Music Box Revue." Miss Clark has a song group for her vaudeville vehicle and Gaxton will present a comedy playlet, "Partners." Gaxton, when not otherwise engaged, appears in pictures, the latest movie in which he had a part being "The Old Army Game." Another featrue of the bill will be Dezso Retter, English pantomimic comic, who was Charlie Chaplin's first vaudeville partner. He, too, has been in a number of musical shows, including "The Merry Whirl" and "Passions of 1926." The Rath Brothers also are from musical comedy, as are some of the members of the cast of "The Parisiennes," and Arthur Corey, former St. Louis resident, has danced in half a dozen revues.

"The Cat and the Canary," John Willard's mystery drama, returns to St. Louis for a week beginning Feb. 27, at the American Theater. Ina Claire comes to the American for a week, beginning Monday night, March 7, in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," the crook comedy by Frederick Lonsdale which has made a favorable impression elsewhere. Miss Claire, a delightful comedienne and an actress of rare gifts and personal charm, finds herself in a perfectly fitting role. "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" is reported to be rather notable for its novelty of story, its moments of thrill, and for the brilliace of its dialogue. The players supporting Ina Claire are Roland Young and James Dale.

Bertha Kalich is coming to the Shubert for three nights only on March 7, 8 and 9 in "The Riddle Woman." The last part of that week will be given over to Harry Lauder. "The Judge's Husband," with William Hodge as the star, appears at the Shubert for one week commencing Sunday, March 13. During the week beginning Sunday night, March 27, the Shubert will present Al Jolson in "Big Boy," with a company numbering over 100.

Taylor—Millay Opera Has Its First Hearing

"The King's Henchman," in English, Produced at the Metropolitan in New York Before Enthusiastic Audience.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.

DEAD by his own hand, a traitor to honor for sake of love, young Aethelwold, Earl of East Anglia, who had been so blithe and fair, was borne to his grave on the shoulders of retainers while from chorus and orchestra keened a grief of classic tension and continence.

Upon a close thus moving and noble fell the Metropolitan's curtain last Thursday night at the world-premiere of a three-act opera in English, "The King's Henchman," with book by Edna St. Vincent Millay, and score by Deems Taylor.

An audience thronged with celebrieties of art, finance and society volleyed its applause to the welkin and summoned librettist, composer, cast and executives from the curtain of innumerable bows after each act. Finally they stood alone—the scholarly musician and the girlish, frail young poetess—with wreaths of myrtle as tall as themselves.

Together they had contrived a third act of singular force and eloquence—an omen, I believe of future creations that will be of significance to the art of grand opera. If the earlier acts betrayed only too obvious marks of experiment, each was making a first essay in a new field. Miss Millay had written distinguished poems and play but not before a drama for music. Mr. Taylor had composed charming works for orchestra and chorus, but was trying his hand for the first time in opera.

ON her side, Miss Millay succeeded in fashioning what is surely the most remarkable opera book in existence, and the most poetic since "Pelleas Et Melisande." It is remarkable as a linguistic tour de force. Since the locale of the play is England of the Tenth century, prior to Norman conquest, she laid upon herself the task of recreating a diction purely Anglo-Saxon. Expert for a few ecclesiastical terms, there is not a syllable of Latin in derivation in the opera.

A technical difficulty was in framing a speech that would be lucid, euphonious and singable. Her text possesses these qualities to an admirable degree. It is more intelligible to a modern reader than "Chaucer's Canterbury Tales." It abounds in lines of verbal music. And it is easier t osing that Wagner's German poetry, to which it bears a racial kinship in wealth of consonants and deliberate use of the old Teutonic ornament of alliteration.

The spiritual task remained of molding this language into a conveyance of poetic inspiration, and here Miss Millay's triumph touches on genius. The book is heaped with verbal felicities, strokes of imagery and slashes of gruff, salt humor. This rude speech is capable of magic:

"The like of thee
Sings not nor blossoms."

Offsetting these brilliant virtues, the first act is cluttered with conversations and exposition which are delightful to read, but which, being cerebral instead of emotional, have as little affinity with melody music as a menu card.

CONFRONTED with such passages, the composer may do one of three things. He may decide against selling them altogether, and relegate the work to the spoken stage. He may compromise by eliminating as many of them as is consistent with the further existence of the poet—and this Mr. Taylor had the firmness and diplomacy to achieve to a heroic extent, as a comparison of the complete play with the libretto will show. Finally, he may imitate the ruthless altruism of DeBussy, whose recitative for Maeterlinck's tragedy represents the total abdication of the composer in behalf of the poet.

It so happens that Mr. Taylor's idol is not Claude DeBussy, but Richard Wagner, who as a musician had not the slightest idea of abdicating for God or man. The resultant clash accounts, in my opinion, for the ineffectiveness of much of the earlier part of the opera. Here was text worthy being heard, which DeBussy would delicately have pointed with unobtrusive declamation; instead it was swamped in a flood of Wagner's orchestral melos. The difference was profounder than a matter of inaudible text. Owing to irreconcilable methods, the two arts of language and music united only by accident and for the most part flowed along separate parallels and irrelevancies. It was only in the third act that they became indissolubly coalescent. This was because, on the one hand, Miss Millay began writing text fraught with emotion, while Mr. Taylor, at last finding his own feet, gained skill to write declamation that was trenchant instead of mediocre and discovered that it was not necessary, simply because he had a large orchestra at his command, to score for all the instruments all the time.

It is the third act, on of singular force and eloquence, which serves as an omen for future work by Miss Millay and Mr. Taylor that may well prove of significance to the art of grand opera. One had the joy of hearing not only intelligible language, his own language, coming across the operatic footlights, but language of distinction and beauty. He had the added pleasure of savoring music original, exalted and poignant. Such an achievement as act II of "The King's Henchman" should prove a springboard for accomplishments of moment not merely to the opera in English crusade, but to the cause of beauty itself.

EVEN during its experimental stage, Mr. Taylor's music had outstandin g merits. He is a trained writer for orchestra and chorus and his instrumentation possessed clarity, strength and color. Being himself a veteran wielder of words, he set the text with a care which followed the accents of the individual words and also the cadence and modulation of the sentences. Until he found his own tongue, there were abundant echoes from "Die Meistersinger", "Tristan" and "Das Rheingold"—echoes of idiom and method it should be added rather appropriation.

Contrary no doubt to the intent of both librettist and composer, it is the King Eadgar of Lawrence Tibbett which emerged as the shining figure of the production, thanks to his singing of the fine lament over Aethelwold's treachery.

Mme. Easton brought to the faintly distasteful role of Aelfrida her excellent musicianship, expert diction and emotional power, but scarcely the physique of 17-year-old girl. Her beautiful singing made ample amends. Mr. Johnson stamped about vehemently, with sweeping gestures as Aetholwold. There were some 25 other minor characters. Mr. Serafin conducted with such zeal as often to drown out the singers. Joseph Urban provided the sets, which were by no means his happiest exploits.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water.

Peel Away That Ugly Complexion

If your face is soiled, faded, withered, freckled or blemished, you must peel those defects away. Underneath that ugly covering, you will find a skin as soft and delicately shaded as a rose petal. Remove this dead, scarf skin, quickly and surely with pure mercolized wax. Obtain an ounce from your druggist or any beauty counter, and apply to your face like a cream, at night before retiring. In the morning, wash it off with clear water. The lifeless, surface skin has been absorbed and is washed away with the wax, taking with it freckles, blackheads, dry parched skin, pimples, liver spots and all facial blemishes. The young full blooded skin beneath blooms forth. The wax is absolutely harmless, and its power is certain and effective. Mercolized wax brings out the hidden beauty.

ST. LOUIS AUTO SHOW OPENS TOMORROW FOR WEEK

AMERICAN CARS DECLARED TO BE FINEST IN WORLD

This Not Only From Viewpoint of Performance but Also in Appearance, Says Paris Correspondent

SURPASS EUROPEAN MEDIUM-PRICED CARS

Few Hand-Built Models Compete With American Designs, but They Are More Costly.

"The truth is that American automobiles are the finest in the world, not only from the standpoint of performance, but also in appearance," declares Russell Barnes, writing from Paris as staff correspondent for the Detroit News.

"There are some few exceptional ones, of course," Barnes continued. "like the Isotta-Fraschini, Hispano-Suiza, Rolls Royce, Mercedes or Renault, that through their individuality make definite appeal to particular persons, but taking the industry all the way through, from flivvers to most luxurious custom jobs, the American cars are by far the better looking and comfortable.

"The way to approach the problem is by comparing the cars of particular chassis, not by taking the fine hand-made automobiles mentioned above and holding them up in contrast to American cheap and medium-priced machines. American cars in the class of the Packard, Lincoln, Cadillac and such jobs, make just as fine appearance as any cars in the world. The proof is not only in comparing them but Europeans buy them in competition with their own cars. And Europeans do not have such a love for things American that they buy American products merely for sentiment's sake. In fact, the real tendency is against things American.

European Cars Inferior.

"When you drop down from the luxury class among the medium-priced cars you find the American superiority overwhelming. There are no automobiles in the world to compare with Chrysler, Buick, udebaker, Hupmobile, Hudson, ige, and the others in this price division. Foreign manufacturers do not turn out such cars at the prices these American machines sell for. Not only are they superior in beauty and performance to their European counterparts, but abroad they are ranked with the foreign cars. You see them running around over Europe with liveried drivers in front and fine ladies and gentlemen behind. They are accorded as much respect as $5000 machines in the United States.

"European automobiles in this class are quite inferior. No American would buy a small Renault, nhard, Peugeot, or Fiat in comparison. They not only are much more awkward in appearance but they lack the performance of comparative American jobs.

"In the cheap car division honors are more even. The Baby Renault and the Citroen, to name only two, are both good-looking automobiles, possibly smarter looking than the tiny American machines. The big reason is that they are usually turned out with enclosed bodies and it is much easier to build a smart, small sport car than is a good-looking small coupe or sedan.

Hand Built Bodies.

"In the field of high-priced smart cars the European builders may enjoy superiority, although even that is questionable. American custom-body builders turn out very fine creations. But the lines and details of the smartest Continental machines are undeniably impressive in their suggestion of grace and speed. They are handmade, like the finest Swiss watches, and better work is of course possible by such methods than under a mass production system. They can also be kept more up-to-date mechanically because it is possible to improve them without changing over an entire factory, such as is necessary under American methods.

"Careful hand labor also produces a finer-looking chassis. The outside finish of a motor and driving gear, of course, has nothing to do with its efficiency but it does give it a better appearance. Expensive European chassis are enameled and polished until they are like mirrors. like mirrors."

PREDICTS 1927 WILL BE TWO-CAR FAMILY YEAR

President of National Automobile Chamber of Commerce Reviews Outlook for Industry at Home and Abroad.

By CHARLES CLIFTON
President of National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

1927 will be a motor transport year. Automobiles will be employed increasingly in every kind of transportation service.

There is evidence on all sides that the motor car has advanced from the stage of being a general convenience to a point where living conditions are predicated on having this mode of travel for everyone in the family.

It might be said that 1927 will be a year of the two-car family. But that statement is too limited and does not go deep enough into the situation.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce recently sent 25,000 queries to families in all parts of the United States. Forty per cent of those who answered stated that their families owned more than one car. While the bulk of these were two-car families, some homes had three and four automobiles.

The significant thing, however, was not simply the number of cars owned, but the conditions which required this multiple ownership.

Car for Hired Man.

A man in Brazil, Ind., for instance, has one car for the hired men, one for his son in business, one for himself in business, and one for his wife. Many report that one car is used by the children in going to school, particularly where the family lives in a rural section. On the farm many instances are given where one automobile is a general utility car for hauling milk and other products, and the other machine is used by the family.

Bearing in mind the significance of this situation, the strong features of 1927 appear to be:

The domestic market.
The trade abroad.
The sales value of low prices.
Improved farm conditions.

All of these suggestions are, of course, inter-related, but I think it is worth while to stress particularly the importance of the domestic market because there is frequently the tendency to think that because we now have 22,000,000 motor vehicles in the country, progress in the local field must be at an end.

As a matter of fact, history of the last 10 years has shown us conclusively that the greatest guarantee of business is a large volume of motor vehicle registrations. Why are these families owning more than one car? Because the very structure of business and society is based on the assumption that everyone has an automobile. Suburbs are built radiating from the towns and from the railroads on the presumption that a motor car will always be available for those living in such homes.

Outlook Bright for Export Trade.

There are a few sections of the country where the transportation situation is not typical. In New York City, in downtown Chicago, in Philadelphia, to some degree in Detroit, the urgency of automobile ownership is not as pressing as in other parts of the country. Those who live in these cities must bear in mind that only 12 per cent of the automobiles are owned in cities having 500,000 population or more.

We have been going ahead in this industry on the basis of 4,500,000 vehicles, and when on considers the total registration figure, that production schedule seems to be sound and conservative.

Especially cheering is the outlook for trade abroad. While the domestic market will continue to provide the great volume of our business, yet the foreign field is equally as important in its future trade possibilities.

Our foreign trade managers in this industry are agreed that we shall soon be exporting more than 1,000,000 motor vehicles annually, and it is well within the range of probability that the total will reach 750,000 in 1927.

Truck Production Record

By WINDSOR T. WHITE
(Chairman, Motor Truck Committee National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.)

Eclipsing all previous records and for the first time exceeding the half million mark, truck production for 1926 reached a total in excess of 530,000 units. Included in this total are approximately 15,000 vehicles put in use as motor busses. Previous high production totals were established in 1925 with 497,452 units, 1923 with 392,760 units, and 1924 with 374,317 units.

The economics of truck and bus transportation have become so well understood during the past year that there has been a notable increase in the number of vehicles used by every branch of industry. Particularly notable has this been in the case of the older transportation agencies. More than 60 steam railroads are now using motor trucks directly or indirectly to supplement their freight service and over 40 railroads are using hundreds of motor busses to supplement their passenger service. Some 350 street railways are now operating approximately 7000 motor busses in replacing of, or in addition to, their street-car service.

Rural Owners Largest Group.

By far the largest single type of truck use is by owners having rural free delivery mail addresses. In an exhaustive survey made during the year accounting for 2,225,008 trucks, 219,539 were found in the hands of r.f.d. owners. Other leading industries included groceries and other food products, 130,690; road contractors, 74,141; automobile accessories and supplies, 69,198; general trucking, 62,542; oils and gasoline, 49,008; and lumber logging and mill work, 45,072.

A feature of this analysis is the fact that there were found to be 1,603,709 individual owners of motor trucks in the United States each owning an average of 1.3 trucks.

Further light upon the extent and potentialities of truck and bus transportation is shed by a comparison of railroad and highway mileage. Steam railroads operate over about 250,000 miles of track, reaching every individual farm and home in the country and of which over 500,000 miles is of an improved type of construction.

Regulation Not Needed.

So great has become the importance of commercial motor transportation that the United States Government took official cognizance of it last year. Several bills were introduced in Congress calling for regulation of trucks and busses in interstate commerce. Hearings on these held by committees of the Senate and the House revealed little opposition to fair bus regulation, but decided hostility to regulation of motor trucks on the ground that the public is now amply protected by the fact that it is feasible for individuals and corporations to own their own trucks, and supply their own service, if the public service truck companies do not give satisfactory service.

80,000 Busses in Use.

In some sections of the country motor truck service is available over regular routes, on fixed schedules. This type of common carrier operation, moving generally from truck terminal to truck terminal, is very similar to railroad service. In some parts such operations are conducted for distances of 300 miles.

It is estimated that 80,000 motor busses were in use Jan. 1, 1927.

GREATER DEMAND FOR TRUCKS ABROAD SEEN

Increase in Use of All Commercial Vehicles in Foreign Countries Predicted.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Great gains in the use of commercial vehicles abroad will be the feature of the motor export trade in 1927, according to Walton Schmidt, who is attending a series of conferences at motor plants in the Middle West.

Schmidt, as field representative of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce recently returned from a trip around the world.

Numerically, of course, the passenger car will be the largest part of the trade, Schmidt said, but the percentage of growth in the next 12 months will be in favor of the truck and bus, especially because this field has been relatively neglected and hampered by various special situations.

The commercial market abroad, for instance, has been glutted with army vehicles ever since the war.

Schmidt's view of the situation follows:

"It is very evident that the sale of motor trucks will be an important factor of the automotive market in colonial territory.

"The motor truck is now just coming into its own. It is probable that in many countries the percentage of increase in truck sales over the previous year will exceed the increase in passenger car sales for several years to come.

"In Java, Malaya, India, and East and South Africa the plantation owners are demanding the building of roads to enable them to bring their products to the ports. Everywhere there is a great stimulus in road building and with the coming of better roads will come an increasing demand for motor trucks.

3 BILLION BUS FARES PAID IN U. S. IN 1926 ESTIMATE

Three billion motorbus fares were paid in the United States during 1926, according to estimates based on 1925 figures and on new bus line extensions. Including school busses, about 69,000 busses are now operating in this country.

EXHIBIT TO BE MOST ELABORATE YET HELD IN CITY

Displays of Cars, Accessories, Trucks and Shop Equipment to Occupy 135,000 Square Feet.

CARS SHOWN COST UP TO $22,500

Decorative Scheme Said to Be Most Striking Seen at Any of 20 Annual Showings.

"Unusual motor cars" will probably best describe the showing which will be made of 1927 automobiles at the twentieth annual St. Louis Automobile Show, which will begin in the new Union Market at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and will continue through the week until Saturday night. The management of the show declares that this will be the most elaborate and inclusive motor car exhibition ever held in St. Louis and one of the most elaborate ever held in the United States.

There will be shown at it virtually all of the cars seen in the national shows at Chicago and New York—all under the one roof in the new Union Market Building, which occupies a city block between Broadway and Sixth street and Lucas avenue and Morgan street.

On the three floors used for exhibits in the automobile show there are 135,000 square feet of space. This is divided so that 10-foot aisles separate the various car and accessory exhibits making easy progress for crowds and preventing congestion.

Difficult Electrical Work.

For 10 days craftsmen have been installing additional electric lighting and power lines on the three upper floors. Carpenters have been equally busy erecting booths for accessory and shop equipment exhibitors and covering in the unsightly spaces and walling in the building's maintenance machinery to prevent possibility of accidents. The electrical installation insures that there will be three times as much light for the automobile show as is ordinarily used when the building is in service as a public parking palce.

All of the machinery in the shop equipment exhibit, which occupies 6000 square feet of space, requires alternating current. The leads into the building are for direct current, so a large motor with generators has been installed to change the current from direct to alternating, so that the shop equipment machinery and power tools can be seen in operation.

Cars Costing Up to $22,500.

The showing of motor cars includes every make handled in the City of St. Louis and nearly all the trucks and commercial motor vehicles. In the passenger car sections, which are scattered over the three exhibit floors, will be shown 288 different body styles, the products of 50 automobile manufacturing plants. Two of these are St. Louis concerns, the Moon and the Gardner companies. In the array will be cars of every price, ranging from the Ford, which is the lowest priced, to the big McFarlan and Rolls-Royce, ranging up to $22,500.

This year a number of the manufacturers of motor cars have brought out smaller lines which they call "companion" models. Some of them have the "big six" and the "little six," and others have the "big eight" and the "little eight." In several instances wholly new cars are shown. All of the cars, however, are new in design or finish or construction. Nearly every distrubtor has put into the show his unusual cars.

Many New Color Schemes.

Not the least attractive feature of the show will be the new color schemes adopted by virtually all manufacturers for their 1927 lines. Sombre black will be noticeable for its scarceness, and its place will be taken by charming body color schemes and color designs that in some instances are rather startling. They are, however, this year's style, and style rules the automobile industry as much as it does women's gowns. Any woman who has a favorite color scheme for her costumes will have no difficulty in matching her taste in dress with a motor car of the correct color.

In the 11 exhibits of trucks and commercial cars will be included the better known lines, and this will have a striking interest for business men, to whom the problem of moving merchandise is a big one. Unusual truck body styles, and equally unusual body styles and finishes for lighter delivery cars, will be displayed.

In the truck department there will be trucks ranging from one and one-half tons to five tons capacity. In the delivery car displays will be a number of new body styles designed to meet the needs of various lines of business. This display also will include dump trucks, and there will be two exhibits of road tractors and two exhibits of motor truck bodies not mounted on chasses.

Shop Equipment.

For the first time at any automobile show, there will be a separate display, in 6000 square feet of floor space, of automobile shop equipment. Thirty-four manufacturers of shop and power machinery and hand tools, will make displays under the auspices of seven of the St. Louis jobbers of automobile parts and accessories. These jobbers are the Fred Campbell Auto Supply Co., Beck & Corbitt Co., Koochook Co., Fleer-Betty Auto Accessories Co., Campbell Iron Co., Sligo Iron Store Co. and the Straus Company. In this exhibit all of the power machinery will be in operation electrically.

Arrangements have been made with various distributors of motor cars to bring their territory dealers to the show on specified dates to see the machinery in operation and to have manufacturers' representatives explain to dealers, garagemen and shop men and service men. These "clinics" will be conducted each day from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. exclusively for dealers and service men. The purpose of this exhibit is to show first to the shop men, and, second, to the public the great importance of efficient machinery and tools for repairing or overhauling cars and the vast advantage in accuracy and economy to the car owner of a shop equipped with it instead of a shop using only hand tools and crude equipment.

Thirty-one exhibitors of accessory lines will show a wide variety of accessories, necessities and improvements and embellishments for motor cars. This accessory display will be inclusive of everything from a new-style carburetor to motor oils.

The "layout" of the show is different from that of the 1926 show. The shop equipment exhibit lines and accessories are on the top floor of the show, which is the fourth floor of the building. On this floor also will be shown the higher-priced motor cars. The second floor of the show, which is the third floor of the building, will be given over exclusively to showing motor cars of the middle price range. On the first floor of the show, or the second floor of the building, five lines of motor cars will be shown in the center spaces, and the truck and tractor exhibits will be lined around the outer walls on the three sides along Lucas avenue and Broadway and Morgan street.

A feature of the building is the easy ramps by which visitors can reach the several floors. The entrance to the show will be at Lucas avenue and Broadway up the first ramp, with which many thousands of motor car drivers in St. Louis are familiar from having used the building to park cars.

The show is to be elaborately decorated. The George A. Trahan Co. of Cohoes, N. Y., specialists in decoration of large buildings, have worked out, with the aid of an eminent color artist, a different color scheme for each floor. The main entrance, which will lead 190 feet straight up and back, is to have a striking decorative note. The visitor will then turn to the right and into the show, and will find himself confronted with a mass of light pink-covered walls, windows and ceiling. Draped over this will he harmonizing hangings. The second floor of the show will be finished in a light green with similar harmonizing drapings, and the top floor will be a blaze of light yellow. In addition, each exhibit will have in its own booth palms and ferns and fresh and artificial flowers in baskets.

Rest rooms have been provided on each of the floors, including ladies' rest rooms with maids in attendance, and there will be lunch rooms and soft drink stands. A string orchestra is to play on each floor under the general direction of Walter Weber, who has furnished the music for the automobile shows in St. Louis for 11 years.

The planning of this civic enterprise which will probably bring to St. Louis 100,000 visitors during its six days, was done by an advisory show committee composed of Edward Weber of the Weber Motor Co., Walter H. Vesper of the Vesper-Buick Auto Co., Guy W. Oliver of the Oliver Cadillac Co. and George Weber of the Weber Implement and Auto Co. The management and the execution of the plans was handled, as for the past 20 years in St. Louis, by Capt. Robert E. Lee, who is manager of the St Louis Automobile Dealers' Association and of the Automotive Accessory Association of St. Louis.

The show will be open each of the six days from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

FEDERAL TRUCK CO. HAS BODY AND CAB FACTORY

Few Chassis Leave Plant in Detroit Without Specified Bodies and Cabs.

Few, if any, chassis leave the Federal motor truck factory at Detroit without bodies and cabs specified to go with them. This, according to R. T. Hodgkins, general sales manager of the company, is proof that truck buyers realize how a truck manufacturer is qualified to design and build a truck body and cab.

"Load distribution," Hodgins said, "is one of the most important factors, not only in the design of the chassis, but in the design and building of the boy. In designing a chassis our engineers lay importance on this point, for the last 16 years, in which this company has been devoting all of its time to the building of motor vehicles to meet every requirement of truck transportation this factor has proved itself one of the most important, in regard to not only low cost per ton mile but also to maintenance and operation over a long period.

"The truck manufacturer who builds his own bodies and is in position to have them designed and in production when a chassis is introduced. "At all times," Hodgkins said, "the buyer is saved delay and any doubt as to the suitability of a body which he might purchase from an outside source.

"The Federal Motor Truck Co. was manufacturing only chassis a comparatively short time before it realized the importance of operating its own body and cab plant."

THE ENDURING THINGS ARE THE HAND-BUILT THINGS

IT is hand-building that makes the Pierce-Arrow at once the most desirable and inexpensive car to own and operate. In this hand-building with the finest quality of tested materials, you have the reason for the stalwart ability of the Pierce-Arrow chassis to stand up, no matter how long or vigorously you use it.

Because of this hand-building, wear does not undermine the staunchness of a Pierce-Arrow body nor does time mar its aristocratic good style.

If Pierce-Arrow were content to trade on its legendary fame, and delegate its responsibilities to others, enormous quantities of motor cars could be manufactured and sold.

But they would not be hand-built cars—and therefore they would not be Pierce-Arrows.

Hand-building does not make the Pierce-Arrow a high-priced car. The Series 80 two-door coach at $2995 is an example. Easily maneuvered 130-inch wheelbase. Operating economy usually equaling and often surpassing that of cars costing less. Pierce-Arrow nitro-cellulose lacquer finish in twenty-six charming color choices without extra assessment. Balloon tires, four-wheel brakes and Houdaille double-acting shock absorbers standard equipment.

AUBURN MOTOR CARS EXHIBITED IN 3 SERIES

Company Offers Numerous Models of Straight Eight and Six-Cylinder Types.

Auburn cars in three series—a six and two straight eights—are shown by the Mound City Auto Co. Of these, the 6-66A and 8-77 were announced a few weeks ago, while the 8-88 is being continued with several refinements.

Having acquired the factories of the Lexington Motor Car Co. and of Ansted Engineering Co., Auburn plans an output this year twice that of 1926. These two plants will be given over to manufacturing sixes.

The eight-cylinder cars are distinctive in design, low—but not excessively so—while ample head and leg room has been provided.

The interior is in mohair and is cushioned with the finest type of springs. The spacious door windows are crank regulated of engraved frosted silver style. The instrument panel has been designed in keeping with the other graceful appointments of the model.

The 8-77 is powered with a 77-h. p. straight-eight motor. It has an actual speed range of 75 miles per hour and a developed speed which is said to exceed the rated speed.

The 8-88 sport sedan has a speed range of more than 80 miles an hour, while the wheelbase of this model is 130 inches. This assures a maximum of riding comfort, roadability and handling ease.

The 6-66 A models are on a 120-inch wheelbase chassis, and the 8-77 on a 125-inch wheelbase, while the 8-88 is being continued i wheelbase lengths of 130 and 146 inches, with a number of mechanical refinements.

The six-cylinder engine is 2⅞x4¾ inches and has a Lancaster vibration dampener. The 8-77, a straight eight, is 2¾x4¾, and also has dampener.

The cars have mechanical four-wheel brakes, external contracting on the rear wheels and internal expanding on the front wheels, shoes being of pressed steel.

In the 8-88 the seven-passenger sedan, as well as touring car, will be built on the 146-inch chassis, the other models being on a wheelbase of 130 inches.

NOTHING IN SIGHT TO CAUSE PESSIMISM, SAYS NASH

"Invariably at this time," says C. W. Nash, , president of the Nash Motors Co., "comment centers around the thought of what conditions will ensue in the following months. In the latter part of 1926 some things occurred which served to slow down the fast pace at which the country was traveling. A cotton crop that bulked so large it resulted in lowered prices, bad weather in great agricultural areas, and storms in several sections of the country, are included among the adverse factors with which commerce had to contend. Naturally those in the local areas most affected incline to somewhat gloomy views of what the future holds in store.

"I am not given to prophecy and too many things can happen quickly to make it logical for any man to attempt to forecast a whole year But at the present I see nothing of disturbing character. The mere fact that 1927 may not be a record-breaking year is no ground for pessimism.

"The truth is that most factors indicate that business will go along on an even keel. There will always be some ebb and flow to the tides of commerce, but this country has grown so big, and its revenues come from such diversified sources, that localized disturbances will never really seriously effect our business activity."

Keep an Eye on the Tags.

During the first month or so that your new tags are on the car, there will be a tendency for the nuts that hold them to work loose. When the bolts have rusted it is impossible to get the nuts free, but this usually doesn't occur for some time after the new tags have been attached. Much trouble can be saved by the proper use of washers.

PACKARD CARS EXHIBITED IN SALON BEFORE SHOW

General Sales Manager of Factory to Attend Dealers' Meeting in St. Louis.

The Berry Motor Car Co., Packard distributer, held a pre-show salon three days the past week in its building at Twenty-second street and Locust boulevard.

The fourth floor of the building has been redecorated and is to be used for a permanent display of Packard cars, which now come in 35 formally listed body types and may be obtained in a bewildering array of special custom-built bodies done in an even more bewildering choice of color combinations.

George M. Berry, president of the Berry Motor Car Co., said that he expected R. E. Chamberlain, general sales manager of the Packard Motor Car Co., to attend a meeting and dinner of Packard dealers during auto show week.

PREDICTS RECORD YEAR FOR STEELCOTE RUBBED ENAMEL

George E. Niedt, president of the Steelcote Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis, expects 1927 sales of Steelcote Rubber Auto Enamel to set new records.

"We introduced Steelcote Rubber Auto Enamel in St. Louis last year," said Niedt, "and the public took to it instantly. Auto drivers found that the real rubber blended into Steelcote rubber auto enamel makes it elastic—is the secret of its beautiful finish—and makes it easy to apply without streaks or brush marks. Besides the other elements in Steelcote rubber auto enamel enable it to resist sun, wind, rain, ice, snow and even acids.

"When the most active summer driving season was over, we naturally looked for a seasonal let-up in sales, but orders kept coming in steadily. Investigation soon disclosed that the women had discovered that Steelcote rubber auto enamel is the ideal finish for all-'round household use—in bathrooms, on tables, chairs, woodwork, ice boxes, and many other articles."

Makes Nose for Engine.

The oil filler pipe in the average engine also serves another purpose. This purpose is to allow ,for "crankcase breathing." The pistons tend to compress the air in the case, and so there must be a breather tube. Some engines have a separate tube for this purpose, while others combine the breathing feature with the oil filler pipe.

40,000,000 AUTOS IN U. S. BY 1940 FORECAST

Hupp Chairman Sees Need of Traffic Revision to Meet Their Coming.

"Forty million motor cars owned and in operation in the United States by 1940," is the opinion of Chares D. Hastings, chairman of the board of Hupp Motor Car Corp.

Hastings bases his opinion on the judgment of automotive economists who declare it conservative to estimate that 80 per cent of those gainfully employed are rapidly becoming automobile owners. By 1940 there will be about 50,000,000 persons gainfully employed in the United States, judging from the last census listing a total population of approximately 130,000,000.

"Economists make it clear that not every one of these 40,000,000 cars owned will be purchased through the new car market," Hastings said. "Those that cannot afford new cars will be prospects for used ones.

"At first glance, taking this figure of 80 per cent of the number of persons gainfully employed, as potential automobile owners, may seem high. But we must remember that many families already possess two, three, four or more cars. The tendency for two cars in the average family is growing steadily and will become even more apparent in the next two or three years. Consideration also must be taken of the taxicibs, jitneys, busses and fleets of cars owned by municipalities, business houses and other organizations. The number of these probably already exceeds 1,000,000 and will continue to grow steadily.

"Two years ago I was bold enough to predict that total United States registrations of motor cars in 1930 would reach 25,000,000. Yet, at the end of 1925 the total was nearly 20,000,000, according to available figures, and to this number was added at least 1,500,000 new cars at the end of 1926, with the probability that it was closer to 2,000,000. My 'bold' statement in that light now seems too conservative. Rather than 25,000,000 in 1930 it now seems apparent it will be closer to 28,000,000 and may exceed even that fgiure.

"The problem of solving traffic congestion is receiving serious attention, but it is by no means solved. The tendency of grouping traffic in metropolitan centers behind a red light and then freeing again by a green light, is not the answer to that question when traffic is exceptionally dense. As a temporary expedient it is an improvement—but only as a temporary expedient. Any authority on traffic will report that the logical method of handling heavy traffic is to keep it moving steadily.

"Speed no longer is the bugaboo it was even two or three years ago. Two states have even established minimum speed laws for certain sections, and specify that every car within the zones in which those minimum speeds are established must move at that minimum.

"This increase of nearly 20,000,000 cars in the next 13 years means that cities, towns and State highway departments must give careful attention to the problem of how to handle 100 per cent more cars than they are caring for now. This involves careful city planning, additional road building, creating new rights of way and the building of trunk line highways so that through traffic may be moved through as few cities and towns as possible."

73,676 MOTOR UNITS PUT OUT BY CHEVROLET IN JANUARY

The Chevrolet Motor Co. in January again broke all production records for that month by building 73,676 units, almost 30,000 cars more than were made in January of 1926, when production almost tripled production in January, 1925.

The tentative production schedule for February provides for making 84,000 Chevrolet units, which would establish a new monthly production record in the history of the company, exceeding even the record monthly output in September, 1926, of 81,158 cars.

MULE SHOE CARRIED IN TIRE UNTIL IT IS WORN SMOOTH

A Ford Tudor, owned by the Rt. Rev. Mgr. J. J. Tannrath, picked up in a tire a large mule's shoe and carried it around between inner tube and casing, apparently, for weeks before it finally caused a puncture.

When service employes of the W. H. Owen Co. took the flat tire off the wheel they found that when the wheel struck the mule shoe, one end of the latter penerated the casing and then the shoe twisted its way through the hole until it was wholly inside and lay between casing and tube.

Gradually it worked its way several times around the inside of the casing, as was evidenced by the scratches, and was carried so long that the friction polished it to a silver finish. Eventually, a nail in the shoe cut through the tube.

QUALITY STANDARD IN FOUR CHRYSLER LINES

These Models, the "50," "60," "70," and Imperial "80," Are Exhibited at Show.

"The Chrysler principle of standardized quality manufacture is already beginning to revolutionize the buying of cars in every field, as Chrysler is covering the four great markets under this plan," says J. E. Fields, vice president of the Chrysler Corporation, whose cars—in four models—are shown by Midwest Motors, Inc.

"As defined as a policy by Walter P. Chrysler, the standardized quality principle differs from and is superior to ordinary manufacturing practice and methods, because it demands fixed and inflexible quality standards which enforce the same scrupulously close limits, the same rigid rule of engineering exactness, the same absolute accuracy and precision of alignment and assemblage, in the measurement, the machining and the manufacturing of every part, practice and process in four lines of Chrysler cars—'50,' '60,' '70' and Imperial '80'—so that each individual car shall be the supreme value in its own class.

"This standardized quality, at one step, eliminates 'purchaser's risk,' ends the buyer's doubts and fears as to quality, makes possible the purchase of any of the four Chrysler types with the positive assurance that the quality in each is equally assured. This is true because all four cars are built to the same quality standards and must pass the same inspections in relation to the tasks they are asked to perform.

"Other manufacturers have been striving for years to achieve this evenness of quality. But Mr. Chrysler alone has succeeded, translated it into fact by an extraordinarily complete co-ordination of engineering and manufacturing resources.

"Chrysler standardization of quality goes back, first, to the proper fundamentals of modern motor car design; next, to their incorporation into a complete car of remarkable efficiency. Then it passes successively to the sources of raw material for that car, governs the minutest operation, makes certain that every unit is produced to the finest precision standards under the most rigid inspection, even to the molding of the manufacture of its accessories. Finally, it co-ordinates the whole into a finised car that is what its engineers, designers and body builders conceived it should be. Designed by one group of men, manufactured to one standard and sold by one organization, the plan offers economies to the purchaser not permisible under any other system.

"Chrysler models naturally differ in price, in chassis size, in richness of appointments, in speed and power, but all are basically the same in rigid adherence to the same law of quality.

"That is, in brief, the secret of what standardized quality is, what it means to the maker and to the purchaser, and the advantage it offers to each."

PONTIAC IN MOUNTAIN RUN

Sealed in high gear, with engine running continuously, a stock Pontiac Six two-door sedan recently completed a continuous 120-hour economy and endurance mountain run in the Northwest Pacific Coast section, averaging 26.2 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

The car was sent out by the R. Knox Roberts Motors, Portland, with Salt Lake City, Utah, as its objective, the round trip distance being 1948 miles. Of the 120 hours' nonstop trip, 34 hours and 20 minutes were occupied by the car standing with motor idling, while the actual driving time was 85 hours and 40 minutes. Of the 91 gallons of fuel used on the run, 17 were required while the motor was idling, and 74 were used in propelling the car.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS MADE IN DODGE CARS

New Clutch, Gear Shift That Works at a Touch, Insure Easier Control.

Gear shifting at the slightest touch, and smoother, more gentle application of power, are credited to an improved clutch now used in all Dodge Brothers' motor cars, which are exhibited by the Ttate Motor Co., Inc.

"Of the many advantages which the new design offers, the one which appeals most to the woman driver," says a Dodge Brothers' statement, "is the unusually soft pedal action. It seems remarkable that a mechanism which controls the application of so much power can be operated with so little muscular effort as is now required to push the clutch pedal down.

"Despite the unusual smoothness and gentleness with which the clutch takes up its load, its hold is positive when engaged.

"But the feature which appeals most to all drivers is the remarkable ease with which the gears can be shifted. In some cars it is necessary to hold the clutch depressed for a few seconds before shifting the gears into speed to avoid a noisy shift. Everybody who drives the Dodge Brothers car of today is instantly impressed with the ease and silence with which the gears can be shifted while the car is getting under way and with the ease with which they can be shifted down into a lower speed when traffic or road conditions necessitate.

"The friction which occurs in any clutch while it slips as it takes up its lead is manifest in heat. The exceptional ability of Dodge Brothers' new clutch to dissipate the heat thus produced insures long life of the facings. When, after long service, the specially woven asbestos facings do become slightly worn, the method of adjusting is extremely simple. In fact either the owner or the mechanic can make the adjustment as quickly as a tire is changed.

"The new clutch is unusually quiet in operation. There are no parts to rattle or chatter while the clutch is released or during engagement. The ball release bearing is idle except when the pedal is depressed.

"Easy steering has been made easier by the fitting of an improved type of anti-friction bearing above each steering knuckle. To insure against wear each race is completely filled with balls. The entire thrust bearing is enclosed in a metal container to retain lubricant and exclude grit and water. The same oversize knuckle pin is used. This pin is heat treated to develop glass-like hardness in the outer shell and toughness and strength in the core—hardness to resist wear and toughness to resist shock and insure safety.

"The new muffler, which was adopted only after several years of experimenting, is much more effective than the old in silencing the sound of the engine exhaust."

Jealousy Wastes Time.

Motorists who cannot quite see their way to buying a new car need not be jealous of their neighbor's flashy new machine. Application of the colorful nitrocellulose finishes has been so simplified that many of the repainting jobs done in private establishments are superior to the earlier product of the factory. Their cost is low enough to put them within reach of thousands of motorists who are forced to delay the purchase of a new car.

THE entire Lincoln organization has consistently concentrated upon the development of one chassis; all bodies are built to uniform quality standards under strict supervision; all materials are the very best procurable.

Thus the owner of a Lincoln never feels called upon to explain that his car is of any particular series or model—for a Lincoln is a Lincoln the world over.

A representative selection of Lincoln cars, showing the distinguished beauty of different body types, is being exhibited as a feature of the Automobile Show. You are cordially invited to make a leisurely inspection of the cars on exhibition.

Exquisitely beautiful—at the price. Sensationally enduring—at the price. (A Ford is good for six or seven years. What other car lasts longer?) Ridiculously low upkeep—regardless of price! Unsurpassed dependability—irrespective of price. No intricate, delicate mechanism to get out of order—Fords take you there and bring you back! Provokingly sensible—there's no argument against it.

After all, what can these other cars do that Ford can't do, except cost you more? Four-Wheel Brakes? Well—can any other car stop as short as a Ford? Speed? How often do you travel faster than 30 or 40 miles an hour? Comfort? If you ask that question you haven't ridden in a Ford in the last year!

If you are buying an automobile solely for luxury, and a display of wealth—if practicability and good common sense mean nothing—DON'T buy a Ford. But if you are looking for the only logical medium of lowest cost transportation—buy a Ford.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS MADE IN DODGE CARS

New Clutch, Gear Shift That Works at a Touch, Insure Easier Control.

Gear shifting at the slightest touch, and smoother, more gentle application of power, are credited to an improved clutch now used in all Dodge Brothers' motor cars, which are exhibited by the Ttate Motor Co., Inc.

"Of the many advantages which the new design offers, the one which appeals most to the woman driver," says a Dodge Brothers' statement, "is the unusually soft pedal action. It seems remarkable that a mechanism which controls the application of so much power can be operated with so little muscular effort as is now required to push the clutch pedal down.

"Despite the unusual smoothness and gentleness with which the clutch takes up its load, its hold is positive when engaged.

"But the feature which appeals most to all drivers is the remarkable ease with which the gears can be shifted. In some cars it is necessary to hold the clutch depressed for a few seconds before shifting the gears into speed to avoid a noisy shift. Everybody who drives the Dodge Brothers car of today is instantly impressed with the ease and silence with which the gears can be shifted while the car is getting under way and with the ease with which they can be shifted down into a lower speed when traffic or road conditions necessitate.

"The friction which occurs in any clutch while it slips as it takes up its load is manifest in heat. The exceptional ability of Dodge Brothers' new clutch to dissipate the heat thus produced insures long life of the facings. When, after long service, the specially woven asbestos facings do become slightly worn, the method of adjusting is extremely simple. In fact either the owner or the mechanic can make the adjustment as quickly as a tire is changed.

"The new clutch is unusually quiet in operation. There are no parts to rattle or chatter while the clutch is released or during engagement. The ball release bearing is idle except when the pedal is depressed.

"Easy steering has been made easier by the fitting of an improved type of anti-friction bearing above each steering knuckle. To insure against wear each race is completely filled with balls. The entire thrust bearing is enclosed in a metal container to retain lubricant and exclude grit and water. The same oversize knuckle pin is used. This pin is heat treated to develop glass-like hardness in the outer shell and toughness and strength in the core—hardness to resist wear and toughness to resist shock and insure safety.

"The new muffler, which was adopted only after several years of experimenting, is much more effective than the old in silencing the sound of the engine exhaust."

Jealousy Wastes Time.

Motorists who cannot quite see their way to buying a new car need not be jealous of their neighbor's flashy new machine. Application of the colorful nitrocellulose finishes has been so simplified that many of the repainting jobs done in private establishments are superior to the earlier product of the factory. Their cost is low enough to put them within reach of thousands of motorists who are forced to delay the purchase of a new car.

MAKING OF PEERLESS CARS STARTED IN 1901

Eight-Cylinder Models and Three Types of Sixes on Display at Show.

Manufacture of Peerless motor cars was begun 26 years ago, when every man who drove a horse cursed the automobile and everyone connected with it.

The directors of the Peerless Manufacturing Co., predecessor of the Peerless Motor Car Corporation—were considered especially foolhardy when in 1900 they began building motor car parts.

The company at that time was manufacturing the Peerless bicycle which had in ten years established a reputation for unusual quality—a reputation that was a precursor of the fame which Peerless cars were destined to win in the fine car field.

The history of the Peerless company extends back to the days immediately after the Civil War. The parent company was organized at Cincinnati, Jan. 24, 1869, and moved to Cleveland a few years before the manufacture of bicycles was begun, Feb. 26, 1891. When the concern started the manufacture of bicycles the name was changed to the Peerless Manufacturing Co.

In 1900, automobile parts were made and the following year the company obtained the right to make the De Dion Bouton motorette. This was sold in this country under the Peerless name. The first car of exclusively Peerless design was placed on the market in 1902. The first car bearing the Peerless name was displayed at the New York Automobile Show in October, 1901.

The Peerless car caused a mild sensation because its two-cylinder motor was placed under the bonnet in front. This was an innovation at that time as the common practice had been to build cars which resembled buggies more than the automobile as we know it today. Four-cylinder cars soon replaced the two-cylinder models. It was with these models that Peerless assumed American leadership in the making of the better class cars.

Peerless was among the first manufacturers in the United States to build a six-cylinder car, and a few years later was among the pioneers in the development of the 90 degree V type, eight-cylinder motor. It is this type motor which the company still uses in its eight-cylinder cars, which, with three types of Peerless sixes, are shown by the De Luxe Automobile Co.

NEW STRAIGHT EIGHT SHOWN BY CHANDLER

24 Body Styles Offered in 1927 Line Including 20 on Six Cylinder Chassis.

Chandler's exhibit at the automobile show includes the new royal straight eight with four distinct body styles and three six-cylinder chassis styles—the big six, special six and standard six series—with 20 separate body types. Chandler cars are shown by the Lewis Automobile Co. and the Cleveland Motor Sales Co.

In the entire Chandler line, comprising 24 distinct models, there are nine full sized sedans, six coupes of two and four passenger capacity, three roadsters and six touring models, all priced to appeal to the four great motor car markets above the low priced four class.

In addition to the introduction of the new straight eight and extensive mechanical improvements on the three six-cylinder lines, many body refinements have been made in the new 1927 models.

The six-cylinder closed models have been lowered materially and made more graceful by streamlines, striped body molding and bead effects, and curves on the upper back structure and windows.

All models, including the eight, carry the tri-paneled full-nickeled radiator design patterned after the newest trend of custom builders. A decorative American eagle is set with raised wings on the radiator bar cap. The closed cars have full vision and complete ventilation.

The new instrument board of the eight and big six models is lighted by an adjustable lamp. The special and standard six models also have new instrument panels.

All doors have panel moulding of similar grained-walnut finish design. Fitments and hardware are of bronze, to harmonize with the instrument board. Door locks are of the remote control type, and the locking is done within by pushing upward the door handles. A one-piece, curved garnish moulding surrounding the door windows is another custom car feature displayed on this new model.

Door trimming is of the same silver-gray mohair that is used to cover the deeply-cushioned seats. The seat cushions and seat backs are overstuffed and buttoned over cushioned Marshall springs.

Chandler's new royal eight is low swung, and its lines are accentuated by the striped streamline bead effect. Every part of the body seems to blend—there are no corners.

724-FOOT FACTORY TO BUILD WATSON STABILATORS

St. Louis Distributer of Spring Control Device Reports Great Increase in Production.

Erection of a new factory building, 724 feet long, has been necessitated by the demand for Watson Stabilators — a device to control spring rebound on motor cars—according to Jesse G. Johnston, head of the Johnston Bros. Tire and Service Co., who has just returned from a convention of Watson distributers in Philadelphia, Pa.

Johnston will exhibit at the St. Louis automobile show a Franklin full eliptic spring fitted with Watson Stabilators, and so rigged as to show the working of the spring when uncontrolled and when controlled by Stabilators.

Stabilators are standard equipment on a number of fine motor cars. Johnston said yesterday that the new Hudsons were now carrying them as standard equipment on the front springs.

$30,000,000 IN ORDERS TAKEN BY WILLYS-OVERLAND IN 1927

With $2,000,000 in orders from the Northwest for immediate shipment of Willys-Knight sixes and four and six cylinder Whippets, placed at Minneapolis by Willys-Overland dealers, the total orders taken at a series of 16 sales conventions has passed the $30,000,000 mark, according to John N. Willys, president of Willys-Overland, Inc.

"This unusual sales record for Whippets and Willys-Knight cars, supplemented with the regular orders mailed direct to the factory, insures a February increase of 50 per cent over a year ago," Willys said. "March business already booked," he continued, "indicates a gain of at least 80 per cent over the same month of 1926 and gives every assurance that the 300,000 car program for 1927 will be attained."

The Triumph of a Principle

Thirteen successive Automobile Shows have seen the triumph of the Cadillac 90-degree, V-type, eight-cylinder engine principle in the realm of fine motoring.

For more than twelve years the public has listened to claims of equality with Cadillac—and then turned to the Cadillac as it again and again demonstrated its supremacy.

Two hundred and fifty thousand eight-cylinder Cadillacs have been purchased—the greatest vote of public confidence and preference ever given to any manufacturer in the finer car field.

To this year's Show Cadillac comes with a triumph even greater than usual—stimulated not only by the conviction of its greater value, finer service, greater dependability, but also by the added attraction of its 50 Body Styles and 500 Color and Upholstery Combinations.

The Cadillac exhibit at the Show is representative of its new Body Styles and Colors—and under the hood of each Cadillac is the greatest eight-cylinder engine Cadillac has ever built. Therefore, Cadillac remains the Standard of the World.

CADILLAC EXHIBIT

On display at the show and also at our salesrooms are typical examples of Cadillac's 50 Body Styles and Types, and a rich variety of its beautiful new color combinations.

Suppose

150 Automotive Engineers Could Agree on an Ideal Car

Wouldn't you like to own that car?

They Have— and You Can

YOU know, when automotive engineers get together in technical session, they tell their real names, and they say what they think.

They are not trying to sell each other something, and professional pride brings out their most deeply cherished ideas.

So when the Metropolitan Section of the Society of Automotive Engineers (the well-known S. A. E., which includes the engineering brains and genius of the automotive industry) held a contest in January, for the design of an "Ideal Car for the American Family," it was a significant event.

150 automotive engineers competed for the prize. The specifications submitted by the contestants were synthetized into a composite set of specifications for an "Ideal Car"—that dream of all engineers.

The "Ideal Car," you will note, has neither 116" wheel base, nor 126"—but exactly 121".

It is not an 8-cylinder car, nor yet a 4—it is a 6-cylinder car.

It has neither a four bearing crankshaft—nor yet a three—but a seven bearing crankshaft.

It has a bore and stroke neither more nor less than 3¼" x 5" but exactly that.

The pistons are not cast iron—they are aluminum.

It has neither a worm gear final drive, nor a hypoid gear final drive—but a spiral bevel gear final drive.

It has the things that the engineer knows to be ideal in a motor car, for the American—not the European—family.

No other car exhibited at either the New York or Chicago shows even approaches the Flying Cloud in its identity with the "Ideal Car."

Check the specifications of the "Ideal Car" in column 2 at the left with those of the Reo Flying Cloud in column 3.

Note how very, very many are identical. Note in how many instances the Flying Cloud gives you greater strength, greater possibilities of performance than even the ideal.

You will find that the Flying Cloud, in common with the engineers' "Ideal Car," has exactly 121" wheelbase; a 6-cylinder L-head motor, 3¼" bore, 5" stroke, 7-bearing crankshaft, forced feed lubrication, spiral bevel gear final drive, half-elliptic springs, single dry plate clutch, cam and lever steering gear, etc., etc., etc.

NEW REO 'FLYING CLOUD' CAPABLE OF HIGH SPEED

Its Six-Cylinder Engine of L-Head Type Develops 65-Horsepower.

Latest designs of automotive engineers, embodied in the superior mechanical features of the "Flying Cloud" five-passenger sedan, shown by Reo St. Louis, Inc., make this entirely new Reo a car of great speed and comfort, swift acceleration and dependable operating ease. Developed after several years of engineering research and study, the "Flying Cloud" has been named for the fleetest and most graceful of all the American clipper ships.

Outstanding details of the "Flying Cloud" standard equipment are hydraulic shock absorbers at front and rear, perfectly balanced crank shaft with vibration dampener to smooth out motor impulses, cam and lever steering control, single disc clutch, thermostatic control of water circulation, rubber insulated motor suspension and internal expanding hydraulic brakes on all four wheels. An especially designed all-steel body of great beauty is furnished.

Among the many other interesting items of equipment and construction are the new model oil filter, single piece windshield opening outward air cleaner functioning freely at all speeds, integral sun visor, automatic windshield cleaner, double filament headlights, front and rear bumpers, cowl ventilator, full balloon tires and adjustable front seat.

The powerful six-cylinder engine is one of the "Flying Cloud" outstanding features. This engine, of the L-head type, has a N. A. C. C. rating of 25.2 horsepower, but develops 65 horsepower. The engine operates smoothly at all speeds, from five to 65 miles an hour, and its excess power and quick acceleration give it great flexibility in dense traffic and on hills.

Measure Buick Value at the Show

Only a car with definite and conspicuous points of superiority could win the public to such emphatic approval as that accorded Buick in the past year.

2426 New Buicks
Registered in St. Louis and
St. Louis County During 1926

—the greatest Buick record in local history, and the highest sales record ever made by any car in this market, the two low-priced fours excepted.

The NEXT 6-cylinder car registered 1,168 in 1926—less than half of Buick's total.

NOT ONLY THIS

Compare new registrations for the past three years:

	1924	1925	1926
BUICK	1,707	1,793	2,426
The Nearest Six	757	1,192	1,168
Buick Led By	950	601	1,258

And Buick leadership in St. Louis is backed up by nine consecutive years of Buick national leadership.

In performance—in value—Buick's only equal is another Buick. Comparisons in your own way, at the Auto Show, will convince you why there are so many enthusiastic Buick owners in St. Louis—and everywhere—today.

New Car Registrations quoted above are Official Figures as released by the Office of the Secretary of State of Mo.

CHEVROLET DRIVEN 20,000 MILES, $23.85 FOR REPAIRS

Driving a Chevrolet car daily in the rough, hilly districts of Missouri for a total repair cost of $23.85 for 20,000 miles of driving over a period of six years is the record attained by Mrs. Olen Gentry of Mill Grove, Mo.

The endurance of the Chevrolet never was attested better than through its popularity among those who live in the mountainous localities, according to Mrs. Gentry.

In August, 1920, Mrs. Gentry bought a Chevrolet touring car and in December, 1926, she thought it was about time to buy a new model. "Although my old car is still giving excellent service, I expect to turn it in soon on a 1927 Chevrolet coupe," Mrs. Gentry said.

The car which she is now driving was purchased after an earlier model Chevrolet had given her steady service from 1916 to 1920. Rough, rock roads are in the mountain country and only cars with powerful motors, combined with staunch construction, are able to withstand the terrific grind of daily use, the owner says.

DRIVES REO TOURING CAR OVER STEEP GRADE TO MOUNTAIN TOP

R. S. Paltison of Roslindale, Mass., recently drove his Reo touring car, with two passengers, to the summit of Mount Agassiz, N. H., only to be told by those who greeted him there that he had made a "world's record."

No other motorist, Paltison was informed, had ever driven to the top of the mountain, since the road leading to that point is reputed to be the steepest grade in New Hampshire.

The story of the climb was told by W. S. Phillips, proprietor of the summit house on Mount Agassiz. "I was wrapping up maple sugar cakes in my store at the base of the mountain when Paltison stuck his head in the door and asked the way to the top," Phillips said.

"Thinking he wanted to walk up, as thousands do, I nodded my head towards the carriage road and went on with my work. Less than 10 minutes later, I was greatly surprised to receive a telephone message from the summit telling me a car had arrived at that point."

PRICE CUTS OF STUDEBAKER MOTOR CARS RANGE UP TO $200

Price reductions ranging up to $200 have just been announced by the Studebaker Corporation in celebration of its seventy-fifth birthday. The reductions affect the sport roadster, custom victoria, custom sedan and four models on the Big Six chassis—the Chancellor, the Commander, the Sheriff and the Big Six sport roadster.

The new prices bring the custom sedan from $1385 to $1335, the custom victoria from $1335 to $1325 and the sport roadster from $1250 to $1195.

INDORSES MOVEMENT FOR MORE LIBERAL SPEED RULES

Simultaneously with the action of the House of Representatives of Indiana to amend the La Fuze bill calling for an increase in the speed laws of that state from 35 to 40 miles an hour, E. L. Cord, president of the Auburn Automobile Co., indorsed a nation-wide movement for more liberal speed restrictions.

Cord, in a radio address during the Chicago automobile show, termed the present-day speed laws "old-fashioned and inadequate."

10 BODY TYPES SHOWN IN OLDSMOBILE LINE

Two Newly Designed Touring Cars With Rigid Side Curtains Are Included.

Ten body types are in the line of Oldsmobiles displayed at the show including sedans, landau, coupes, roadster and two newly designed touring cars with rigid side curtains.

These bodies are on the Oldsmobile chassis, with the developments of last year, inculding the new type four-wheel brakes and 5.25 balloon tires.

Mohair upholstery is used on closed body types, and leather on open cars. All cars are finished in two and three colors of Duco.

The new touring car, which comes in standard and de luxe types, is in line with the desire of motorists to enjoy open air driving. The Oldsmobile tourings are designed to permit a wider use of open cars and to eliminate the draughts and clouds of dust. The side curtains are in metal frames and make a rigid enclosure from the one-piece windshield to the end of the rear doors when used with the top down.

The sedan and de luxe sedan are finished in aquamarine blue Duco below the molding and black above, with ivory striping. The coach and de luxe coach are in Buckingham gray below and black above, with pistachio green striping. Both the sedans and coaches have two optional color combinations, one of dawn mist below and dust proof gray above with pistachio striping, the other being Dagestan blue below and black above with ivory striping. Taupe mohair is used for the upholstery of sedans and coaches.

The landau is finished in sea fog gray to the lower molding, ocean blue between the two moldings, extending over the hood and cowl, and black above the upper molding. The striping is burnt orange. The rear quarter is finished in black fabrikoid over metal sheathing and equipped with landau bars. Gray mohair is used for the upholstery.

The coupe and de luxe coupe are in Dagestan blue and black above, with ivory striping. These models, also, have fabrikoid over the rear quarter with landau bows. The de luxe roadster is in sea fox gray below the molding, which is finished in black with ocean blue above and a saddle over the hood and cowl. Burnt orange striping is used.

The panel instruments are fuel gauge, theft proof ignition lock and switch combined, oil pressure indicator, ammeter, carburetor choke button and speedometer. All closed cars have automatic windshield wipers. De Luxe types have front and rear bumpers, snubbers, mirror, traffic light, motometer with locking bar cap and, except the roadster and coupe, a steel trunk.

The mechanical improvements, added to the Oldsmobile chassis in recent months, include four-wheel brakes, crankcase ventilation, dual air cleaners, oil filter, two-way cooling, two-filament headlights with control on the steering wheel, double valve springs, balloon geared steering, harmonic balancer to counteract engine vibration, thermostatic control of the generator charging rate, full automatic spark control, high velocity hot section manifold, chromium plating and thermostatic cooling system.

REO MEN IN ST. LOUIS DISTRICT HOLD MEETING

New "Flying Cloud" Models Center of Interest for Associate Dealers and Their Men.

A session of Reo dealers, salesmen and service men that W. H. Kardell, president of the Reo St. Louis, Inc., described as the most important Reo meeting ever held in St. Louis, took place Monday night. It was attended by associate Reo dealers and their employes from the entire metropolitan area, and enthusisam over the new Reo "Flying Cloud" models ran high.

Kardell introduced R. D. Hilty, the new general manager of Reo St. Louis, Inc., saying that he had been associated with Reo for 20 years and had won a reputation as a merchandizer.

H. F. Fahrenkrog and Harry Steiner of the Steiner-Fahrenkrog Motor Co. also spoke.

Ralph Berry of the Reo factory service department showed pictures of Reo chassis parts, the workings of the Reo lubricating system and methods of construction.

Representatives of the Wagner Electric Co., maker of Lockheed hydraulic brakes, described and illustrated the working of the Lockheed hydraulic internal brakes, which are standard on Reo "Flying Cloud" models.

See the latest models of the Improved New Safety Stutz at the Automobile Show—a revelation in motor car beauty.

STUTZ 8

LAST YEAR, some said, "It is the car of the future!" Others said, "It may be!"

Today, every doubt is dispelled from the minds of the most skeptical regarding the position of the New Safety Stutz.

It has proved that its superiority over cars of past-conventional type is not theoretical alone. It has demonstrated in continuous service, to thousands of owners, that it is the safest, most roadable, and most rideable automobile built.

And it has proved that for stamina and standing-up ability under the severest tests it surpasses the records of many traditionally "old-reliable" makes.

If more evidence is needed of Stutz success it is to be found in the present efforts of other fine-car builders to imitate or simulate the pioneer low-to-the-ground design of the New Safety Stutz.

So general is this movement throughout the industry that the automobile buyer in 1927 who purchases a "conventional" car risks serious depreciation of his investment.

The New Safety Stutz for 1927 is even further advanced beyond the field by many valuable refinements which are added to its basically improved design.

These bring what many owners have already termed "the perfect automobile" to a still higher degree of luxury, quietness, efficiency, and safety.

The conservative purchase today is the New Safety Stutz, because it is an incoming and not an outgoing model.

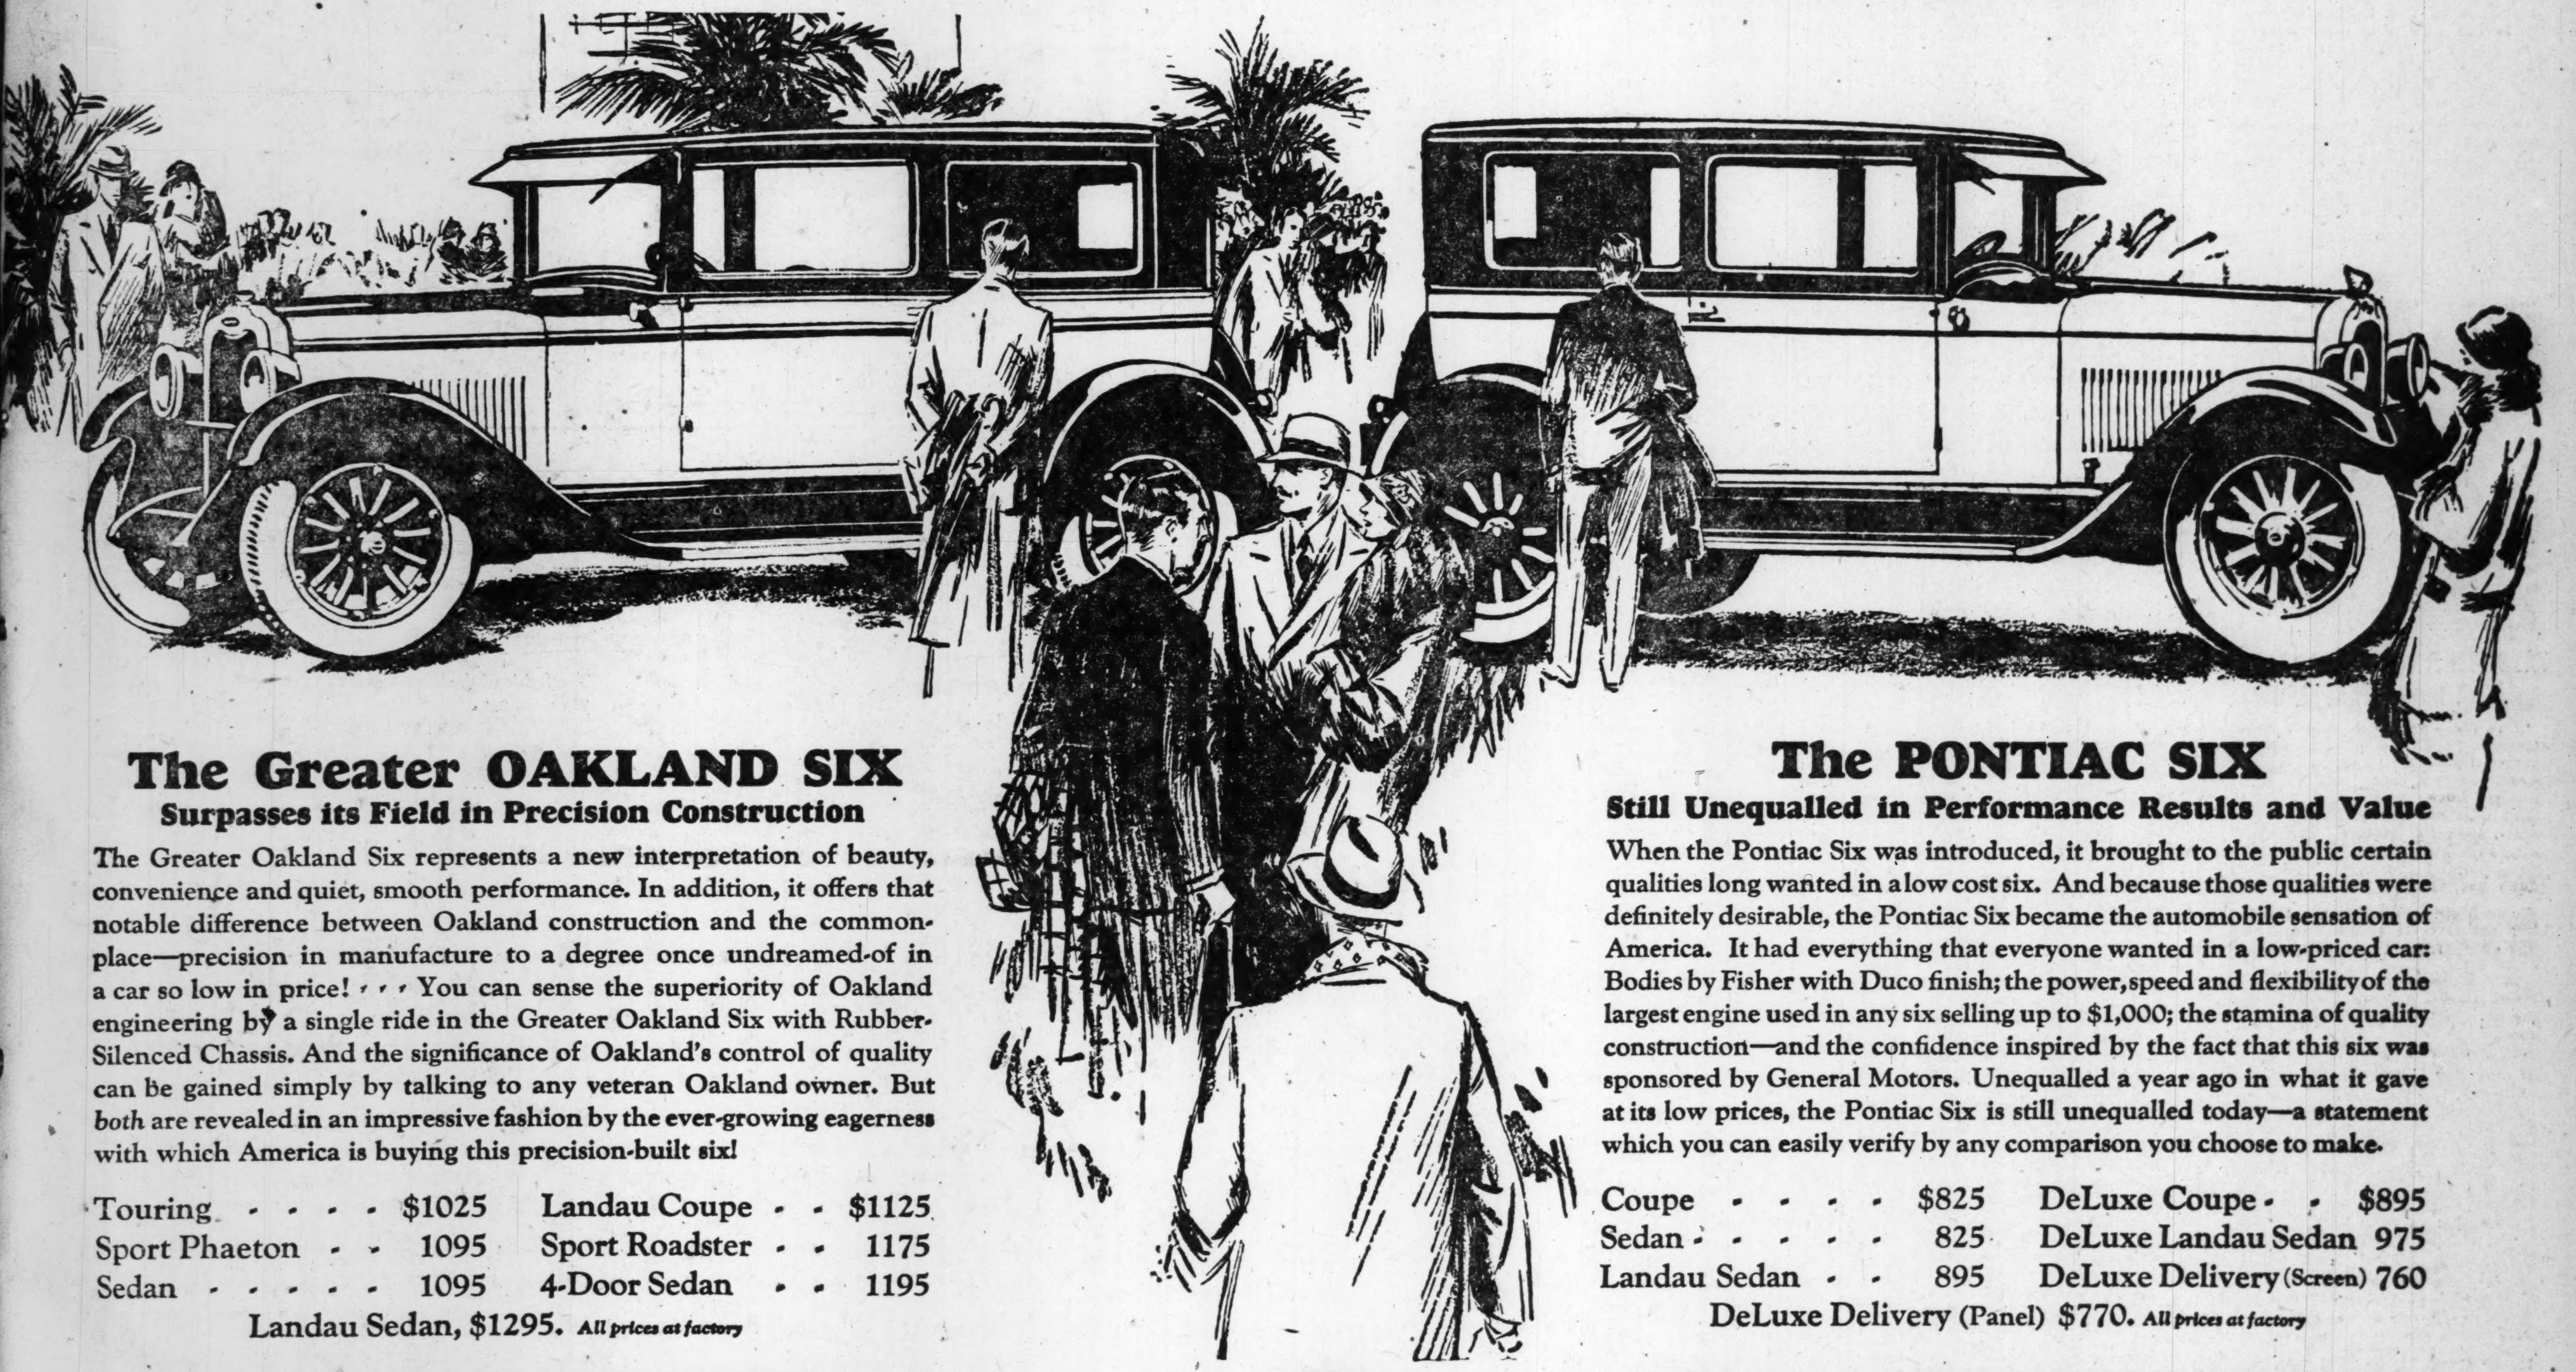
Spectacular Success
Proves Their Value Supremacy

The year just closed has been a banner year of Oakland history. Sales and production swept to figures that won the ungrudging admiration of the industry. And to meet the ever-increasing demand for cars, a $15,000,000 plant expansion program was launched and is now on the eve of completion. Success so spectacular affords proof of value, clear-cut and irresistible—proof that is based not merely on the commanding beauty of Bodies by Fisher, on performance abilities unique at the price, on features of design far in advance of the field—but on the unfailing reliability and unfaltering stamina that can only result from precision construction, the choicest materials and rigid control of quality in every phase of manufacture.



The Greater OAKLAND SIX
Surpasses its Field in Precision Construction

The Greater Oakland Six represents a new interpretation of beauty, convenience and quiet, smooth performance. In addition, it offers that notable difference between Oakland construction and the commonplace—precision in manufacture to a degree once undreamed-of in a car so low in price! • • • You can sense the superiority of Oakland engineering by a single ride in the Greater Oakland Six with Rubber-Silenced Chassis. And the significance of Oakland's control of quality can be gained simply by talking to any veteran Oakland owner. But both are revealed in an impressive fashion by the ever-growing eagerness with which America is buying this precision-built six!

The PONTIAC SIX
Still Unequalled in Performance Results and Value

When the Pontiac Six was introduced, it brought to the public certain qualities long wanted in a low cost six. And because those qualities were definitely desirable, the Pontiac Six became the automobile sensation of America. It had everything that everyone wanted in a low-priced car: Bodies by Fisher with Duco finish; the power, speed and flexibility of the largest engine used in any six selling up to $1,000; the stamina of quality construction—and the confidence inspired by the fact that this six was sponsored by General Motors. Unequalled a year ago in what it gave at its low prices, the Pontiac Six is still unequalled today—a statement which you can easily verify by any comparison you choose to make.

ADVANCED ENGINEERING BY WILLYS-OVERLAND

Whippet and Willys-Knight Cars Have Numerous Interesting Features.

Novel features are presented in closed-car construction at the Willys-Overland exhibit at the automobile show. The 1927 models, according to factory officials, have the latest type of engineering standards of Europe and America.

The characteristic mark of the line shown by Willys-Overland, which includes models powered with the Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine, and the Whippet fours and sixes, is the low-hung bodies and the dashing lines that have brought out a new idea in body construction. These models will be shown by the Willys-Overland branch, of which W. A. Elliott is manager.

The Willys-Knight great six line of bodies are on a new double-drop frame. This places the weight nearer the ground.

Included in the 1927 great six line is the new Foursome sedan, a four-door model of the close-coupled type. The design of this model is novel and the interior appointments and trimmings show quality, luxury and comfort. A trunk is on the rear. One of the noticeable features is the concealed fuel tank under the body.

The "70" Willys-Knight line of sixes is presented in a complete revision of body designs. The higher radiator forms a nearly straight line from radiator cap to the cowl.

The great six and the "70" Willys-Knight lines have a clear vision windshield with narrow steel posts. The Whippet six line is low hung and has a graceful appearance. The roof is low, yet the interior compartments are roomy. Another feature of this line is the adjustable steering column. By placing the steering column brace into auxiliary holes in the bracket attached to the dash the steering wheel may be adjusted backward or forward several inches.

In the Whippet light four line the bodies are compact. The low center of gravity is carried out in the Whippet body design, accounting for the car's road stability and freedom from vibration.

SAYS NIGHT MOTOR TRAFFIC WILL EQUAL THAT OF DAY

"I can see the time, not so far distant, when our highways will be 24-hour roads, carrying a night traffic equal to that of the day," says H. H. Brooks, general sales director of the Marmon Motor Car Co. "The automobile no longer is essentially a pleasure car. It is a means of transportation rapidly increasing in importance.

"Our highways today are throbbing arteries of traffic, carrying not only freight but passengers. With adequately lighted roads, there is no reason why night automobile traffic should not increase to the proportion of night railroad traffic.

"The lighting of our highways not only will double the value of a motor car, but will double automobile production. A car today is only 50 per cent efficient. Sprayed with light, the roads can absorb twice their present traffic. Nor is the time far distant when the highway system will be made up of a number of road beds, one for freight traffic, one for high speed traffic, and one of local traffic with all grade crossings eliminated.

"The day is coming when the automobile will have the right of way."

SIX BRAKE SYSTEM ON THE NEW LINCOLN CARS

More Than 70 Body Types to Select From, With Endless Color Combinations.

The new Lincoln eights, which will be exhibited at the show by the W. H. Owen Co., have a new six-brake system which is unusually smooth and efficient.

With more than 70 body types, and an almost endless variety of color combinations to choose from, the Lincoln is calculated to meet the demand for motor car individuality. Period designs, special bodies by noted coach work builders, are available on Lincoln chassis to an extent far beyond choice possible in European high-grade cars.

The new Lincoln brakes are of the self-energizing kind. Each brake on a Lincoln has a dual action, contracting the bands around the rear brake drums and expanding the inner shoes. When turning a corner in a Loncoln with the brakes applied, the outer front wheel brake automatically releases slightly, permitting full and easy steering control.

All Lincoln body types originate with some of America's foremost custom coach builders, including Brunn, Judkins, Fleetwood, Dietrich, Holbrook and Le Baron. No two bodies are put into production simultaneously, and since each is individual and not identified in the public mind with any particular date or period, an owner is protected against artificial depreciation.

It takes 150 days to build a Lincoln body. Seventeen paint tests are made. Lincoln inspectors watch every process, beginning with rejection at point of shipment of all but the choicest timber.

GREATER OAKLAND HAS RUBBER SILENCED DRIVE

Engine Also Insulated From Chasssi Frame by Rubber Cushions.

The greater Oakland six, which is exhibited at the show by the Mississippi Valley Motor Co., has a rubber-silenced chassis, developed by Oakland engineers. The quieter operation in the greater Oakland six chassis was effected by isolating the three major vibrations which affect motor car comfort, and making the life of the chassis longer.

Slightly more than a year ago, Oakland introduced the harmonic balancer, built into the Oakland crankshaft. This balancer prevents the tendency of the crankshaft to twist or vibrate under the multiple impulses of the cylinders and virtually eliminates torsional vibration. Still there remained two other major sources of vibration common to all motor cars, one which comes through the propeller shaft from the rear axle and wheels and the other from the torque reaction of the engine.

The first of these, the problem of road rumbles and transmission hum carried up through the drive shaft was eliminated by a new and exclusive development, the rubber silenced drive. A rubber impregnated joint, attaching the front universal joint of the drive shaft to the rear of the transmission, insulates the transmission. Noises, which, without it, would be telegraphed up through the drive shaft are now absorbed. The forward end of the shaft is cushioned to make a noiseless drive.

Along with this was developed the insulation of the engine from the frame by rubber cushions, thus silencing the vibration from the torque reactions of the engine.

To these combinations of engine features was added an extra cross member to the frame, just back of the power plant, which gives rigid support for both the engine and body — completing an assembly known as the rubber silenced chassis in which vibration has been reduced to the point where it is almost imperceptible.

All rotating parts from the engine to rear axle are balanced.

HEAD OF AUBURN DECLARES MONOPOLY TALK IS ABSURD

Belief that there will be more independent manufacturers of automobiles within the next five years than at present is expressed by E. L. Cord, president of the Auburn Automobile Co.

Cord declared that talk of a monopoly in the industry is "absurd and highly amusing," remarking that independents did 51 per cent of the business in 1926.

There has been much talk that two or three companies before another decade will completely control the industry. Cord statements, following an intensive study of the situation, controverted this.

"Automobiles never will be produced like uniforms—there is nothing distinctive, refined or luxurious about that. No company or group of companies can ever expect to revamp the public's taste and the human instinct which calls for better, smarter, up-to-date styles and more distinguished automobiles," the manufacturer pointed out.

"Auburn in the first seven months of 1926 enjoyed a gain of more than 220 per cent. Other independent companies likewise show increases. The company that survives is the one that deserves to survive, whether it is large or small."

NASH CARS SAID TO START DESIGN TREND

New Ambassador and Cavalier Models Have Really Distinctive Lines.

Sweeping aside precedent, in American automobile body design, Nash Motors has introduced two brand new enclosed models—the Ambassador and the Cavalier—so distinctive in design that authorities on coach work are heralding them as leading a new trend in fine car style.

These two new models, with their French-type back with forward-sweeping rear contour, are shown by the Southwest Nash Co.

No black is used on these models. The usual dark colors of roof and upper body, running gear, fenders, and lamps have been done away with on the Ambassador through the use of a striking color combination of delicate harmony and dignified reserve.

This effect is achieved by use of a deep blue, a color just above navy blue, for the finish of the roof, upper structure, fenders, running gear, body molding and lamps, which blends effectively with the light blue of the body proper and the wheels. The gold striping of the molding and the delicate lighter blue finish of the exterior window ledges heighten the general impression and serve as embellishments.

A similar harmony in variations of green, created for the Cavalier, also does away with the use of black on the finish of that model. The body and wheels of this car are colored a rich hue of light green corresponding in tone value with the body of the Ambassador. The roof, upper structure, running-gear, fenders, body molding and lamps are toned an impressive shade of deeper green. A delicate and light tint of green is used on the window ledges, and with the striping done in this same color, an effect is achieved which is both appealing and unusual.

The Ambassador is mounted on the Advanced Six, 127-inch wheelbase chassis and the Cavalier on the Special Six chassis. Both are powered with 7-bearing crankshaft motors, and each is lavishly trimmed and appointed.

LOW MILEAGE WITH CHOKE OUT

An Indianapolis society woman recently purchased a Chandler sedan and was pleased with her car except for mileage. She visited the service station frequently to see what the trouble was. After the mechanics failed to discover any she became angry and left.

A Chandler representative, visiting Indianapolis shortly after heard the story, investigated. After persuading her to take him for a ride, her first act after entering the car, was to pull out the choke to its length and hang her handbag on it.

The trip took 40 minutes, the choke doing duty as a handbag hanger. The Chandler man on the way back suggested stopping at the service station. There, it was easy to hook a spring on the engine side of the cowl to let the choke serve as a handbag-holder and not be extended constantly.

The woman doesn't know why her mileage in the same Chandler is much better.

Scrape Carbon First.

Before grinding in the valves and removing them it is important to scrape off all the carbon around them. Should you remove a valve and then start to scrape the carbon around it some of the carbon particles will fall down into the intake and exhaust pipes. The carbon in the intake will thus draw right back into the engine the moment you start it, and some of this may lodge nuder the valve and cause it to seat poorly.

NEWEST CHRYSLER MODEL IS IMPERIAL 80 "SPORTIF"

The newest Chrysler is the Imperial "80" "Sportif" phaeton, which is expected to be a feature at the local auto show this week.

Six black wire wheels with nickelled rims are standard. The two spare wheels and tires are mounted in wells in the front fenders and are covered with a gray, waterproof fabric material similar to that of the top.

A disappearing skeleton top is a feature of the "Sportif." It is so constructed that its flat, nickelled bows may be folded and booted in the conventional manner or, through an ingenious arrangement of sliding bows, it may be folded and stowed away in a compartment back of the rear seat. Nickelled hand grips on the seat back top facilitate this operation. The streamline effect is emphasized when the top is completely hidden from sight.

CHRYSLER '70' RUNS 1468 MILES IN 24 HOUR TEST

Cabled advices from Sidney state that a stock Chrysler model "70," running on Maroubra Speedway, has broken all Australian speed records for 100 miles, and also for 24 hours' continuous driving.

The records were made under supervision of the Royal Automobile Club of Australia.

Time for the first 1000 miles was 955 minutes. The 24-hour mark saw a total of 1468 miles covered, the average speed for this distance being more than 61.16 miles per hour. During the first 1000 miles the Chrysler averaged more than 62½ miles an hour.

BUILT-IN WATER CONTROL

A built-in thermostatic water control is used on the model 6-60 Moon. It consists of a butter-fly valve operated by a spiral shaped thermo unit, and allows water to circulate through the cooling system after a temperature of 160 degrees is reached around the cylinder block. This insures a more rapid warming up of the engine and is particularly advantageous for cold weather driving.

The Spirit of the Thoroughbred

The truest test of horseflesh comes at the end of the drive. With the ordinary horse you are literally "pushing on the reins" to get home. The response of the thoroughbred is always as instant and wholehearted as when he started fresh from the stable . . . This same spirit is to be found in the new Stearns-Knight—the car you direct, but do not drive.

The thrill of directing the new STEARNS-KNIGHT

OUT of 27 years of experience there now arises a car with the spirit of the thoroughbred—the new Stearns-Knight. Two generations of craftsmen have evolved a perfect body and chassis for a super motor. The control of this car is far closer to the direction of a thoroughbred horse, than to the automobile driving you have known heretofore.

Those who have owned fine motor cars find in the new Stearns-Knight refinements of coachwork and fixtures that are mildly sensational.

In the first ten miles at the Stearns-Knight wheel, you learn for yourself the mental thrill of the car that is directed and not driven. The famous Knight motor, silent and powerful from the first, promises constant improvement (to a point never yet reached). For all time you are free from carbon and valve troubles—as in the Daimler, Voisin, Peugeot and a few others of the recognized world leaders in the luxury car group.

The car of your dreams is here—ready to be put to any motor car test. We invite you to have a demonstration this week.

Prices range from $3250 to $3750, at Cleveland.

Excessive dilution is eliminated crankcase ventilation. One- rd of the air that passes through carburetor is drawn through a ather port in the left side of the gine. This air, cleaned of dust d injurious material by a second r cleaner on the breather port, es through the crankcase be- re entering the carburetor. It aws off with it water vapor and burned fuel that may have passed into the crankcase—thereby eliminating excessive dilution. This air also carries with it a small amount of the oil vapor created in the crankcase, which aids in more ficient lubrication of pistons, pper cylinder walls, and valves. Crankcase ventilation improves per- mance and gives longer life in engine and longer useful life to oil. This system is simple and cient and has no moving parts.

uel Air Cleaning Dust and dirt from the road form an abrasive or cutting element in the working parts of an engine. In Oldsmobile a primary air cleaner liminates the injurious particles om two-thirds of the air before it nters the carburetor direct—while the second cleaner in connection ith the feature of crankcase ven- lation cleans the balance of the air.

il Filter An oil filter prolongs still more the life of the engine and the useful life the oil. Sediment and foreign ubstances are removed as the oil asses through the filter and filter ag from the rear camshaft bear- ing.

Only 3 to 4 Oil Changes A Year Threefold security against wear; threefold protection in the trials of miles;—crankcase ventila- tion, dual air cleaning and oil filter bring new thrift—only 3 to 4 oil changes in an average driving year.

Harmonic Balancer The Harmonic Balancer developed by General Motors engineers, counteracts vibration. The large, op-forged crankshaft is dynamic d static balanced. The grain flow metal in the forging is held at ight angles to the lines of stress. Crankshaft and large pressure-cast ain bearings are rigidly mounted n crankcase in strong webs inte- gally cast with case.

ur-Wheel rakes Now Oldsmobile adds—at no increase in price—four-wheel akes to further promote assur- ce of safety and driving peace of ind. The front wheel brakes are lf-energizing, internal, three- oe, expanding type. The brake is tirely enclosed as protection ainst water, dirt and oil. The tion is positive and the braking ficient. The rear wheel brakes e the efficient split-band, two- ece type in which the action is echanical and the bands clamp e drums like jaws, assuring max- imum contact and braking. The hand or parking brake acts on the rear wheels. As a safeguard against driving with the parking brake ap- plied, the foot pedal depresses with pplication of the parking brake.

arger alloon ires In addition to four-wheel brakes at no increase in price Oldsmobile also adds larger, 30 x 5.25, alloon tires. These tires promote en greater riding comfort.

alloon- eared eering The worm, split nut type steering mechanism is specially geared for safe and easy steering con- ol. The ratio of the balloon- ared mechanism permits easy eering even in congested traffic.

y-Shift ansmission The transmission is built as a unit with the clutch and en- e. The shifting lever is long and ifting is easy. Here is a feature of ntrol that can be appreciated ly after you have taken the wheel d enjoyed its advantages.

Three-Way Lubrication Thorough lubrication is assured by the use of "three- ay" oil delivery. The accessible ar pump, operated by the for- rd end of the camshaft, delivers at equal pressure and camshaft the main bearings. Efficient rication is assured, because is delivered through the oil er and the oil tubes to the in bearings, and also flows ough the full length of the illed crankshaft oil passage. ages from the main bearings iver oil to camshaft bearings. her parts of the engine are bathed an oil spray from the bearings. ssure is automatically regulated n accessible control. There is an pressure indicator on the dash a depth gauge on the left side the engine.

OLDSMOBILE SIX

PRODUCT of GENERAL MOTORS

Clutch Features The single-plate, dry-disc clutch engages positively, yet gently. The design is simple, adjustment seldom required. Pedal pressure is very light. The housing is ventilated. The patented self-lubricating clutch release bearing, mounted in a self-aligning trunnion throw-out yoke is of compressed baked carbon-graphite and normally lasts the life of the car.

Thermostatic Charging Control When on the road there is a sense of security in knowing that your electrical system is functioning properly and your generator giving an adequate charge. Oldsmobile has thermostatic control on the generator that automatically increases charging when the engine is cold and decreases it as the temperature rises. Spark control is full automatic.

FACTORS OF PROVEN WORTH

Special Design Combination Chambers This shape gives greater turbulence to incoming gases, producing smooth and spirited performance and is a modern development of General Motors Research Laboratories.

Two-Way Cooling Oldsmobile offers "two-way" cooling which incorporate the best features of the two accepted types—pressure and thermo-siphon cooling. At the points where greatest heat is generated — around the valves, valve seats, spark plugs and combustion chambers—pressure-circulated water is driven through a manifold type passage. Cylinder walls do not heat so rapidly. A full flow of cooling water would cool them too much. Therefore the circulation is restricted and retarded. In other words, parts at the points of greatest heat are cooled by the pressure method of circulation, while the slower thermo-siphon type of action, in which the rate of circulation is largely governed by the reaction of heat upon the water, maintains about the cylinders sufficient warmth for efficient operation. This also aids in eliminating crankcase dilution. All deluxe types are equipped with thermostat cooling control.

High Velocity Hot Section Manifold The manifold retains the high velocity given the incoming gasses as they leave the carburetor and pass on into the combustion chambers. To further promote complete vaporization of the incoming fuel, jacketing of the intake manifold by the heated exhaust manifold is effected in the vertical section of the intake passage above the carburetor. The intake manifold being above the exhaust manifold, and heated by it, retains the highly explosive state of incoming gases.

Double Valve Springs The double valve springs, similar to those employed in aircraft and racing car engines, together with the "quieting-curve" contour of cams, result in positive valve action. Valve lifters rotate while in action, minimizing noise and wear.

Silent Timing Chain Camshaft and generator are driven off crankshaft by a silent chain, operating in a constant flow of oil.

Double-Offset Low Gravity Frame This design provides paralled mounting of springs for greatest roadability. The frame is 28 inches wide in front, providing short turning radius, and 42 inches wide at rear for proper mounting. There are four strong cross-members, the front member tubular for extra strength and best engine mounting, the rear 14 inches wide for strength at point of greatest stress. Cross-members are strongly webbed and gusseted to frame side rails. The frame is "kicked-up" over rear axle to provide low gravity, easy riding and ability to hold the road.

Interior Features The mohair upholstery of a taupe shade in all closed body types has exceptional lustre and wearing quality. The satin nickel fittings are of rich, period design. Their beauty is but one feature, their utility another. The quick-acting window lifts, large interior door handles, ash receptacle in five-passenger closed types, VV windshield, automatic windshield cleaners on closed cars, instruments unit-grouped in walnut panel centered on instrument board, walnut steering wheel, heavy rug and rubber mat, genuine leather upholstery in open cars, deep spring-cushioned seats at angles of greatest ease and many other features.

Fisher Two-Tone Duco Bodies Chromium Plating The Fisher bodies are finished in lustrous two-tone Duco, polished to a finish distinctively beautiful yet in conservative good taste. They are of the reliable composite construction of steel sheathing on a strong hardwood frame with joints that are mortise-wedged, glued, screwed, bolted and given extra strength at principal points by steel braces. The radiator is finished in the new permanent-lustre chromium, exclusively Oldsmobile's.

Twin-Beam Lights Controlled from Steering Wheel Head lamps have double filament bulbs, one for "bright," one for "dim." On "dim" the light is bright and projects at a downward angle that gives ample vision to the Oldsmobile driver yet protects oncoming drivers and conforms to all state laws. Headlights are operated by a neat lever, like the hand throttle, on the steering wheel. It may be operated without removing hands from wheel, slowing down or taking eyes from road.

Instruments Indirectly Illuminated Soft indirect lighting individually illuminates each instrument without glare or reflection in driver's eyes.

Instrument Panel Fuel Gauge A reliable instrument board fuel gauge is standard on all Oldsmobiles

Theft-Proof Car Lock A new thief-proof car lock is a feature. The engine cannot be started with key left in lock. Turning off ignition positively locks the car. This is an entirely new and exclusive method of positive locking. Thieves cannot "cut over" as on other locks, for switch and coil are built integral in a vault-like steel housing. A non-locking "temporary stop" position is provided.

Grant Details Chevrolet Plans to 750 Dealers

Bankers Who Also Attend Convention Here Told of Production Increase From 3000 to 4000 Cars a Day.

Enthusiasm over the prospects for the sale of 1,000,000 Chevrolet cars and trucks this year, characterized the annual meeting of 750 Missouri and Illinois Chevrolet dealers in St. Louis Friday.

Chevrolet's extensive plans for 1927, calling for a 25 per cent increase over the record business of 1926, were outlined to the dealers by R. H. Grant, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co., who directed the meeting in the Empress Theater.

Much Enthusiasm.

The convention was the largest and most successful of its kind ever held by Chevrolet in this territory. Enthusiasm over the Chevrolet outlook was fired by the remarkable reception accorded the new line as reflected in registrations in the first six weeks of the year, which showed an increase of 60 per cent over Chevrolet registrations in the corresponding period of 1926.

Following the afternoon session, the dealers and a large group of bankers were guests of the Chevrolet Motor Co. at a banquet at Hotel Statler. W. S. Knudsen, president of the Chevrolet Co., served as host, with Grant presiding as toastmaster.

To accommodate the increase in Chevrolet business this year, production has been stepped up from 3000 to 4000 cars and trucks a day, it was announced during the convention. This brings Chevrolet output up to the highest point ever attained by the organization and bears out earlier statements that chevrolet is preparing for the greatest year in its history in 1927.

Grant Outlines Plans.

At the Empress Theater, Grant explained to the dealer assemblage the plans which Chevrolet has for 1927. He had a particularly receptive audience when he told of the lengths to which the company is going to insure the financial success of its dealers.'

He declared that the year promises to be good for the automobile business, and especially so for Chevrolet dealers who take advantage of the many sales helps and sales promotion plans now available to the nation-wide dealer organization.

In dealing with the used car situation, which is becoming increasingly important every day, he quoted from Virgil, warning the dealers to keep in mid channel, avoiding on one hand the promontory of wild trading and on the other that of too conservative allowances.

He took up all phases of sales, service and advertising, and dealt at length with the effectiveness of advertising as a compelling force in the sale of automobiles.

Executives from the main office in Detroit assisted Grant in the meeting. Among those who assisted in the program were: H. J. Klingler, assistant general sales manager; D. E. Ralston, regional sales manager; W. E. Holler, assistant regional sales manager; R. K. White, sales promotion manager; William A. Blees, manager of the Certified Purchase Division; Sidney Corbett, manager of the Commercial Car Division; J. P. Little, manager of the Parts and Service Division; D. G. Frazer, service promotion manager, and W. G. Lewellen, assistant sales promotion manager. Arrangements for the meeting were handled by L. M. Dreves, sales manager of the St. Louis zone, and O. A. Nonn, city sales manager.

Talks at the meeting were illustrated in the form of playlets depicting the proper methods of approaching and conducting a sale as well as matters vital to success in the retail automobile business.

Elaborately Staged.

More than a carload of show equipment and a special show crew were brought to St. Louis to provide the setting for the convention. More scenery and stage equipment were used in the presentation of the Chevrolet sales plan than is employed by large theatrical productions.

The St. Louis meeting was the tenth of a series of 21 similar conventions that will be held from coast to coast this winter in a comprehensive plan to bring the 15,000 Chevrolet dealers of the country into close touch with factory officials and to give the dealers opportunity to learn at first hand of the company's extensive plans.

The party was to leave for Detroit Sunday before proceeding to Cincinnati, where the next convention will be held Friday.

BIG VICTOR TRUCK IS EXHIBITED AT SHOW

Massive Construction Features Cited by Company With East St. Louis Plant.

One of the exhibits at the automobile show this week is that of the Victor Motors Co., truck manufacturer, with factory in East St. Louis, which recently announced a cut in the price of its model 40, 5000-pound truck, including body from $1995 to $1295 list.

Specifications of the truck include Hercules Model O, heavy duty, 45 horsepower engine, with four-inch bore and five-inch stroke. Covert Model JUC 3, heavy duty transmission is used. The clutch is also Covert make, serrated-tooth, Multiple disc type, with six main driving discs and 12 friction discs.

The rear axle is a Wisconsin double reduction, heavy duty, full floating axle. The axle housing is a one-piece cast-steel member, heavily reinforced with ribs. The drive shafts are drop forged, chrome nickel steel, heat treated. Timken taper roller bearings are used in the wheels.

Two individual brakes are mounted on each wheel, these brakes operating on individual brake drums. The service brake diameter is 16½ inches in diameter and three inches wide.

The company has an international sales organization which has been very active.

Victor truck agencies are located from New York to California and in many foreign countries. Victor trucks are well known in China, Germany, Holland, Sweden, Greece, Ceylon, New Zealand, and in South American countries.

The Victor company has a complete body building plant and builds most of its cabs and bodies.

FRONT OF 1927 WHIPPET FOUR ENGINE SITS IN COIL SPRINGS

An added feature to the 1927 Whippet is the new motor suspension, an innovation in the light four-cylinder field. This consists of two angular irons at the rear on which the motor rests. The front of the engine sits in two coil springs, which absorb vibration and provide a flexibility impossible to obtain where the motor is bolted rigidly directly to the frame.

Full pressure lubrication system is used, oil being forced through the crankshaft to the bearings and thrown off the main bearings to lubricate the cylinder walls and valve mechanism.

The 27-pound crank shaft is shorter and heavier than the type used in other light four-cylinder cars of the same dimensions. The connecting rods are steel drop-forged.

JORDAN SAYS AUTO INDUSTRY HAS JUST STARTED TO GROW

Persons who told us 20 years ago that the industry had reached its saturation point when only 100,000 cars were in service, and repeated their prophesy 10 years ago when 3,000,000 cars were in service, are now positive that the end has come," says Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Co.

"But they judge only by surface indications. They figure that there are about 20,000,000 cars in this country and only about 27,000,000 families. They jump at the conclusion that the market is, therefore, practically saturated.

"Three important factors are overlooked by these amateur statisticians.

"First, the growing export market which will soon demand millions of American cars.

"Second, the replacement market in this country which requires 2,000,000 new cars annually.

"Third, the rapidly growing necessity of having more than one car in a family.

"Careful consideration of these facts will convince anyone that the industry is really just beginning to grow."

Nothing Like It in the World

The Verdict of the Show

"It is a Hudson-Essex Show!" That has been the almost universal comment at every Automobile Show to date. You cannot fail to observe how the Hudson-Essex exhibit outdraws any other, two and three to one.

No line of cars in our experience ever met with such enthusiastic reception, or aroused such interested discussion and unqualified praise. Wherever automobiles are talked about, the release of the Super-Six principle to full capacity is of outstanding interest.

The Super-Six has the smoothness of an electric motor. Four years' development led to full release of its capacity in power, stamina and safety. It led to two new chassis capable of safely using the wide range and long life of the motors.

Your Hudson Super-Six never extends itself. It always has reserve power for the approaching hill or for greater speed.

In the Essex Super-Six you have 50 miles an hour all day long, and ability to travel even faster if you want. You have smooth, fast pick-up, long life to all wearing parts—accessibility, and the most advanced engineering for low maintenance and operation costs.

The new body styles—seven in Hudson and four in Essex—have shared equally with their brilliant performance in their successful reception everywhere.

And what an impressive group these solid and substantial leaders are! There are Packard and Cadillac and Buick — Studebaker, Pierce Arrow and Reo—Locomobile and Marmon—Ford and Hudson and PAIGE and a very few others.

Not every motor car appeals to every man. But financial strength, industrial solidity, a reputation for honesty and integrity and an assurance of permanency—these are factors that are of vital concern to every motor car purchaser.

That is why Paige directs your attention to its 18 uniformly successful years—to the fact that the same able men who founded Paige are directing its destinies today — to the strength of its resources and assets—and to its great new factory.

Buy the motor car that best meets your needs and purse—but no matter what car you choose—consider the company as well as the car.

NEW HUDSONS FIRST SEEN HERE AT SHOW

Improved Body Lines, Engine Changes and High Road Speed Feature New Models.

The first glimpse the St. Louis public will have of the new Hudsons will be at the Automobile Show, where they will be displayed by the Hudson-Frampton Motor Car Co. Claims of very high speed and ability to maintain high speed for long periods without injury to the mechanism are made for the new Hudsons.

The Hudson motor is the same size as formerly, but now has an F-type head; that is, the intake valves are in the head of the motor and the exhaust at the side. This construction is said to be the only one of its type in American production. The Hudson engineers say this motor has the greatest power output her bore-and-stroke of any made.

New carburetion and manifolding suitable to this design are evident. An interesting small item is the practice of engraving instructions on how to set the carburetor—and timing as well—for the best results. A new ignition system supplies a 50 per cent hotter spark—an important factor in the improved performance. Gasoline strainers and air cleaners are in-built. Radiation is increased 16 2-3 per cent.

The frame has been so redesigned that center of gravity is lowered four inches. The rear springs are splayed out at the rear and attached to the rear cross member of the frame. This construction is said to improve riding safety and comfort over all types of roads. Wheels are smaller, and carry 31x6 tires. Bendix self-energizing four-wheel brakes are fitted.

The general Hudson exterior is new, featuring attractive streamlines. Radiator and hood are higher. The lamps are bullet-shaped and nickel plated. Fenders have a new attractive contour. All bodies are redesigned, with more curving lines. Because of the lower chassis design, they are much closer to the ground.

Bodies are of two types. First is the standard line of the coach and the four-door sedan, both of steel construction. A custom-built line includes five and seven passenger sedans, roadster and seven-passenger touring car.

Within the cars the instrument board is newly designed so as to group all instruments, including a gasoline gauge, in a neat panel, indirectly lighted.

All metal trim inside the car is color-finished to match the upholstery. The latter is of fine quality mohair and velours. Hardware is also of new and pleasing design.

All closed cars have dome lights, parking lights, curtains and pockets.

Custom-built cars are richly appointed with smoking sets, assist cords and similar conveniences.

SHOWS HOW CAR DEALERS MAY MAKE PROFIT ON REPAIR WORK

R. W. Proctor Talks on Importance of Industry at Meeting of Accessory Association.

The automotive accessory and shop equipment industry has increased 79 per cent in the last six years, declared R. W. Proctor, general sales manager of Black & Decker Manufacturing Co., Townson, Md., at a meeting of the Automotive Accessory Association of St. Louis at Hotel Claridge Tuesday evening.

In 1915, he said, 20 per cent of the money spent on automobiles was for maintenance and service, while 80 per cent was spent for new cars. Last year 44 per cent was spent for new cars, while 56 per cent was paid for accessories and maintenance.

Proctor recalled that it cost $1,000,000,000 more last year to keep cars operating that was paid for new automobiles, and suggested that accessory association members show automobile dealers how the latter might make profits by maintaining service shops and buying equipment, which would save time. He recommended flat rates for repair work.

Proctor told of a Chevrolet dealer, who had been in business for 11 years and had always made a profit on used cars because "he bought them right." This dealer, Proctor said, painted used cars and overhauled the engines, if necessary.

It costs $200 a year to operate a car, Proctor stated, and, to get repeat orders, automobile dealers should keep in touch with car buyers by collecting from them $100 to $200 annually for accessories and repair work.

He showed where half of car dealers' profits must come from their service departments and suggested that they give these the same importance as their other business.

George H. Niekamp, president of the association, urged salesmen to assist shop equipment manufacturers in explaining their products to automobile dealers at the show.

When Testing Batteries.

Don't ruin a pair of gloves when you test the battery. There is an excellent chance for some of the water and acid to be spilled on the top of the battery and in replacing caps the gloves are likely to come into contact with it. Inevitably they will be a mass of holes the next time you put them on. Acid that gets on the hands during the process will not injure the skin. It will be well, however, to wash the hands thoroughly after the job is finished.

"LITTLE MARMON" 8 COMES IN 6 BODY TYPES

Exhibited at Show With Big Marmon, to Which It Is a Companion.

The "Little Marmon" straight eight, which is shown with the Marmon six by the More Automobile Co., is in no sense a European car, according to President G. M. Williams, of the Marmon factory, but, instead, is a companion to the big Marmon and designed for American drivers in American cities and on American highways.

Included among Little Marmon features are: Eight cylinders in line with brake-horsepower of 65 at 3300 revolutions per minute; 70 miles an hour; hypoid bevel rear axle drive gears; Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers engineered into frame; full pressure lubrication to all vital moving parts; auxiliary oiling of pistons and cylinder walls when starter is engaged, an exclusive feature; intake manifold of down-draught type, which insures an even and dependable distribution of fuel by conveying gasoline mixture to a point above and equidistant from each cylinder; rubber shackles insulating frame; wheel base of of 116 inches and low center of gravity, and self-energizing mechanical four-wheel brakes of Bendix type.

The Little Marmon comes in six body types, which include two-door sedan, four-door sedan, two-passenger speedster, two-passenger coupe, four-passenger speedster and collapsible coupe-roadster.

All types of the Little Marmon have an unusually smart appearance.

Several new standard body styles and several new custom-built body styles, and numerous mechanical refinements are features of the Series 75 line of large Marmon automobiles.

In the large Marmon series are the five-passenger town coupe and a two-passenger collapsible coupe-roadster equipped with a rumble seat. The line includes a variety of body styles, classified as follows: Two-passenger speedster five-passenger phaeton, custom-built speedster for four, custom-built touring speedster for seven, custom-built sedan for seven, custom-built sedan, limousine, custom-built sedan for five, five-passenger standard sedan, seven-passenger standard sedan, four-passenger Victoria coupe, two-passenger coupé, two-passenger collapsible coupe-roadster, five-passenger town-coupe, and five-passenger brougham.

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCK DOES WORK OF 40 CAMELS

The desert section of Egypt, where the very landscape shifts as hot winds pile and repile billows of sand, leads the world in the permanence of its work of man. The pyramids, built more than 3000 years ago, stand practically unchanged by the ravages of time.

This ideal of building for long life, originated centuries ago, still endures in Egypt. So, when the Asiatic Petroleum Co. (Egypt), Ltd., sought to build up a transportation system of utmost reliability and permanence for distributing motor fuel, Graham Brothers trucks were selected. The long life and superior ability of these trucks to meet desert conditions has been demonstrated by practical use for many months.

The Graham Brothers trucks in many instances have taken the place of camels formerly used to carry gasoline. In making the change, remarkable figures on the long life of Graham Brothers trucks as compared with camels came to light.

Comparing mileage covered and load carried, Graham Brothers trucks actually have longer lives from the standpoint of work done than average camels.

This is true despite the fact that the camel, next to the elephant, is known as one of the longest lived beasts of burden—the average camel being useful 30 to 40 years. But a single Graham Brothers truck can carry eight camel loads and at a speed of more than five times that of a camel. Thus the working capacity of one of these trucks for a given period of time corresponds to that of a caravan of more than 40 camels.

In covering 100,000 miles one of the Asiatic Petroleum Co. trucks will have done approximately three "camel lives work."

CARS AND TRUCKS IN WORLD SAID TO NUMBER 27,527,000

With an increase of considerably more than 3,000,000 motor cars and trucks last year, it is estimated that there were 27,527,000 automobiles in active service throughout the world at the beginning of 1927. While 80 per cent of the world's automobiles are owned in the United States, relatively more rapid strides are being made in other sections, according to the annual world motor census by The American Automobile (overseas edition). The census reveals that automobiles used outside of the United States increased by 858,997 vehicles, a gain of 18.3 per cent in the last year.

Important gains in the use of the automobile occurred in Asia, the increase in this section of the world, which includes the Dutch East Indies, being 22.6 per cent. In Oceania, in which is included Australia, New Zealand and Hawaii, the gain for the year amounted to 22.3 per cent. The Western Hemisphere, excluding the United States, registered a gain for the year of 20.3 per cent.

Only Thibet and Greenland are without pasesnger cars or motor trucks. A few years ago one motor tractor was in operation in Greenland. It is no longer in service.

URGES ECONOMY IN AUTOMOBILE BUYING

Ford Dealer Advocates Purchase of Car as a Means of Transportation.

"Henry Ford hit the keynote of automobile economics when he said, 'I sometimes wonder if we have not lost our buying sense and fallen entirely under the spell of salesmanship.' The automobile buyer today does not, in most instances, consider the value of the article he is buying. This is largely due to the fact that he has not intelligently analyzed his needs," says F. J. Riefling of the Riefling Auto Co., Ford dealers.

"The prime motive for buying an automobile is to secure a means of conveyance—something that will take you somewhere and bring you back. Therefore the conveyance that will do this with the least expense is the most economical and is the basis of transportation cost.

"In the early days of the automobile industry, the manufacturers realized that they would have to sell the buyer on the economy of the automobile which he was selling and the service it would render. In order to do this, he laid special stress on the miles per gallon of gasoline he would get out of the car. He featured mechanical construction, simplicity, endurance, upkeep and cost as compared with the then popular means of transportation—the horse-drawn vehicle.

"The buyer in the pioneer days of the automobile wanted to know what he was getting for his money. He knew values in terms of utility and dollars. He would no more think of buying an automobile for $1000, when one for $500 would answer his needs, any more than a farmer would buy two horses when he had need for only one.

"This condition was soon apparent to the automobile manufacturers and they all set about to produce a popular-price car. A car that would give the owner all he needed in transportation at the least possible expense. A car that would be in keeping with the judicial expenditure of savings or income of the individual or family.

"Henry Ford realized that a car, to be popular, must be built of the best material to give endurance must be simple of construction to avoid expense, and must be sold at the lowest price possible to be most economical. In other words, a car that would give you all you actually needed for a conveyance at the lowest possible cost.

"The question to be asked today is: What do you want? And the answer should be, a means of transportation. How can we get this at the lowest possible cost? What will the cost of tires, parts, labor and miles per gallon on gasoline compared with other cars? What do we get for the additional cost of original price and the added cost of upkeep? Is it worth it? What does it give us?

"If the same analysis is made, and the same idea of ecenomy followed in the purchase of an automobile that is used in the everyday practice of expenditures, there will be a more happy condition for the owner, the merchants, the community and all concerned."

STUTZ VICE PRESIDENT TO VISIT ST. LOUIS SHOW

E. S. Cornell, vice president of the Stutz Motor Car Co. of America, Indianapolis, came to St. Louis Tuesday to visit the Benjamin Motor Co., Stutz distributer, in the course of a tour of the automobile shows. He was accompanied by Bert Dingley, old-time noted racing driver, who now is service manager for the Stutz factory.

They departed Tuesday night for the Kansas City show, and expect to return for the St. Louis show this week.

M'FARLAN CARS BEING SHOWN IN TWO MODELS

Six Cylinder Engine Has 4½ by 6-Inch Bore and Stroke, Developing 120 Brake Horse-Power.

McFarlan cars, shown by the Foster Motor Co., include models on the big twin valve six chassis and the eight-in-line chassis. No radical changes from previous construction or design are noted, although the overall height, particularly of bodies on the eight-in-line chassis, is somewhat less than formerly.

The McFarlan twin valve six engine has a 4½-inch bore by a 6-inch stroke, with a piston displacement of 572 cubic inches, and develops 120 brake horsepower. It has triple ignition—two sets of spark plugs operated from a Bosch magneto and a third set operating from a storage battery.

McFarlan twin valve six frame is made of 5-32-inch U channel, eight inches in depth, reinforced with six cross members. Springs are of the semielliptic type, front 40 inches long, rear 64 inches long and made of vanadium steel. Engine and transmission are mounted on a separate sub-frame, giving unusually low center of gravity and greater safety at high speeds. The rear axle is of the full floating type with Timken bearings and drive taken through spiral bevel gears.

Lockheed hydraulic four-wheel brakes, contracting on a 16-inch brake drum in the rear and 15½-inch brake drum in front are standard equipment. The emergency brake is operated by a hand lever and operates by expansion on the rear wheels.

All chassis bearing surfaces are lubricated from one central oil reservoir with the reservoir located on the dashboard.

The McFarlan eight-in-line chassis is powered with an engine having 3¼-inch bore by 4½-inch stroke and having a total piston displacement of 298.6 cubic inches. The cylinders are cast in block and the cylinder head is detachable.

Checking Up Repairs.

Much trouble is caused by knowing whether a repairer completed the job. Mechanics subject to lapses of memory as anyone else, and it someti happens that in replacing a der head a repairer will over the importance of tightening cylinder head bolts after the has warmed up. This is necess an expensive proposition for car owner who fails to check up repairs, for it means that the inder head gasket is likely "blow," causing all varieties of ter, oil and compression leaks. is too late to tighten up the after the gasket has been subj to strain.

CADILLAC CARS MADE IN FIFTY BODY STYLES

These With 500 Color Combinations Are on Program for This Year.

Entering its twenty-fifth year of manufacturing, with a production program larger than at any previous time in its history, the Cadillac Motor Car Co. recently marked the opening of its silver anniversary year by announcing a program of 50 body styles and types and 500 color combinations —the most varied line and largest output in the quality field since the beginning of the industry.

Some of these styles are being shown by the Oliver-Cadillac Co.

In addition to being one of the earliest pioneer organizations and always producing only quality cars, the concern has established a record as eight-cylinder motor-car manufacturer. Since 1914 when it introduced the V-type eight-cylinder engine, more than 335,000 Cadillac cars have been built. Of this number, [illegible] have been of the latest model.

The Cadillac V-type engine was introduced at a time of almost feverish experimentation by automobile engineers. It contained in highly developed form many of the fundamentals which they were at that time seeking. It was powerful, compact, rigid in construction, durable and smooth in operation. Improvements upon the original design have added further smoothness, simplicity and liveliness.

In addition to the indorsement by more than 300,000 owners of the V-type eight, who have invested in its approximately $875,000,000, the growth of the company since the one-cylinder days of 1902 has been marked by frequent milestones of progress.

In 1908 Cadillac entered and won the competition for the famous Dewar Trophy, awarded each year by the Royal Automotive Club of England to the automobile making the greatest advance during the current year. This award was for complete interchangeability of parts, the result of a degree of manufacturing precision never before attained.

Again in 1912 Cadillac was awarded the same trophy, due to general performance, including a complete electrical system of lighting, starting and ignition, becoming the only American car to win the trophy and the only car in the world to win it twice.

After exhaustive competitive tests held in Texas at the time the United States entered the World War, the Cadillac was selected as the standard seven-passenger touring car of the United States Army.

CENTER OF ATTRACTION

Long VELIE Life

Comparison of motor car merits brings Velie sharply to the fore.

Beauty of design and fittings are out of all proportion to the modest price. Such lines and appointments are generally seen only in the most expensive cars.

And Velie performance, power, balance and silence are even more astonishing.

Here is sporting pick-up, with fast acceleration; superabundant power and flexibility, forthcoming at a touch. And miraculously silent—vibrationless at any speed you ask, due to the perfect balance of the new massive crankshaft, Velie-built.

When you see the great, new Velie line at the show, note also the low center of gravity, 4-wheel hydraulic brakes, balloon tires, deep, low seats and the wealth of comfort-giving details.

Then compare the price. You would expect to pay much more than is asked for "America's Long Life Car."

PONTIAC SIX ADDS TWO DE LUXE CARS TO LINE

Enters Second Year With Five Closed Models and Two Delivery Vehicles.

The Pontiac six, which is exhibited at the show by the Mississippi Valley Motor Co., has entered its second year with line including three standard, two de luxe closed models and two delivery cars.

The coupe, said to be one of the most attractive low-priced cars, is a roomy two-passenger car with a rear compartment of ample size. Its lines are enhanced by landau irons and a double beading from the front of the hood across the body.

The two-door sedan is retained. It has wide doors and is upholstered in durable corduroy.

The landau sedan, which was added to the Pontiac line last July, is a distinctive model having appointments usually expected in the higher price ranges. Its low-slung Fisher body has four wide doors. The rounded rear quarter is in dull leather, with landau irons.

It is upholstered in velour which harmonizes with the fittings, which include side pockets in the front doors, roller shade on rear window, dome light, foot rest, robe rail and nickel-plated window regulators.

The two latest passenger car offerings are the de luxe coupe and de luxe landau sedan. They have Fisher bodies, Fisher VV one-piece windshields, automatic windshield cleaners, rear vision mirrors, roller shade on the rear window, crank type window regulators, accessible door controls and invisible door checks. Duco color finish is on the fenders, headlights, the hood, and body. Natural wood artillery wheels, nickel-plated front bumpers and rear fender guards, and body hardware of period design are standard equipment.

The deeply cushioned seats are upholstered in mohair. The walnut finished window molding harmonizes with a steering wheel of American walnut. The instrument panel is finished in Robin Hood blue.

The de luxe delivery panel body type introduced several months ago and the de luxe delivery screen body car added to the Pontiac line early in January are finished in balsam blue duco with wheels to match. The body trim and that of the hood louvres and wheels is in orange duco.

40,000,000 SPARK PLUGS PUT OUT BY CHAMPION CO. IN 1926

Every minute of every working day throughout 1926 an average of 300 Champion spark plugs was completed and shipped from the plants of the Champion Spark Plug Co. at Toledo, Detroit and Windsor, Ont. For more than 10 years the company has been the largest of its kind in the world. Its 1926 output attained the highest total in its history, exceeding well over 40,000,000 spark plugs.

"Only a combination of remarkable precision machinery, efficient plant operation and management and trained human skill, makes such an output possible," comments R. A. Stranahan, president of the company, on this achievement.

"More than a million spark plugs are today passing through various stages of manufacture in our plants. If we consider the time actually taken to produce our cores, more than 10,000,000 spark plugs are constantly in the process of manufacture at our plants in Toledo and Detroit. Three months always elapse between the beginning and the completion of each Champion core. That time is imperative to insure proper 'curing' of the material."

SPECIAL DEMONSTRATION OF GABRIEL SNUBBERS AT SHOW

To make an actual demonstration of the new Gabriel snubber at the national shows this year, the Gabriel Snubber Manufacturing Co. of Cleveland, went to considerable expense to create something different. It was decided to arrange for a standard size automobile in actual operation over a rough road. Factory engineers designed a set of rollers to rotate under the front wheels of a full-sized car.

It was found that two rollers under each front wheel, one of them operating eccentrically, would give the same result as hitting a rough spot in a road. These rollers are operated by a five-horsepower electric motor, with a man at the front and rear of the car to connect and disconnect the snubbers, definitely demonstrating the bobbing of the car without the snubbers connected, and then connect snubbers, showing how the car is held down with no rebound and preloading eliminated.

H. C. Merry, the local distributor, persuaded the factory to make this same demonstration in St. Louis during the auto show this week. So this special demonstration of the new Gabriel snubber will be on the top floor of the Union Market Building all this week.

LIQUID STOPS RADIATOR LEAK

Annual sales of more than 1,500,000 cans of Whiz Liquid Radiator Stop Leak are reported by O. A. Clenin, branch manager for the R. M. Hollingshead Co., Camden, N. J. Each can of Whiz contains sufficient liquid to stop leaks in a radiator of eight gallons capacity. The contents of the can are merely poured into the water in the radiator, and almost at once the leak is repaired.

This Whiz product for stopping leaks works as well with Whiz Anti-Freeze in the radiator as when there is only water in it.

Leading All the Sixes in Extra Value

BEAUTY here, in overflowing measure—in the latest models of the Hupmobile Six, the closest-priced six in America.

Clear-vision bodies in the latest design, staunch and solid; with color options for your choice.

Rich mohair upholstery; walnut steering wheel and walnut-finished interior trim; instruments grouped under glass, indirectly lighted; tilt-beam headlights controlled from the steering wheel; manifold heat control and thermostatic heat control; four wheel brakes and balloon tires, of course.

And that is barely more than a beginning.

What makes Hupmobile the closest-priced six in America is its 10 per cent higher quality.

Costly Grade A materials instead of cheaper Grade B or C; Hupmobile's own laboratory tests of materials and processes; Hupmobile's own powerful, long-lived engine and vital parts built in Hupmobile's own exacting way.

Ten per cent higher quality all through, at a first cost that makes you doubt the real value of a higher-priced six; and an after-cost that opens your eyes to what economy means.

Power as smooth as electricity; pick-up and speed that leave ordinary sixes far behind; all the time, the kind of snap and get-away you want a six to have.

You can comb the entire six market with a fine tooth comb trying to find anything to match the Hupmobile.

See it just once, ride in it just once—and you'll have no other six at any price.

Latest Models of the Hupmobile Six—Brougham, (Illustrated) $1385; Sedan, $1385; Coupe, $1385; Roadster, $1385; Touring, $1325. All prices f. o. b. Detroit, plus revenue tax.

MODEL OF NEW PAIGE STRAIGHT EIGHT SHOWN

Four Series of Cars Now Made for First Time by Company.

For the first time in its history Paige is represented at the automobile show by four series of automobiles, differing in size and power but all conforming to the high standards that were set early in the career of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co. These models are shown by the Wilson Motor Car Co.

Most interesting to visitors is the new Paige straight eight, scheduled for production in March, but represented at the show by an advance model, the five-passenger sedan.

The company is now turning out 14 six-cylinder models—six of the big Paige 6-65 line and five Paige 6-45s. There will be six eights, also, making 20 models in the four series.

Each of the models shown is typical of its own series. All four lines, however, have much in common, notably the general use of bright colors in two-tone or three-tone finish, the uniformly graceful appearance of the bodies gained through curved lines and rounded contours, and the completeness of appointment.

All four series reflect the results of the Paige recent change of policy in eliminating from production plain-finished models. In former show seasons the Paiges appeared in both "standard" and "de luxe" types of the same model. The company's sales records proved that the public has a marked preference for the additional style and comfort of the better finished cars, and the makers of Paige are turning out all models in de luxe finish and appointment. The resulting economies in production have enabled the makers to surpass the former de luxe qualities.

A feature common to all Paige models is the richness of the interiors, attained through two harmonizing dominant colors and completeness of interior trim and finish.

A feature common to all Paige models is the richness of the interiors, attained through two harmonizing dominant colors and completeness of interior trim and finish.

All cars have hydraulic four-wheel brakes, engine air cleaner, cowl ventilator, snubbers, stoplight, automatic windshield wiper, coincidental steering and ignition lock, sun visor, gasoline gauge on the instrument panel, light switch, and dimming control at the center of the steering wheel, rotary window lifts and remote control inside door handles.

The four-passenger coupe, finished in standard colors, is an example of the maker's attention to details of color and trim. The double belt molding is formed of two beads, each bearing a stripe in ivory; between the two beads are stripes of gold. Above the lower bead the color is Algerian blue, wihle the top and rear quarters are in bright-finish black, trimmed with nickeled landau bows. The color below the lower molding is Rolls-Royce blue.

The 6-45 cabriolet roadster, a new model, is the lowest-priced car of its type and appointment now in production. It is virtually a closed car, but may be converted to the open roadster type.

'CHIEF PONTIAC' TO ATTEND OAKLAND-PONTIAC EXHIBIT

"Chief Pontiac," in full Indian costume and enacted by a real Indian, will be at the Oakland-Pontiac display at the auto show this week, as he was last year. He will distribute Pontiac medals for the Mississippi Valley Motor Co., Oakland-Pontiac distributer.

The Pontiac is the only American car named for an Indian chief, and bears on its radiator plate a medalion depicting the features of Chief Pontiac, who was one of the noted Indian leaders.

PEERLESS OFFICIALS TO ATTEND ST. LOUIS SESSION

The annual dealers' convention and luncheon of the De Luxe Automobile Co., of which Philip H. Brockman is president, is to be held Tuesday. Brockman expects Leon German, vice president of the Peerless factory, for which he recently took a distributership, to attend, as also C. A. Tucker, general sales manager, and F. G. Jones of Sweeney & James advertising agency. Robert E. Lee, manager of the auto show, is to be toastmaster.

Arrangements for the convention are being made by George T. Willett, general manager of the De Luxe company.

TWO RECORDS BROKEN BY STUDEBAKER IN '26

Big Six "Sheriff" Crossed Connecticut at Average Speed of 40.2 M. P. H.

The year just past has been noteworthy for Studebaker performances. A Studebaker powered with the "big six" motor has crossed the continent at an average of 40.2 miles per hour, attained a top speed of 76 miles an hour, and beat the fastest railroad time by six hours and 25 minutes. That was the Studebaker big six "Sheriff" that Ab Jenkins drove from New York to San Francisco in 86 hours and 20 minutes.

Another record was broken when Jenkins drove a "big six Sheriff" from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City and beat all previous automobile performances and the best train schedules by more than seven hours. Records also were made for both the one way and the round trip between San Francisco and Portland, Ore.

A Studebaker standard six recently was driven across the Sahara Desert, in Africa, from Algiers to Touggourt and return—a distance of 750 miles—as easily as one drives to a resort over Sunday.

The world-wide acceptance of this automobile is evidenced by the serial number plate attached to the chassis frame of every Studebaker automobile. This plate shows that the Studebaker wheel trademark has been registered in 101 different countries and in 23 different languages. The necessity of this plate has been brought about primarily by the extensive foreign trade of the Studebaker Corporation, said to be the world's largest exporter of high-powered cars.

An example of Studebaker export aggressiveness was the introduction of the Erskine, a two and one-third litre six-cylinder automobile, at the recent salon in Paris. The Erskine is being shown for the first time at the local automobile show.

An unusual organization is the Studebaker 100,000-Mile Club, made up of owners of Studebaker automobiles which have been driven 100,000 miles or more and are still in active service. Today there are 951 members of the organization and each month brings new entrants.

There are two qualifications for membership. One is that the Studebaker owner must establish that his Studebaker has covered its first 100,000 miles. The other is that the car is still in use. Any Studebaker owner who can show these qualifications is admitted to the club without charge and is given a plate to be carried on the rear of the car, announcing the owner's membership.

While there are nearly 1000 Studebaker owners who have driven their cars more than 100,000 miles, of this number more than 150 have passed the 200,000 mile mark, 50 have driven over 300,000 miles and at least a dozen have got more than 400,000 miles out of their cars.

The unofficial president of the Studebaker 100,000 Mile Club is Charles Marmeri, Chisholm, Minn., who has a Studebaker that has traveled more than 419,000 miles and is still going.

Not long ago a Studebaker was retired from service in California after it had run 500,000 miles. In South Africa another automobile of the same make is operating between Kimberly and Kuruman and has rolled up more than 400,000 miles on its speedometer. In Walla Walla, Wash., Roy Fouts is still driving has care and it has served 401,000 miles.

Studebaker cars are exhibited say the Cartwright Motor Co., and the Weber Motor Co.

CLUB ISSUED 13,836 LICENSES

A total of 13,836 license transactions were handled by the license bureau of the Automobile Club of Missouri up to Wednesday noon. Up to that time there were issued 8100 State licenses, 4050 city licenses and 500 truck licenses. Besides these the license bureau handled 486 certificate of title applications.

IMPROVED FORD CAR HAS ALL-STEEL BODY

Models Come in Various Colors With Hot Plate Gasoline Vaporizer.

"The improved Ford is today fully as attractive as it is efficient, and compares favorably with any car on the road. That's saying a great deal when you consider the extraordinary reputation of the Ford for dependable performance and low upkeep," says the Ford Motor Co. of the cars it is displaying at the show.

"Let your eyes be the judge. It would be difficult to surpass the gracefulness of the long, low streamline effect, or to excel the beauty of the new colors, varied to suit all tastes. You may now select your Fordor, Tudor or coupe in fawn gray, royal maroon or Highland green; your roadster or touring car in gun metal blue or Phoenix brown. In any case the finish will be smart, durable pyroxylin that gives lasting beauty and permanent protection.

"The improved Ford has an all-steel body. It is larger and roomier. It is more comfortable and flexible, and steers easier. The braking is safer. Wire wheels are now standard equipment, along with balloon tires, demountable rims, and starting and lighting systerms. Sturdy crown fenders that cannot rattle and a one-piece windshield that opens from the bottom and allows no drafts are other noteworthy features.

"One of the most important improvements is the Holley hot plate vaporizer, which insures an aver-of 30 miles to the gallon of gasoline. All the tried and true Ford qualities of efficiency and economy have been retained or improved. It is a known fact that every change in Ford design is a scientific bettermen; no innovations are ever introduced primarily to stimulate sales.

"Ford transmission is becoming a greater and greater advantage to the motorist in these days of dense traffic. The improved Ford is the easiest car to drive or park. With its remarkable responsiveness, its is able to make a flying getaway and thus avoid congestion.

"Anyone who has not taken a ride in the improved Ford really does not know the Ford at all."

ANTI-FREEZE MIXTURE IN CAR SHOULD BE CHECKED

If one is using glycerine as an anti-freeze solution it will takeonly a few minutes to check up the tightness of the water system to be sure that the glycerine is not leaking out through tiny openings which alcohol or water would not find. This is one of glycerine's little habits, but the rest of its habits are good.

If the water system is gummed up, it is not from the glycerine, but from impurities in the water put with it or because one did not thoroughly clean out the water system before putting in the glycerine.

If the system has not leaked, it is not necessary to add any more glycerine but merely to replenish with water.

MANY NEW AUTO COLORS

The man who once named the Pullman parlor cars evidently has been called to the rescue of the automobile industry, and has gone to the encyclopedia, with a resultant offering that runs the gamut of selection. All periods and eras have been called upon, while history has been ransacked for names of new colors.

When Using Benzol Fuels.

Motorists who turn to benzol fuels should have the carburetor of their cars set at a leaner adjustment than for ordinary gasolines if they would get a maximum mileage.

VELIE IS SHOWING NEW SEDAN IN $1000 CLASS

Model Has 112-Inch Wheelbase and Airplane Type, Valve-in-Head Engine.

The Velie Motors Corporation is announcing a new sedan model on a smaller chassis—the Standard six sedan. Velie cars are exhibited by the Velie Motor Sales Co., St. Louis distributer.

This model has a 112-inch wheel base and is powered with the Velie airplane type, valve-in-head engine of 3⅛-inch bore and 4¼-inch stroke. This engine has full forced feed lubrication, including pressure feed to the all-stfeel valve mechanism. A heavy crankshaft and a liberal overstrength is apparent in the specifications. Balanced reciprocating parts and vibration dampener at the front of the engine insure smooth and vibrationless performance through a speed range of one to 60 M. P. H.

An unusual feature for cars of this class is the crank case fume utilizer, which draws off through the carburetor intake, all crank case fumes, thus reducing dilution of oil and assisting lubrication in the cylinders. Four ring pistons insure increased economy of gasoline as well as oil consumption. The power plant of the new Standard Six develops 50 H. P.

Axles are equipped with Timken bearings. Clutch is of the single plate dry disc type and the shifting of gears is done with finger-tip effort. Heavy construction is carried throughout axles and frame and the transmission is exceptionally quiet, due to lapped gears. Body is of the composite type, wood frame encased in steel.

The weight, 2860 pounds, indicates the lighest possible construction consistent with economical operating cost and the overstrength necessary to long life. The body designs are low in appearance. Upholstery is in a special grade of Millais fabric with walnut finish on window mouldings, cowl plate and instrument board, on which is grouped a separate four-unit instrument panel.

The exhibition of the Velie Standard Six marks the entrance of Velie into the $1000 car field. Velie cars also are being shown by the Velie Motor Sales Co., distributer in the St. Louis district.

DESIGNS MOTOR CAMPING CAR TO ACCOMMODATE FIVE

"Family Special" Planned to Give Tourists Most of the "Comforts of Home."

A "family special" motor touring car is being designed by Henry Rottersmann, vice president of the Cleveland Motor Sales Co. of St. Louis whose "Honeymoon Special" was a center of interest at last year's automobile show in this city.

Rottersmann said yesterday that his "Family Special" would provide sleeping accommodations for as many as four grown persons and a child. A chiffonier, wardrobe and dresser are provided for, with toilet set, dressing mirror and most of the conveniences of a home.

Running water, from a tank under the trunk rack; a folding ironing board and a shower bath are other conveniences.

Electrically operated cooking appliances, including coffee percolator, hot plates, waffle iron, etc., are to be designed into the car, as well as a small refrigerator plant and a radio set.

Rottersmann's "Honeymoon Special" was a two-passenger coupe. His proposed "Family Special," of course, is planned to be an even more fully equipped motor touring car on a Chandler chassis.

Spark Plug Fires Twice.

Application for a patent has been made by Charles Smith, of the United Auto Repair Co., 3012 Chouteau avenue, on a spark plug that fires twice. The plug is so constructed that each spark leaps two gaps and the second spark is to be 10 times as intense as first.

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

First Showing

OF THE

New Nash "Special" Sedans

at the Automobile Show

At the New York Automobile Show Nash disclosed two ultra new models, the Ambassador and the Cavalier, that definitely establish an entirely new enclosed body style.

In design they are of such arresting originality and unique artistry as to constitute the most important creative achievement in the history of American enclosed car craftsmanship.

And in response to an unprecedented public reception and great demand Nash has now executed two additional cars in this new mode to be offered at prices of wider popular appeal.

These two enclosed cars—the Special 4-Door Sedan on the Advanced Six chassis and also on the Special Six chassis—are given their first local display at the Automobile Show.

With their alluring grace and inimitable distinction, enhanced by the foreign technique displayed in the contours of the body, these Special 4-Door Sedan models emphatically confirm Nash's leadership of the industry in the fine art of body building.

And they are powered with the big Nash 7-bearing motor—the world's smoothest type—as are all other Nash models.

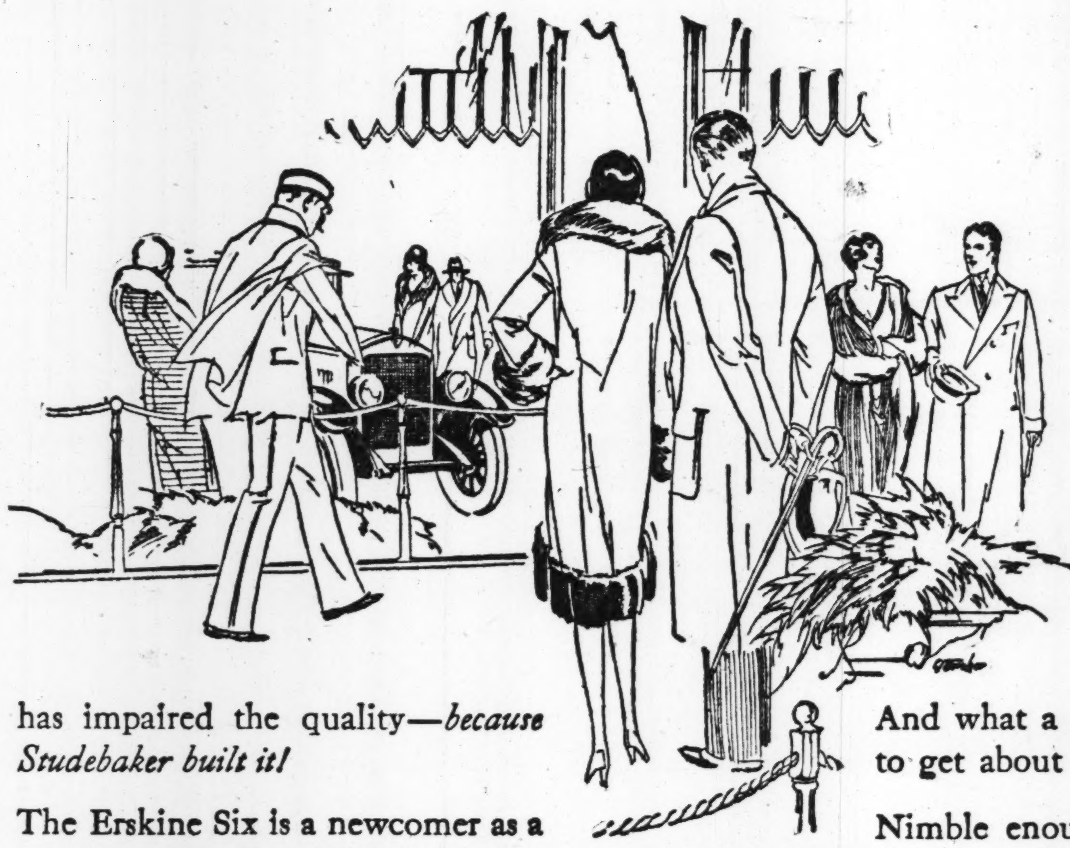
ERSKINE SIX

Studebaker's New 2⅓ Litre Car

Europe Inspired It—Dietrich Designed It Studebaker Built It—Paris Approves It

And Now All St. Louis Can See It



AT the 20th International Motor Exhibition at the Grand Palais in Paris, Europe saw the Erskine Six for the first time.

Over night it was acclaimed the hit of the Paris Show!

The press called it the "Clou du Salon!" The man in the street and the man of affairs—designers of cars and designers of the Paris mode—everybody declared the Erskine Six to be the outstanding triumph of the exhibition—excelling Europe in its own type of car. The Parisian triumph was repeated at the Olympia Show in London.

Priced under $1000

People over there want modishness and insist upon upkeep economy. Motorists over here are welcoming both as a new order in car ownership. The Erskine Six was built for both markets, for it sells for less than $1000.

But don't look for any signs of economy in its appearance—because Dietrich designed it!

And don't be afraid that economy has impaired the quality—because Studebaker built it!

The Erskine Six is a newcomer as a car, but it's built and backed by an old-timer in the industry and has been perfected by extreme road tests on Studebaker's million dollar proving ground!

It is only 5 feet 7½ inches in height—yet it affords ample clearance for Madame's chapeau.

Body by Dietrich

Wherever you look at this low-swung, wide-windowed, full-vision steel body, you will find visible evidence of the creative genius which is Dietrich!

Outside, the close-hauled beauty of the Paris mode—and inside, the relaxation and comforts of home!

And what a car to get about in!

Nimble enough to turn in an 18-foot radius—powerful enough to take an 11% grade without shifting gears—fast enough to skim over the highway at 60 miles per hour—and smart enough to be an ornament as well as an automobile.

Low Operating Cost

Gives 25 to 30 miles to the gallon—on the road, as well as on paper—and accelerates from 5 to 25 miles in 8½ seconds—in fact, as well as in figures!

Powered with a six-cylinder engine of the L-head type—mounted on semi-elliptic springs with a base equal to 82% of the wheelbase—equipped with 4-wheel brakes—upholstered and appointed for big car comfort and convenience in small car space.

And for service, you get the sponsorship of Studebaker.

The Little Aristocrat

Here, at last, is European beauty and economy, plus American luxury and efficiency—an entente cordiale of the engineering genius of two continents—overtime service at half-time cost!—twice the mileage for half the money!—small car benefits with big car responsibilities!

Presented to America as a new mode in cars.

Acclaimed by Paris as the car of the mode!

The talk of the old world and next motor topic of the new!

If you are interested in small car cost for big car conduct, and big car mileage for small car money, you will certainly make it a point to see America's most radical development and improvement in small car construction—The Erskine Six, "The Little Aristocrat."

Success of salesmen, he contind, is largely due to personality, mbition to get ahead, enthusiasm r the product and persistence in eir work. He suggested that salesmen study articles in leading trade papers written by men of wide experience in selling and merchandising.

To get 100 per cent business, dealers should co-operate and discuss their problems, he said, asserting that the time will come when they will get the profit they should have out of the many millions spent for automobiles. Dealers at the show, should know what their finance plans will be and the real value of used cars, and should try to effect sales at their booths, Cole suggested.

Referring to the fact that most of home garage snow being built are for two cars, he said, dealers do not have to create a desire for automobiles, because the public wants better cars.

Edward Weber, chairman of the Show Committee, said he believed the St. Louis exhibition will be the finest in the United States this year, and predicted a larger attendance. He urged dealers to use every effort to effect sales at the show to "boost business."

Following a talk by a representative of the Citizens Smoke Abatement League, a motion to indorse the proposed drive to eliminate smoke in St. Louis and to appoint a committee of 10 to co-operate with the league was approved by the association.

The meeting was attended by 437 distributers, dealers and salesmen.

GOODYEAR CO. ENLARGES COTTON MILL IN GEORGIA

Following a six months' period of record construction in enlarging the Clearwater cotton mill owned by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. at Cedartown, Ga., to twice the original size, actual production of fabric was started Feb. 21.

The construction of a new fireproof building two stories high with 234,000 square feet of floor space was begun July 21, 1926, by Goodyear engineers, increasing the facilities of the Clearwater mill from 12,000 spindles to 30,000 spindles and making the fabric plant the largest in tonnage capacity of any owned by the Goodyear company.

While a large force of workmen were engaged in erecting the new building, a construction crew established what is believed to be a new record in home building, 97 employes' homes of modern architecture being completed in 104 working days; an average of a completed house every 10 hours. At the same time 52 homes already built were remodeled.

SUGGESTS MOTORISTS KNOW NUMBER ON THEIR CARS

Too many motorists are ignorant of the motor numbers of their automobiles and even the numbers of their license tags, in the opinion of Matt. F. Morse, general manager of the Automobile Club of Missouri, who suggests that all motorists make certain they have this information about their automobiles.

TWO MAIN ROADS TO BE BUILT SOON IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HERRIN, Ill., Feb. 19.—Assurance by State officials that two of the main proposed roads in Southern Illinois would be built "as fast as possible," brought satisfaction to this and other places which sent delegations to the State capital last week to attend the road hearing.

The routes in which the delegations were mainly interested are the "Sneed Highway," which will run from Mt. Vernon through Waltonville, Sesser, Valier, Christopher, Zeigler, Herrin and Energy to connect with Route 13, a distance of approximately 42 miles, and Route 143, from Benton to Harrisburg.

The Best Place to Buy a Used Car

OUR used cars are bought from a most discriminating class—those who buy the Packard Six and the Packard Eight. More than 75% of the car's useful life is often available at less than half its original cost. PACKARD ENGINES HAVE LONG LIST OF RECORDS

Figured in Notable Feats by Motor Cars, Aircraft and Speed Boats.

Packard single six and straight eight cars, which are exhibited at the show by the Berry Motor Car Co., are made in a factory which has played a striking part in the development of gasoline engines for aircraft and speed boats as well as for automobiles.

The Packard factory takes great pride in the following list of records made by Packard cars and speed machines powered with Packard built engines:

1904—"Gray Wolf," racing car, one mile, 1 minute, 46 2-5 seconds.

1917—(Speedway record), W. A. Rader, one, two, three, four, five and ten miles at 125.43, 124.56, 124.7, 124.44, 123.7 m. p. h.

1917—(Speedway record), fifteen, twenty, twenty-five miles, 110.4, 110.7 and 110.5 m. p. h.

1919—Ralph De Palma, Packard "905," one mile, 149.8 m. p. h.

1919—Ralph De Palma in "905" (records still stand), 10 miles at 144.40 m. p. h., 15 miles at 132.1 m. p. h., 20 miles at 134.85 m. p. h.

1920—Lieut. Mosley, Verville-Packard speed plane, 178 m. p. h., winning Pulitzer race. Record for all speeds made by any human being from one to 30 miles.

1922—Motor for Navy's airship, Shenandoah, motor endurance record, 300 miles. In same run, economy record any gasoline motor 0.45 pounds per brake horsepower.

1922 and 1923—Col. J. G. Vincent, Packard Chriscraft, records for new type gold cup racing boats.

1923—Com. Harry B. Greening, Rainbow III, new record for boats of any type, 1064 miles in 24 hours.

1924—Navy seaplane PN-9, endurance record for seaplanes, 35 hours, 28 minutes, 20 seconds.

1925—Navy seaplane PN-9 No. 2, distance record for seaplants, 1992 statute miles.

1925—Army-Huff Daland plane, speed record single-motored bombing plane, 130 m. p. h.

1925—Col. J. G. Vincent, "Nuisance," new record gold cup boats, 49.1 m. p. h.

1925—Col. J. G. Vincent, Packard Chriscraft II, 150 miles at 55.65 m. p. h. (Record for boats of any type this distance.)

1925—Caleb Bragg, "Baby Bootlegger," won gold cup race.

1926—Victor Kleisrath, "Rowdy," six miles at 64.7 m. p. h. (Record for displacement boats any type, one to six miles inclusive.)

1926—Lieut. G. T. Cuddihy, Boening-Packard combat plane, 120 miles at 180.495 m. p. h. over closed course.

Incidentally, the new Packard eight has an engine that develops over 100 brake horsepower, and is one of the world's very fastest stock cars. The single six also is very fast and powerful.

NEW GASOLINE SAID TO GIVE BETTER OPERATION

"To a certain extent," says F. Godber, president of the Roxana Petroleum Corp. of St. Louis, refiners of Shell petroleum products, "the automotive industry depends on the petroleum design. American automotive engineers have long felt the increasing necessity for automobile engines with higher compression ratios, as this type of motor has proven its efficiency, economy and long life in Europe.

"However, such changes in motor design demand especially suitable gasoline, if proper operation is to be obtained. It is plain, therefore, that before American automotive engineers could offer such cars for everyday use, proper motor fuel must be everywhere available for drivers of such cars.

"We saw the trend toward high compression in motor car design a long time ago and for several years have been experimenting in various directions to develop the most satisfactory gasoline for this type of motor yet were determined to supply the public with a straight run fuel.

Some months ago we perfected our new product, which has recently been announced to the public, under the name of "Super-Shell." This gasoline is refined by a process of our own from certain naphthene-base crudes which are high in natural qualities that make the fuel refined from them especially suitable for use in high compression engines.

"Not the least important thing about Super-Shell, however, is the fact that motorists need not delay obtaining the benefits from its use until they have discarded their present cars and substituted others with high-compression type motors. Super-Shell has been found to give greatly improved results from the operation of any present-day car. It is different from so-called 'anti-knock' gasolines because it starts almost instantly, even in cold weather—it quiets the motor, gives increased power and a general all-round improvement in the operation of the car is evident after Super-Shell has been used for a short time.

SOUTHEAST MISSOURI ROAD CARRIES HEAVY TRAFFIC

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BENTON, Mo., Feb. 19.—According to a survey made public by the State Road Department, a maximum of 1952 cars and trucks between Benton and Cape Girardeau, Federal route No. 61, is the heaviest traffic in Southeast Missouri in one day. The daily average for six days between these two points was 1226 cars and trucks.

The surveys were made in July and August.

MORE TIRE MILEAGE FROM MODERN BALLOON CASINGS

Tire manufacturers can give the public a new measure of miles in balloon tires, if they will first forget their ideas of tire building gained from the old high-pressure tire, according to officials of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co.

Through adoption of new principles of design, the company says, Goodrich Silvertown balloons are surpassing the mileage records of the finest Silvertowns of high-pressure design.

The first step in building balloon tires, according to Goodrich engineers, is to recognize that low pressure is almost exactly opposite to high pressure. That is, tires which were inflated to 60 to 80 pounds pressure were so hard that they rode on a comparatively narrow strip of tread in the center of the tire. But the balloon tire flattens out, and, instead of putting the load on the center of the tread, it puts the weight on what tire men call the "shoulders" or two outer sides of the tread.

Meeting this problem of tread design, according to Goodrich, will stop the waste of millions of dollars worth of tire mileage. With the heavy tread design, which has been so common in many balloon tires, eliminated from the center of the tire, it keeps the whole tread from being distorted under load, and this prevents destructive "cupping" action and rapid uneven tread wear.

129 AUBURN RETAIL SALES IN CHICAGO DURING SHOW

Heavy retail sales of Auburn cars during the automobile shows are reported by Auburn dealers in other cities to Joseph A. Schlecht, president of the Mound City Automobile Co., local Auburn distributer.

Sale of 129 cars at retail in Chicago during the show in that city is reported to Schlecht by Frank Popp, who is in charge of Auburn business in that city. "Business has been good since the show," Popp wrote. "The way we are running cars out would make one think it was May instead of February."

The A. F. Winegar Motor Co., Auburn distributer in Buffalo, N. Y., wrote that despite deep snow and a blizzard most of the week, the Buffalo show was a big success, and 27 Auburns were sold at retail in Buffalo during the show, while dealer prospects were numerous.

P. R. Ward, president of the Auburn Motor Sales Co. of Cleveland, wrote that 36 Auburns were sold at retail during their show week and a number of dealer contracts closed.

REAR SEATS OF PACKARD CARS NOW ARE 49 INCHES WIDE

The two inches by which the rear seats of Packard cars exceed the maximum standard widths of motor-car cushions was gained only after more than six years of intensive effort by many scores of men and at the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars, say Packard engineers.

Greater width means greater comfort when three persons occupy the rear seat and for that reason was considered something for the accomplishment of which no effort was too great. Packard rear seats now are 49 inches wide and have 55 inches at the height of the shoulders.

Packard engineers succeeded in flaring out the wheel recesses in the body just enough to add, with one or two other features in design, the space necessary for additional two inches of width.

THANKS!

• AND A PROMISE •

NO MATTER how great it grows every industry is ultimately made or unmade by public opinion.

Witness the raising of Chrysler by public approval in three years time from 27th place to 4th place among exhibitors in the National Shows.

Twenty-three long-established motor cars supplanted because the public found in Chrysler evidences of progressiveness which spelled greater value.

By the spontaneous action of public opinion old standards were overturned, old ideas of engine efficiency, artistic appearance and general performance discarded and the newer Chrysler principles crowded up into fourth place

In business at least democracy works,—and all things are possible to the independent manufacturer functioning as a free agent at the head of his own independent company, unhampered by old traditions or obsolete equipment, encouraging engineering research and giving brains, experience and new ideas full swing in development and achievement.

The amazing advance of Chrysler in public esteem has rocked the automobile industry from top to bottom and precipitated a feverish endeavor to approximate Chrysler snap, dash, vim, speed and power —Chrysler trimness and beauty, Chrysler's sustained brilliant performance and long life everywhere under any and all motoring conditions.

At first the attempted competitive explanation of Chrysler was that it was a new and probably a one-year car.

Now the wish to give the public cars that look like Chrysler and perform like Chrysler has become almost a rout and a panic of emulation and imitation.

Mr. Chrysler and his organization appreciate the leadership that has been awarded to them and realize its responsibilities. They will keep faith with the public which has shown faith in them.

All Chrysler models—"50", "60", "70" and Imperial "80" exhibited at the Automobile Show. Complete display in our Sales Rooms.

TIRES SPECIALLY DESIGNED

The latest design in balloon tire construction which recently has been announced by several Akron tire manufacturers, employs the principle used in building corduroy tires since 1923, according to L. A. Brown, president of the Corduroy Tire Co.

In designing the Corduroy balloon, a design which would eliminate grinding or "wiping" of the tread shoulder when the tire was driven under low pressure, was created. Instead of building corduroy tires around, like other balloons, they were built in a shape which they would naturally take when driven under a normal load at a low pressure.

It Cannot Be Done*

Thousands upon thousands of car owners go on thinking they can tell by sight when a tire's pressure is up to the proper standard. Try checking your judgment against a tire gauge some day. You will find that in nine cases out of 10 you are wrong.

FALCON IS ONLY NEW MAKE OF CAR IN 1927

Will Have Knight 6 Engine and All Body Types, Priced in $1000 Class.

The only new motor car manufacturing organization to enter the industry this year is the Falcon Motor Corp. of Detroit, with a manufacturing plant in Elyria, O., which has announced a six-cylindered Knight motored car in all body types to be priced in the $1000 class.

This is the first six-cylinder Knight motored car to be built in this country in this low price range.

Production has started.

The first showing of the new Falcon-Knight was in New York during the auto show and there was a private showing in Chicago during the show there.

Arrangements are rapidly being completed for a full dealer coverage in all parts of the country.

Contemplated production figures have not been announced by the Falcon Motors Corporation, but it is said in the trade that the first year's production will be large and that advance orders from dealers indicate a volume which will set new figures in this price class for a car in its first pear.

John N. Willys is said to be one of the principal backers of the Falcon company. This puts Willys back in the three manufacturers who are building Knight motored passenger cars in this country and brings to the Willys group full representation in every price group with Knight motored cars covering all fields from $1000 upward.

CHRYSLER EXPECTS TO SEE ELEVATED CITY MOTORWAYS

"I, for one, do not feel at all discouraged about traffic promlems," says Walter Chrysler, head of the Chrysler corporation. "I believe the day will come when there will be 30,000,000 motor cars in the United States.

"I also believe the day will come when the streets and highways of the country will be adapted to meet the demands of that many motor cars. Then we will have elevated motorways in our cities and express highways in the country, with separate highways for freight and fast passenger travel.

"The motor car has been a revolutionary influence in American business life. In coming years it will be instrumental in having our cities largely rebuilt and readapted to the requirements of this commonest of all means of transportation—individual transportation—the motor car."

CHAIN DRIVE TRUCKS FOR HEAVY HAULING

International Harvester Co. to Exhibit Types Developed Through Long Experience.

The International Harvester Co. of America announces two new additions to its line, 2½-ton and 3½ ton chain-driven trucks, designed specially for road builders, general contractors, excavators and heavy hauling.

These two trucks will be shown at the Auto Show, equipped with dump bodies and hydraulic underbody hoists.

These two trucks chassis are the result of 17 years of chain-drive experience on the part of the Harvester company.

This company has manufactured and sold thousands of chain-driven tractors, the first ones being experimented with in 1909. These tractors went to practically every county in the United States and to all parts of the world and gave the company a splendid opportunity to gather a fund of chain-drive information because of the variety of conditions under which these units work.

The finished product just announced has been experimented with in the Chicago and factory fields for several years, and every unit used in construction has been thoroughly and carefully tested by long field experience under severest operating conditions.

Hunt Elected S. A. E. President.

John H. Hunt of Detroit, head of the electrical division of the General Motors research laboratories, has been elected president of the Society of Automotive Engineers for 1927. W. G. Wall of Indianapolis, consulting engineer, has been elected first vice president, and C. B. Whittelsey of Hartford, Conn., president of the Hartford Rubber Works Co., re-elected treasurer.

1000 ERSKINE SIXES ORDERED FROM LONDON BY RADIO PHONE

The largest export order for motor cars ever placed by telephone was received by the Studebaker Corporation over the new transatlantic radio telephone service from London from L. J. Ollier, managing director of Studebaker (Great Britain) Ltd. It was for 1000 Erskine sixes for April.

As the Erskine, Studebaker's new 2 1-3 liter car, sells in England for £295, the order represents nearly $1,500,000 worth of business.

Drive Nails In Tires!
—and Make $150 A Week

Simply Pound Nails Into an Old Tire in Front of Astonished Crowds and Make $10-$18 an Hour! Most Sensational Demonstration You Ever Heard of. And No Matter How Many Times You Puncture Your Tires—They Can't Leak a Pound of Air! No Wonder This Amazing Invention Brings Demonstrators and Spare-Time Workers the Biggest Money of Their Lives!

Mystic Fluid Heals Punctures

987 Punctures Yet Leaks No Air

"I tested out the sample sets you sent me a few days ago and the results were amazing. I drove 987 nails into one tire without the loss of one single pound of air.

"Now I want to sell AIR-STOP. Please send me 100 sets at once and hold four counties for me."
J. W. SIMPSON...

2000 Miles With 4 Punctures

"I have a friend who drove 2,000 miles with 4 nail punctures. The pressure was just as high at the end of the trip as when he started. This AIR-STOP is the best thing I ever saw."
E. R. MILLER

IMAGINE being able to drive as many as 987 nails into an ordinary air-filled tire without a single leak! Imagine getting 2100 miles out of a porous tube that was so bad the owner was going to throw it away! No wonder experts say that AIR-STOP is the most surprising auto discovery of recent times!

Self-Acting—Works While You Drive

AIR-STOP—the amazing new tire fluid—seals punctures automatically while you drive. No matter how many nails you run over, it doesn't make a bit of difference. You just keep spinning along as if nothing had happened. And that isn't all! AIR-STOP not only seals punctures, but slow leaks, valve leaks and porous tubes as well. It even prevents cracked sidewalls and rim cuts and triples tire mileage because it eliminates driving with semi-flat tires, which is ruinous to any casing!

Just think what this marvelous discovery really means. No more changing tires on hot, dusty roads—in driving rain—or on pitch dark nights. No more patching tubes. No more vulcanizing. And think of the economy!

How It Works

AIR-STOP is a simple, harmless fluid you just inject into the tire with a common grease gun. Non-injurious to tube or casing. Actually helps PRESERVE rubber. Never hardens in tire or becomes thin. Does its work equally well in Summer or Winter—whether the thermometer registers 10 below zero or 100 in the shade! AIR-STOP never fails and a single application lasts the lifetime of any tube!

Wonderful Money Maker

So astonishing is the effectiveness of this new invention that agents and demonstrators everywhere are simply coining money for a few hours' work. Some of their profits are really astonishing. L. B. Watson made $337.00 in two weeks. J. H. Koser made $22.95 in 1½ hours. Hundreds of others are doing as well or better—in full or spare time.

All you have to do is hammer nails into an old tire in front of auto owners, crowds on main streets, etc. They simply can't believe their eyes when you pull the nails out and the tire doesn't leak a bit! But you don't have to have a car to make money with AIR-STOP. Just an old casing mounted on a rim for demonstration is all you need to take in $10-$18 an hour. And think of the prospects! EVERY auto owner is intensely interested—whether he drives a Chevrolet or a Rolls-Royce—because he hates the delay and inconvenience of changing tires.

Free Sample Order

And now to introduce this amazing invention, the discoverer—Mr. W. S. Hill—offers to send you a full-size sample FREE! And more than that, he actually offers to PAY you for your co-operation in testing it, if you are not surprised and delighted with results. Did you ever hear of such an open-handed offer? Of course, we can't afford to continue it indefinitely—and are limiting it to 30 days only. So act at once. Take advantage of this opportunity to see for yourself how astonishing AIR-STOP really is! Clip the coupon now! Mail it today!

$20 to $40 a Day

"I want 50 sets of AIR-STOP right away. It sure sells easy. People will buy it as soon as they see it demonstrated."
A. S. O'REILLY.

$22.50 in Half Hour

"I sell enough AIR-STOP in 30 minutes to make my profit $22.50. I want 25 more sets immediately, and please hold my county."
D. H. SCHLEUTER.

$157 in 2 Days

"I want 100 sets. I will sell these in 2 days. I want to tell you that test was great. Everyone who saw the test wanted me to fill his tires. I am with you for I know I can make more money handling AIR-STOP than I ever made before in my life."
A OTIS.

$56 in Spare Time

"At last I can make big money. AIR-STOP beats everything when I can make $56 in my spare time in one week."
C. H. BROWN.

NEW ESSEX SUPER SIX BUILT FOR ENDURANCE

Owners Advised They May Safely Drive One at 50 M. P. H. All Day.

The new Essex Super Six models are shown by the Hudson-Frampton Motor Car Co.

The Essex has many mechanical improvements mostly refinements. One change is adoption of a flywheel-and-clutch assembly 20 pounds heavier than in the previous model.

Not only are all motor units balanced, but also the flywheel, clutch and even the propeller shaft are subjected to careful static and dynamic balancing tests. It is said these refinements have vastly improved both smoothness of Essex operation and power output, so the car will now do better than a mile a minute. Owners are advised they may safely drive a new Essex 50 miles per hour all day if they wish.

The clutch, like Hudson's, is single disc running in oil.

Important factors of service accessibility are pistons removable through the bottom of the motor, the transmission demountable without disturbing the clutch, and main bearings which may be adjusted without disturbing the radiator or front end drive cover.

The Essex line displays a coach, a four-door sedan, a coupe, and a four passenger open car of sport type. All radiators and hoods are higher, lines are well rounded and sweeping. Fenders are of full-crown type and lamps bullet shaped, lacquer-finished to match body shades. The general Essex line is much smarter and more attractive than ever before.

The interior of Essex bodies has seen similar improvement. All metal trim is neatly color-finished to match the upholstery. Velours and velvets are used for all closed car upholstery.

All closed cars have dome light, curtains, pockets, rear vision mirror, stop-and-tail light, parking lights. Steering wheel is all-walnut and adjustable in position. Seats are likewise adjustable.

Essex bodies are steel-built in the $10,000,000 plant completed by Hudson-Essex last summer for this particular purpose.

TRUCKS WITH BUICK ENGINES COMING SOON

General Motor Speed Jobs Due April 1—New Manager for St. Louis Branch.

On the eve of the appearance of Generals Motors trucks powered with Buick six-cylinder engines, C. H. Perkins, who has been assistant to the vice-president of the General Motors Truck Co. of Chicago, has been appointed manager of the General Motors Truck Co. in St. Louis.

Prior to joining General Motors, Perkins was 12 years with the Ford Motor Co. in Milwaukee and for a year and a half was manager of the Ford branch at Des Moines.

The new Buick-engined trucks are to be made in two sizes—one and two tonners. The one-ton truck will have a six-cylinder motor with 3⅛-inch bore and 4½-inch stroke, while the engine of the larger truck will have a bore of 3½ inches and stroke of 4¾ inches and will develop 61 brake horse-power.

Both trucks are designed for high speed operation, on the theory that there is now a large and growing market for highly mobile, speedly motorized freight transportation.

These new trucks are expected to be in production in time for April 1 delivery.

One Train 550 Miles Long.

It would require a train 550 miles in length to convey the annual steel and iron purchases of General Motors manufacturing plants.

$14,500,000 IN ORDERS TAKEN BY HUPP CORP. IN JANUARY

"Operations at the highest rate ever attained are now ready to be carried out in every department of this company," said DuBois Young, president of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation. "The wide acceptance by the public of the new Hupmobile eight and six cylinder models as manifested at recent automobile shows, together with the enthusiasm of our dealer organization, furnishes conclusive evidence that we will enjoy appreciable gains in both our six and eight cylinder divisions."

Young stated that orders on hand Feb. 1 amounted to $14,500,000, an increase of more than $9,000,000 for the same date last year. Factory shipments for January were 78 per cent larger than December. Many orders for the custom body cars recently added to the eight cylinder line are included in the February schedule. First quarter sales are expected to exceed the largest quarter in the company's history, he said.

"Several of our distributers in cities where the new Hupmobile models have been exhibited at the shows report record-breaking numbers of actual orders as a result of the show."

OLDSMOBILE ASSISTANT SALES CHIEF TO VISIT CITY

H. S. Wier, assistant general sales manager of the Olds Motor Works, is to attend the meeting and dinner of Oakland-Pontiac distributers and dealers tomorrow to celebrate the opening of an Oldsmobile branch in St. Louis at Locust boulevard and Twenty-third street.

He is expected to address the Olds dealers' meeting and banquet at the Coronado Hotel tomorrow afternoon and evening.

NEW LITTLE JORDAN 6 TO BE SEEN AT SHOW

It Will Be Exhibited With the Line Eight and Great Line Eight.

One of the wholly new Little Custom Jordan custom six models—a sedan—is to be exhibited at the show by the Archer-Mann Motor Co., distributer. This Jordan six, with its custom lines and appointments, attracted much attention at the New York and Chicago shows, because of its price—$1595 at factory—and the announced intention of the Jordan company to build a small six that would be beautiful yet luxurious and distinct of style.

The Archer-Mann company also will exhibit the Jordan Line Eight and its big brother ,the Jordan Great Line Eight.

W. B. Riley, general manager of the Jordan Motor Car Co., is expected to attend the show.

As will be recalled ,the Jordan Co. recently announced a $500 price reduction on the line eight.

The Jordan straight-eight motor design has not been changed since it was brought out three and a half years ago.

Because Jordan has not been obliged to make any changes in the eight motor, which would have necessitated costly changes in equipment all down the line, the company was able to make the $500 price reduction.

The Jordan is said to be the only straight-eight motor which has not required any radical changes since first being offered the public. This is a tribute to the skill and foresight of Russell Begg, chief engineer of the Jordan factory.

Begg made his motor right before going into production; a policy of doing all experimental work first rather than letting the public do it. In the end it has proved economical for factory as well as public.

Motorists who purchased Jordan straight-eight cars three and a half years ago are driving today the same car mechanically as the newest Jordans now on the market. So Jordans purchased today will be "current" models some years hence.

The line-eight Jordans have been in the hands of thousands of owners long enough, and have been driven far enough to have developed any faults in design and construction, and consequently no changes were necessary. The line-eight type of motor has proved itself as a standard design of the future.

When Jordan first came out with his eight, there were only two other son the market, both selling at over $4000 each, out of over 100 makes of cars. Since then the number of various makes has dwindled, but the straight eights have increased.

At the recent New York show there were 15 straight-eight exhibitors out of the 44 manufacturers represented.

$186,231,182 NET EARNINGS OF GENERAL MOTORS CORP. IN 1926

According to an official summary of the annual report of General Motors Corporation for the last year, the period established a new record in both sales and profits. Not only the corporation as a whole but each of the car manufacturing divisions shared individually—made and sold more cars than in any other 12 months' period.

During the year there were manufactured and sold at retail to consumers at home and abroad through the corporation's own branches, distributers and dealer organization, 1,215,826 cars. This exceeds all previous records by 38,770 cars and represents an increase of 47 per cent over the prior year, which, in turn, established a record over any previous period. The corporation's sales, excluding all inter-company items, amounted to $1,058,153,338, an increase of $323,560,746 over the previous year.

General Motors Corporation's net earnings for 1926 were $186,231,182. There is included therein $10,146,038, which is the corporation's proportion of the earnings of subsidiary operations, not consolidated, but accruing to General Motors Corporation in exces of dividends received after paying the regular quarterly dividends on preferred and debenture stocks requiring $7,645,287 for the year, there remained $178,585,895, being the amount earned on the common stock outstanding. This compares with net earnings for the year 1925, including the corporation's proportion of the earnings of subsidiary operations, not consolidated, of $116,016,277.

236 MILES OF ROAD TO BE PAVED IN HARRIS COUNTY, TEX.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 19.—Construction will begin within the next few days on what local officials describe as the largest road building program of any county in the United States.

Seven and a half million dollars will be spent on the highways of Harris County in the next three or four years. The total mileage to be paved is 236.4. Of this 135.7 miles will be concrete and 100.7 miles of bituminous surface.

The project of principal interest to transcontinental motorists is 34 miles of concrete on the Old Spanish Trail. With counties to the east also improving this national artery, the trail will be paved without a gap between New Orleans and Houston.

The worst place on the Old Spanish Trail will be 17 miles of dirt road in Ft. Bend County, west of here, but good road associations throughout South Texas hope to induce the State Highway Commission to improve this by summer.

The Harris County program also will concrete 39.3 miles of the King of Trails, a highway used extensively by north and southbound tourists.

A letter, written in California, has been exactly reproduced by telegraph in New York. The telephoto process by which photographs are transmitted over telephone lines was used in sending a letter from Earle C. Anthony, Los Angeles, owner of KFI radio broadcasting station and Pacific Coast distributer of Packard cars, to Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard Motor Car Co.

NEW YORK HAS BIG TAXI BILL

A cab averages about $20 a day in New York, and there are 16,000 such cabs operating in New York averaging the same sum daily, so the combined earnings of this motor army total $3220,000 a day.

A total of more than $100,000,000 is being expended in New York annually for taxi riding. This is the estimate of officials of one of the city's largest taxi concerns.

Furthermore, these officials estimate that the annual outlay has bees around $100,000,000 for three years and that New York's bill for cab comfort in 10 years has reached the sum of $500,000,000.

ERSKINE SIX TESTED AT PROVING GROUND

New Studebaker Car Forced to Show Ability Prior to Introduction.

Twelve miles west of South Bend, Ind., is the $1,000,000 laboratory where engineers of the Studebaker Corporation have been testing the car with which Studebaker this year signalizes its seventy-fifth anniversary—the Erskine six, models of which are shown by the Weber Motor Car Co. and the Cartwright Motor Co.

Equipped with every resource for experimental engineering and research the Studebaker proving ground has served as the field where the new Erskine Six was forced to prove itself step by step during the months that preceded its introduction at the Paris salon. It is on display at the St. Louis atuo show.

Nothing was left to chance or theory in its design and construction. "Will it stand up?" was the query of the proving ground engineers as the design grew.

For their answer they accepted only the facts of actual performance on the proving ground, learned from mile after mile of strenuous trial.

Will the engine pull an 11 per cent grade in high gear? Up the hill road the test chassis went to determine the truth. Will the engine accelerate from five to 25 miles per hour in 8½ seconds? Should it attain and hold a speed of 60 miles per hour? A three-mile concrete speed bowl was there to give the test drivers a chance to prove the truth.

A six-mile loop of winding gravel road served as the laboratory that developed the unusual roadability which is one of the Erskine's most striking qualities. Chrome vanadium springs that cradle more than 82 per cent of the wheelbase were developed to prevent the pitching and swaying of the hitherto typical light car at high speed.

The strength of the springs and the stamina of the chassis were proved by miles of travel on a network of roads, unsurfaced tracks winding through fields and over hills. To test the car's ability at steady, heavy pulling barriers of mud and sand were built in this laboratory.

The proving ground engineers are continuing their work to maintain the high standards of this car's manufacture, for current production models are constantly undergoing tests at this laboratory.

INDIVIDUALITY DEMANDED IN CARS, SAYS HEAD OF CADILLAC

The buyer of a fine car wants that car to express his or her tastes and is not satisfied unless it does, is the theory of Lawrence P. Fisher, president of the Cadillac Mo-Motor Car Co.

He says that today the public not only is guiding the manufacture of fine cars as never before, but that the public's conception of what should constitute a fine car will, from every indication, assume even greater importance in the future.

"The day of endeavoring to build something, in the manufacture of fine cars, that it is hoped will please the public, is definitely and conclusively over," Fisher said. "Individuality is demanded—in body styles, color combinations, in upholstery, body trimming, body hardware and even in such details as vanity cases, smoking sets and seat contours."

AUTO DESIGN STANDARDIZED, PACKARD EXECUTIVE HOLDS

Europe has little to teach the United States in motor car design and manufacturing, in the opinion of Col. J. G. Vincent, president of engineering of the Packard Motor Car Co. Col. Vincent recently returned from a trip abroad where he studied automotive practices. He spent considerable time in French and English automobile factories, and at the Paris Salon and the London Olympia motor car exhibitions.

"There is really nothing new," he said. "The automobile now has reached a stage in its development where it is practically a standardized product. Automobile engineers from now on expect little more than refinements in design and improvement in bodies. That has been my view for some time and what I saw in Paris and London has only served to strengthen the opinion."

GETS CHEVROLET CERTIFICATE FOR CAR DELIVERY IN 1928

Although he does not intend to take delivery upon a Chevrolet until the summer of 1928 when he and his wife will make an extended visit in the United States, Lieut. H. R. Jordan, Fort William McKinley, Philippine Islands, already has taken out a Chevrolet 6 per cent purchase certificate with the Nyquist Motor Co., Astoria, Ore.

"We will need a car when I get my long midsummer leave in 1928," said Lieut. Jordan. "Therefore why not get it paid for in the meantime so the machine will be ready for us immediately upon our arrival?"

LESS TIRE WEAR IN WINTER

Motorists usually do not look upon winter as having any particular virtues. It has. Tire wear in the cold, snowy months is considerably less than when the weather is hot. Wet road surfaces and low temperatures are responsible. Tread wear is but 50 per cent in winter of the rate that prevails at other seasons. On the other hand, wet rubber punctures more easily.

Hup Cylinders Carefully Made.

Four boring and two honing operations are given each Hupmobile cylinder block, both six and eight, insuring extreme accuracy and glass-like finish. Each block is tested individually for hardness by a special Rockwell machine. It applies tests of laboratory precision, heretofore unobtainable in production, to each Hupmobile engine.

Among those entertaining at the last one was Mrs. Skinker Matthews of St. Louis who had among her guests Miss Ethel Dorrance of Philadelphia, Marquis de Migre, Mr. and Mrs. Sturgis, Mlle. Benoist d'Azy, M. Bourdelles, a sculptor, Prince Kossatkine and Rives S. Matthews of St. Louis.

FOR PERFECT PERMANENT WAVING

Your Hair Has a Number

IN 1905, Charles Nessler (C. Nestle) invented the original permanent wave. So marvelous was the achievement that the late Prof. Metchnikoff, in Paris, pronounced it to be the greatest step forward in hair science. A greater scientific achievement by the same man is the invention of the Nestle Hair Text-o-meter, which tests and classifies your hair in advance of having it waved. It tells you by number the class of hair you have. Your hairdresser need only use the equivalent number of Circuline to assure you of a perfect wave.

ADAPTO SHOES

for STOUT WOMEN and MISSES

THERE are two ways to make shoes comfortable to wear. The one, and unhappy way, is to suffer agonies till they're "broken in"—or, more often, out! The other way is to build them properly, in the first place. That's what we do with ADAPTO Shoes—build them properly! The combination last provides restful, high-arch support, and snug, narrow-heel fitting. The straight inside line discourages foot distortion. Therein lies the secret of ADAPTO'S great comfort... If your feet cause you pain and annoyance, visit our Foot Service Department* and be professionally advised, free of charge, just what style of ADAPTO Shoe is best suited for your individual needs.

A Child Doesn't Laugh and Play if Constipated

Look, Mother! Is tongue coated, breath feverish, stomach sour

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, bowels

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is ofttimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

FRENCH PUSSY WILLOW

(Salix Caprae)

Not the wild pussy willow but a cultivated French variety that grows on any good ground into a beautiful round shrub or tree 8 to 12 feet high, from which you can make 400 to 600 cuttings each Winter. This variety has made a sensation wherever grown. Just plant one or more of them this Spring on your lawn or use them for a tall screen or background. Next January or February cut the ends off the branches, put in water indoors, and then watch them unfold their unique flowers—so interesting, beautiful and fragrant. When in full bloom can be taken out of the water and they will retain their beauty for months. Ideal for schools and convalescents. Commercially the branches sell for $1.00 and up per dozen.

ORDER NOW

while you can get them. No matter how many trees or shrubs you now have, this will be a prized addition to any collection. Where there is space for a Lilac or Snowball, you have room for a French Pussy Willow. We suggest 3, 6 or a dozen. Trees 3 to 4 feet high—price, one, 60c; 3 for $1.50; 6 for $2.50; per dozen, $4.00.

SEND NO MONEY

if you prefer. Just send name and address and the number wanted. On arrival pay postman, plus the few cents postage. Or, if you send pay with the order, we will send all prepaid. Safe Arrival Guaranteed. Supply limited, so send at once or save this ad.

Careless Washing Spoils the Hair

The simple hair styles of today make beautiful hair a necessity.

Luckily, beautiful hair is now easily obtained. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

I SAILED IN APRIL...

"THE finger of financial pressure first pointed toward an early sailing date. After all, it was worth while to save about 10% on a single crossing. The same room, the same service—but a slimmer price.

"Did I say the same service? Why, it was even better than usual. To anyone who has crossed on the great I. M. M. ships that doesn't sound possible. But even the perfect steward finds a way of being just a little more perfect when the ship isn't crowded to its mid-season capacity.

"And Europe in Spring? I found her enchantingly at ease. Somehow, the trace of self-consciousness that busy places assume was pleasantly lacking. Europe played like a child who doesn't know it is being watched. And so did I!"

"And so she sailed for Europe"—a not-too-long booklet will give you further details. It was written by a woman who went abroad alone—and sailed on our ships. May we send you a copy? Please address Dept. N, White Star Line, Loudermann Bldg., 11th and Locust Sts., Ground Floor, St. Louis, or authorized agents.

PRESIDENT OF OF FRANCE PUTS OFFICIAL O K ON CHARLESTON

But It Required Private Exhibition to Convince Doumergue It Wasn't Indecent.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The Charleston has wiggled its way into the Elysee, the presidential palace.

It required a private showing of the American ballroom contortions to make President Doumergue put the censor's stamp on it. He thought it was something terrible, possibly indecent, and not proper for the most formal social affairs in France.

When the spring dinner and reception to diplomats and officials was due the President asked what dances were planned. The arbiter of official etiquette told him there would be fox trots, waltzes and Charlestons.

"The Charleston," the President was quoted as saying, "Why, a dance like that must not be tolerated."

"Then the young people will no longer come to your receptions," he was informed.

The President hesitated, asked what it was like and soon a young officer was called and there was a Charleston exhibition for the President.

That's how the Charleston got into the Elysee. The President, a bachelor, and not a dancer, saw no harm in it and approved it.

Another ceremony the King and Queen will attend is the placing of the bodies of King Edward and Queen Alexandra in the tomb which has been erected near the altar of St. George's Chapel. Since Queen Alexandra's death the coffins have been lying side by side in the Albert Memorial Chapel waiting for the final resting place to be completed.

Once a School Teacher—Later a Famous Physician

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save enough money to put him thru medical college. He began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pennsylvania, and often rode horse-back through the woods to reach and relieve those who were seriously ill. He was a student of nature, knew and easily recognized most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Finally he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and, in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best-known general tonic for building up strength, restoring impaired tissues and enriching the blood. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the U. S. If your druggist does not sell it, in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to the Dr. Pierce Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

Slavery Exists Today

The buying and selling of human beings has ceased long since, but other forms of slavery still flourish.

Ill health that arises from defective vision is one of the commonest forms of bondage, a condition from which you don't have to suffer another moment, if you secure the proper Glasses.

If you have splitting headaches or a dull pain at the back of your head, have me test your eyes at once. For 25 years I have been using the celebrated Guilbault System of Eye Testing with uniformly successful results in over 30,000 cases. My charges are eminently reasonable.

DECISIONS ON LAWSON WILL

Court Clears Up Most Questions Over Publisher's Estate.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Two decisions, affecting the $20,00,000 estate of the late Victor F. Lawson, publisher and owner of the Chicago Daily News, were made in Circuit Court today by Judge Friend. The Illinois Merchants Trust Co., executor and trustee of the property, filed suit asking interpretation of clauses of the will. The chief point was disposition of the profits of the newspaper from Aug. 19, 1925, when Mr. Lawson died, to Jan. 1, 1926, when the Daily News was sold. Some of the beneficiaries claimed the profits of this period should be treated as income and not turned into the body of the estate. Judge Friend ruled that the beneficiaries should not get their fraction of the income for this period.

The other decision was that an inheritance tax on Norman Lawson, brother of the publisher, of $214,502 should be paid out of the estate. The newspaper was sold for $13,671,704.

Kirby Page, Editor, to Speak.

Kirby Page, editor of the "World Tomorrow," and well-known author and lecturer, will speak tomorrow on the subject, "Has the Church a Message for Industry?" at a dinner meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Building at 6:15 p. m. The meeting is open to the public. The address is given under the auspices of the Social Service Department of the Church Federation.

FINDS FATHER KILLED FAMILY

Utica Coroner Says Crazed Man Then Committed Suicide.

By the Associated Press.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 19.—A verdict of six murders and a suicide was given today by Coroner Holden after his inquiry into the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Guy M. Taylor and their five children whose bodies were found in their home yesterday.

Taylor, crazed because of inability to get work, first stabbed his wife to death and then killed all five children before taking his own life, the authorities concluded. Fear of starvation rather than actual want drove the man insane, the Coroner decided, following the finding of $45 concealed in the underclothing of the mother.

GATHERS EVIDENCE OF PIETY OF WASHINGTON

Bishop Freeman Denies First President Lacked "Religious Instinct."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Answering recent biographers of George Washington who have either ignored or dismissed as insignificant the facts about the spiritual side of his nature, the Right Reverend James E. Freeman, D. D., LL. D., declares in a statement to be commented upon tomorrow from many Protestant Episcopal pulpits throughout the country, that there is abundant authority to prove Washington's interest in religion.

The Bishop of Washington discusses the religious background of the first President of the republic in the annual announcement of National Cathedral Sunday which is observed on the Sunday nearest to Washington's birthday.

Out of George Washington's interest in religion, Bishop Freeman declares, undoubtedly grew his suggestion of a "great church for national purposes" in the original plan of the capital city as drawn by Maj. L'Enfant. The church was to have been where the Patent Office is now.

Answering a Biographer.

The Bishop quotes one of Washington's biographers as saying "He seemed, according to the evidence, to have had no instinct or feeling for religion, although he attended church 12 or 15 times a year."

In reply the Bishop marshals the following facts:

Washington was received into the church through baptism April 5, 1731, when he was nearly two months old. The vows of those who devoted their children to God in baptism, as administered by the Church of England, were very solemn and the age was distinguished by rigid punctuality respecting duties enjoined by those vows.

When 13 years old, Washington wrote a poem about the significance of Christmas and stood sponsor for a child in baptism.

In the war against the French, when Gov. Dinwiddle failed to respond to his application for a chaplain for the troops, Washington wrote to the president of the council: "Common decency, sir, in a camp calls for the services of a divine which ought not to be dispensed with."

Washington occasionally read the services himself and it is well known that he read the burial office at the funeral of Gen. Braddock.

Member of the Vestry.

Up to the time of the revolution, Washington was a regular attendant at services in Pohick Church in Truro Parish which was a little nearer Mount Vernon than Alexandria. As a member of the vestry, he surveyed the parish and persuaded the other members to adopt a more central location for a new church building. The Rev. Lee Massey, rector at Pohick said: "I never knew so constant an attendant on church as Washington. And his behavior in the house of God was ever so deeply reverent that it produced the happiest effect on my congregation and greatly assisted me in my pulpit labors."

The vestry book of Truro Parish shows that during the 11 years from February, 1763, to February, 1774, the vestry held 31 meetings at 23 of which George Washington is recorded as present. In order to attend he frequently had to take long horseback rides over muddy roads. Of his eight absences, one was for sickness, two were on account of service in the Legislature, and three for absence from Virginia.

Washington left home for Philadelphia in September, 1774, as a member of the first Congress. Entries in his diary for four successive Sundays thereafter show he went to service regularly, both morning and afternoon.

Order to the Troops.

The day after he took command of the American Army in the war of the revolution, the following order was issued: "The General requires and expects of all officers and soldiers, not engaged in actual duty, a punctual attendance on divine service, to implore the blessings of heaven upon the means used for our safety and defense."

At the end of the war, Washington returned to Mount Vernon on Christmas eve. The next day found him in his accustomed seat in Christ Church, Alexandria, listening to the rector who had served as chaplain of the Third Virginia Regiment.

When the holders signed an agreement to subject the pews to an annual rental by a voluntary subscription of five pounds each for supporting the ministry, the name of "G. Washington" heads the list.

GERMANS TO FINANCE RUMANIA

Bankers Negotiate $50,000,000 Loan at 5 Per Cent.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Negotiations for a loan of 200,000,000 marks ($50,00,000) by a syndicate of German bankers to the Rumanian Government are nearing completion. The loan will probably be on a 5 per cent basis, 40,000,000 marks to be paid in cash and the rest in installments. Bankers believe the easy money market assures availability of the proposed sum, which will be the largest foreign loan floated in Germany since the war. The consent of the German Government to the transaction is yet to be given.

The negotiations are regarded as an indication of Germany's financial rehabilitation, and are also interesting in view of the fact that Rumania was among Germany's enemies in the World War.

Stop Whiskey!

By John's Wife

I'm the happiest little woman
In all this little town;
And my merry laugh and singing
Takes the place of sigh and frown.
For JOHN HAS QUIT HIS DRINKING
And is like himself once more,
And the world is just a paradise
With such happiness in store!

One day I read some verses—
"Mary's Miracle," the name,
And I said, that's John exactly
And I'll send and get the same.
So I sent for GOLDEN TREATMENT,
('s sly as sly could be)
And I put it in John's supper
And I put it in his tea.

And it didn't taste a little bit;
Had no odor, so you see—
It was the smoothest kind of sailing
For little Doctor Me.
And I watched and prayed and waited,
(And cried some, too, I guess),
And I didn't have the greatest faith,
I'm ashamed now to confess.

And John never thought a minute
He was being cured of drink,
And soon he's as well as any one.
It makes me cry to think!
Just makes me cry for gladness.
I'm so proud to be his wife—
Since he is cured of drinking.
And leads a nice, new life.

"Since John he quit-a-drinking!"
I can't say it times enough!
And hates and loathes a liquor
As he would a poison stuff.
And when I say my prayers at night
As thankful as can be—
I pray for John the most of all—
Then GOLDEN TREATMENT.

BLARNEY VS. CREOSOTE TRIED IN POLICE COURT

Judge Rosecan Gives Courtly Defendant $1—Antiseptic "Explanation" Draws 30 Days.

"And it was not drink at all, your honor, but the cresote they gave me at the City Hospital that the officer smelled," mumbled the police court defendant yesterday.

"All right," smiled the Judge, rather wearily. "Thirty days in the workhouse for being found full of cresote on the streets. Call the next case, No. 36."

Upright and debonair for all his 88 years, No. 36 walked to the stand. Unlike the untidy drifters that had shuffled to judgment before him, Delmar Valentine paced in measured stateliness. A Southern Colonel to the life, mustache, pointed white beard and all, lacking only the symbolic mint julep. The judge knew him; the prosecutor knew him, and those in the crowded court room apparently wanted to know him.

"No Blarney This Time."

"Ah, Judge Rosecan, Mr. Prosecutor, and ladies and gentleman," bowed the courtly Valentine.

"So, Delmar, you are here again," accused Counsellor Hackman.

"You are a fine young man," responded the defendant benevolently.

"Come, no blarney this time," warned Hackman, immediately on guard.

"Valentine," said Judge Rosecan, "I thought Judge Beck had taken you in hand to reform you. He got you fixed up out at the City Sanitarium, and you walked out, didn't you?"

"I had a pass to leave, your honor, and I had $15 and—"

"And you went out for a lark with the boys and stayed out." The Judge wagged a finger at the culprit.

Short Police Career.

"But this time I wasn't intoxicated. Just had a drink or two. It seems the police like to arrest me. Once on a street I simply looke dat a policeman, and he arrested me. I was on the force once myself, you know. It was back in 1880 and the first arrest I made they suspended me for 10 days. They told me he was a relative of Mayor Noonan. Now, Judge, if you'll be lenient and let me go, I'll bet a dollar I'll never be here again. I want to go to Belleville where I can get work on a farm. I can still work, you know."

His voice broke slightly, and the Judge interrupted.

"Mr. Marshal," he ordered, "give this man $1 out of the receipts to get him to Belleville. I'll reimburse you later."

Valentine bowed low, took the bill and sauntered leisurely out of the court room.

CANADIAN MINISTER MAKES PUBLIC TEXT OF CREDENTIALS

Vincent Massey Sets Precedent Among Foreign Diplomats, State Department Says.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Vincent Massey not only is Canada's first Minister to the United States, but he is the first foreign diplomat, at least to the knowledge of present State Department officials, to make public the text of his credentials.

Massey presented this letter of credence, signed by King George, to President Coolidge yesterday. The document read:

"George, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British dominions beyond the seas, King, defender of the faith, Emperor of India, etc. To the President of the United States of America sendeth greeting:

"Our good friend, we have judged it expedient to confer the rank of Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary upon our trusty and well-beloved, the Hon. Charles Vincent Massey, member of our Privy Council of Canada, with the especial object of representing in the United States of America the interests of our Dominion of Canada.

"We request that you will give entire credence to all that Mr. Massey may represent to you in our name, especially when he shall assure you of our esteem and regard, and of our hearty wishes for the welfare and prosperity of the United States of America. And so we commend you to the protection of the Almighty.

"Given at our court of St. James, Dec. 7, 1926, in the 17th year of our reign.

"Your good friend,
"GEORGE, REX, IMPERATOR."

DELAY ON BOULDER DAM BILL

Senator Cameron Says Project Won't Be Pushed This Term.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Senator Cameron (Rep.) of Arizona, who called at the White House today asserted afterward that there would be no Boulder Dam legislation at this session of Congress. The Senator, who said he had called on President Coolidge to discuss other questions, declared the session would be far too crowded handling the remaining appropriation bills and other routine measures for Boulder Dam legislation to be enacted, especially in view of the filibusters which he said would develop both in the Senate and the House.

The Swing-Johnson Boulder Dam bill has been made the unfinished business of the Senate and a similar status is being sought for it in the House.

NEW $500,000 APARTMENT FOR LINDELL BLVD.

Plans Completed for 7-Story Structure on That Thoroughfare and Sarah Street at Southeast Corner.

RECORD PRICE FOR SITE REPORTED

Realty Deal Handled by J. J. Reardon in Connection With the F. J. Cornwell Company.

By Berry Moore.

Involving an estimated cost of approximately $500,000 for construction, plans have been completed for a seven-story fireproof apartment building for the southeast corner of Lindell boulevard and Sarah street.

The building will be constructed by the Trades Realty & Investment Co., which has purchased the site having a frontage on Lindell of 38½ feet by a depth on Sarah of 213 feet. Present improvements consist of an old three-story residence.

The new structure will have 70, two and three room apartments of the efficiency type, with electric refrigeration and the newest devices for buildings of this type.

Quick Occupancy Forecast.

Alex M. Cornwall, president of the Trades Realty & Investment Co. stated that the apartments would be made so attractive that they would virtually be absorbed over night, with the location as a contributing factor.

The lot was owned by the Erie Realty Co., of which John J. Turnes is president. The price paid was not disclosed, but it is understood that the purchase sets aside all previous records on this thoroughfare. John J. Reardon handled the transaction in connection with the F. J. Cornwell Real Estate Co.

Alex M. Cornwell and Fred J. Cornwell, built the Melbourne Hotel at Lindell and Grand, the Kenrick Square Apartments at Lindell and Vandeventer, and the Convent Garden Apartment at Pershing and Taylor.

Other Lindell Improvements.

A permit recently was issued for a 14-story apartment hotel to be erected by Dr. Ralph Niedringhaus on the site of his present home at 3733-37 Lindell boulevard. The new building will be located just west of Spring avenue and the Coronado Hotel. It will be known as the Daniel Boone. The southwest corner of Lindell and Spring purchased last March by Preston J. Bradshaw, architect, who has ambitious plans for its improvements. Bradshaw built the Coronado of which he is the principal owner.

The northeast corner of Lindell and Sarah was purchased three years ago for $31,000 by the Knights of Columbus, who resold it for $70,000. This, however, was before the present movement on Lindell boulevard had gained headway. Peter Lindell originally purchased the tract embracing this corner at $1 an acre.

The northwest corner of Lindell boulevard and Sarah street, 40x150 feet, occupied by a stone-front residence and two adjoining stone front residences, recently were purchased by Benjamin Ansehl, at a price which, according to real estate agents, reflected the upward trend of prices on this thoroughfare.

Property Sold Many Times.

These stone front houses with four others adjoining on Lindell boulevard on the west of the same type, known as Dormitzer Row, were purchased in 1919, just before prices on Lindell boulevard started on their upward course, by Clide C. Carson, for an average price of $4500, or a trifle more than $30,000. The houses have changed hands several times since the original sale, in each instance at large advance in price.

$11,053,000 Building Contracts in January

The State of Missouri had $11,053,100 in contracts for new construction work during January, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation. There was a decrease of 12 per cent from December, as well as a loss of 17 per cent from January, 1926.

The more important classes of work in last month's building record for Missouri were: $6,033,000, or 55 per cent of all construction, for commercial buildings; $2,809,000 or 25 per cent for residential buildings; $804,000, or 7 per cent, for industrial buildings; $509,000, or 5 per cent for social and recreational projects; and $409,000, or 4 per cent, for public works and utilities.

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE NEWS IN BULLETINS

News of interest to real estate concerns is contained in a bulletin issued by the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange. Stress is placed on an announcement of the free school for furnace firing maintained by the Citizen's Smoke Abatement League at Olive Street Road and Hodiamont, and a request made to have janitors attend classes, which are in session each evening at 8 p. m.

Attention is called to a Circuit Court ruling of Dec. 8, 1926, concelling and annuling a deed of conveyance on certain property conveyed in violation of a restriction of record against the use or occupancy of the premises by Negroes, and holding the restrictions to be valid. Transactions conveying property to Negroes that is restricted against them are in violation of the code of ethics of the national association, it is pointed out, and will be dealt with accordingly.

Washington's birthday, Tuesday, is a standard holiday in real estate circles and members of the exchange are requested to observe the custom.

This includes $15,208,595 on 2646 dwellings and 141 apartments, accommodating 4256 families. In January of 1926 such loans reached a total of only $8,834,100 on 1626 dwellings and 87 apartments, housing 2532 families.

Features of the apartments are electric refrigeration, stoves, breakfast nooks, roller beds, shower baths, janitor service and heated basement garage. The location is convenient to street car lines, and is on the South Grand bus line.

This modern structure serves as a practical exposition of the work and material of a number of standard contracting and supply firms. The business cards of a number of these concerns, and a picture of the Roosevelt apartments, appear on page 2 of this section of the Post-Dispatch.

REAL ESTATE MARKET SHOWS UPWARD TREND

Real estate market activity for January showed a decided upward trend, according to the index of activity compiled by the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The index, which is based on official records of transfers and conveyances recorded in 41 typical cities, registered 170 for the month just past. This is a rise of 15 points from the index for December.

The January figure is 14 points under the index figure for January of 1926. However, in making this comparison the association points out that the January, 1926, figure, together with the February index number of the same year which rose one point higher, constitute by far the highest point registered in any month in the 11 years covered by its records.

The committee was appointed by C. C. Hieatt of Louisville, Ky., president of the association. It was authorized by the delegate body of the association in resolutions adopted at the annual meeting held recently at Miami, Fla.

ANOTHER FILLING STATION TO BE BUILT ON OLIVE

Forerunners of Increased Activity Expected to Result From Widening of Thoroughfare.

WOOLWORTH REFUSES TO YIELD LEASE

Greenfield Brothers Present Occupants of Site at Eighth and Olive Looking for New Building.

Extending as far west as Grand boulevard, the central business district is one of the chief centers of speculative interest. Within its scope is included the area east of Twelfth boulevard from Franklin avenue to Walnut street.

From all indications Olive street between Twelfth and Grand boulevards soon will be a maelstrom of real estate transactions. A number of prominent corners on this thoroughfare are in negotiation, according to real estate agents.

As a site for a gasoline filling station the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, yesterday purchased the southeast corner of Olive street and Garrison avenue. Allowing for the widening of the street, the lot will have a frontage on Olive street of 90 feet, by a depth of 90 feet on Garrison. The price paid was not announced. Leslie E. Newell, a real estate agent of Clayton, handled the negotiation. The site is occupied by a building used by the Schnure Motor Co. as a sales and service station. The building which is being altered for the widening of Olive street, will be removed. The Schnure company has its principal showroom in the Eighteenth Street Garage, on Eighteenth street, between Pine and Chestnut streets.

Anheuser-Busch Sells Corner.

This is the third recent purchase on Olive street for filling station purposes. Negotiations practically have been closed for several sites on this thoroughfare. Details, however, are withheld pending deeds.

As was told in the Post-Dispatch, the Roxana Petroleum Co. recently purchased the southwest corner of Olive street and Compton avenue, and the Puritan Oil Co. the southwest corner of Twentieth and Olive streets. Cornet & Zeibig represented the former and Maurer, Ghio & Beffa the latter.

Another recent sale was that of the southeast corner of Twenty-third and Olive streets from the Anheuser-Busch, Inc., to Frank Yawitz, real estate operator.

These purchases doubtless are inspired by the fact that Olive street as a 100 feet thoroughfare will be fraught with possibilities, with all indications that the present speculative demand will be augmented by the demand for sites for business purposes.

Woolworth Retains Lease.

Negotiations for a 99-year lease practically have been concluded for a corner overlooking the proposed plaza district, presumably as a speculative operation with no building plans. A deal also is about to be concluded for an Olive street corner east of Twelfth boulevard, it is reported.

F. W. Woolworth & Co., it is understood, have declined a liberal bonu for the southeast corner of Eighth and Olive streets, recently acquired by them under a 99-year lease, through Martin & Breitt. The corner is now occupied by Greenfield Bros. who are casting about for another location.

The downtown section apparently was given new buoyancy with the sale of a half interest in the Jefferson Hotel to Chicago interests, which have plans for the remodeling of the structure, and for a 14-story addition, with a banquet hall to seat 1200 and two smaller halls, seating 200 each. The new addition will have 800 rooms, nearly all with baths.

YOUR FAMILY

If the smoke-laden air of St. Louis kills plants and flowers, how does your family stand it? Shaw's Garden was forced to go to the suburbs to raise plants, yet people continue to die in the city when they might live in the pure air just outside, and you can have all the comforts of life at the same time in Pasadena Park. The furnished display bungalow is at 810 North Hills Drive.

NOTE ABOUT 'JOB WORTH 40 GRAND' CAUSES ARRESTS

Harry Berliner, Robbery Suspect, Is Held in St. Louis and Five Others Are Taken in Chicago.

A letter inviting Harry Berliner to Chicago to take part in "a job worth 40 grand" was found in Berliner's apartment at 5455 Delmar boulevard after his arrest for a series of local robberies, and has led to five arrests in Chicago. "Forty Grand," in underworld parlance, is $40,000.

The letter said that the proposed "job" was "lined up for Feb. 12 if everything goes O K." It was signed, "Homer, Bangor Hotel Chicago."

At the hotel named, Chicago police arrested Homer Wright, released Nov. 19 from Jefferson City penitentiary, where he was sentenced for a five-year term for a St. Louis holdup; George Olen, discharged Dec. 24 after serving a similar sentence; Clarence Wright, brother of Homer and a former inmate of Boonville Reformatory; Charles Gerstner, former Boonville inmate, and John Havenor, who is not known to police here.

A man living at the same hotel had been arrested previously as a suspect in the theft of an $80,000 pearl necklace from Mrs. Edward Hines, wife of a wealthy Chicago lunmberman, on a train between Chicago and Dayton, O., about Feb. 1. The Wrights, Olen, Gerstner and Havenor will be held for inquiry into the necklace theft.

Whatever the "job worth 40 grand" was which had been "lined up" for Feb. 12, police here do not believe Berliner took part in it, as he was here late in that day, and was arrested at his apartment, when Anthony Bergmann was captured there by police. Bergmann, as has been told, has confessed that he shot and killed Rudolph S. Guenthel, telephone coin collector, in a South St. Louis hardware store Feb. 9. He and two confessed companions in the attempted robbery of Guenthel are under indictment for first-degree murder..

Berliner is under indictment for robbery, and police here say he has admitted two drug store holdups and two other robberies, and that he has been identified by witnesses.

DIABETES INCREASED WITH PROHIBITION, DOCTOR SAYS

Candy and Soda Fountain Drinks As Alcohol Substitutes Said to Be Cause.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 19.—"Diabetes has increased since prohibition went into effect," said Dr. A. R. Mitchell, to the agency convention of the Bankers' Life Insurance Co. of Nebraska, of which he has been medical examiner 40 years. "This is due to the excess amount of sweets that men, who formerly got their carbohydrates from the drink or two or three of whisky they took in a day in the old days, now absorb from eating candy and drinking soda fountain concoctions."

Dr. Mitchell said that half the men rejected by life insurance companies today are rejected because of diseases of the heart and arteries, and half of those accepted die of one or the other. His theory is that it is because of the irregular hours and gadding about that increased wealth has brought to people generally, including the working classes, interfering with the basic processes of nature.

"Formerly the doctors ascribed these to too much smoking and too much alcohol and other pleasant vices," he added. "But the latest evidences found by careful research do not indicate that alcohol to any extent has a part in bringing about these conditions. The danger age for men is 30 to 50. Before 30 a thin man is a poor risk and a fat man a good one. Between 30 and 50 the condition is reversed."

BILL TO FORCE TESTIMONY

Witness Could Not Be Prosecuted for Evidence.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Witnesses could no longer fall back on their constitutional rights in refusing to testify before Federal grand juries or courts under a bill introduced today by Senator Walsh, (Dem.), of Montana, and referred to the judiciary committee.

Should a witness hold that his testimony would tend to incriminate him, he would not be excused from testifying, but there could be no criminal prosecution of him afterwards as a result of such testimony.

Dedication at Columbia, Ill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Ill., Feb. 19.—The St. Paul's Evangelical congregation will dedicate its new brick church today, the Rev. J. Baltzer of St. Louis, president of the Evangelical Synod of America, officiating, assisted by the Rev. E. J. Westerbeck, pastor of St. Paul's. Services will be held morning, afternoon and evening, with special programs scheduled for each afternoon and evening for the balance of the week. Columbia is 14 miles south of St. Louis.

TRUSTEE SETTLES $7,433,367 ESTATE OF WM. M'MILLAN

William K. Bixby Distributes Wealth After 26 Years — Increased Value More Than $300,000.

Twenty-six years after the death of William McMillan, proprietor of the old Missouri Car & Foundry Co., which he merged into the prosperous American Car & Foundry Co., final settlement of his $7,433,367 estate was approved by Circuit Judge Hall yesterday. Conditions under his will and the processes of administration were responsible for the time required, and this supplies an illustration of the details involved in handing down wealth within a large family.

William K. Bixby, St. Louis capitalist, a friend and business associate of McMillan and trustee under his will, who reported the distribution of the estate yesterday, administered it without charge, although trustees usually collect a fee of 5 per cent of the total. He built up the estate to some extent in the quarter of a century it was under his management. Its book value, for instance, increased by $308,890 from the time of a report made on April 30, 1925, until yesterday.

Without impairing the estate, Bixby converted its holdings, largely, from real estate and business interests into Liberty bonds, Federal Treasury notes and Government certificates of indebtedness. Final bok value was $7,341,786, but appreciation of bonds made final market value $7,433,367.

Appointed with Bixby as trustees under the will, were McMillan's widow, Mrs. Eliza McMillan, and son, Sir William Northrup McMillan, who passed much of his time in British East Africa. Upon the death of the wife and son, the will provided, the estate was to be divided between McMillan's brothers, James, a former United States Senator, and Hugh, both of Detroit, or, if they were dead, it was to be distributed among their heirs, who reside in and near Detroit.

Widow Died in 1915.

Mrs. McMillan died in 1915, Sir William died in 1925, and the two brothers are dead. Accordingly, the collateral heirs became entitled to the estate yesterday. However, some of them had sold their expectancies years ago, amounting in value to virtually half of the estate, to Mrs. Eliza McMillan and Sir William. The estates of the latter two are now enriched by these portions.

Mrs. McMillan's estate and Sir William's each receive $1,796,397 in this way.

Mrs. McMillan, whose estate was appraised at $1,800,000 when she died 12 years ago, bequeathed $1,000,000 to Washington University for an eye, ear, nose and throat hospital in the university's medical school group; provided $270,000 in other specific bequests and left annuities of $25 to $500 a month to 53 persons. Any residue was to go to the university also. Receipts from the expectancies, through settlement of her husband's estate, now provide funds for erection of the hospital. However, authorities of the medical school do not expect to build the institution at once, since they are confronted at present with the necessity of obtaining sufficient funds for operation of existing buildings.

Sir William Knighted in War.

Sir William, who became a British subject before his father's death and who was knighted for his World War defense of British East Africa, where he had a town house in Nairobi and vast acreage in the wilds left his entire estate to his widow, Lady McMillan of London, the former Lucie Weber of Northampton, Mass.

The distribution yesterday to the collateral heirs, winding up a friendly partition suit, was a follows:

James Thayer McMillan, $309,723; Mrs. Doris McMillan Pittman, $309,723; Countess Gladys Cornet de Ways-Rurat, $619,487; Union Trust Co. of Detroit, trustee under the will of Gilbert N. McMillan, in behalf of his heirs, Mrs. Edith Endicott McMillan, his widow; Ellen Dyar McMillan, Andrew McMillan and John Endicott McMillan, $743,336; Hugh McMillan (a junior), $743,336; William McMillan (another junior), $743,336; Mrs. Alice McMillan Warfield, $371,668.

The assignments of expectancies made to Sir William and now collected by his estate were as follows: The late Philip H. McMillan, $309,723; Francis W. McMillan, $309,723; Amy McMillan Harrington, $309,723; Grace McMillan Jarvis Locke, $309,723; Alice McMillan Warfield, $184,873; Maurice B. McMillan, $364,667. Assignments in the same sums by the same persons also are collected by the estate of Mrs. Eliza McMillan, which had purchased these, share and share with the purchase by Sir William.

Yielded Administration Cost.

In addition to the value reported yesterday, McMillan's estate yielded the cost of its administration, not an inconsiderable item. These were met before the final settlement was made and it was not desired to make them public. John H. Holliday, of Fordyce, Holliday & White, counsel for Bixby, in telling Judge Hall that Bixby did not wish a fee, said attorney fees had been settled out of court.

About a dozen lawyers were connected with the settlement of the trust estate and whatever fees they receive will be paid by the heirs and will not be made public, it was stated. Some of the attorneys live in Michigan and others in Canada. Among the local counsel, besides the firm of Fordyce, Holliday & White, are Walter R. Mayne, associated with that firm; the firm of Guy A. and Frank A. Thompson, representing one group of collateral heirs; Frank Y. Gladney and Albert Chandler, representing another group, and P. Taylor Bryan for the St. Louis Union Trust Co.

Lieuts. Harris and Gray Crashed Thursday—No Hope That They Are Alive.

By the Associated Press.

FORKED RIVER, N. J., Feb. 19.—Miles of bleak sand dunes of the Barnegat peninsula were being searched in a howling sleet storm by coast guardsmen tonight in the hope of finding some trace of Lieuts. Willard J. Harris and William A. Gray, army aviators, whose airplane crashed in the surf off Island Beach Station Thursday. Hope of finding the men alive has been abandoned.

The flyers were last seen flying past Island Beach, nine miles south of here, in a low fog. The plane was only 20 feet above the water and the pilot apparently was guiding himself by the spume. The fact that they were flying so close inshore precludes the possibility that they have been picked up by a coastwise vessel.

Several hours after the plane was sighted the beach patrol found a piece of the right wing and the landing gear in the surf. The propeller was found on the beach.

Lieuts. Gray and Harris formerly were stationed at Scott Field. Gray, who was commissioned in the first year of the war, was three years at the lighter-than-air post as an airship and balloon pilot, and last year was a member of the army balloon team in the James Gordon Bennett cup race in Europe. He left Scott Field about a year ago. Harris enlisted in the Air Corps in 1920. After his airplane flying course as a cadet he was sent to Scott Field for balloon and airship training. He was commissioned in September, 1925, and left Scott Field a year ago.

INSULATING LUMBER

WARM when it's 4° below . . . COOL when it's 90° above

1/3 less costly to heat!

AN amazing heat-stopping material now makes possible new comforts and economies, in every home.

For the usual building materials (wood, masonry, hollow-tile, building paper, wallboard, plaster, etc.), when used alone, offered too little resistance to the passage of heat and cold. Without a special heat-stopping material, furnace heat leaked out and sun heat beat in . . . through solid walls and roofs! Houses were cold on severe winter days, uncomfortably hot on summer days and nights.

These discomforts are no longer necessary. Six years ago, Celotex was produced . . . Combining effective insulation with great structural strength. Tests prove that Celotex sheathed walls are stronger than those sheathed with wood. And Celotex is many times more effective in stopping heat and cold than any of the usual building materials. Celotex also shuts out wind and dampness . . . quiets noise.

Unlike other insulating materials Celotex is not a costly extra item in building (see the illustration below) . . . it adds but little to building costs and actually saves money. A smaller, less expensive heating plant is required with Celotex in the walls and ceilings or roof of a house. And year after year, Celotex can save you from 25% to 35% needless waste of your fuel money.

Already more than 119,000 homes have been erected or remodeled this modern way.

SO IMPORTANT are the advantages Celotex offers that it would be unwise to build or buy without full knowledge of this amazing material. Ask your architect, contractor or lumber dealer about Celotex. All lumber dealers can supply it.

And mail the coupon below for the Celotex Building Book. Its pages are filled with interesting pictures and facts that will mean more comfort in your home and more money in your pocket.

How Celotex Is Used

Celotex should always be built into both walls and roofs. (1) As sheathing, Celotex replaces wood lumber and building paper . . . adds greater strength . . . costs no more. (2) Under plaster, replacing lath, Celotex builds stronger walls and ceilings . . . less apt to crack . . . free from lath marks. (3) and (4) Celotex is used as interior finish and attic lining either in its natural tan color or decorated. (5) As roof sheathing, replacing wood lumber, Celotex provides insulation where it is most needed. (6) As garage lining it helps protect the car against freezing.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.— ebody has gravely misrepre- nted the facts concerning the ef- t of the new Mexican oil law pon the American oil companies Mexico.

There are no two ways about it. direct issue of veracity has been ed between Secretary of State llogg and the Mexican Govern- nt.

The accuracy of the data which retary Kellogg submitted to the ate, Wednesday, in response to quest for information, was ly challenged in statements ultaneously issued from the xican Embassy here and by the xican Department of Commerce Mexico City.

There was hardly a statement in llogg's memorandum which was contradicted, with voluminous ations of statistics from Mexican cial records.

accordance with the new xican Constitution, adopted in 7, owners of oil lands are re- red to exchange their title for concessions, renewable for 30 rs. The State Department's in- tence that the law be modified it affects American companies s led to a serious controversy tween the two Governments, and number of American companies ve refused to comply with the w.

In his statement to the Senate, ednesday, Secretary Kellogg id "he was informed" that the erican companies, refusing to mply with the law, owned 90 r cent of the active producing lands in Mexico, and that they oduced 70 per cent of the total put of Mexican oil.

In the statement issued from the xican Embassy Thursday night res were given to show that oil lands which had not been mitted to the law amounted to than 5 per cent of the total, that the American companies ich had refused, either wholly partially, to comply with the , produced only 41.6 per cent the total output in 1925, and y 44.06 per cent of the total for first 11 months of 1926, the t period for which figures are lable.

ecretary Kellogg stated to the ate that 44 American compa- and individuals were affected the law, and that only four had plied with it, two of which are producing.

The Mexican statement said that American companies are affect- by the law, of which eight have plied with the law, and that two named by Kellogg as non- ducers actually produced an rage of more than 200,000 bar- s monthly during the last six nths.

Three Outright Declinations.

Moreover, the Mexican statement ed, some of the American com- nies named in the list of those refused to comply have, in , complied with respect to some ds and declined in respect to ers, and that there are only American companies that declined outright to comply any of their lands.

one important respect the xican statements agree with that Secretary Kellogg. Both make plain that the principal objec- to the Mexican law are the panies controlled by Secretary the Treasury Mellon, Edward Doheny, Harry F. Sinclair and Standard Oil companies of In- and New Jersey.

s a practical matter, the ob- ons are almost confined to . For example, as shown by tables attached to the Mexican ments, the total production in of the American companies ch are resisting the law was 7,- ,891 cubic meters. Of this ount, 5,331,741 cubic meters was duced by the Doheny companies; ,490 cubic meters by the Mel- company and 531,469 by the air company. Production by Standard of New Jersey is not , but it is known to have been large.

Doheny Retains Interest.

out a year ago a controlling st in the Doheny properties sold to a syndicate dominated andard of Indiana, but Do- is understood to retain a very interest. Moreover it has stated that the price he eventually will receive depends upon whether his titles are validated by the Mexican Government.

Dissecting the Kellogg memorandum paragraph by paragraph, the Mexican statements assert that some of the individuals named by Kellogg as having oil lands in Mexico are unknown there, and that others have long ceased to operate.

Kellogg told the Senate that no concessions to oil lands were granted by the Mexican Government prior to 1917; that operation was all under direct ownership. The Mexican statement cited large concessions granted by President Diaz to the Doheny companies in 1908, under terms identical with those imposed by the new law.

Kellogg told the Senate that the new Constitution "apparently prohibits" foreigners from obtaining concessions in the future. The Mexican statements pointed out that the Constitution authorizes such concessions on condition that the foreign concessionaires agree not to solicit the diplomatic intervention of their respective countries in touching the lands controversies. Incidentally, it points out that some American states have similar laws, as do nearly all civilized countries.

Among the large American companies included in Kellogg's list of those who have defied the Mexican law, was the Standard Oil Co. of California. The statement issued by the Mexican Department of Commerce stated that the Standard of California has "fully accepted the law."

Statistics Cited.

The three companies that have refused to comply on any lands, it said, are Mexican Petroleum, one of the former Doheny companies, now dominated by Standard of Indiana; the Atlantic Refining Co., a subsidiary of Standard of New Jersey, and the Atlantic Gulf, owned by the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies Steamship Co.

As for Kellogg's assertion that the recalcitrant American companies own 90 per cent of the actively producing oil lands in Mexico, the Mexican authorities gave the following brief table: Total oil lands, 37,981,374 acres. Total not submitted to law—1,660,312 acres. Percentage not submitted, 4.6.

As for his statement that the objecting American companies are producing 70 per cent of the oil output of Mexico, the Mexican statements presented the following statistics covering the first 11 months of last year, the latest period for which figures have been compiled.

Total production, 84,362,493 barrels. By companies that have complied with law, 47,184,391; by companies that have not complied, 37,178,102.

Moreover, continues the statement from the Mexican Embassy, some of the companies that have defied the law as to some of their lands, are also operating upon lands which they have leased, which lands have been submitted to the law by their owners.

Therefore, while it is true that the companies that have not fully complied with the law produced 44.6 per cent of the total Mexican output last year, it is also true that a considerable part of this production was from lands which actually have been submitted to the law.

A Partial Compliance.

One company listed among the objectors because it has not fully complied, has, in fact, complied with respect to the lands from which 70 per cent of its production is derived.

Consequently, the statement reasons, the actual production which is involved in the controversy, instead of being 70 per cent of the total, is much less than 44 per cent.

Because of diplomatic usage, neither of the Mexican statements was expressly directed to the Kellogg statement, although as a matter of fact, they were not directed against anything else.

The Embassy statement was merely entitled "facts in regard to the controversy of certain foreign companies which have failed to comply with the Mexican oil law."

More ironically, the issuance of the statement at Mexico City was explained as for the purpose of "rectifying errors in press reports from the United States, originating perhaps from vicious information spread by a group of interests opposed to the Mexican laws."

The use of these titles, with their elaborate avoidance of mention of Secretary Kellogg's statement, appeared grimly humorous in view of the ferocious fashion in which they proceeded to rip it to pieces.

Secretary Kellogg did not state to the Senate the source from which he obtained the data which he submitted. In view of the crushing weight of contradictory evidence presented by the Mexican Government, however, there will be a desire among some Senators to know where the Secretary got his information, and to learn if he has any additional facts to refute the Mexican statement.

Congressmen Watchful.

Since his presentation of the celebrated "Bolshevik memorandum," consisting almost entirely of stale newspaper clippings, members of Congress have displayed a disposition to scan closely all statements of fact issuing from the State Department.

He was asked to transmit copies of all correspondence that had passed between himself and the oil companies on the subject of the Mexican oil laws, but declined on the ground that it would be an injustice to the oil companies to do so without their consent.

HIT BY AUTO FEB. 10, DIES OF INJURIES

F. W. Rutzke, Who Ran Down H. G. Bates, 72, Under Bond for Careless Driving.

Hugh G. Bates, 72 years old, of 4810A Delmar boulevard, died yesterday at the Crenshaw Hospital of injuries suffered Feb. 10 when he was struck by an automobile while crossing the street in front of his home.

The driver, Frederick W. Rutzke, 53, of 1724 Grove street, St. Louis County, took him to the hospital and is now under bond charged with careless driving. Bates, who is survived by his widow and six children, will be buried Tuesday from an undertaking chapel at 5165 Delmar boulevard.

Mrs. Margaret Walsh, 65 years old, of 6440 Spencer place, was knocked down by an automobile yesterday afternoon at Bartmer and Hodiamont avenues. The driver, a man about 60 years old, stopped his machine, she told police, and said: "Wait a minute, lady, and I'll get a doctor." He drove away and did not return. Mrs. Walsh's right arm is fractured.

Homer Scott, seven-year-old son of Arthur Scott, 922 Chouteau avenue, suffered a fracture of the skull when he was struck in front of his home last night by an automobile driven by William Whittington, 31, of 1731 North Forty-Eighth street, East St. Louis. Whittington was arrested.

$5000 FOR FIGHT ON BRIDGE TRADE MEASURE

Merchants' Exchange Action by Vote of 118 to 48 of 554 Members.

An appropriation of $5000 was voted yesterday by the Merchants' Exchange to be expended in opposition to the ordinance of the Citizens' Bridge and Terminals Committee for an exchange of uses of Eads and Municipal bridges between the railroads and the city.

The vote was 118 members for the appropriation; 48 members against. The total membership is 554. The Exchange has based its opposition to the ordinance chiefly upon a complaint that the bridge-trade does not include an abolition of the service-charge of the Terminal Railroad, for hauling freight originating within 100 miles of St. Louis over the Mississippi River.

A debate upon the bridge-trade ordinance will be held today at 2:30 p. m. in North St. Louis Turner Hall, Twentieth and Salisbury streets. C. E. Williams and Glendy B. Arnold will support the proposal as defined in the ordinance now before the Board of Aldermen. Oliver T. Remmers and former Circuit Judge Franklin Miller will oppose the proposal.

Frank H. Gerhart will speak against the ordinance today at 3 p. m. at a meeting of the Tenth Ward Improvement Association in Held's Hall, Broadway and Chippewa street.

Reports like these are absolute proof that our chicks are egg-bred. Mrs. G. A. Switzer writes "My 590 pullets hatched from Shinn Hatched Chicks laid $400.00 worth of eggs from November 15 to December 15." Another says, "Your chicks are as good as those costing 70c each." Another says, "Raised 98 out of 100"; another says, "I bought 1000 of your 10-cent chicks and 1000 chicks costing 20 cents from another man, the best breeder in our state, and yours won out on every point. To date they have laid just 24 9-10 per cent better than his." Chicks as low as $8.80 hundred and as many as you want. Catalog Free.

"In Bloody Williamson"

Glenn Young and Ora Thomas at Last See Each Other in the Fog of Pistol Smoke, and Both Are Killed

Thomas, with lightning-like speed, had beaten Glenn Young to the draw.

By GEORGE GALLIGAN

In Collaboration With His Chief Deputy, Jack Wilkinson

(Copyright, 1927, by George Galligan and Jack Wilkinson.)

MRS. ORA THOMAS described the incident that will give my readers a mental picture of what Ora endured at the hands of Young and his gang. Mrs. Thomas stated that Ora, herself and two small boys had been out for an automobile ride. Coming through Carterville, they stopped at an oil station to get some gasoline, when Young drove up in an automobile, accompanied by three other men, his wife, their baby and another woman.

Young called to Ora so as to attract his attention. Young then stopped his car at another filling station across the street and sneered at Ora and his family until they got ready to leave the oil station. Young then beckoned with his hand, started his own car and drove parallel with Thomas. Looking at Ora, he said:

"You think you are smart."

Thomas looked over his shoulder and called Young a dirty coward. Young drove a short space ahead of Ora and calling back to Ora said:

"Come back, you crook."

Young would drive fast in front of Ora's car, then suddenly slow up, almost stop and cause Ora to swerve in order to avoid collision with the heavy car Young was driving. Young would then drive faster for a little way, then almost come to a sudden stop again. He repeated this time after time as they were both driving back to Herrin.

Ora became very angry at such tactics on the part of Young and called to Young that he would meet him next day at Young's hangout, the City Hall at Herrin. As they reached Dewmaine, some colored men were standing on the roadside and Young put up an outspread hand. The colored men gave no heed to Young, but gave a friendly, thankful recognition to Ora, their protector, as he passed with his little family.

On the following day Ora went to the City Hall to reckon with Young, but Young did not show up there that day until after he knew Ora had started to the Sheriff's office at Marion. Young then drove out to Ora's home and stopped his car in front of the home. This Young would do frequently when he knew that Ora was not at home.

The stage is now set for the most thrilling episode of this bloody drama. Everything now happens in rapid sequence. On January 24, 1925, was an event that will be remembered for years to come in the annals of Williamson County, a day of bloodshed, in which two of the leading characters passed out of life, just as they would have wished had they had their choice and either of them knowing that his call had been sounded.

I do not believe that either S. Glenn Young or Ora Thomas would have wanted to pass out of this life during such a fight without taking the other one with him.

I may be wrong, but I believe I am right—at least I am sincere—when I say that I believe my Deputy Sheriff, Ora Thomas, died the death of a hero, a martyr to the cause of law and order as against mob rule, anarchy and treason. I know that Ora was sincere in his opposition to the Ku Klux Klan. Thomas went unflinchingly to certain death, an example of the courageous officer of the law who sought to protect the weak and defenseless, as against the coward and tyrant. Much as I regret the loss of a man who proved himself to be my tried and true friend, I am sincere in saying that he died a death worthy of the man he was. Ora was human and subject to the frailties of human nature, but those who knew him best held him in high esteem and knew him to be the soul of honor—a man in every respect.

I believe that his death was planned by Young, and especially so as on the day that he met his death, Young had repeatedly threatened the life of Ora, but Thomas was absolutely fearless to the end. Ora Thomas lived in Herrin, and I was always uneasy as to his safety when he would drive home after dark, by himself. Time and time again I made him stay with me in Marion, as I had information that Young and his gang would try to ambush him on his way home.

Young and his gang, armed with machine guns, shotguns and pistols, repeatedly insulted Ora when they met him. Young would never meet Thomas alone. When he had his gang with him he would call Ora

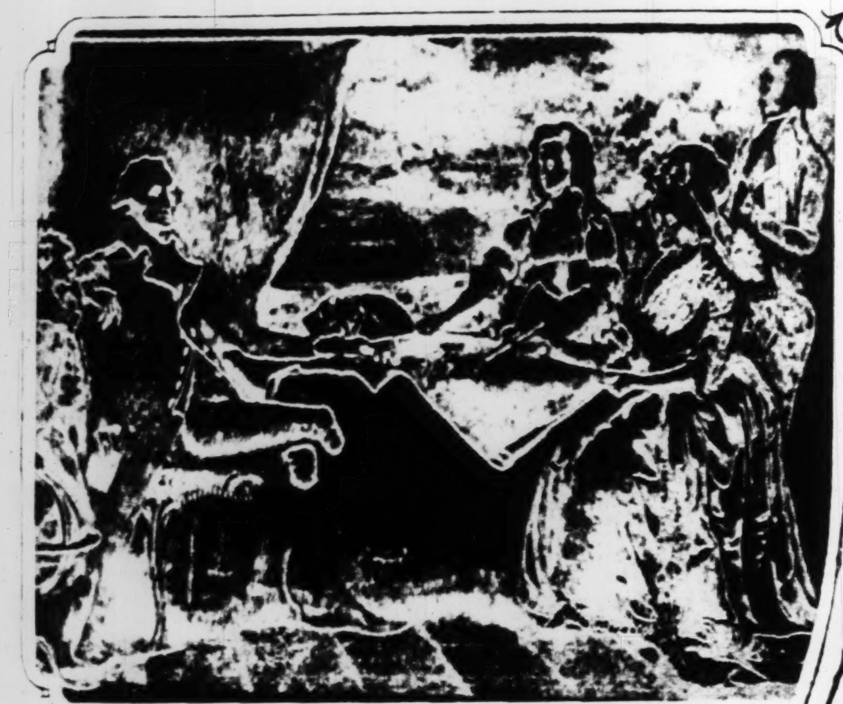
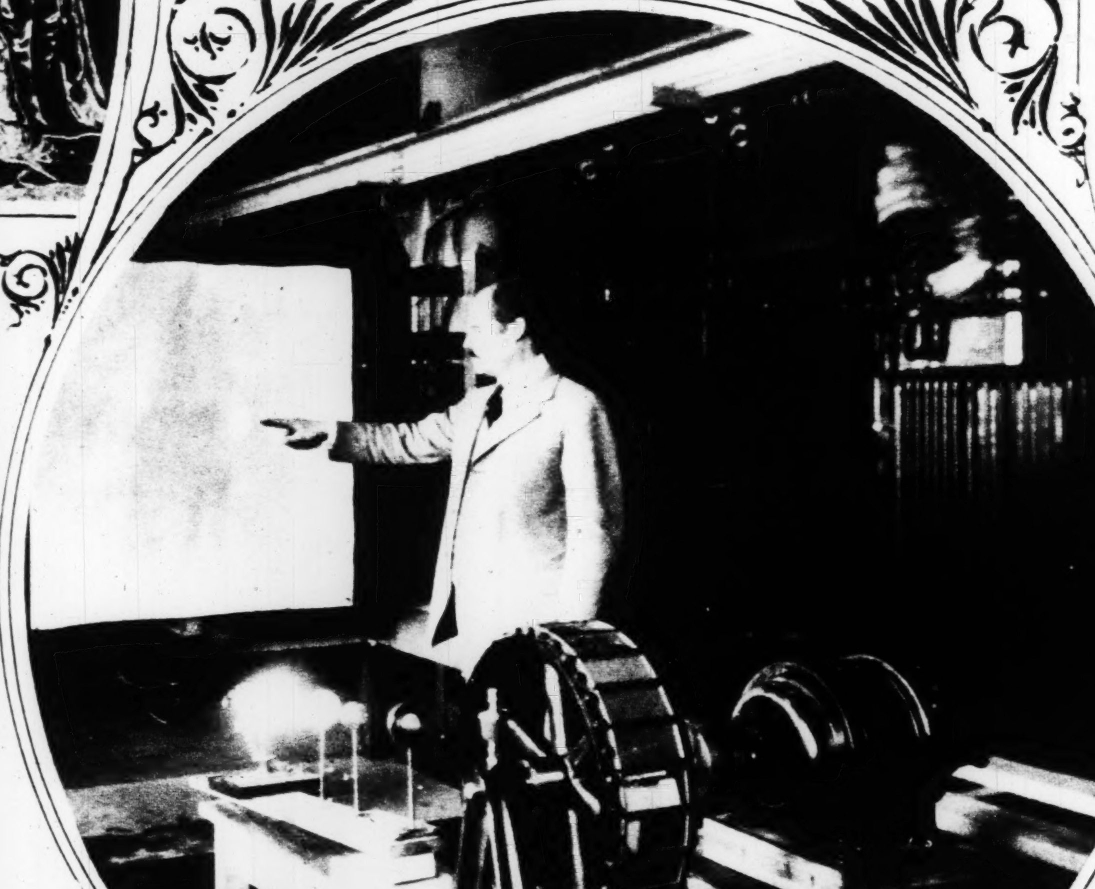
The PROSPECT of SEEING MOVING OBJECTS by RADIO

Hopes of Achieving Television Are Not Unreasonable, Says E. F. W. Alexanderson, Electrical and Radio Engineer. Still Pictures Are Transmitted Through the Air—Visual Baseball Games and Prizefights May Be Broadcast.

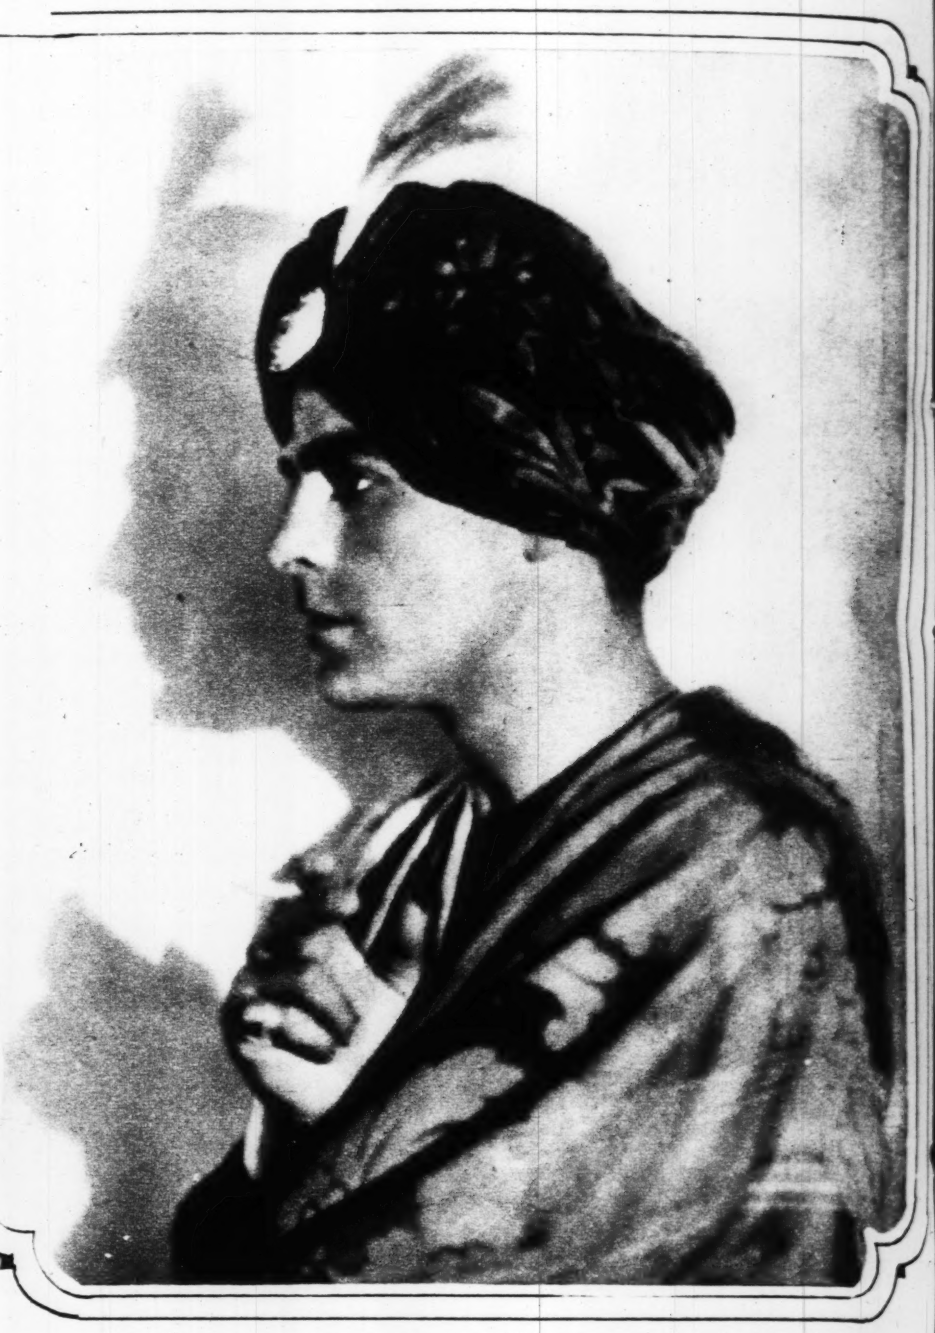


Radio distortion made visible. The original was a newspaper reprint of a steel engraving, "Washington and His Family," by E. Savage. It was transmitted through the air, but an improper adjustment of the receiving apparatus caused this odd result.



Projector in Dr. Alexanderson's laboratory with which the problem of transmitting moving pictures is being studied. Note the cluster of seven lights on the screen.

Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson.



As the picture was received, when sent by radio from one end of the laboratory to the other, in four minutes.

IT SEEMS improbable that the world will have to wait any large number of years for the coming of television — the art of seeing distant, moving objects by radio.

Already, broadcasts of concerts and other programs are commonplace. Code messages sent across vast distances have lost their thrill. Wireless transmission of photographs and other pictures, including documents in longhand and typewriting, is on a commercial basis. Radio moves on. Some of the brainiest engineers in the profession are making it move on.

Television and the sensational things which it would render possible, have been called by some experts a dream which never can be realized. Other competent men, conceding the difficulties, are hopeful that a way will be found. One of the most active investigators came to St. Louis this winter and told the St. Louis Section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, what progress has been made in solving the problem. He is E. F. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer of the General Electric Company and of the Radio Corporation of America.

Dr. Alexanderson drew a capacity audience at the Engineers' Club, 4359 Lindell boulevard—which was partly a tribute to the distinguished inventor and partly a proof of what exciting possibilities attend the subject of television. At the end of his address, which touched upon both the theory and experimental tests, Dr. Alexanderson said:

"Our work has already proven that the expectation of television is not unreasonable, and that it may be accomplished with means that are in our possession at the present day. How long it will take to attain this, I do not venture to say."

Such an opinion was impressive, coming from the designer of the Alexanderson single-phase motor and of a widely known high-frequency alternator, the radio expert who devised the multiple-tuned antenna, also the "barrage receiver," which baffled German efforts to interrupt communication between allied stations in the war; the inventor who has been granted patents in this country and abroad upon numerous important electrical and radio inventions.

HERE was an eminent technical man telling other technical men that time and space might receive yet another setback from the puny hands but cunning brains of humanity. Steam, telegraph, telephone, motors, airplanes, radio—and now the possibility that we may some time discard our photographs and our movies and, with apparatus whose form can be approximately foreseen, gaze upon the transmitted pictures of things which are happening hundreds or thousands of miles away almost in the moment they happen, and listen to their transmitted sounds as well.

"Will it be possible to transmit the picture of a baseball game, or of a prizefight, to a screen far away?" asked a man in the audience.

"I believe that it will be possible," replied Dr. Alexanderson.

Which opened up a discussion of the many uses to which television, once achieved, could be put. With the familiar broadcast of the President's annual message to Congress could be sent a picture of the scene in the Senate chamber at Washington. The ceremony of inaugurating a President could be seen and heard at places all over the United States. It is even conceivable that sessions of Congress might be "attended" by constituents who cannot very well visit the national capital but who would like to know what their legislators are doing there. And "face to face" conversations with absent members of the family and friends, or business associates, should be an everyday occurrence.

Besides the endless uses which might be suggested for television in time of peace, it would be of the utmost value for intelligence purposes in war. A General, for example, could hardly ask for anything better than a picture of the front which might thus be transmitted to his headquarters from a reconnoitering airplane. Instead of having to depend on officers' reports, necessarily incomplete, irregular and sometimes garbled, the commanding officer could see upon the silver screen in front of his desk a living, up-to-the-second picture of the area in which he was interested.

Dr. Alexanderson's expression of opinion about television came only after a frank statement of the technical difficulties and of how they will, perhaps, be overcome. He recalled that several years ago Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of directors, General Electric Company, at a banquet expressed the hope that radio would soon give a visual means of communication.

"The idea seemed at that time absurd to many of the technical men present," said Dr. Alexanderson, "but work was promptly started and we have at least gotten so far that a commercial radio picture service is in operation. It takes at present 20 minutes to send one of these pictures.

"From moving picture practice we know that for a direct vision of moving objects to be realized would require the transmission of a series of pictures at the rate of 16 per second. It is a long way from 20 minutes to one-sixteenth of a second. It means that we must work 20,000 times faster than we do now. However, we have tackled the problem."

RADIO has developed two distinct methods of signaling: by modulation and by interruption. The first is usually associated with broadcasting and the second with telegraphy. Both may be adapted to radio photography and each, predicted the speaker, will have its own special field of usefulness. The effective range of a broadcast station is much shorter than a telegraph station of the same power, but within this range it gives a service of excellent quality. He exhibited samples of pictures radio-transmitted with a modulation frequency of 3000 cycles, which can be transmitted easily by the ordinary broadcast station.

"It is therefore possible," said Dr. Alexanderson, "that a picture service may be given by these same stations which will be of the same standard of quality as the musical entertainments. Freedom from disturbances is insured by having a large number of stations, interlinked by a wire system, so that a good selection of entertainment is available in all parts of the country. This whole broadcasting machinery is now available should the public become interested in radio photography for entertainment or otherwise."

For long-distance communication, another method of using the radio wave is much more sensitive and economical. "The most striking illustrations of this," commented the speaker, "are the feats of the amateurs in communicating with their friends on the other side of the earth with small, hand-made sets. Until now, this method of signaling has been limited to dots and dashes, but there are possibilities of using it to transmit pictures, fac-similes of letters or printed pages, moving picture films and ultimately to 'see' by radio.

"In our research work on the development of radio photography and television, we have looked upon the adaptation of the telegraphic method to picture transmission as one of the essential problems, and a system has been worked out for transmitting halftone pictures in a way which takes advantage of the more efficient methods used in radio telegraphy.

"The underlying principle which makes this possible is the use of a system of signaling in which the results are independent of the signal strength. Thus, if the signal is strong enough to be recorded at all, it gives the same kind of records at the maximum as at the minimum signal intensity. This makes the recording independent of fading. If, furthermore, the signals are stronger than the prevailing static, it is possible to eliminate the effects of static by introducing a threshold value of signal strength in the receiver so that nothing is received unless the signal exceeds this value."

HALFTONE effects are produced by dividing up the picture into five or more separate shades, such as white, light gray, medium gray, dark gray and black. The transmitting and receiving machines analyze and reassemble these shades automatically. Various methods may be used for translating light intensities into radio signals. Five wave lengths might be used, one for each shade. But Dr. Alexanderson transmitted pictures by a process utilizing a single wave length.

The transmitting machine is made in such a way that at every moment it selects the shade that comes nearest to one of the five shades, and sends out a telegraphic signal which selects the corresponding shade in the receiving machine. Perhaps this sounds more complicated than it really is, because the telegraphic code by which different shades are selected depends upon the synchronization of the two machines, which is necessary under all circumstances.

Thus, black in the picture is produced by exposure of the sensitive paper in the drum of the receiving machine to the recording light spot during four successive revolutions of the drum. Light gray is produced by a single exposure during one of the four revolutions and no exposure for the next three revolutions. The overlapping exposure is progressive, and the whole works as a continuous process. Radio transmission of a single photograph has been accomplished by Alexanderson in two minutes in the laboratory.

But television, the transmitting of pictures of moving objects, presents much greater difficulties, mainly because of the speed which must be maintained to secure satisfactory results and the natural desire for pictures which can be thrown life-size on a large screen. Television will require the transmission, reception and reproduction of a single picture in one-sixteenth of a second. And one of the fundamental problems is the development of a satisfactory projector.

A MODEL of a television projector designed by Dr. Alexanderson consists of a source of light, a lens and a drum carrying several mirrors. When the drum is stationary a spot of light is focused on the screen.

"This spot of light is the brush that paints the picture," said Dr. Alexanderson. "When the drum revolves, the spot of light passes across the screen. Then, as a new mirror which is set at a slightly different angle comes into line, the spot passes over the screen again, on a track adjacent to the first, and so on until the whole screen is covered.

"If we expect to paint a light picture of fair quality, the least that we can be satisfied with is 10,000 separate strokes of the brush. This may mean that the spot of light should pass over the screen in 100 parallel paths and that it should be capable of making 100 separate impressions of light and darkness in each path. If we now repeat this process of painting the picture over and over again 16 times in a second, it means that we require 160,000 independent strokes of the brush of light in one second. To work at such a speed seems at first inconceivable. Moreover, a good picture really requires a scanning process with more than 100 lines. This brings the speed requirements up to something like 300,000 picture units per second."

Another difficulty is that of illuminating a large screen successfully with a single spot of light, even when employing the most brilliant arc light known and regardless of how the optical system is designed.

To test the practicability of a new system which promises to solve these problems, Dr. Alexanderson built the model of a television instrument which he now has in operation in his laboratory at Schenectady, N. Y.

The method devised to speed up the moving mechanical parts is the use of seven distinct light sources, the lights converging in a cluster of brilliant lights which scan the screen, each light painting a crude picture, but all seven interlacing optically to produce a single good picture.

ON DR. ALEXANDERSON'S television projector, the seven light sources are converged by an optical system to a revolving drum carrying 24 mirrors. These mirrors reflect the light cluster to the screen. Using seven lights instead of one, the useful illumination is increased 49 times. Why we gain in light by the square of light spots used can be explained by reference to the model. The drum has 24 mirrors, and, in one revolution of the drum, one light spot passes over the screen 24 times. When we use seven sources of light and seven light spots, we have a total of 170 light spot passages over the screen during one revolution of the drum.

Furthermore, in using seven light beams in multiple, the speed at which each light beam must travel on the screen has been reduced at a rate of seven to one, it having only 24 tracks to cover instead of 170. In addition to these advantages for multiple light-beam operation, each beam needs to move only one-seventh as fast, and therefore needs to give only 43,000 instead of 300,000 independent impressions per second. A modulation speed of 43,000 per second is high with the present radio practice, but is yet within reason, being only 10 times as high as is used in broadcasting, according to Dr. Alexanderson.

In his plan, a complete television system requires an independent control of the seven light spots. For this purpose, seven photoelectric cells are located in a cluster at the transmitting machine and control a multiplex radio system with seven channels. A Hammond multiplex system may be used with seven intermediate carrier waves, which are scrambled and sent out by a single transmitter and then unscrambled at the receiving station so that each controls one of the seven light beams.

By means of a moving picture film, Dr. Alexanderson showed his St. Louis audience some views of the television projector at work in the laboratory, with a cluster of light spots moving faster and faster until the whole screen was covered with a sheet of light. Then the movie showed a moving picture film as transmitted by telephotography at a rate of seven seconds for each picture. The same rate of speed with seven beams would give one picture per second.

"THUS we see that in order to get television we must speed up the process 16 times," said Dr. Alexanderson. "However, this is not unreasonable, because this film was made with a carrier frequency of only 3000 cycles.

"Seven television carrier waves may thus be spaced 100 kilocycles apart and a complete television wave band should be 700 kilocycles wide. Such a radio channel might occupy the waves between 20 and 21 meters. If such use of this wave band will enable us to see across the ocean, I think all will agree that this space in the ether is assigned for a good and worthy purpose."

Even if television becomes a reality, it is not likely to displace the family loud speaker for quite a while. The projector probably will be so expensive that only theaters and a few wealthy persons will be able to buy the outfit, and it will be by paying an admission charge that the general public is apt to become familiar with the results of "seeing by radio." Later on, of course, there will be cheaper models.

Telephotography, the transmission of still pictures, is much more nearly within the scope of average purses, and the General Electric Company now is trying to interest the amateurs in such work, believing that they will find as much sport in transmitting autographs, letters and photographs as they now find in sending code messages for many hundreds of miles. And the amateur who now builds the greater part of his radio telegraphy set doubtless will build the greater part of his apparatus for sending and receiving still pictures through the air.

ERNST FREDERIK WERNER ALEXANDERSON was born in Upsala, Sweden, in 1878. His early schooling and college education were received at Lund, after which he earned his engineer's degree at the Royal Institute of Technology, Stockholm, and did research work at the Royal Institute of Technology in Berlin. Like so many young Swedish engineers, he was attracted by the opportunities of the great country to the west, and in 1901 arrived in New York.

For the first year he was employed as an electrical draftsman, then took a position with the General Electric Company. There his inventive genius soon gained recognition and he was appointed a consulting engineer. His earlier inventions were in the field of railroad engineering, but his greatest achievements were to be gained in another field, and his name is permanently linked with the developmnt of radio telegraphy and telephony into practical means of commercial communication.

Alexanderson also constructed a practical radio telephone transmitter. In the Alexanderson "duplex system," ordinary desk telephones are connected by wire with radio stations equipped with pliotron and auxiliary apparatus, and conversation may be carried on from both ends. He also is given more credit than anyone else for the recently established radio service between Sweden and the United States. When he returned to his native land to assist in the inauguration of the new station at Grimeton, King Gustavus V pinned on his breast the insignia of the Swedish Order of the North Star.

PARIS.

A SINGULAR divorce case is coming up in the Paris courts. Princess Aimee Crocker-Ashe-Gillig-Gouraud-Miskinoff-Galitzine—the famous "Python Princess"—is going to try to cut loose from Prince Galitzine, her fifth husband. "Too much mother-in-law," the 56-year-old Princess tersely explains.

"Too many Buddhas in the bedroom," the 27-year-old Russian Prince emphatically retorts.

The shipwreck of this romance, which was the talk of New York society a year and a half ago, has revealed a marital adventure that reeks with Oriental mystery and magic, and may even involve the Evil Eye.

Prince Galitzine seriously believes that the 200 Buddhas of the Princess—she has the finest private collection in Europe, having picked every one of them out of old Chinese temples—have thrown an evil influence over all her affairs, including his own marriage with her.

"I have always had the strangest feeling and foreboding in the presence of these statues, and I would swear that they have some supernatural power that sometimes may be good and other times is certainly evil," he explained to interviewers at his hotel.

The Princess herself is frankly puzzled, although she is willing to give them the benefit of the doubt.

"I don't believe that any of my Buddhas are unfriendly," Princess Galitzine said in an interview at her magnificent home in the Rue Vineuse, in answer to the Prince's charges.

"I do believe that after a Buddha has listened to prayers for many centuries it develops a kind of soul or intelligence which understands and influences human events, but I have never had any proof that it exerts an evil influence in any way.

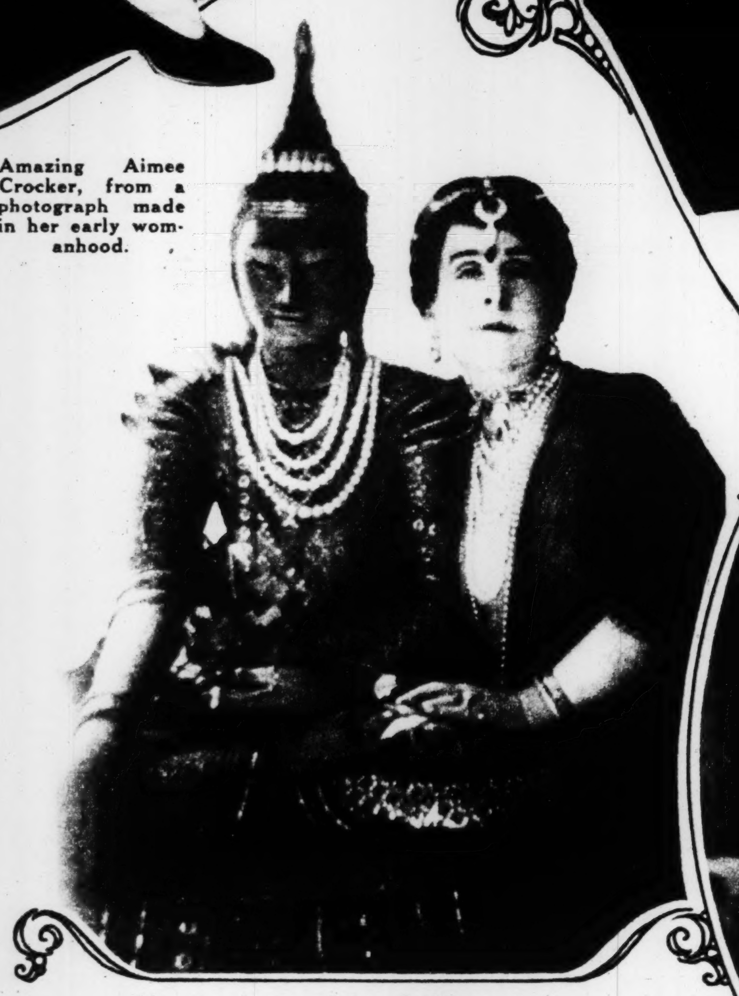
"It is incredible that after all I have done for the Buddhist religion my statues would play any hocus pocus on me."

THE beginning of this mystery was in San Francisco about 40 years ago. Aimee Crocker was the daughter of a millionaire pioneer, with the wanderlust of the "'49ers" in her blood.

At the age of 17 she divorced her first husband, hid as a stowaway on a missionary ship sailing for Tahiti and lived in the costume of Eve on the South Sea strand until her chagrin had melted away.

At 19 she stayed six weeks in the harem of Rajah Kapitula at Bombay, "for the fun of it," but he happened to be in love with a little Circassian dancing girl at the time.

For more than 15 years she roamed through every picturesque and exotic corner of the Far East, sometimes with a husband and more often without one, delving into all the fakirism, hypnotism, occultism, snake charming, esoteric magic, amorous practices and religious beliefs of those peoples, eventually embracing Buddhism.



Aimee and one of her Buddhas.

She turned up in New York once and gave a formal reception to the Four Hundred "to meet Kora," who proved to be a 12-foot python.

AS THE "Python Princess" she married a handsome New Yorker named Jackson Gouraud, who was called the best-dressed man in the world. She went to Paris and converted her magnificent home there into a Buddhist temple from top to bottom and worshiped and burned joss sticks before the heathen gods in stone and bronze, but she also gave gorgeous Oriental fetes that shocked even blase Parisians, and possibly the gods as well.

It almost seems that the Evil Eye has pursued her from the day she opened this temple, as one misfortune has befallen her after another.

Jack Gouraud died in his very prime, and after she married a Russian named Prince Miskinoff he eloped with her adopted daughter.

And then she met young Prince Galitzine in New York in September, 1925, and before they knew it they were married—a stroke of lightning of love, as the French say.

"That marriage was arranged by destiny," the Princess gravely explained.

"I had no human desire to marry again, but many years ago I met a wonderful old seer on top of a high mountain in India who read my whole past and future.

"He told me that I would marry five times, and when Prince Galitzine asked for my hand I realized that it was destiny calling me and I accepted.

"I found that the Prince was a very agreeable young man, although his mother and I could not get along together very well.

"I suppose that when destiny arranged this marriage it forgot all about his mother."

After the marriage Princess Aimee—Aimee means The Beloved—took her Prince Charming to live and love among her grinning idols.

The Princess had her bedroom fitted up as the inner shrine of the temple. She gathered there about 40 of the most ancient, beneficent and most trustworthy Buddhas, grouping these man-size figures around her bed, and so, while she sleeps, they look down enigmatically at her with their enormous ruby and emerald eyes, which alone are worth a fortune. The figures have been wired for electricity and little lamps behind the eyes give an eery effect in the darkness.

It finally got on the Prince's nerves to see these idols glittering at him all night long, and to smell the joss sticks burning before them.

"I wish you would throw those cursed things out of the bedroom," he remarked one morning after a sleepless night. "They are throwing a spell over me."

"I'd rather throw you out," the Princess replied haughtily.

Prince Galitzine also disliked the drawing room, which is fitted up like a genuine Buddhist temple, and he highly disapproved of his wife and the Chinese servants praying and prostrating themselves before these statues.

The Princess has her 200 Buddhas scattered through every corner of the house, and every night the Prince came home late they all looked reproachfully at him.

To escape their baneful glare the Prince sometimes took refuge in the Princess' unique bathroom, but he detested this room above all others. There were no Buddhas there, but she had turned the bathroom into an art gallery—it still serves its original purpose, however—and had hung photographs of Paul Swan, the esthetic dancer, and more than 500 of the handsomest men she had ever known, including her four former husbands, about the walls.

He could not even take a quiet bath without having numbers 1, 2, 3 and 4 gazing curiously down at him, as if to say:

"You poor fish!"

In the end the Princess had a big dispute with the Prince and his mother, as the latter had intervened in their discussions several times, and she filed a divorce suit charging infidelity.

THE Prince, who is represented by Maitre Campinchi, one of the high lights of the Paris bar, countered with a suit demanding a financial settlement.

He claims that when they were married in New York in September, 1925, the Princess agreed to allow him $2500 a month as long as they were married and $1500 a month in case they separated, but he is now demanding a lump sum of $100,000 in place of the latter.

The case is coming up at the beginning of February and the Prince intends to fight the divorce until he gets the financial settlement he asks.

"I am weary of the West and all its superficialities," the Princess remarked in a bored way.

"I'd like to go back to Tahiti or Waikiki and dance on the beach with a few leaves around me, as I did years ago.

"If destiny had not decided that I should have five husbands, and had already given me my count, I would go back to China and marry some nice old Chinaman.

"Some of the best-looking and best-mannered men I have ever met were Chinese."

She is a firm believer in reincarnation and an old Yogi in India even showed her what she looked like in former states.

He presented a 16-year-old Hindu boy, with many strings of beautiful pearls around his neck, who seemed to be flesh and blood, but when she reached out to touch him she discovered that he was only a mental image.

"That was the way you looked in your last reincarnation," the Yogi said, "and even then you loved pearls."

He then made her look into a huge crystal ball, and she saw a white fox running madly up hill and down dale, in a primeval forest.

"That is the first form you ever had, and that was millions of years ago," the Yogi explained. "Even then you were restless."

The Princess says that a famous tale about her having a python tattooed about her waist is false.

"I did have a snake tattooed around my left arm when I was in India, and I have been sorry for it ever since," she declared.

"I WAS at a Paris music hall one night when I heard a man behind me whispe to his wife and ask her if my pearls were real.

"The wife replied in a loud voice that they were too big to be real.

"The husband then noticed the snake on my arm and pointed it out to his wife.

"'Then she belongs to the show,' the wife remarked contemptuously.

"I have worn a scarf over that arm ever since that night."

The home of the Princess, which is a huge private house facing the Trocadero, is probably the strangest house in Paris.

With the exception of her famous bathroom, and her art gallery of handsome actors, dancers, prizefighters and other virile types, every room in the house is fitted up as a Buddhist temple or shrine, some of these religious objects she brought back from the East being almost priceless.

The house is always kept in semi-darkness, like the temples in China, and everywhere one sees the bright, glittering eyes of the idols and the burning joss sticks.

She prays to these statues every time she has some desire—one of her most passionate wishes is to become a successful short-story writer, even though she is a millionaire—and sometimes her desires are fulfilled and sometimes they are not.

The Princess also has a large collection of French and English bulldogs, which she adores.

"If I don't marry some old Chinaman I think I shall become a dog farmer and start raising bulls," she exclaimed as a group of 20 scurried through the temple.

Just then a Chinese gong sounded in the inner shrine. She called her French maid.

"Light some more joss sticks, Yvonne," she said. "I am going to pray in a few minutes."

DRIFTED 112 DAYS AT SEA

What Happened to the Son of a Prosperous Merchant of Minado, Who All His Life Had Looked With Longing Eyes at the Great Ocean, When He Finally Put Off in One of His Father's Trading Boats.

MANILA, Philippine Islands.

DOWN in the South Seas, where millions of brown people live on myriads of islands, it is the business of thousands of men to go down to the sea daily in ships too small really to deserve the name. In these craft men go down to the sea and often far out upon its treacherous lanes to ply their nets and gather cargoes of fish to be dried, salted and sold ashore. It is a casual, romantic life engaging the talents which the brown Malayan pre-eminently has—among them remarkable and stoic courage, and an equally remarkable and stoic trust in God.

Ever since he had been big enough to waddle down to the wharf in the Dutch Residence City of Minado, Celebes, Kho Ka Leng had longed to go to sea. But his mother always said, "No, Leng boy, you are too young. Besides, I have a premonition; something would happen to you, something dreadful or fatal; you must not go to sea with the men."

Years later Kho Ka Leng did venture out upon the ocean. For days that dragged into weeks and weeks that spun themselves into months, Kho Ka Leng's mother had ample time to muse on her premonition, to wonder where her boy and his boat was, to pray he had given heed to her fears.

But why couldn't he go to sea? His mother was dear, of course. Surely Chinese mothers are as dear to their sons as any mothers are to any mothers' sons. But women are odd, always swayed by queer emotions, always having visions and dreams. Now fathers were quite different; and Kho Ka Leng's father, Kho Keng Boen, who gained his little fortune from the coastal traffic in the Celebes seas, had no objections to the lad's taking a voyage one day, when he should be ever so much older.

Down on the busy waterfront, little Kho Ka Leng, growing older and bigger and stronger every day, would idle for hours, watching the brown bare-backed Malays stow their craft with cargoes and sail away into the purple hazes of the ocean tropics.

ALWAYS after school, Kho Ka Leng might be found at the waterfront. He loved the pungent odor of copra, the tang of all that pertained to the sea became an epic to his soul. When, when might he, too, be off to sea? But he was an obedient, studious Chinese boy, so with all his longing to be away upon the great adventure of a sea voyage, he kept at his studies and awaited parental consent.

The serious question of his going somewhere overseas came up when he completed grammar school and faced the problem of college. Father wanted him to go to Holland, mother wanted him to remain at home.

"I have a premonition," she repeated for the hundredth time, "and I have dreamed that if he goes to sea something will happen to him. I would that my son remain in Minado."

Well, it isn't always advisable to humor women's notions too much. This "dream" notion had come to be a pretty old story in Kho Ka Leng's home. "Let him at least go with the men tomorrow to Siauw," Leng's father insisted at last. "He is twenty, Siauw is only 90 miles away, the boat is ready loaded and day after tomorrow he will be back in Minado. He may go to Siauw, I say."

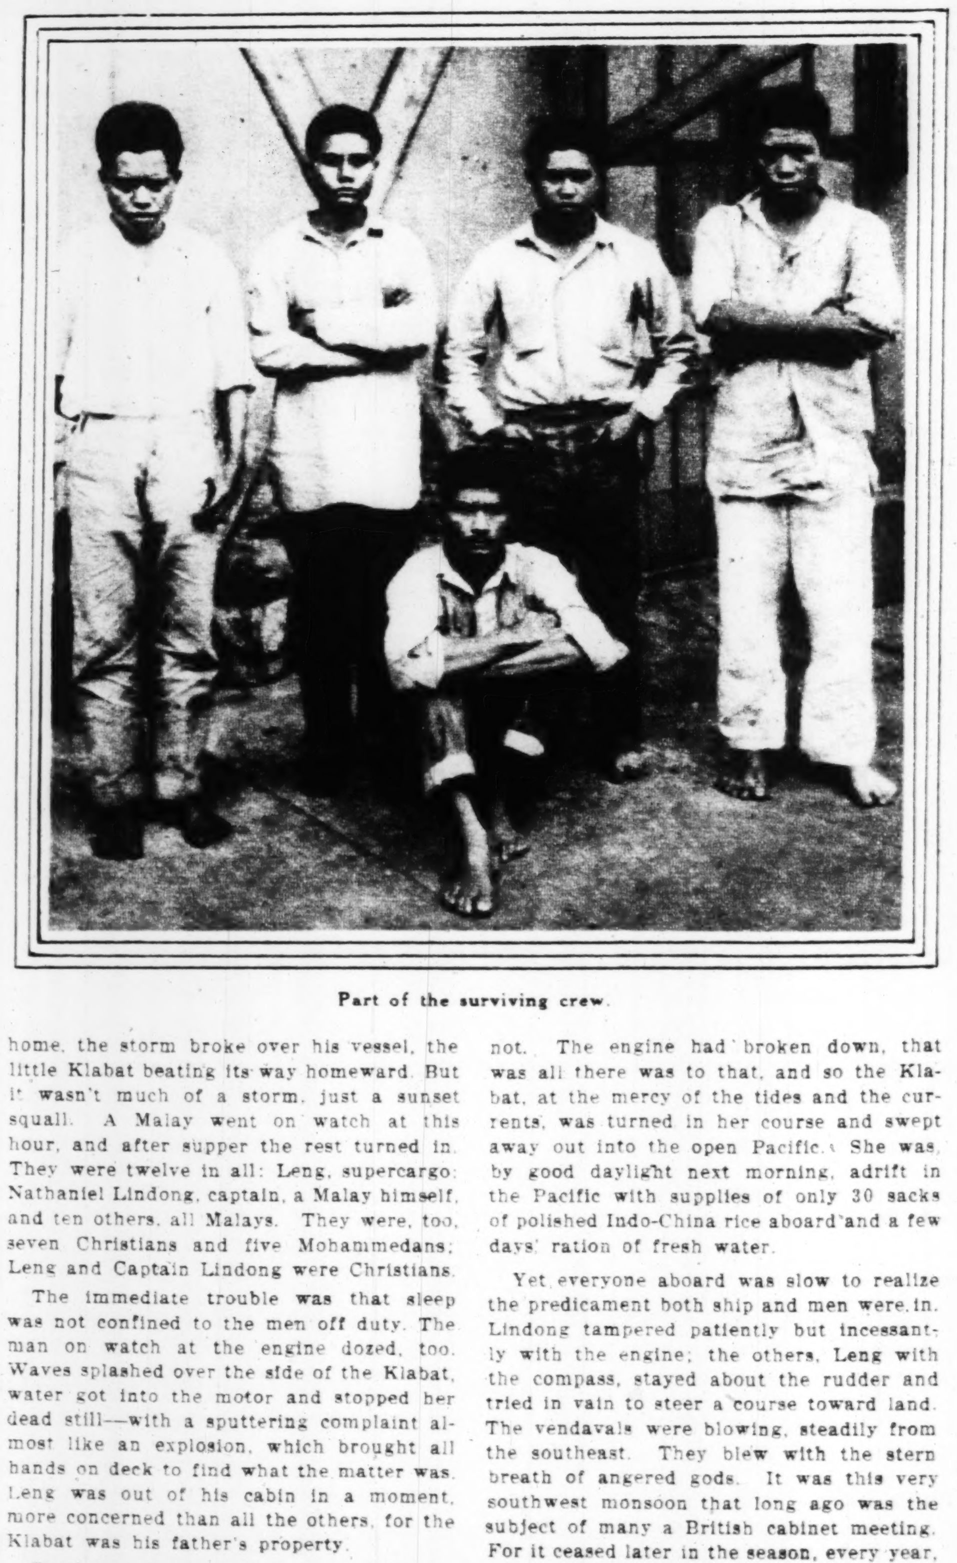
Against this sound logic Leng's mother could no longer demur successfully. She looked at Leng. She began seeing him with new eyes. Alas, it was true that he was no longer little Leng; for he was twenty, robust and a grown man. She consented, reluctantly, that he might go tomorrow with the men on the Klabat, his father's motor boat of 27 tons, to Siauw; but though it was but 90 miles away, and in the sheltered sea lanes, she packed his things as if he were going on a long journey.

"OF COURSE," his mother kept telling herself, "of course, there can be no danger. The Klabat is new, well built. She is 17.60 meters long and holds 550 piculs of cargo alone. She is, I know—for didn't I see it put aboard her?—well bunkered with gasoline and oil. Her motor has 35 horsepower. I shall worry no more. He will be back to me day after tomorrow."

So at last Leng was off up the coast on the trim little Klabat for Siauw. He was comfortable in the Klabat's tiny but resourceful cabin, where his father had installed him officially, not without parental pride, as supercargo, the boss of the show. He waved gayly as the Klabat purred steadily out of the harbor; and his manly bearing half disarmed his mother's misgivings. He seemed to know every order the men should have; even amid her fears she could be proud of him.

Leng had left Minado on the Klabat July 26 and was now at Siauw. He talked by radio telegraph, telling his father in Minado that the cloth, petroleum, salt, salt fish, cases of lemonade and the copra had all been landed in Siauw and the collection made, and that forthwith they were returning to Minado.

Kho Keng Boen opened the radio message the Malay boy brought him, read it and liked it and sent it on to his wife at home, Leng's mother. She had some friends in for tea. While they made merry, the room seemed to darken rather earlier than the sunset, so that the lights were switched on by the servants.



Part of the surviving crew.

When the parlor darkened in Leng's home, the storm broke over his vessel, the little Klabat beating its way homeward. But it wasn't much of a storm, just a sunset squall. A Malay went on watch at this hour, and after supper the rest turned in. They were twelve in all: Leng, supercargo; Nathaniel Lindong, captain, a Malay himself, and ten others, all Malays. They were, too, seven Christians and five Mohammedans; Leng and Captain Lindong were Christians.

The immediate trouble was that sleep was not confined to the men off duty. The man on watch at the engine dozed, too. Waves splashed over the side of the Klabat, water got into the motor and stopped her dead still—with a sputtering complaint almost like an explosion, which brought all hands on deck to find what the matter was. Leng was out of his cabin in a moment, more concerned than all the others, for the Klabat was his father's property.

But let us not tarry with Leng's anxiety, for the tides and currents of the sea did not. The engine had broken down, that was all there was to that, and so the Klabat, at the mercy of the tides and the currents, was turned in her course and swept away out into the open Pacific. She was, by good daylight next morning, adrift in the Pacific with supplies of only 30 sacks of polished Indo-China rice aboard and a few days' ration of fresh water.

Yet everyone aboard was slow to realize the predicament both ship and men were in. Lindong tampered patiently but incessantly with the engine; the others, Leng with the compass, stayed about the rudder and tried in vain to steer a course toward land. The vendavals were blowing, steadily from the southeast. They blew with the stern breath of angered gods. It was this very southwest monsoon that long ago was the subject of many a British cabinet meeting. For it ceased later in the season, every year, and was reversed by the northeast monsoon, when it was quite impossible for the British fleet to maneuver on Bengal Bay; so more territory and new havens, first Penang, then Singapore, had to be acquired as rendezvous and trading posts. If such were the necessities of the mistress of the seas, England, what chance had the disabled Klabat?

She had no chance at all, but it was not immediately realized. Lindong tinkered at the engine; the others watched at the rudder; Leng held the compass and issued his commands about the rudder, but without power the rudder was useless, as useless as the crippled engine.

Off the Klabat drifted into the Pacific. Still there was plenty of rice, still there was some water. No one was afraid.

TEN days and ten nights came and went, and the tedium of the men's futile occupation was unchanged. Finally, on the eleventh day, the engine again "turned over" for Lindong. Now they would soon be home!

But where was land? What direction to steer?

Captain Lindong descried a dim elevation upon the horizon. "It is land," he said, "steer toward it." Everyone was elated.

They sailed 36 hours with the engine working steadily. Leng says they sailed west southwest. The elevation, however, which Lindong's experienced eye had seen on the horizon west southwest, was but a cloud! After this 36 hours' sailing they began to realize their danger and how far the tide and current had actually drifted them into the Pacific. But they knew not where they were within a thousand miles.

It is here that they proved themselves men, every one of them. If you are a man, never be afraid of putting yourself in a tight position with a Malay; for man that you may be, he will be no less a man. The Malay crew of the Klabat and the young Chinese supercargo, Kho Ka Leng, son of the owner, settled down after this 36 hours' bootless endeavor to reach land, any land at all, to whatever suffering fate had in store for them.

"Lindong, it is no use," said Leng, "and you had best use up no more gasoline until we drift into sight of what we are certain is land. Shut down the engine, then, and we will drift and watch."

Thus, very simply, very orderly, the long vigil with fate began out there on the vast bosom of the Pacific tossed with the rains and storms of the southwest monsoons last summer. Twelve men lost at sea on a cockleshell craft with a broken engine!

"We have oil and gasoline enough for 24 hours' more sailing when we shall sight land," announced Leng after a careful check of the bunkers. The verdict was accepted.

Days passed, storms rose and subsided. Nights wore themselves away in blows and hurricanes. Typhoons deluged the Klabat, almost swamping her time and time again, yet affording her crew chances to refill the demijohns. Rice was doled out liberally, polished rice and water—all that was aboard to eat and drink. The men ate gingerly and sparingly, only to appease the fiercest pangs of hunger; for they knew that with every ingested mouthful they were sowing the seeds of beriberi, since the polished rice had no phosphates, no "vitamin B," and there was not a shred of other ration aboard to supply it. The flesh of any one of the men would have nourished all the rest sufficiently; and in their history, back of Mohammedanism and Christianity, lay paganism and cannibalism; but they lay so distant on the hereditary trail that the murderous suggestion entered no man's mind.

So the twelve men on the Klabat drifted.

It was September 10 that the first man died of beriberi. Until three hours before death came he felt no symptoms of the disease. Then he felt warm in the stomach, he said. He grew inordinately thirsty, consumed quantities of the plentiful rainwater they had caught, and then fell into a profound sleep, where, within three hours, death found him.

They composed his body, sewed it up in tarpaulin, took some chain and tied a demijohn filled with seawater to the feet, and eased it over the side into the waves. They then drifted on, watching for a landfall.

WHEN the first man died they had been at sea 46 days. Twenty-six days later, on October 6, four more men died of berberi, and in the same manner as the first victim they were buried at sea. Early in November the sixth man died. By that time death had become so common, and seemed indeed so inevitable for all, that the date was not set down in the log.

But it was the dark before the dawn. For on November 15 land was really sighted. It was the coast of Surigao, Mindanao, Philippine Islands. From its rugged contour it was, however, taken by the men on the Klabat to be the coast of New Guinea. They were only coastal-water men, with no ocean experience whatever to help them surmise where they might be; and besides, they had been starving more than a hundred days. The last nibble of anything but polished rice had been eaten before ten days had passed.

More stoic courage than ever was required, especially upon Leng's and Lindong's parts, when land was finally in sight. It might be another delusion, and it would be fatal, possibly, to seek the aid of the engine in making toward it. But soon smoke ascended from the horizon, the unmistakable smoke of a coastal steamer. Land it was! Land it was! Lupa rin laman! Surely it is land! So they exulted in Malayan.

They signaled by hoisting a rag aloft and the steamer hove to while they drew alongside, for now they had the engine going in good earnest and were sure of themselves once more. The steamer would, certainly, the captain told them over the rail of his bridge, tow them into port. He towed them therefore to Hinatuan, Surigao, where he was going on his ship, the Misamis, engaged in coast trading just as the Klabat had been down there in the Celebes. In ten hours they were in Hinatuan, upon American soil in the Orient. They had been at sea 112 days.

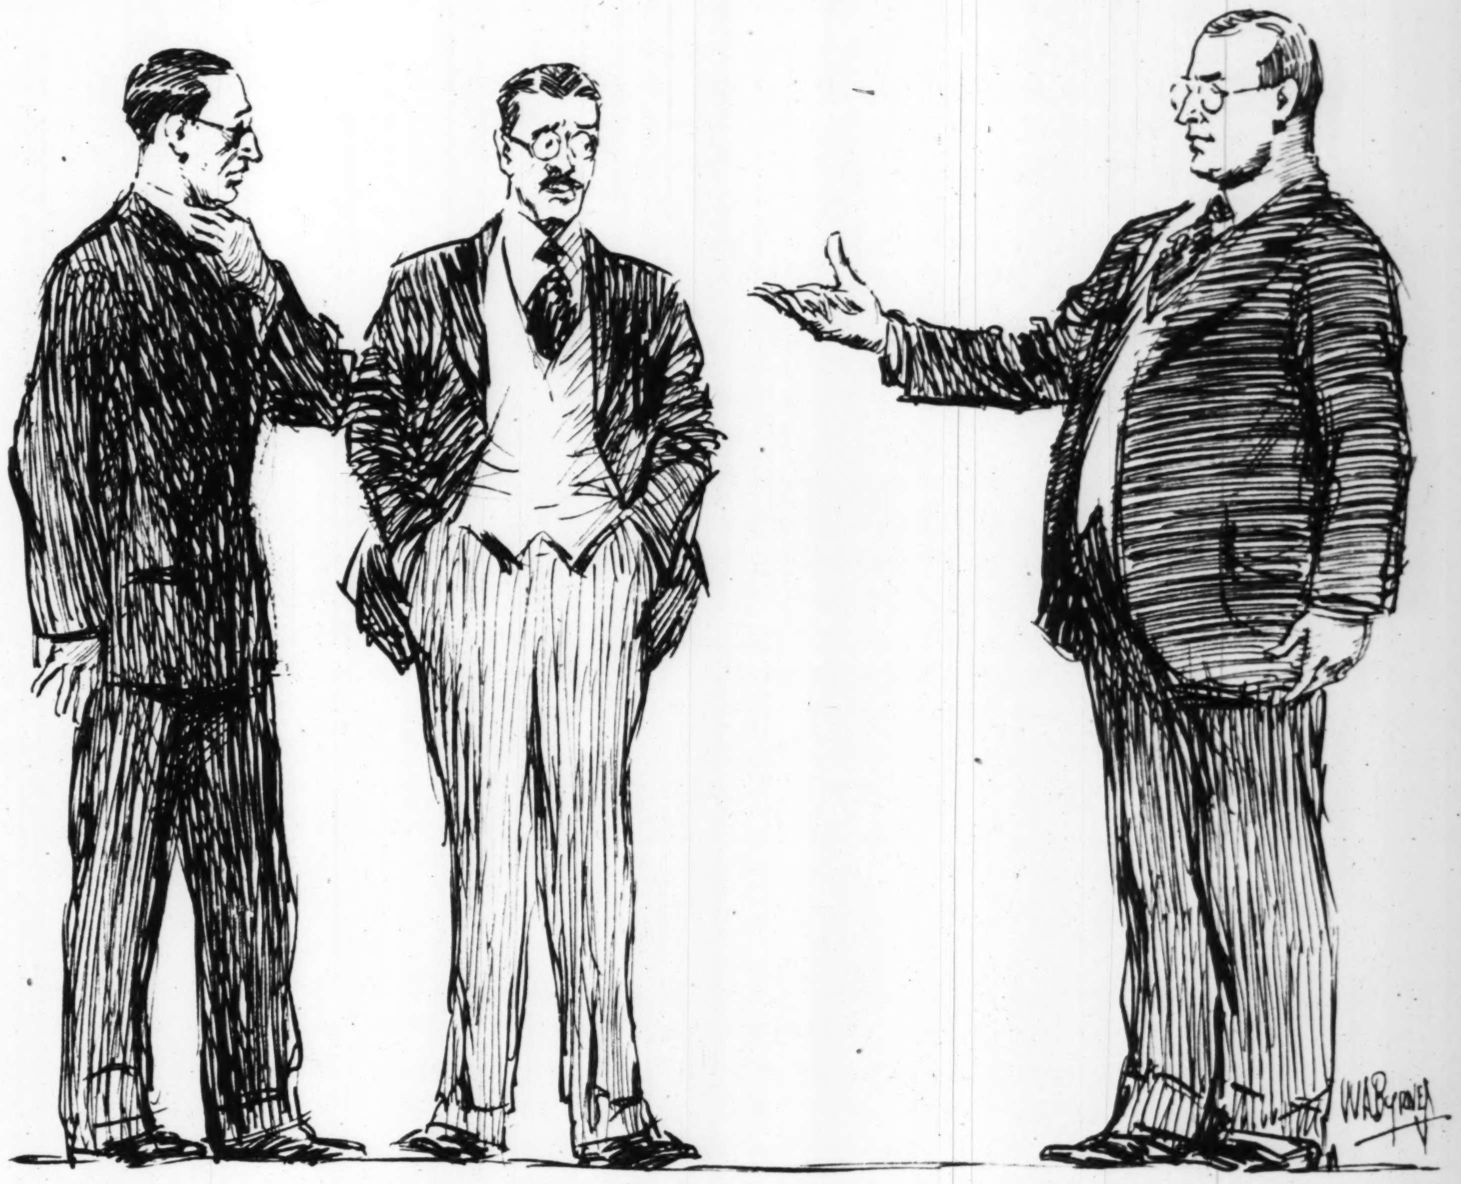
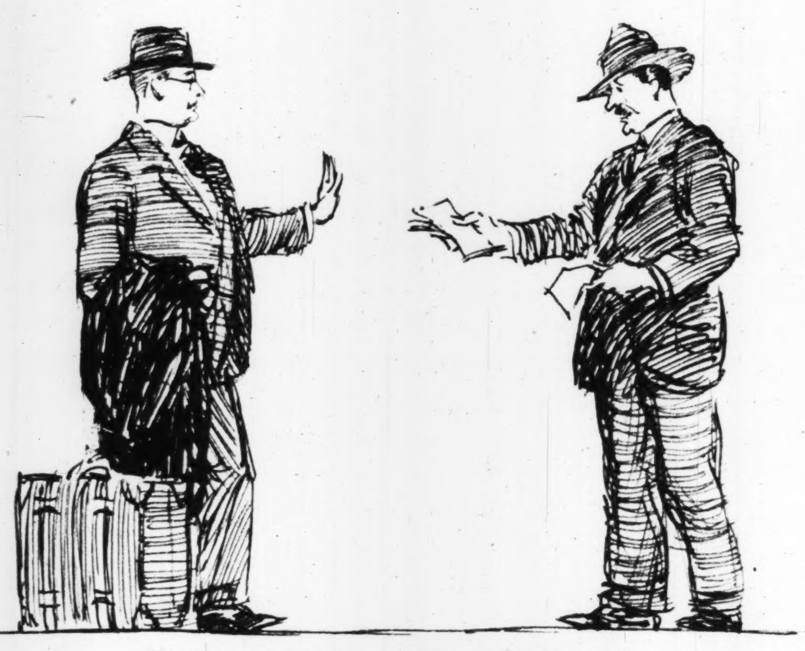
The Sympathetic Hangman Explains His Technique

George Phil Hanna, a Well-to-do Farmer, and a Bachelor, Became an Executioner Out of a Desire to Mitigate Human Suffering.

George Phil Hanna.



"A man of about my weight I drop seven and a half feet. A man of your weight—or yours—."



Mr. Hanna will take no payment for his work.

> —The Devil's Disciple, by Bernard Shaw.

EPWORTH, Illinois

I GOT off the train on a most desolate day, drove miles over a surly, wet road to the Hangman's house, and found a remarkably pleasant fellow. Mr. George Phil Hanna, gentleman farmer, something of a capitalist, leading citizen of White County, is an expert in the art of hanging. Mr. Hanna tells me he has seen and participated in 52 deaths by the official noose.

"Say, I'm disappointed," said Mr. Hanna, whose hobby is hanging men by the neck until dead, as he walked out on the porch of his fine white house to meet me. "I meant to tell you to get off the train here at Epworth and not down the line at Carmi. I had a big dinner, waiting here for you, of home-made sausage and pumpkin pie and mince pie."

I apologized to the genial fellow for my tardiness, my ignorance of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad schedule and the general geography of the country, consoled myself as best I could for having missed that steaming dinner on this disagreeable day by arguing that a combination of hot sausage, hot pumpkin pie and hot mince pie might have led to gastric discomfort, and was ushered by Mr. Hanna into his home, where he made me comfortable.

It is Mr. Hanna's custom to make man comfortable. That is why he hangs them.

For, says the gentleman, "If we must have hangings, and we certainly must, let's have them in the most humane way. Let's not have the man who's paying his debt to society tortured. Let's execute him as men are meant to be executed; a quick death by breaking the neck."

That is Mr. Hanna's philosophy as he explained it to me. He shudders to think that people will consider him bloodthirsty. He hates pain. He can't stand it himself, he admits he can't see it inflicted on others. The man has a horror of human suffering, and it wouldn't surprise me if down at the bottom of this custom of Phil Hanna's of going from county seat to county seat, so he may fit the noose properly in place, is that urge to alleviate physical pain all he can.

I DON'T think Hanna has plumbed his soul that deeply, or perhaps plumbed his motives that deeply. He's a humanitarian, he says, and he lets it go at that. But I don't think he's ever thought that the basis of his intense humanitarianism may be seated in his abhorrence of bodily suffering.

"The thing is," he says, "a Sheriff hardly ever is unfortunate enough to have more than one hanging during his administration. Well, hanging is like anything else. You've got to learn how to do it. And you can't expect a man to be an expert at it on his first experience."

"How did you learn the technique of hanging?" I asked him.

"How do you learn to drink?" he said.

Phil Hanna saw his first hanging 30 years ago. He was quite young, then, for he is only 52 now. Fifty-two, a man lacking a half inch of being six feet, weighing very near 200 pounds. He is a most kindly looking man who peers jovially through his glasses; during the time I was with him I heard him say not an unkind word about anyone, and he has known some reprobates.

This first execution that Hanna saw 30 years ago was at the seat of a nearby county.

"It wasn't just as it should have been," Hanna told me. "Now, it wasn't the fault of the Sheriff or any of his deputies. They were up against the same thing that most Sheriffs and their deputies are up against; their first hanging. They tried to do everything they could to make the execution painless. But they didn't know just how to do it, and the poor fellow who was hanged suffered some, I'm afraid.

"I was pretty interested. It set me thinking. It seemed to me that something should be done so condemned men might die easily. I got the rope, straps and cap used in that hanging and took them home with me.

"I managed to see another hanging before long. The third hanging I saw I took some part in."

SINCE then, he told me, he has been asked by Sheriffs all over Illinois and Missouri, and other states, to attend capital punishment inflicted by the rope. He only goes to executions by invitation. If a Sheriff wants Phil Hanna's attendance, that Sheriff must properly invite him. And Mr. Hanna will absolutely not take payment for his work; for adjusting the noose, arranging the straps, fitting the hood, or springing the trap. Sometimes he will accept his railroad expenses; nothing more. Thus does he retain his amateur standing.

"Wait a minute," he said, and disappeared. In a few moments he returned, carrying a square pasteboard box.

"Here," said he, "is where I keep my equipment. I always take along my own rope. They're pretty expensive, about $60 or $70, and a county is glad to get out of that expense."

He opened the box and brought out his hangman's noose.

"Now this rope," he continued, "is a good rope. It's been tested; it won't break and cause an embarrassing and painful delay. I'll tell you all about it. It's made of hemp; handmade, long fiber. I've used this rope in several hangings. It's made in St. Louis. Now look at this noose. This is a hangman's noose. You make it by taking seven loops around the rope, and then lead the end through to make the noose itself. I always test a rope before a hanging, test it by hanging bags of sand on the end of it."

He dug down into his box and brought out three black leather straps and three hoods. Two of them were black, one was white. One of the black caps was wrinkled, tiny particles of rope appeared on the neck of the cloth, there was a burnt spot to the side of that neck. That hood had seen service.

"I used this cap on Fricker at Edwardsville, last year," he told me.

"Now, before the execution," he went on to relate, "the part of the rope that slips through the knot, and the knot itself, I treat with soap and talcum powder, so it will slide easily."

DENTIST'S OFFICE
OW WOW
OUCH

He has a horror of human suffering.

Mr. Hanna turned to another gentleman present, a friend of his, and said, "Stand up."

The friend gingerly complied.

Mr. Hanna laid out the three straps.

"I want to show you," he said to me, "just how we get them ready. Now I'll put the straps on him. I won't put on the hood."

"You won't put on the noose, either," said his friend, with spirit.

"All right," said Mr. Hanna.

"Now," the amateur hangman went on adjusting a strap, "one strap is put around the ankles, tight, like this. The strapping is a very important part in a successful hanging. The man to be executed must be properly strapped so he will drop correctly, straight down without hitting the side of the platform. Now this strap is put around the legs, just above the knees, like this. Tight. And the third and last strap is for the arms. The prisoner is handcuffed, you see. Nearly everybody, I guess, just puts the strap around the body so the arms will be held close to the side. But this is the way I do it. It is my own way."

I thought I caught a tinge of pride in this remark of Mr. Hanna's, but I suppose he has full reason to be proud, for he assured me this way of strapping the arms always works excellently.

HE ADJUSTED the arm strap in this manner: He took his friend's arms, which his friend held tightly together at the wrists, in lieu of handcuffs, and pulled them back till the elbows extended a little behind the body. Then he wound the strap about them and secured it tightly. His friend made an effort to move his arms, always keeping his wrists close together in a most sportsmanlike way, but his arms he couldn't move. Mr. Hanna looked questioningly at me. I nodded approval.

"Then," said Mr. Hanna, "I always carry a black and a white hood with me, so the prisoner can have his choice."

Mr. Hanna's friend began to get impatient and Mr. Hanna unstrapped him.

"If a prisoner wants a white hood, then, he can have it," continued my host, "if it is a black hood he has a preference for, then he can have it.

"Now, once the hood is on, it is time for the rope. I put it around the neck, of course, with the knot right behind the left ear. That keeps it from slipping. I draw it tight. I already have instructed the prisoner to stand right in the middle of the trap, telling the poor fellow that will make it easier for him and easier for us. Then I spring the trap, the poor fellow shoots down, the rope tightens, the knot breaks the neck and the poor fellow is dead without any suffering.

"The length of drop is very important. Different persons get different distances of drop. For example, if you are wringing a chicken's neck, if he is an old one you have to give it a harder twist than if he is a young one. The same is true with people; an older man must get a harder twist than a young man.

"And you have to consider the weight. A man of about my weight I drop seven and a half feet, a man of your weight, or yours," he said, turning to his friend so that gentleman might not feel excluded, "I drop eight and a half feet."

Then he told me of his methods with men who are about to meet death on the gallows.

"I ALWAYS try to get to the place a few days before the sentence is to be carried out. I meet the prisoner and shake hands with him. I try to gain his confidence. I tell him that I will see he goes to his death painlessly. Most of them are glad to see me. Before we march to the gallows I instruct them just what to do. And just before I put the hood on I say good-by to them.

"In all my experience I only remember one man who didn't want to have anything to do with me, and that didn't last. He was Alva Grimmett, who was hanged last February in Jacksonville, Illinois, for murder in a holdup.

"I went to Jacksonville a few days before the execution and they took me to meet him. 'I don't want to have anything to do with you,' he said, 'and I don't want you to have anything to do with my hanging. I want it left up to the Sheriff.' 'All right,' I said, and left him.

"But he treated me all right on the gallows. There were some church women in a window singing a hymn. He said good-by to me and asked me to drop him on the third verse. I did.

"There was an unfortunate experience at Poplar Bluff, in your State, back in 1920. We were hanging a Negro, James Johnson. We were using the rope which had been intended for Ora Lewis, one of the Lewis brothers, for killing a St. Louis policeman. But Lewis' sentence was commuted. Well, the rope was supposed to be all right. We went along with the work, but when Johnson went through the trap, the rope broke. So we had to pick him up and carry him back up on the scaffold, fix the rope, and spring the trap again. It worked all right that time. But things like that are embarrassing and they aren't fair to the poor fellow who's being executed.

"Here at Carmi, the county seat of this county, a few years ago, a hanging didn't go just as it should have. We were hanging Frank Lowhone. He didn't fall straight, he hit the side of the scaffold. Too bad it had to happen, and too bad it had to happen right here at home."

"Have you ever hanged a woman?" I asked him.

"No," he replied, "but I've known plenty women that needed hanging."

But, then, Mr. Hanna is a bachelor.

"I begin to get pretty nervous a few days before a hanging," he told me. "I don't think anyone can tell it on me, but I'm pretty nervous just the same. It isn't the pleasantest thing there is, hanging a man. I'm pretty nervous for a while after a hanging, too. I keep thinking about it."

That is the reaction George Phil Hanna gets from his hobby. It is not surprising. I am informed on good authority that he winces horribly when he goes to his dentist, even when the dentist does nothing to hurt this patient, that Mr. Hanna has never been known to strike an animal, and that he never had a fight in his life.

If he wanted to go around torturing livestock he would find plenty on his farm to work on, the Cloverland Farm, established 1808, H. S. and G. P. Hanna, proprietors. For it is a many-acred farm the Hannas have, part of which they rent out. The Hanna family has been in that county since 1808, as one may learn from their trade sign. The big white frame house, with its great porch, was built in 1868, so it is something of a landmark. Phil Hanna had the first automobile in White County. And he would like it to be known that he is a Thirty-second degree Mason and a Shriner.

When my host had finished his laboratory explanation of how a man who is about to swing should be strapped up, I asked him just what he thought about capital punishment.

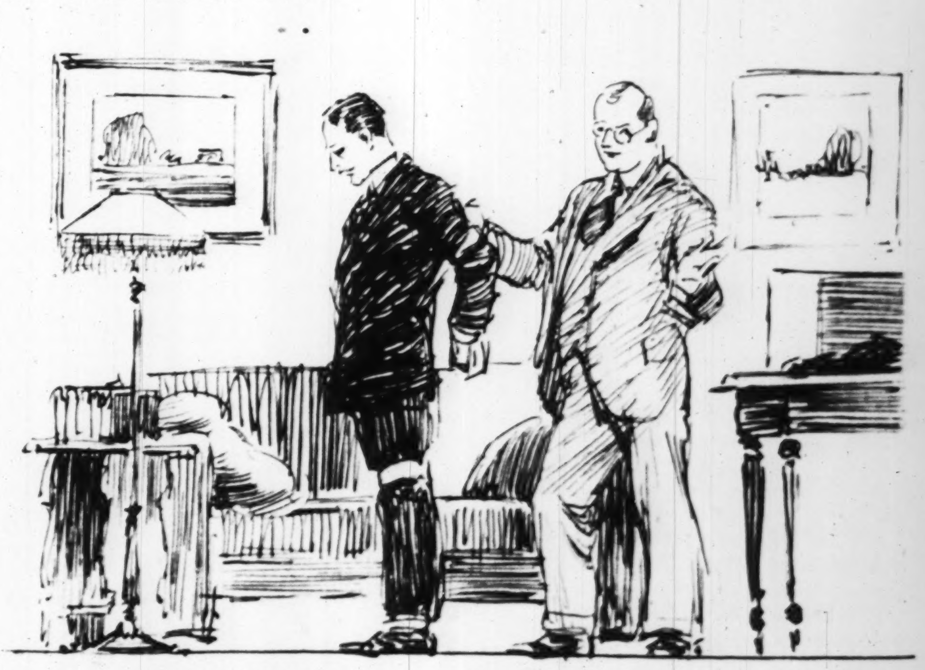
"WELL," he said, "I think we've got to have it. I think it keeps down crime. But hangings ought to be public, everybody ought to be allowed to see them, mothers should be permitted to bring their children. If children would see hangings at an age when they would be impressed by them, if they were taught that if a life is taken, a life must be given in payment, I think they'd be impressed with the law and I don't believe those children would be very quick to commit murder. Mothers ought to be allowed to see hangings so they could tell their children about them.

"Some people object to capital punishment because of the possibility of executing an innocent person. I don't believe there is much danger of that. A jury has to have pretty good evidence before it sentences a man to death.

"As a rule a condemned man confesses before his death. A few of the men with whose hangings I have helped have said they were innocent to the last. One said, 'Here goes an innocent man.' His innocence was that he had held a lamp while some others killed the man. Another kept on saying he was innocent. All he did, he said, was to hold a boy while another man stabbed him. Yes, I believe in punishment by death and I think hanging is the most humane way."

"Have you," I asked him, "ever heard of anyone else who specializes in hangings?"

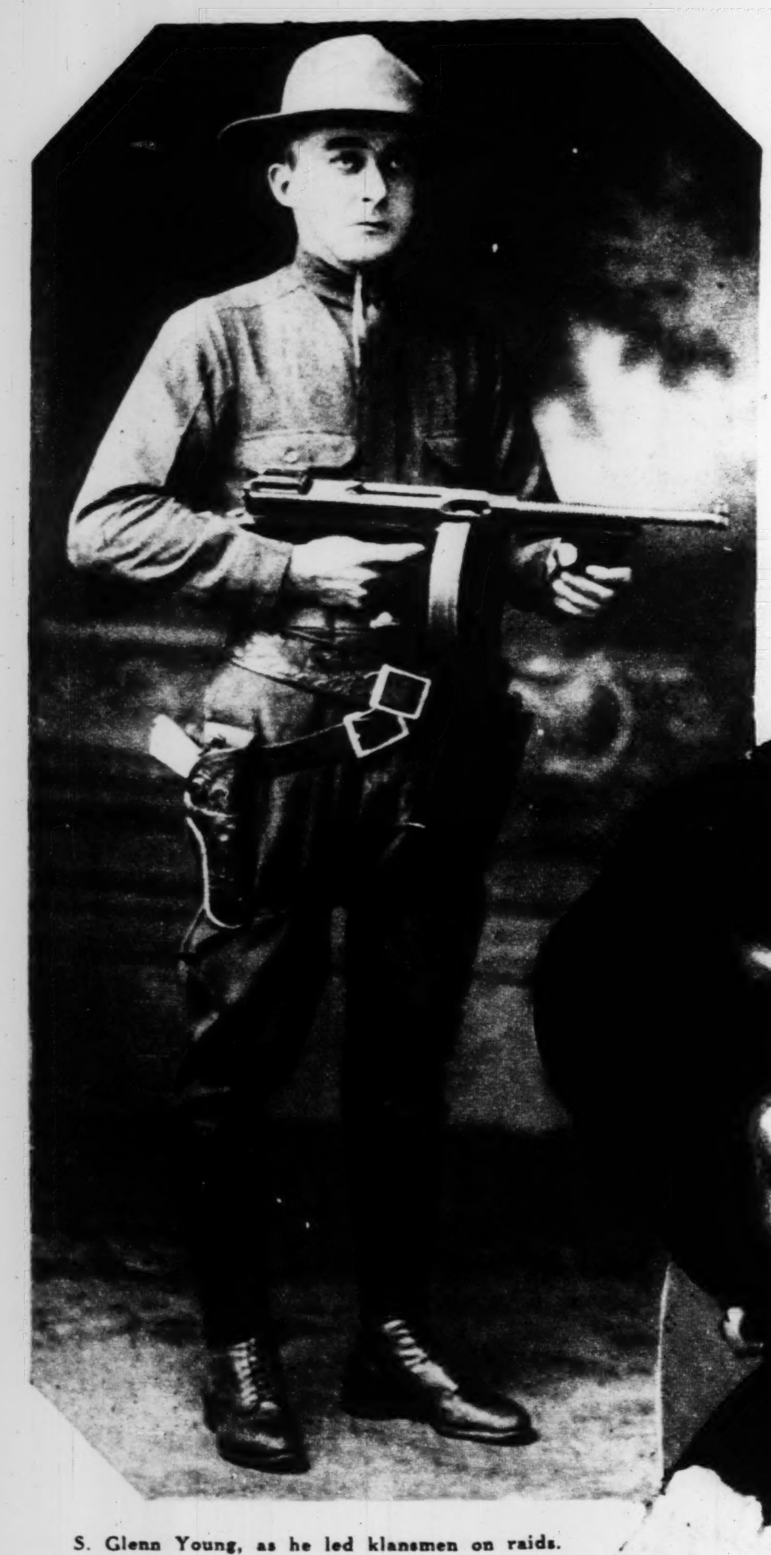
"As far as I know," said Mr. Hanna, "I have no competition."



"This is the way I do it. It is my own way."

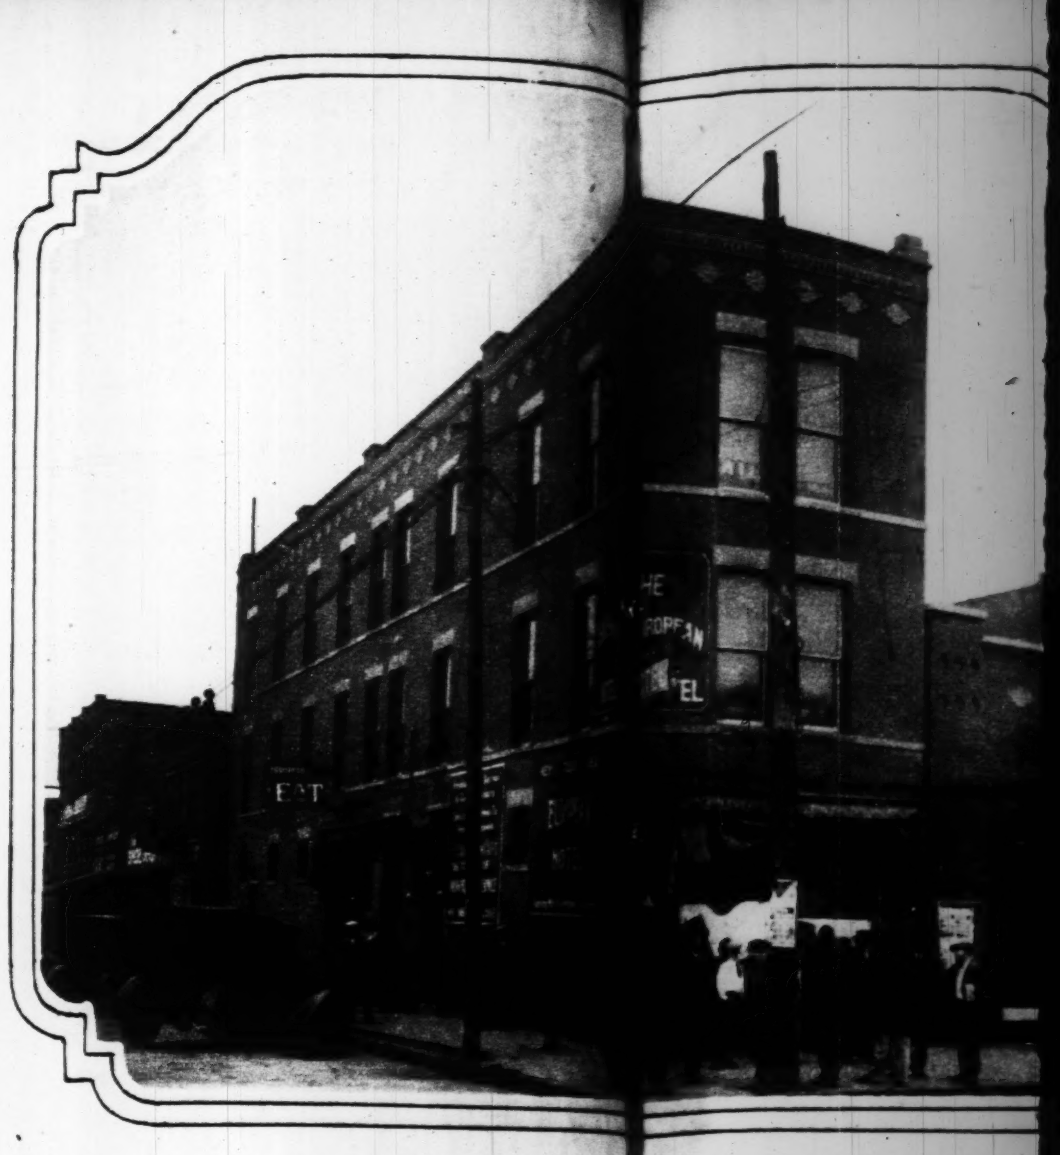
"IN BLOODY WILLIAMSON"

Sheriff Galligan's Story Reaches Its Climax When Klan Leader and Deputy Sheriff Die Fighting in the European Hotel.



S. Glenn Young, as he led klansmen on raids.

Mrs. S. Glenn Young and her son, Robert.



EDITOR'S NOTE

GEORGE GALLIGAN, former Sheriff of Williamson County, Illinois, has written his version of the four-year war between himself and the Ku Klux Klan. On the one side were Galligan, his deputies and such citizens as came to his aid, on the other side were the klansmen and klan sympathizers. Galligan's story is to be published in book form. This selection from the manuscript is the fourth to appear in the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine.

In preceding articles, Galligan told of incidents leading up to what he termed an "orgy of hate:" the rise of the klan, following the massacre of 21 nonunion coal miners and guards at Herrin; Galligan's inadequate staff of deputies for law enforcement; the coming of S. Glenn Young, klan leader; the friendly spirit toward the klan displayed by Protestant ministers and the beginning of klan liquor raids; the killing of Caesar Cagle, klan constable, and the subsequent shooting up of Dr. Black's hospital; the wounding of both Young and Mrs. Young by shots from ambush and from a passing car; how "gun-toting became general in Williamson County;" and the fight at Smith's Garage, in which six men were killed and another mortally wounded.

In the last five years, 41 persons have met violent deaths in the war between hostile factions, besides 11 who were killed in subsequent gang feuds. Due to excellent marksmanship, the number of wounded was small. Detachments of State troops have been sent into the county nine times and have remained as long as six weeks. The name, "Bloody Williamson," dates back to feuds which followed the Civil War, and the community has been misunderstood by the country at large. It is one of the richest counties in the rich State of Illinois and its people are largely of American Colonial stock, as may be noted from the names mentioned in the course of Galligan's narrative.

all of the foul names he could utter, also call him a coward. Imagine how Ora felt on these occasions—Thomas, the fearless; Young, the blustery tyrant. It does not require a brave man, with a gang at the right end of his guns, to call another man a coward; that in itself is an act of cowardice.

After all that I have heard, from actual eye-witnesses, I believe the man is yet alive who killed Ora Thomas—this despite the verdict of the Coroner's jury. This belief is shared by others who were closer to the scene at the time it happened.

Many supposedly authentic accounts have been published as to how the four men were killed. I am honest in saying that the full story has never been published, and probably never will be. Men who were near at the time of the shooting are yet fearful to openly tell the truth. I have been told sufficient to believe that Ora killed Young, Forbes and Warren, and that Thomas was not killed by any of the three klansmen who died as the result of his unerring marksmanship. In regard to this affair I only relate the version of the men who told me and some of the evidence tendered at the inquest.

During the day of January 24, 1925, Ora had been in charge of a petit jury in the City Court at Herrin, where Judge Bowen was holding court. The case that was being tried was a lengthy one, being a case of breach of contract. The case had occupied the court for two days. On Saturday, the 24th, the court held an extended session in order to dispose of the case.

AT FIVE o'clock in the evening, the court recessed for supper. Ora was walking down the street when he was accosted by Young and a gang of seven other men, including Mont Wollard, the son of the Wollard who was killed at Smith's Garage. Young and his men barred Thomas' path and proceeded to give Ora a good round of cursing. Ora retaliated by telling Young that he was "yellow." During the argument Young said to Ora:

"I wish you had killed my father, you yellow ———."

This remark was made to prompt young Wollard to make a draw on Ora. At this time Wollard was standing by the side of Young. Wollard made no attempt to draw. Ora only cursed at Young, and smilingly left the crowd standing there, going home to his supper and relating the incident to his wife.

When court finally adjourned, about 7 p. m., Ora left with the intention of going over to Marion. Jack Wilkinson, a close friend of Ora, was going to make a public speech against the klan in the County Courthouse there, and Ora was going to attend the meeting. Jack and Ora had been together in Herrin during that day. Wilkinson came to Williamson County at Ora's request and had addressed a public meeting at Herrin some few days previous to the encounter of Thomas and Young's men.

GLENN YOUNG and Wilkinson had known each other in other parts of the country. Young tried to prevent the meeting being held in Herrin and continually interrupted while Wilkinson was speaking. Wilkinson finally challenged him to come up on the truck from which he was speaking. Young refused to accept this challenge but he and his gang continually threatened to "get" Wilkinson. The speaker told Young that he would be in Herrin when the weather was warm, and when Young was gone.

Wilkinson had been through the klan fight in Oklahoma and elsewhere and was not afraid of Young—they had met before. He remained with me, acting as a deputy, and stayed during the remainder of my term of office. He is assisting me in writing this story.

Ora's intention of going over to Marion on the evening of the 24th was cut short. On leaving the courthouse, he was in company with Judge Bowen, the attorneys in the case tried and City Policemen Harry Walker and Ross Lizenby, formerly Sam Stearns' bodyguard. They had only gone a few steps across the street when a shot was fired in their direction. The bullet narrowly missed Judge Bowen, who was about the same height as Ora, and dressed similarly. The shot was evidently fired from a rifle, and, as afterwards testified, must have been fired from the west, from the direction of a little restaurant which Young and his gang used as a hangout.

According to the statements of those present, the bullet struck a concrete pillar on the corner of Gualdoni's drug store, which is located southeast of the restaurant referred to. Splinters of concrete flew from the pillar, some striking Ross Lizenby in the face. Lizenby immediately dropped to the ground and drew his guns in expectation of further shooting. Bowen and Thomas jumped in between some automobiles to await further developments.

At this time Young and his gang, armed with machine guns and rifles, came to the scene, immediately located the spot where the bullet had struck and Young facetiously inquired of a bystander what the trouble was. Nothing further transpired at that point.

Ora and his companions then dispersed. Ora going to an office nearby and calling his wife over the phone. He told her what had happened and said that he would try to get home but did not know whether he could make it. Mrs. Thomas asked him if he needed any assistance and told him she would bring him another gun. Ora then assured her that he would try to make it home with one automatic.

A short time afterwards Ora telephoned me at Marion, told me of the shot being fired and said that it came from the direction of the klan restaurant. I asked if he needed any help. He replied that he did not think so, as things seemed to have quieted down. This was the last conversation I ever had with Ora. He and I intended to attend a dance at the Elks' Club at Herrin in the later part of the night.

SOME time after this conversation, between 8 and 8:30, Ora went to the European Hotel. He had been in the habit of going there for the purpose of getting a taxi to take him home and to chat with his friends who made that a gathering place. Upon arriving at the front of the European Hotel, Ora spoke to a friend of his. Hearing some loud argument in the hotel, he inquired as to the occasion and was told that Young and his gang were on the inside, abusing someone. Ora calmly walked into the hotel.

There was Young, cursing a man named Elias Green, saying: "There you are, you ———. You know me, don't you?" "Not personally," replied Green.

Young then said: "You and John Miller have got to go to every local union and tell them I never was a scab herder."

Young inquired if John Miller was at the hotel. He continued to abuse and threaten Green, caught hold of him and pushed him around, calling him vile names.

When Ora entered the European, he did so from the side door on West Monroe street. Cool and confident, Ora strolled into the building, cigarette between his lips, but his long, shapely hands tensed for combat. Young had some of his men with him on the inside, and there were fully twenty outside, armed with rifles and shotguns, waiting for their leader. Upon entering, Ora, in his calm and indolent manner, and with his customary quiet voice, said:

"Gentlemen, you must be quiet."

ORA was alone. He did not have a friend in the place, unless it was Green, who was unarmed. This did not cause Ora to hesitate, and he repeated: "I said you would have to be quiet." Then suddenly Ora knew that the crisis had come, and he shouted: "Lock the doors!"

Young whirled on him and they eyed each other for a moment, each awaiting a hostile move.

"By God!" yelled Young, "I'll take care of you right now, you ——— ———."

And his hands flashed to his hips. Before the man who already boasted nearly forty notches on his gun could make the draw, Ora had backed up against a cigar case.

Young cried out to Ora: "Don't do that!"

Ora, with lightning-like speed, had beaten this vain gunman to the draw—something that Young's gangsters had said could not be done by any man.

Flash! Flash! The famous klan gunman and gang leader had fallen mortally wounded before he had made the draw. Flash! Down falls his henchman, George Forbes, mortally wounded with a bullet in his heart, dying while the swift battle was going on. Flash! Down fell Homer Warren, another of Young's henchmen, shot in the forehead and killed instantly.

Firing with rifles, shotguns and revolvers had started from the outside of the hotel. Young's horde had begun swarming in the front and side doors.

Ora had fallen, shot through the head. There on his haunches, the now dead cigarette between his lips, he pumped lead at the howling mob. What mattered numbers to him?

Now the mob quickly adopted a different method of attack. Instead of attempting to rush into the lobby, where my wounded deputy could pick them off as they came, they massed on the outside and sent a volley of rifle, shotgun and revolver shots into the place.

After the battle was over it was found that Glenn Young had been shot in the right side and in the left side of his chest. Only two shots had been fired from his famous automatics — they had penetrated the ceiling, due to his death grip on his guns. He died before Ora passed away.

Ora lay sprawled, facing his enemies and shot through the back of the head, his lone automatic still with him, this despite other reports that Ora was using two guns at the time of the shooting. When they went to pick up Ora to take him to the hospital, with a wan smile on his face he asked if he had shot Young and, upon being told that he had, feebly said he was now ready to go.

The klansmen were now swarming in the streets of Herrin, openly wearing their guns and shouting that the followers of Galligan and Thomas would soon meet the same fate as the men at the European Hotel.

AFTER the fight was over, no one dared approach the scene of battle until the excitement had abated somewhat. Young's body was then claimed by his Ku Klux followers and Thomas, Warren and Forbes were taken to the hospital. Ora was still alive when his wife arrived at the hospital with some of her relatives, but had already uttered his last word and died shortly afterwards.

After Ora was dead, a number of klansmen rushed to the hospital, where they assailed and threatened the life of Dr. Black for receiving Ora in the hospital. The physician replied: "I would have done the same for anyone." But they still continued their threats against him in the room where my dead deputy lay.

I was told, by those present at the time, that one of the klansmen slapped Ora's cold face, saying: "It is a good job you are dead. I came here to finish you." And brandishing his guns, he said: "I have a good mind to wipe out the whole d—— family"—meaning, I suppose, Mrs. Thomas and her relatives, who do I know this? I tell this story publicly for the first time; but those who attended the meeting at the courthouse at Marion will well remember the matter to which I now refer. This meeting was addressed by R. R. Fowler, City Judge of Marion; Wilkinson and the Mayor of Spillertown, Mr. Henry Radford, who was chairman of the meeting. Wilkinson was the principal speaker. The meeting went on as scheduled, but not as the klan had arranged.

What was the great thing to happen at this meeting? At between 5 and 6 o'clock that evening I had a visitor at the jail—Mr. Ray Smith, Assistant State's Attorney. He told me that I had better prevent the meeting, because there was going to be trouble if the meeting was held and Wilkinson spoke.

Wilkinson was not present at the time, so I asked Smith if he had ever heard him speak. He replied that he had not. I said that I had, and that Wilkinson did not deal in abuse or personalities, nor try to hurt the feelings of anyone who did not agree with his viewpoint, as against the klan; that Young spoke in public; that I denied no man this constitutional right. I advised Smith to go and hear Wilkinson speak and judge for himself.

When Jack returned I told him about the visit of the Assistant State's Attorney and what he had informed me. Jack only laughed. He told me Ora was coming to Marion and that he was not afraid of anything Young or his gang might do; that he was going to speak free from abuse, even though it was the last act of his life. He saw Judge R. R. Fowler before the meeting, told him the news and they both decided to go on with the meeting, leaving the jail together for the courthouse. What happened there?

WHEN they arrived at the courthouse there were klansmen in the hallway downstairs, on the turn of the stairway, at the head of the stairway and at the door of the hall. Among those present in the hall were some of the prominent klansmen of Williamson County, including Cyclops Sam Stearns and Rev. Carlton of Marion, minister of the Baptist Church.

The meeting was called to order in due form by Mr. Radford, who in a few brief remarks introduced Judge R. R. Fowler. The latter made mention of the threats, but said neither he nor Wilkinson would indulge in any abuse; that there would be no trouble started by either them or their friends; that they were going to stand on their constitutional rights and speak, even if they had to die in doing so. Wilkinson opened his remarks in the same strain, further saying that the klan question was a debatable one; that he was willing to debate the question with anyone in America, at any place; and was willing to submit to a public verdict.

While Wilkinson was speaking, at nearly 8:30, a remarkable thing occurred, the speaker not then knowing the reason why. There was a signal from the klansman at the door and the klansmen immediately began to file out of the hall. The Rev. Carlton was busy taking notes of Wilkinson's speech and did not notice the first signal. The klan sentinel at the door advanced slightly into the hall and excitedly beckoned the klan preacher out of the hall, he being the last of this flock to leave. Folding up his notes, he made a hurried exit. Wilkinson continued his speech until 9:20.

UPON his return to the jail we checked up on the time of the exit of the klan delegation—it was a few minutes after the time that the shooting had taken place in Herrin. The Marion klansmen must have been in close and constant touch with the Herrin klan. The circumstances as here related lead me to believe that the klansmen expected a fight at Wilkinson's meeting in Marion, but that the last fight in Herrin, occurring while the meeting was on, upset this plan.

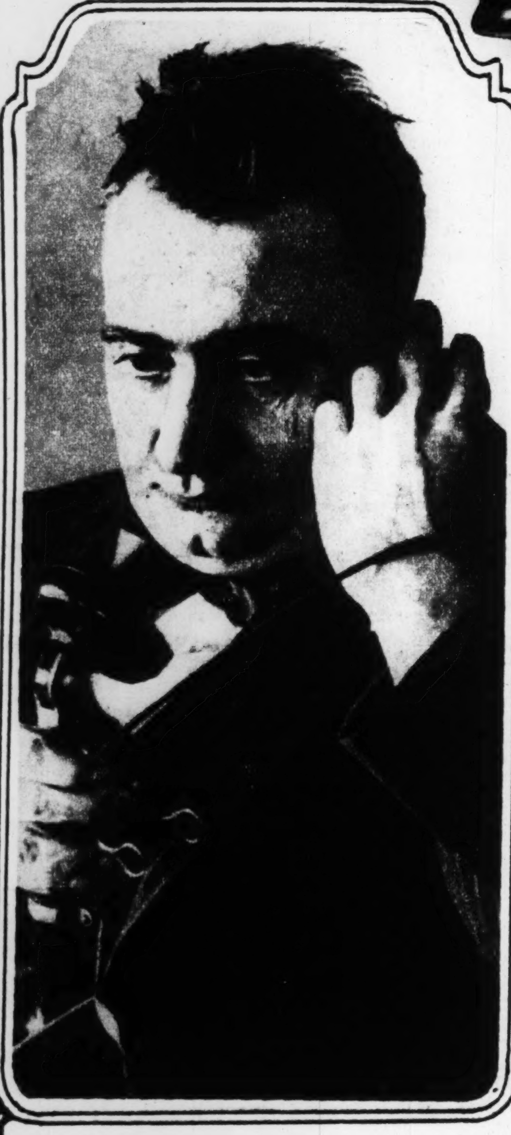
Ora Thomas,
Deputy Sheriff who was slain.



Sheriff George Galligan of "Bloody Williamson."

The home of Ora Thomas, funeral.

Prior to the day designated for the burial of my slain deputy, I was informed by some of my friends that rumors were being circulated that I was to be killed if I attended the funeral of Ora Thomas.

Ora's body was taken to his humble home on West Monroe street in Herrin, there to be mourned over by his grief-stricken widow and their two little, fatherless children. Young's corpse was placed in a magnificent casket in the Baptist Church, of which church Mrs. Thomas was a member. There the body of the dead klansman lay; he had known no religion in life.

A gaudy spectacle was put on in the church. There was an illuminated fiery cross; wreaths of klan design; robed klansmen in constant vigil over their dead chieftain. Klansmen, their womenfolk and some Protestant ministers paid their homage to the corpse of the dead klansman who had no respect for home, womanhood or the church during his life.

Why was not Ora's body taken to this church, of which his widow was a member, instead of it reposing in the humble home? I will let Ora's widow tell her own story in her signed statement, to-wit:

"I ASKED for the Presbyterian minister to officiate if the time came for Mr. Thomas to end his life's work here. He was not a member of any church, but of the four Protestant ministers Rev. Meeker was the only minister who had not taken sides in the klan and anti-klan war. Mr. Thomas' family is of the Baptist denomination. The stand taken by the minister in this Baptist Church (Rev. Lee) is why he did not believe he was a fit man to condemn a man who was not a member of the church.

"The Baptist minister knew Mr. Thomas a few years before the klan came into existence. He never visited him or asked me more than once or twice to come to church. I am a member of the Baptist Church, have been reared in the Baptist denomination. My mother and dad were two charter members of the first Baptist church built here.

"After the shooting in August (meaning the Smith Garage battle—Galligan) I called Rev. Lee about his sermon he preached on Sunday. He blamed the Sheriff and his deputies for the shooting. I asked him to go to the men he was blaming and let them tell their story as well as the klan's; that he was a minister of the Gospel, one to preach the truth, regardless of what it was.

"But the answer I got was that he would be shot; that anyone who tried to talk to them would be shot. I challenged him to go with me. I told him that I would prove to him that if he would go with me he would not be shot; and I also offered to see him at my home, but his answer was no, they wouldn't tell the truth.

"SO I TOLD him he was weak and too much of a coward to stand before these boys and let the truth be told. I also told him that the day would come when the real truth would come out; that the men who were standing and preaching would find in their hearts just exactly what these men were. So he never would talk to my husband or enter my home while my husband was alive. I told him to come to my house, my doors were open and any friend was welcome, but he still refused.

"But the Sunday my husband lay a corpse, when he did not have to face him for the condemnation he had placed on him, he came to offer me his sympathy and said he was sorry that this had happened. It is true that I did tell him that I did not need his sympathy and, if he was really sorry for this trouble, why didn't he tell my husband when I asked him, before it was too late? My husband was the one he should have tried to right things with.

(Signed) "MRS. ORA THOMAS."

This statement of Mrs. Thomas was given to me when I began writing my story and is her own unprompted version as to why the Rev. Mr. Meeker, Presbyterian minister of Herrin, was asked to and did officiate at Ora's funeral. It was a revelation to me.

Before the battle at Smith's Garage, Young and his gang threatened to shoot up and burn the home of Ora Thomas, then Special Deputy. I insisted on guarding Ora's home by night for some time and detailed Bud Allison and others to stay there at night with rifles and machine guns. Bud and Ora begged Mrs. Thomas to leave the house, take the children and go and stay with her relatives in an adjoining county until it was seen what would be the outcome of the threats. No, she was willing to die side by side with her fearless husband.

I knew the destitute condition of Ora Thomas' family as the result of the klan Board of Supervisors having refused to allow the salary of my dead deputy, so immediately after his death other friends of Ora and I made a financial contribution to relieve any immediate distress and to meet pressing burial expenses.

ON THE day of Ora's funeral I went to Herrin and attended the funeral services at the home and cemetery. In view of the widely rumored threats on my life I went with an automobile load of armed deputies, followed by two more carloads of armed deputies. We were armed with hand grenades, machine guns and riot guns, besides our pistols. Soldiers with rifles and sidearms were in attendance at the home and on the march to the cemetery.

To my dying day I shall never forget the scene. Thousands of Ora's friends were there outside the home, standing in the cold snow with uncovered heads. Women whose hair was as white as the snow on the ground stood in the snow on that bleak, cold, wintry day, weeping bitterly, but standing through the whole of the services some time before and not departing until the mortal remains of the one they loved passed out of their sight on the sorrowful journey to its last resting place. Men who had known Ora from his youth up were there weeping as bitterly as the women—strong men's tears; and little children hanging to the coats of their mothers were there, weeping as though their hearts would break.

The United Mine Workers of America, of which Ora had been an active, sacrificing member, were there in charge of the ceremonies. The Rev. Meeker braved criticism to preach an impressive sermon, a soul-stirring appeal, that out of the tragedy would arise a deeper regard for sanctity of home, love of God, love for neighbor, respect of the law, peace and tranquillity—but he said that Herrin and Williamson County would have to get murder out of their hearts and minds and change their ways to merit God's blessing.

AFTER the multitude had taken their last view of the body, the mournful cortege started on its way, the miners' union leading the procession with the Stars and Stripes and banners of their union, Thomas having served with honor under both. Three large motor trucks were filled to overflowing with beautiful floral tributes. The hearse and coffin also were covered with flowers sent by societies, labor unions and friends from various parts of the country.

At the cemetery the casket was laid in a simple grave. The Rev. Meeker offered a beautiful prayer while the crowd stood by tearfully with uncovered heads. Thus the mortal remains were buried in the cold clay, the flowers placed around the grave with loving hands committing the body of the one they loved to the care of the Supreme Judge of the Universe—and with the fervent prayer that it might lie there in peace until the great judgment day.

His friends have not forgotten his memory; each important date the grave is covered with beautiful floral tributes and, in the early months of this year, a beautiful and massive monument of Vermont granite will be erected on the grave of my dead deputy, who in life was as firm as the beautiful granite out of which his monument is to be made.

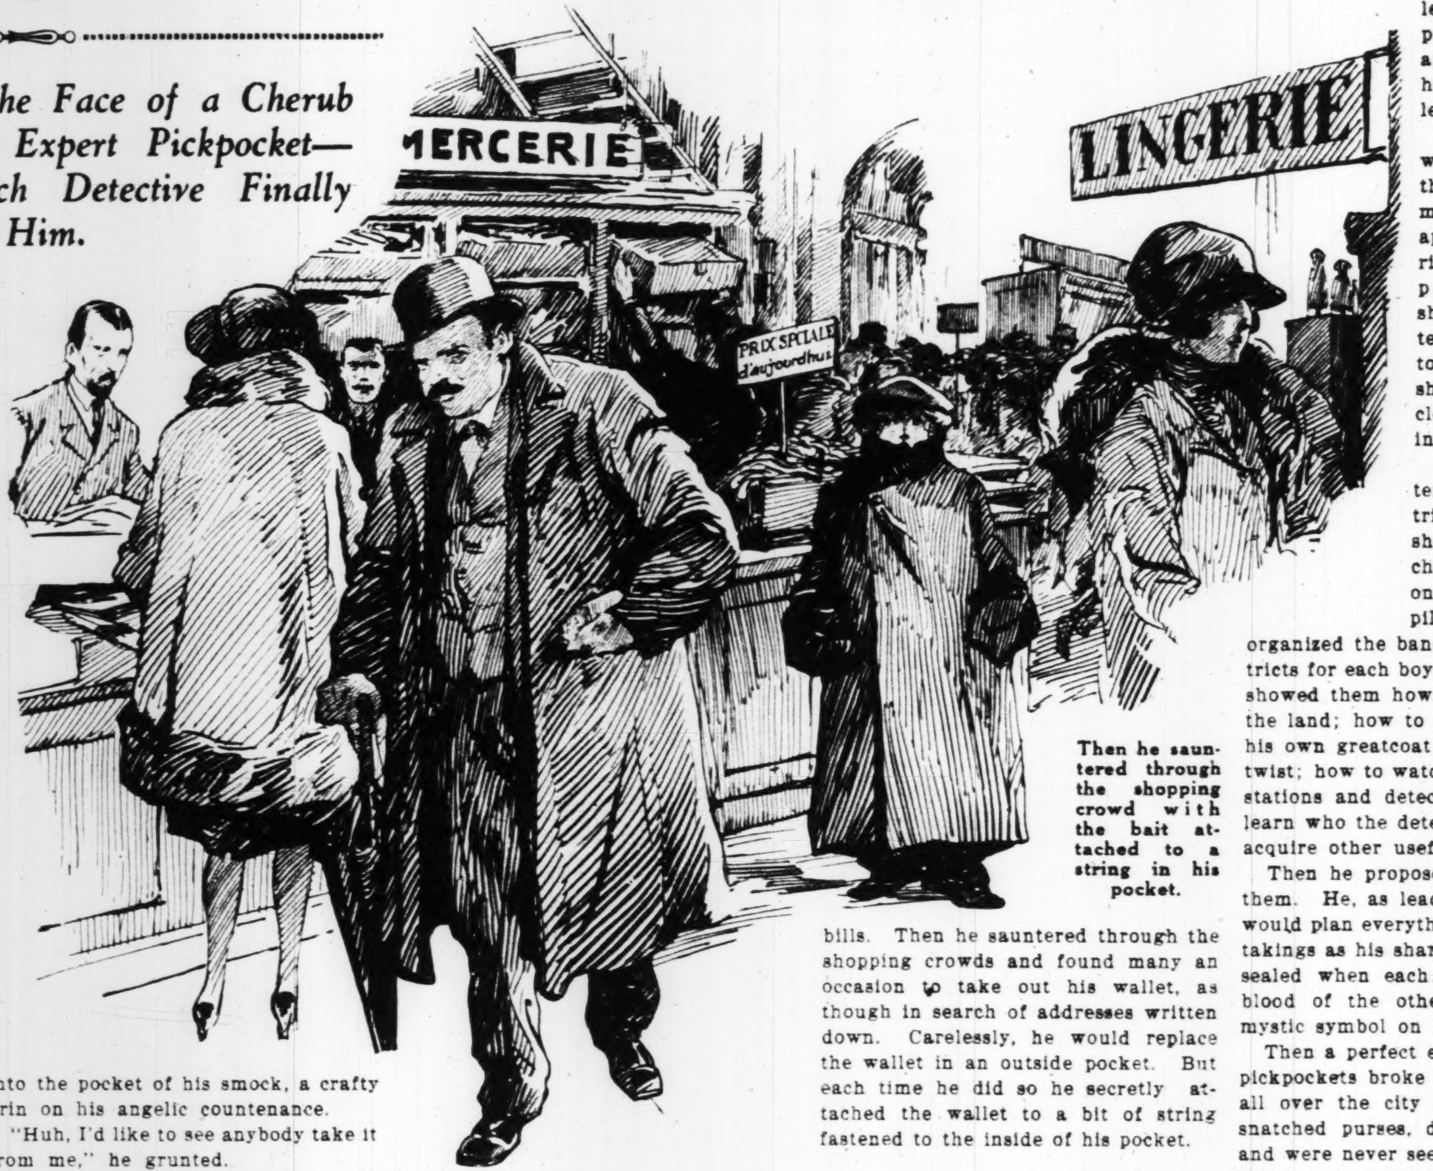
Hunting Down the Boy Terror of Paris

Master Ma
Hunters—VI

He Had Golden Hair, the Face of a Cherub and the Fingers of an Expert Pickpocket—But Fate and a French Detective Finally Overtook Him.

JOSEPH GOLLOMB'S story of Tete d'Or, the golden-haired child monster, reveals an infant Fagin that suggests the more vivid passages of Victor Hugo's "Notre Dame de Paris." This child stood the Paris detective force on its head for weeks. How he did it makes the seventh in the series dealing with the famous crime hunting institutions of Europe.



Then he sauntered through the shopping crowd with the bait attached to a string in his pocket.

By JOSEPH GOLLOMB

IT TAKES only fifteen short minutes to fly from England across the Channel to France. But to the criminal flying before the hunting pack of Scotland Yard those fifteen minutes must bring a vivid change.

Part of the difference between Scotland Yard and the police of Paris is due to temperamental differences between the two most unlike neighbors in the world, the English and the French. And partly the difference in the hunting tactics of the two detective systems is due to the differences in the game they hunt.

To bring this out clearly, let us consider Tete d'Or, a golden-headed 12-year-old Paris pickpocket.

The father of Tete d'Or was Duchesne, a pickpocket, who followed, or rather traveled with, a French circus. Here he met and loved a pretty and vivacious circus rider, Vivienne Lechamp. Both were mere youngsters, took life merrily, had not much sense of responsibility, and were but little sobered by the coming of their child, the little villain of this story.

His mother, who took her responsibility as a parent more lightly than a child takes its emotion toward a doll, had good times with her Tete d'Or. Her own hair of gold was the source of most of the fun. She would throw it over her face and the youngster could see nothing but a screen of hair.

AT FIRST it frightened him; then it got him interested. He, too, wanted to hide his face with his hair, and, so to speak, disappear in a twinkling. As he had inherited his golden, shaggy head from his mother, it was not hard for her to teach the youngster the trick which he used a few years later in Paris to such good effect—for himself.

His father also liked to play with the youngster. One day he tossed up and down a golden 20-franc piece until Tete d'Or, whose sharp green eyes always lit up greedily at the sight of money, clamored for it. Duchesne handed it over without a fuss, to the boy's surprise, who rather expected a licking instead.

"Put it into your pocket," his father said, with a sly smile, "or somebody will take it away from you."

Tete d'Or shoved the gold coin deep into the pocket of his smock, a crafty grin on his angelic countenance.

"Huh, I'd like to see anybody take it from me," he grunted.

His father mussed his son's golden hair playfully and gave him a friendly pat or two. Then he said:

"Careless youngster; you've already lost that 'louis.'"

"I did not!" exclaimed Tete d'Or indignantly. But his father smilingly held up the coin between the clever fingers which had just picked the boy's pocket. The youngster stared, startled, outraged, fascinated. How had that miracle happened? He clamored for the coin again; got it easily; and as easily it became again prey to his father's deft fingers. Tete d'Or asked how his father had done the trick.

"I'll show you," his father said. "But if you hope to keep the coin you'll have to learn how to do it yourself."

Thereupon the pickpocket took his son's own clever fingers between his and taught him how to keep them limber, sensitive and deft; how to slip them into a pocket unfelt and unseen; how to steal them out again with loot between them.

A new world opened to Tete d'Or. He began to practice his new-found art on the children of townspeople, and many of them went home without their pennies after a day at the circus.

When Tete d'Or's father and mother died suddenly the orphan was not popular enough for anyone in the circus to adopt him. So the authorities were notified and a local orphan asylum sent a man to collect the youngster. Tete d'Or rebelled, but had to go.

It was clear from the start that there would be little love lost between the orphanage and Tete d'Or. The other children soon began missing their pathetic little treasures and a search of Tete d'Or's bed revealed most of them hidden there.

Tete d'Or was given a beating by the head of the dormitory. Whereupon he reciprocated by kicking the man's shins black and blue. After the shock and explosion that followed Tete d'Or was locked up in a dark room on bread and water.

BUT in his circus existence he had never experienced walls he could not tear, break or dig through. So he pounded at the plaster until he found a spot that thudded hollow and kicked away at this till a small hole appeared. It was all he needed.

After getting out he made his escape from the place by butting the dormitory head in the stomach and scaling the orphanage wall.

A fashionable carriage brought Tete d'Or to Paris, without the driver's knowledge, since the youngster had somehow tucked himself away under the carriage body and rode this way into the City of Light, where he was soon to shine in his own way.

He collected his dinner that night from different food stalls in the big markets without the formality of paying.

After sleeping all night in the zoo he sallied forth the next day to conquer Paris.

The marketing crowds at the outdoor stalls in Boulevard Raspail attracted his interest because of the many housewives who carried their purses accessible to Tete d'Or. The son of Duchesne, the pickpocket, trained to filch from a professional pickpocket, found housewives easy.

If they noticed him at all it was to wish that such a nice boy, with such pretty golden hair, had a better home than one would guess from his unkempt appearance. Certainly his demure face, grimy thought it was, gave them no clew that very soon they would be missing their purses. Five modest market allowances that morning combined to give Tete d'Or a good sendoff on his Paris career.

He went to a bath establishment and got rid of much of the grime of his adventures. At a clothing store he outfitted himself, paying for the larger articles, filching the smaller. Then he explored Paris and decided he liked it. He next found a motherly looking janitress, and, working upon her feelings with a fictitious story of his life and hardships, persuaded her to give him a small room. Here she made him at ease and tended him as a mother. He told her he wanted to go to school, and was duly enrolled. But he spent his "school" hours exploring minutely the shopping quarters around the Samaritaine, a big department store near the Seine. This he chose as his hunting ground for some time.

NEXT he bought a coat of a second-hand clothing dealer, deliberately chosen because it was too big for him. It covered him almost from head to heels and hung in wide and ample folds upon his person. He then borrowed sewing material from his landlady—for another tenant, he told her. But in secret he went to work on that large overcoat, converting it to his purpose.

He cut slits in the side pockets, through which his hands could glide outside his garment, when he looked as though they were buried deep in his own pockets. He also made many and ample-sized inside pockets.

Then he "went to school." In and out of the shopping crowd around the Samaritaine he jostled and pushed, to the indignant protests of women and men, whose pockets he explored when he seemed to be merely huddled in his great coat.

But when they saw his angelic face and apparently poverty-stricken garb, they forgave him. But later they cursed wheatever thief it was that picked their pockets, as they soon found them to be. Complaints began to pour into police ears. Finally, a detective was assigned to look out for the pickpocket.

He was a typical detective from the big headquarters on Quai des Orfevres, overlooking the beautiful Seine—dark, with a small mustache and black curly hair, a vivacious sparkle in his brown eyes, gestures in his talk and plenty of both.

Instead of putting in much time trying to get a description of the pickpocket he was sent out to find, M. Dubois, as we shall call him, dressed himself up as a prosperous provincial, in Paris and out for a good time. Then, visiting the cafes in the neighborhood of the Samaritaine, he spent a good deal of time at the little tables outside, where all the world in Paris sips its coffee and other liquid refreshments when the weather is fair.

He paid the waiters often, showing as he did so a wallet well stuffed with bills. Then he sauntered through the shopping crowds and found many an occasion to take out his wallet, as though in search of addresses written down. Carelessly, he would replace the wallet in an outside pocket. But each time he did so he secretly attached the wallet to a bit of string fastened to the inside of his pocket.

SUDDENLY, in the midst of a dense crowd, he felt a tug at his pocket. He glanced down and saw a fish had bolted the bait. Swiftly he reached for the collar of an overcoat much too big for the youngster whose face he could not see because of a screen of golden hair, which completely hid the features.

But the string attached to the detective's wallet led straight into the inside of the little boy's coat. Not for long, for suddenly the link snapped, the little boy became a writhing fury and broke from the detective's grasp. In and out of the crowd the youngster burrowed like a rabbit, the detective close at his heels.

Dubois' hand was only a few inches from the youngster's loose overcoat when the latter deliberately upset an elderly woman, and the detective, to avoid stepping on her, had to stop for an instant. That was sufficient.

Down the mouth of an alley darted Tete d'Or. He knew every inch of that alley and its other exit on the next street, for he had studied it beforehand. Even as he ran into it, he stripped off his large overcoat, rolled it into a ball, threw it into a cellar window he had so arranged that it would close immediately the coat was inside; and was down the other alley by the time the detective entered the first.

Without stopping Tete d'Or took out a comb and whipped his hair back over his head. A second later he was out on the next street. When the detective came out on a breathless run a few seconds later, he saw no long-coated youngster scudding away.

He saw no one who in the least resembled him. Looking wistfully into a toy shop window was a frank-faced, nicely dressed schoolboy in black knicker suit, his blond hair demurely brushed back and on his head the little cap which French students wear.

"Did you see a boy in a long overcoat run out of this alley?" the detective gasped.

"Yes, monsieur," the little boy replied respectfully. "He ran down the embankment."

THE detective hustled down to the Seine, while the demure little boy waited about for some time. Then he sidled back into the alley and some minutes later came out carrying a large package done up in newspaper. It was Tete d'Or's overcoat, the trick pockets inside full of the day's booty.

In the privacy of his home Tete d'Or examined interestedly the wallet which had nearly cost him his liberty. It had been fastened with a string to a stranger's pocket, apparently soon after Tete d'Or had seen it as unattached as any other wallet.

For the boy had been watching Dubois before he picked his pocket—as Dubois had hoped the unknown pickpocket would do. The string made Tete d'Or think. Either the man was very shrewd for a provincial or he was a detective. He decided on the more cautious conclusion. It was that he did not want to run the risk of arrest.

More agreeable was it to have someone else run the risk, while Tete d'Or reaped the benefits of pocket picking. So he studied the sharp-witted little ragamuffins in a tough section of the city, made friends with five of them, led them in games and petty thieving from apple carts and proved himself a natural leader.

Then he hinted of a way he knew whereby they could get much more than by rifling apple carts, with less risk of getting a whipping. When they showed themselves interested he took them to a vacant lot and showed them what clever fingers could do in strangers' pockets.

All the boys were interested, which was a tribute to Tete d'Or's shrewdness in reading character, and all but one proved apt pupils. Tete d'Or then organized the band. He assigned districts for each boy wherein to operate; showed them how to study the lay of the land; how to make garments like his own greatcoat; how to dodge and twist; how to watch outside the police stations and detective bureaus and learn who the detectives were; and to acquire other useful knowledge.

Then he proposed a compact to them. He, as leader of the band, would plan everything and get half the takings as his share. The compact was sealed when each boy pricked the blood of the others and smeared a mystic symbol on his breast.

Then a perfect epidemic of juvenile pickpockets broke out. Reports from all over the city came of boys who snatched purses, dodged down alleys and were never seen again. Detective Dubois compared it with his own experience.

"Ha, either the same boy or confederates of his! A band, perhaps!" he said to himself. "That would make it easier to handle!"

He still had faith in his device of a string attached to a wallet, wherewith to catch his fish. But this time he added a fishhook; or rather, several of them. Also, he had reason to suspect that his identity was known to the gang he was fishing for. So he engaged the co-operation of a friend of his, a pretty actress who wore a striking looking coat of mannish pattern, with pockets on the outside. The coat was specially made for the purpose.

MLLE. SUZZANE mingled with shoppers in every part of the city where the pickpockets were reported and dropped her purse into one of the outside pockets every time she used it, which was often and conspicuously.

Finally, one morning in the thick of a crowd on the Avenue de l'Opera, she felt a tug at her coat and a sharp outcry. She looked down and saw a boy's hand in her outside pocket. He was a dark-faced little ragamuffin, his eyes blazing with pain and fright, his hand still in her pocket.

"Please, mademoiselle, my hand—got caught"—— he stammered.

"In my pocket? How strange! Come and we'll see about it."

The youngster moved off with her, wincing with each step that they took. His hand still in her pocket, seemed the cause of his pain.

In a drug store stood Dubois waiting for his fish. When the woman entered with the youngster a doctor had to extricate the boy's hand from the nest of fishhooks which had been so fastened inside the pocket that a hand could easily get into it, but had five steel barbs to contend with in getting out—unless one knew the fishhooks were there.

"Well, little devilfish, shall we go to the Chief of Police?" asked Dubois. "Or shall we go to where you meet your fellow pickpockets?"

The youngster's loyalty was not equal to the test and he consented to betray Tete d'Or. That night when the golden-headed leader of the band got home he saw nothing wrong in his room—until from behind the curtain issued Dubois and grabbed him by the golden hair, which he knew could not come off.

Dubois was not taking chances by now. So he handcuffed Tete d'Or and tied his feet with some rope he found in the room. Tete d'Or threw himself to the floor apparently in a hysterical rage. But he fell with his feet near a jog in the wall, which presented an edge of rough cement.

"There's no use of your wriggling so hard, little worm!" Dubois said. "You're caught!"

THEN he went to the door to open it and carry Tete d'Or out. But at that moment Tete d'Or went out of the window. For his "wriggling," which Dubois said would do him no good, consisted of chafing his rope-tied feet against the rough cement jog in the wall until the rope was worn through.

So astounded was Dubois to see the youngster dive head first through the window without bothering to open it, that for some moments he remained gaping. When he finally dashed to the broken window he saw little but night. The window was on the ground floor. Tete d'Or knew every inch of his courtyard and was even then scuttling down broad streets, his handcuffed hands exposing him to capture every moment.

But he managed to reach a "fence" he knew, a receiver of stolen goods, who sawed off the steel links. For a week Tete d'Or remained at liberty. But the same youngster who preferred his own liberty to Tete d'Or's again betrayed him. This time Dubois landed him in a cell. He was sentenced to prison for a year.

The year of confinement was also a year of instruction to Tete d'Or. He picked up knowledge of crime as fast as he had learned circus tricks, became a promising disciple of the roes he loved to read, the Cartou of today. At the end of his year confinement he was sent to a re atory.

It did not take him one week be he made his first leap for freedom. was his last. He had measured chances of landing on a narrow le one story below the window which he leaped. But he was ou practice and his foot missed its by a quarter-inch—enough to his neck. Which was probably the Government would have done him eventually with its specially structed machine used for capital ishment in France. He was 12 y old when he died.

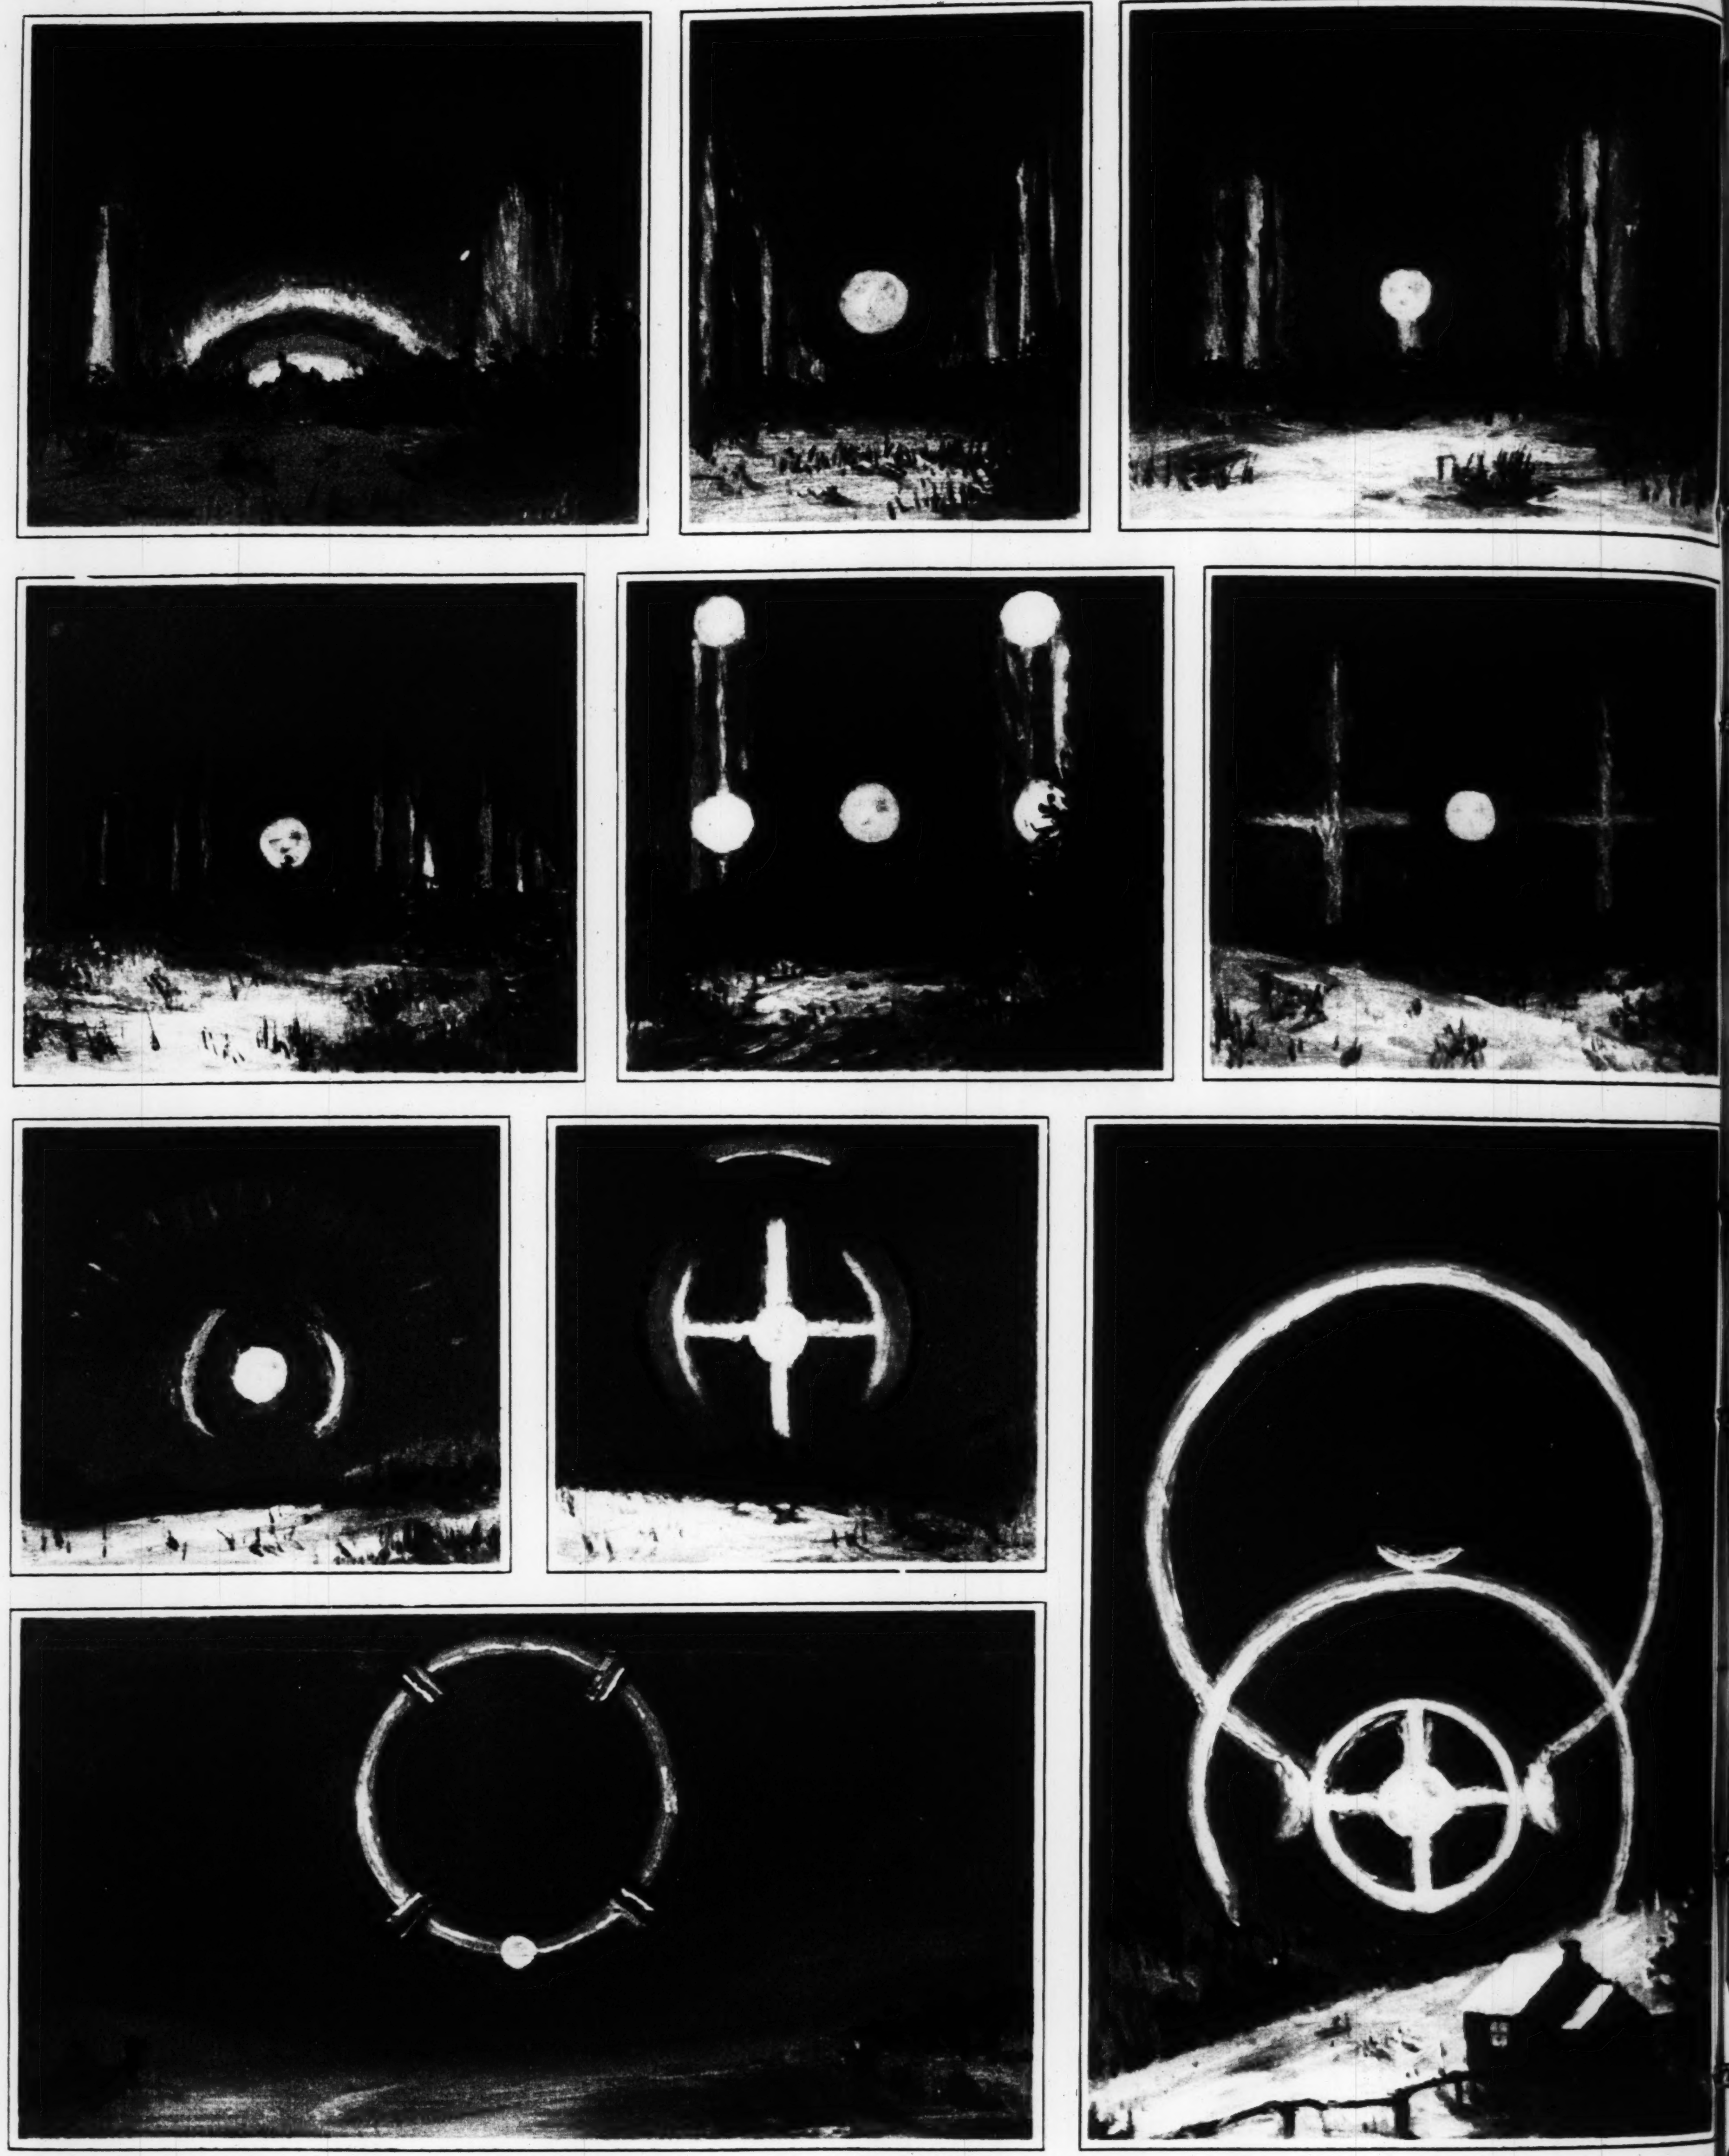
Dogs Howl and Peasants Pray When Northern Lights Appear

Most Brilliant Aurora Borealis in the Memory of Man, Reduced to Paintings by an Eye-Witness, Are Reproduced on This Page.



The above paintings, taken in order from the top, and from left to right, show—(1) a phase before moonrise; (2) The moon rising; (3 and 4) Later phases; (5) Four mock moons appearing; (6) Crosses formed and mock moon vanished (8:30 p. m.); (7) The moon with arch and brackets; (8) A cross formation; (9) The moon at the base of the ring (10:15 p. m.); and (10) An intricate formation of rings and a cross (10:45 p. m.)

THE scintillating, beautifully colored lights of the North are things that we of the more temperate regions are not privileged to see. Not that one may only discover them by journeying north, for if one prevails far enough to the south, to the frigid regions of the Antarctic, the same eerie spectacles may be encountered. But far away they are, take what direction you will.

Similar remarkable celestial displays to those observed in the north countries were seen by the members of the Scott expedition on its journey to the southern end of the earth. They were Southern Lights and undoubtedly had their origin in the same conditions which give birth to the lights of the north.

The magnificent display of Northern Lights reproduced on this page was seen in Sweden in 1924. It was an optical phenomenon of a complex and uncommon type and was witnessed by a large number of persons in the northern part of the country, over an area of about 50 miles. The Aurora Borealis is frequently visible in the Arctic regions, but never within living memory, it is said, had such glory been displayed.

THE unusual character and unique splendor of the celestial phenomena made a deep impression upon the beholders. The dogs were terrorized and howled incessantly. Simple pious folk fell on their knees in the expectation of the second coming of the Lord. A few scientists made minute observations, and an artist rendered in colors some of the luminous arches, columns and crosses appearing in the heavens and reflected on the dazzling snow, the dark pinewoods forming a fitting background. The accuracy of these sketches was attested by a number of creditable observers.

Rising from the earth there was a wide, sweeping semi-circular nimbus of bright red. Lower down in the center was the sun, and high up—near the top of the arch—a bright mock sun, with horns that made it appear crescent shaped. The sun and mock sun were connected by a luminous, perpendicular bar, or pillar of light. Above the arch appeared a luminous ring.

The glorious arch, resting at each end of the horizon, once formed, remained visible for several hours, in a state of constant motion, shooting out rays rapid as lightning. It assumed the shape of a vast cupola of fire supported by columns of various colored light. Gradually the rays became faint and intermittent; finally they vanished from the sky.

The spectacles of which the moon was a prominent figure were no less glorious. Above the horizon appeared two bursting columns, flanking the segment of a many-colored circle. These columns then tapered into knife blades, while a full moon rose above the earth and hung between them. Then the columns became more square at their upper ends and the bottom of the moon sprayed forth a beam that lost itself below the earth's edge.

The columns became more irregular, others sprang up alongside of them and a dark red ring fringed the moon man's face like a beard. Now the moon floated in space again, beardless and without ornament; two great pillars found their way high into the sky, the top of each was crowned by a yellow mock moon, and a mock moon of white found position in each pillar, but slightly lower than the true moon.

AND now the moon was bordered in green; colored crosses ranged themselves alongside of it. The ring which surrounded the moon became fainter in color; colored segments formed near its sides and over all hung a curving, striated green band. Then the moon became the hub of four white spokes, at right angles to each other, parallel and perpendicular to the earth, and a wheel shone plainly at the ends of the parallel spokes, more dimly at the ends of the others. Above it all hung a colored curve, a part of the wheel which had floated up out of its place, it seemed.

The moon became the base of a white ring, spaced by four color stripes. Then it was the hub of a wheel again, unfull moons showed at either side, a white circle, losing itself below the earth, surrounded it, a band of color topped this circle and another great white ring, that cut down through the moon's circle and only stopped when it met the wheel of the moon, appeared over all.

There are two theories, claiming to explain the lights, which have attained more prominence than any others. They are the optical and electric theories. The optical explanation is founded upon reflection and interference. Innumerable crystals of ice suspended in the atmosphere form regular hexagonal prisms which decompose white light; it passes into its constituent colors, distributed in space with symmetrical forms.

The electrical explanation is that the thin atmosphere converts the short bright spark into a lengthened, delicate flash. The aurora, say the advocates of this theory, is due to the ascent of positive electricity from the intertropical water surfaces which flows towards the poles, wafted by the higher aerial currents. In the region of the poles it descends towards the earth, and comes in contact, in a highly rarefied atmosphere, with the terrestrial negative electricity, which results in luminous discharges of great brilliancy.

The first to refer the aurora borealis to a purely electric phenomenon appears to have been the physicist Canton, who recognized that a tube containing rarefied air became luminous when moved about near a charged conducting body. He pointed out in 1753 the close analogy which auroras offer with the light of electric discharges produced in very rarefied air. In his view the aurora was but the form which storms take in polar regions.

Many other scientists favor the electric theory, but any one cause for the lights has never met with the consensus of scienti agreement.

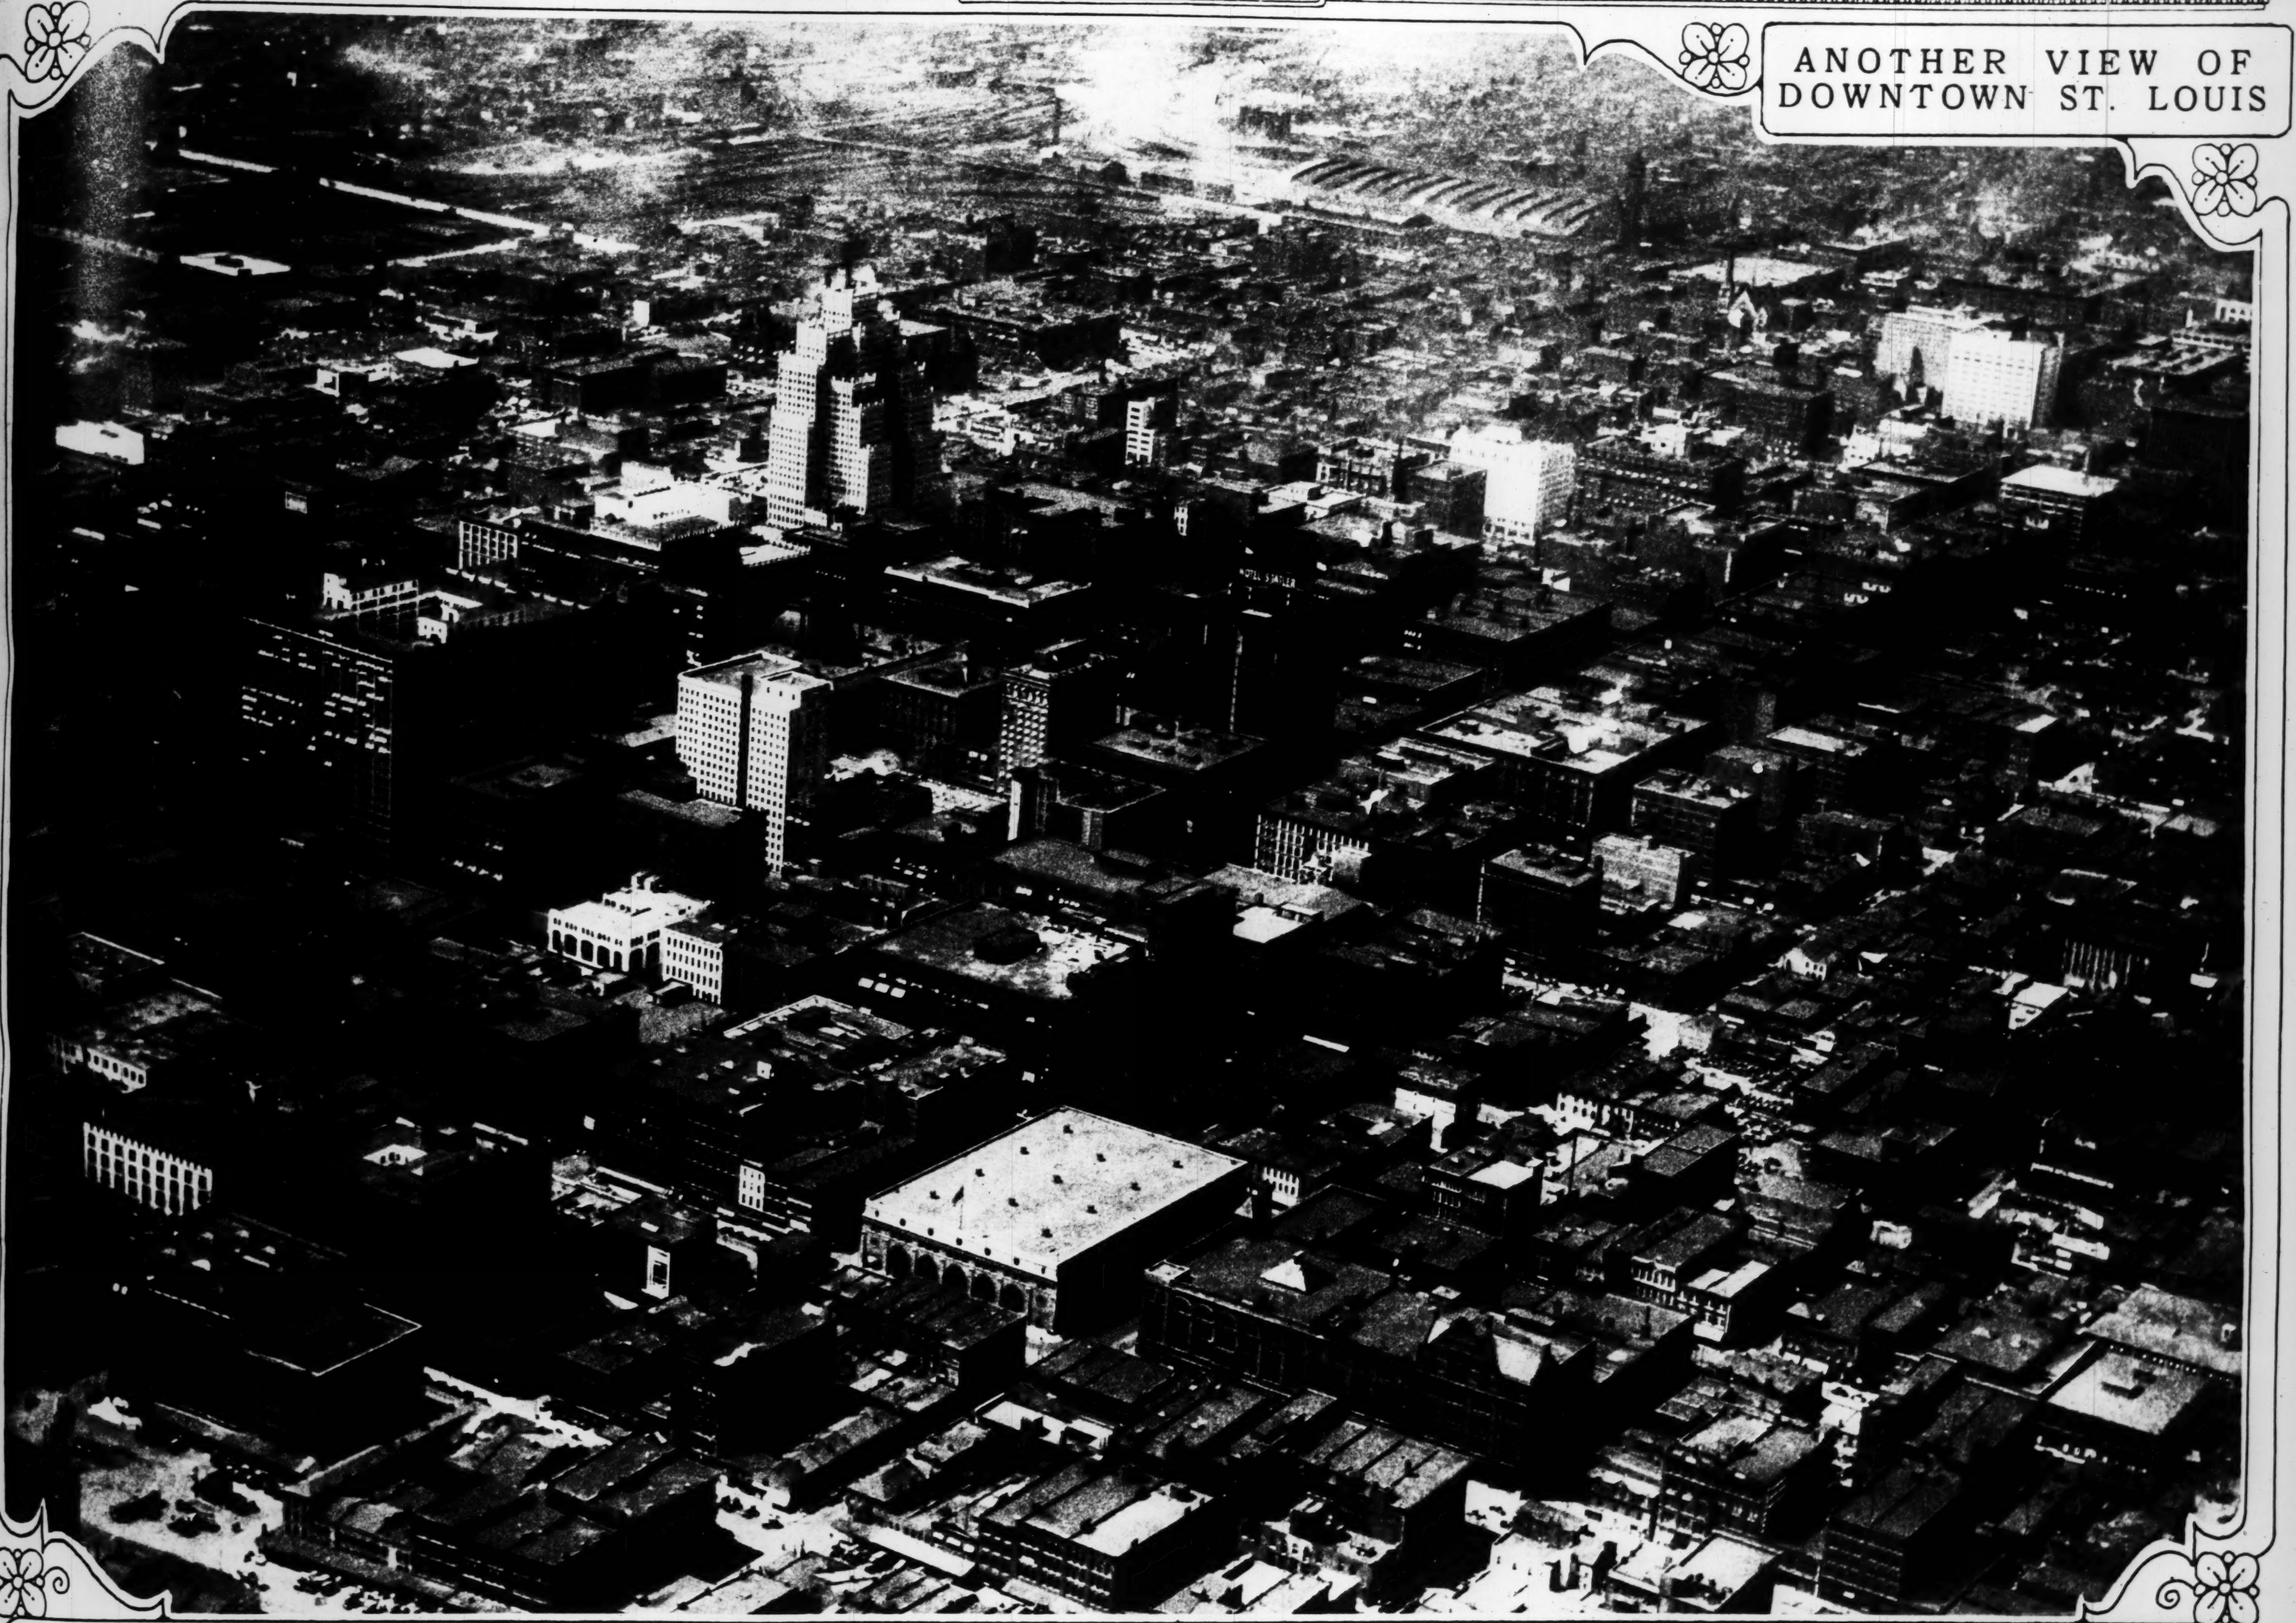
ANOTHER VIEW OF DOWNTOWN ST. LOUIS



This photograph from an airplane shows a section of the city not heretofore pictured in similar illustrations published in the rotogravure section of the St. Louis Sunday Post-Dispatch. In the lower left hand corner are buildings two blocks east of Broadway. The new Union Market, on Broadway, is easily identified. To the southwest are the new business structures on Washington, Locust, Olive and Pine streets. It is interesting to observe the area just north of Washington avenue—a region which the growth of the city will convert, in a few years, into something of entirely different aspect. —© St. Louis Aircraft Co.

PUTTING LIFE OF CHRIST UPON THE SCREEN

While Biblical narratives have been filmed before, this is the first time that the Savior has actually been portrayed. A number of prominent clergymen, including one of St. Louis University, co-operated in the preparation of the scenario.

An Historic Family of Spanish Grandees speaks on Beauty through the loveliest of its line

"BACK through the centuries," says the young Duquesa de Alba whose beauty is famous throughout Europe, "the tradition of the women of the House of Alba lays no more stress upon high spirit and personal dignity than upon a noble purity of type and velvet perfection of skin whose culture begins in the cradle."

The Duquesa is as wise in this culture of the skin as the earliest duquesas of the House of Alba. "Our inherited wisdom and our modern sophistication together," she declares, "bring us no aid more effective than Pond's Two Creams. In using them I have found my skin to be receiving the sum of all good care—refreshment, stimulation, protection."

This is the Method she considers so perfect:

For cleansing your skin use Pond's Cold Cream. Upon retiring and whenever your skin feels dusty, drawn and tired, pat it generously over your skin. In a few moments it penetrates the pores, softening all dust and powder which clog them. Wipe off and repeat. Finish with a dash of cold water.

If your skin is dry, add more Cream, after the bedtime cleansing, and leave it until morning.

Pond's Vanishing Cream used after every daytime cleansing gives your skin an even finish, a new charm. It holds your powder smoothly, and gives, no matter how delicate your skin, unfailing protection from the irritation of winter wind, sudden cold and soot-filled air.

Try these Two Creams made by Pond's. They will give your skin, just as they do that of the Duquesa of Alba, "the sum of all good care—refreshment, stimulation, protection."

The DUQUESA de ALBA

Great dream-shadowed eyes and soft wavy hair reflect their dark beauty from a skin of exquisite whiteness in the face of this lovely member of a great historic Spanish house.

One of the most beautiful women in Spanish court circles today—indeed, in Europe—she is the Seventeenth Duquesa de Alba and the Tenth Duchess of Berwick, the English title having come down from the time of James the Second.

Women of high position in every land choose these Two Creams for the care of their exquisite skin about some things?

SIT back and watch yourself pass by some evening when you're in a reflective mood.

Check over some of your habits.

If you're a member in good standing of the human race, and honest with yourself, you'll have to admit that you're careless—lazy—about many of the little things of life.

And these often include the small important things.

Take tooth brushing for example—this most important job is often neglected by many of us.

Realizing the truth of this, the makers of Listerine set out deliberately to formulate a dentifrice that would furnish the easiest, quickest way to clean teeth. In short, a tooth paste efficient even in the hands of lazy people—for in tooth brushing, at least, the word lazy applies to so many of us.

Listerine Tooth Paste is really very easy to use. It works fast. With just a minimum of brushing your teeth feel clean—and actually are clean.

You have the job done almost before you know it.

This is on account of the way Listerine Tooth Paste is made. It contains a specially prepared cleansing ingredient—entirely harmless to enamel*—plus the antiseptic essential oils that have made Listerine famous.

And how fine your mouth feels after this kind of a brushing. Then, besides, you know your teeth are really clean—and therefore safe from decay.—Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, U. S. A.

P. S.—Is your pocket book tired? Listerine Tooth Paste is only 25 cents for the large tube

This specially prepared cleansing medium (according to tests based upon the scale of hardness scientists employ in studying mineral substances) is much softer than tooth enamel. Therefore, it cannot scratch or injure the enamel.*

At the same time it is harder than the tartar which accumulates and starts tooth decay.

for Speedy Recovery from Colds, La Grippe. Influenza and other ills

Now from Switzerland a safe, natural way to build up new resistance and stamina—puts you on your feet and brings you new-found Pep and Energy

We offer you a 3-day Test

One of the most dangerous periods of any illness is the first stage of convalescence. Eager to "get back in the harness" you over-tax your drained vitality. A relapse follows—often of more serious consequence than the original illness.

Your doctor will bear this out. Statistics prove it. For seven out of ten persons who have pneumonia were supposedly "over" a cold, LaGrippe or Influenza.

Now modern science has found a natural way (a way without drugs) to speed convalescence, this dangerous after-illness period—to quickly build up resistance and stamina.

It is the delicious new Swiss food-drink called Ovaltine. A cup three times a day (and at bedtime) puts you on your feet quickly. Restores your old-time pep and energy.

That is the experience of most Ovaltine users.

The 3-day test we offer here will show you.

We urge you to make it. It is well worth while.

How Ovaltine speeds recuperation

FIRST—Ovaltine digests very quickly. Even following a serious illness. It combines vitalizing and building-up food essentials so necessary for speedy recuperaton. One cup of Ovaltine has more real food value than 12 cups of beef extract.

SECOND—Ovaltine has the power actually to digest 4 to 5 times its weight in other foods which you eat. Thus, soon after drinking it is turning itself and other foods into rich, red blood. This action is restoring to the body. Digestion is speeded up. Quick assimilation follows. You gather new strength and energy. Your vitality is quickly brought to par.

Hospitals and doctors recommend it

Ovaltine is a delightful pure food-drink. In use in Switzerland for 30 years. Now in universal use in England and her colonies. During the great war it was included as a standard ration for invalid soldiers.

A few years ago Ovaltine was introduced into this country. Today hundreds of hospitals use it. More than 20,000 doctors recommend it.

Not only for convalescence, but because of its special dietetic properties, they also recommend it for sleeplessness, nerve strain, malnutrition, backward children and the aged.

Just make a test of Ovaltine. Note the difference—how new life and energy flow through your body. How soon your vigor and ardor return. How speedy your recovery.

All druggists sell Ovaltine in 4 sizes for home use. Or they can mix it for you at the soda fountain. But to let you try it we'll send a 3-day introductory package for 10c to cover cost of packing and mailing. Just send in the coupon with 10 cents.

Smiles Made Charming

By Removing Cloudy Film from Teeth

THAT many of the commoner tooth and gum troubles, and most cases of so-called "off-color" teeth, are due to a film that forms on teeth which ordinary brushing does not successfully combat, is the consensus of today's dental opinion.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel this film — a slippery sort of coating. Film absorbs discolorations and thus makes teeth look dull and dingy. It breeds germs and bacteria and invites tartar, decay and pyorrhea. It is a menace to tooth and gum health that must be combated.

Thus dental authorities now seriously urge that film be removed at least twice every day — in the morning and at bedtime. To do so, obtain Pepsodent — a special, film-removing dentifrice most dentists favor. It curdles the film, then removes it and polishes the teeth to high lustre in gentle safety to enamel. It combats the acids of decay. It acts, too, to firm and harden the gums; thus meeting, in many ways, the requirements of modern findings.

Old-time dentifrices did not adequately fight film. That is why this modern protective way, as a twice a day habit, and at least twice a year calls on your dentist, are being so widely advised today.

Accept this test

Send the coupon for a 10-day tube. Brush teeth this way for 10 days. Note how thoroughly film is removed. The teeth gradually lighten as film coats go. Then for 10 nights massage Pepsodent into the gums to firm and harden them.

SMILES ARE DAZZLING WHITE when film is gone. Teeth sparkle like polished jewels. Gums firm to healthy coral tint. Thus this new scientific way of dental care becomes one of the greatest beauty treatments of the day, and, with its unique therapeutic and prophylactic qualities, a great aid in oral hygiene.

I couldn't sleep or eat; I was always nauseated. I had suffered for years from chronic constipation and medicines had only made me worse. One day my mother came to see me and my little girl. She told me about Fleischmann's Yeast, and to please her I got a dozen cakes—thinking however that it would never help me. I began taking one in a glass of hot water morning, noon and at bedtime. In six weeks my elimination was much more regular and I was enjoying my food. Today I feel fine. My constipation has disappeared and I look like a new person."
Mrs. A. E. Summerville, Los Angeles, Calif.

MR. MOORE GOES in for a life requiring constant pep and energy—but he did not always enjoy this good health. He writes: "For several years I was troubled with indigestion. I lacked my former pep. I had heard Fleischmann's Yeast advocated for indigestion and I finally decided to try it. I took three cakes regularly every day and in thirty days' time I had completely lost that old sluggish feeling. I can unreservedly recommend Fleischmann's Yeast for anyone who is suffering from indigestion."
Edward C. Moore, Jr., Dallas, Texas

"I WAS FIGHTING for my teacher's diploma. A childhood burdened with many illnesses had left my system very weak. I dragged along for two years. Then, as a result of my run down condition, my skin broke out from head to foot. I could not rest at night. I suffered torture. Lotions, tonics, nothing seemed to help. Then someone mentioned Fleischmann's Yeast. I took three cakes a day and within a few months I was well. And I have been well ever since. Fleischmann's Yeast will always be my tonic. I cannot say too much in its praise."
Mrs. Frank G. Mehrling, Baltimore, Md.

How to win one of 588 prizes—

THIS CONTEST is open freely to all who have eaten Fleischmann's Yeast for one month or more prior to the first announcement of this contest, and whose health has been benefited thereby. Employes of The Fleischmann Company alone excepted. Read the rules of the contest carefully. Any story that does not follow these rules will have to be disqualified.

1. Simply write, in not more than 200 words, your story of what Fleischmann's Yeast has done for you.

2. Use white paper of standard size, 8 1-2 x 11. Use only one sheet of paper (both sides, if necessary).

3. Print (do not write) your name, complete address, and date at top of the sheet. Use pen and ink or typewriter.

4. Sign your name at the end of your report. You must also have a witness (someone who knows your report to be accurate) sign his or her name under yours.

5. Mail your report in stamped, sealed envelope to The Fleischmann Company, P. O. Box 1251, City Hall Station, New York, N. Y. All reports must be in our hands before midnight of April 1, 1927.

6. Prizes will be awarded for the most interesting and convincing reports by a board of impartial judges, none of whom is a member of the Fleischmann Organization.

7. Your photograph is not required and will not influence the decision of the judges but we shall be glad to have a snapshot of you as interesting evidence of what Fleischmann's Yeast has done for you. Snapshots which you may send cannot be returned.

8. None of the stories received for this contest or the photos you may send will be used for advertising purposes without your written permission.

9. We cannot undertake to return any snapshots or letters or to acknowledge any correspondence relative to the contest. But announcement will be made the latter part of April, by mail, to everyone entering the contest, giving names of prize winners.

THIS FAMOUS FOOD tones up the entire system, aids digestion, clears the skin, banishes constipation. Eat three cakes regularly every day, one before each meal: just plain, in small pieces, or on crackers, in fruit juice, water or milk. For constipation drink it in hot water (not scalding) before meals and at bedtime.
